...ADELPHIA (AP) — Five ..., including three children ...neighborhood each room, were killed Sunday night when a violent explosion destroyed two buildings in a crowded section of south Philadelphia.

A 17-year-old girl, trapped for six hours in a public telephone booth under the mountain of rubble escaped unharmed. Twenty others including four firemen, were injured.

The blast of undetermined origin occurred in one of the most densely populated areas of the city. Deputy fire chief George E. Blair said it was "amazing" that the death toll was not higher.

The roots of two adjoining three-storey brick buildings were lifted into the air, turned half way around and then dropped in the rear of the structures. Not a wall was standing as firemen arrived and flames licked at the pile of debris. Some 900 persons were routed from their homes and Red Cross authorities estimated 50 families were sheltered for the night.

APARTMENTS UPSTAIRS

The buildings housed the lunch room and an adjoining jewelry store. The upper stories contained apartments.

The dead included the proprietor of the lunch room, Isadore Pearlman, 50, and three regular customers. The bodies of Bruce Schwartz, 8, and Salvatore Sabatino, 6, were found under the soda fountain. The body of 9-year-old Marie Morone was uncovered nearby.

The fifth victim was Mrs. Fanny Rudolph, 45, who lived in an apartment above the jewelry store. Her husband, Samuel, 48, suffered cuts and bruises

SCOUTS, SCOUTS, CUB PACK ATTEND SERVICE

The Scout Crew, Sea Scouts and Cub Pack of St. Mary's Anglican Church attended the official Trenton Scout Church Parade on Sunday morning, under the supervision of their respective leaders from the Trenton Group. The service was held in St. Mary's Church and was conducted by the rector, the Rev. W. J. Robinson.

CUSTOMS RETURNS SHOW INCREASE

Customs returns at the Belleville Customs House for the month of April, as compiled from returns by the customs officers at the various ports in the district under the supervision of the collector, Gordon Millar, today reported collections of $222,339.32 as the total for the month, as compared with $203,021.66 for February, 1952.

SPRING ON WAY

The first harbingers of spring were seen on the shores of Lake Ontario last Wednesday when "first" robins were reported by Mrs. Ethel Hall, by the C.N.R. tracks near the lake, Bowmanville.

Mrs. McCarthy also said he sighted a killdeer and bees probably all headed north in search of warmer weather. The spring can't be in the too distant future.

Robt. A. Pringle New Chancellor

The Rev. Robert A. Pringle, C.C., rector of St. Thomas' Church, Belleville, has been appointed by the Lord Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Ontario, the Rt. Rev. Ernest R. Evans, to the office of Chancellor of the Diocese, succeeding Dr. Francis King, Q.C., of Kingston, who has retired after 25 years as a member of St. Thomas' parish here. Mr. Pringle has also served as a church warden and is one of the representatives from the parish in the Diocesan Synod at Kingston.

Child Injures Forehead Trying To Miss Vehicle

TRENTON (Special)—Five-year-old Susan Kennedy of West Street, escaped with a bruised forehead and head when she turned back from the sidewalk and was driven by Mrs. N. Todd, R. of 219 West Street. Susan's older sister Sherrin told police she saw her sister wheel about and the car did not hit her. The car was proceeding east on West Street in front of Healdy's store. The little girl ran from the east side of the pavement into the lane of traffic.

PARKED NEAR TRACKS

Ken Allore of Trenton complained a car owned by Jack F. Delong, 152 Wragge Street, parked it west of the C.N.R. downtown station for a few minutes on Saturday. The car was apparently being moved when the railway track became a train that was travelling south damaged the right rear fender.

KNOCKED OFF BABIES

Jackie Bulpit 4½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Bulpit of Frankford Street complained of a sore stomach after being struck by a car driven by Theobald Martin, of 123 W. Murray Street on Sunday. According to a report to police Jackie was crossing Dundas North Trenton Church as the car approached from the south. The driver applied the brakes and just touched the Bulpit girl knocking her off balance.

POLICE BLOTTER

City police along with a local radio dealer, are on lookout for a man who a month ago stole a radio appliance store and walked away with the radio after giving a wrong address.

The dealer reported the man ticked off a Dundas road then asked if he could try it out at home. He gave his name and a Church street address but the latter proved a check of the address given revealed it to be St. Michael's Church.

Elmer E. Kingsbury, Camillus, reported his car stolen from outside the C.N.R. station early Sunday. The car was reported recovered a short time later.

Otherwise activity on the police scene was comparatively quiet except that it, with the exception of a number of drunks rounded up by patrol officers.

CAPT. LORNE A. (ANDY) ANDERSON, M.M.

(Cobourg)
(By "Observer")

Lorne A. Anderson, 304 Walton St., Cobourg, died suddenly at his residence on Friday last. He had a robust health right up to the time of his death. He is survived by his wife and one son, Andy. A daughter predeceased him, four years ago.

Andy was born in Toronto and enlisted in the 39th Battalion, Cliff in 1915, and was subsequently to the 21st Battalion, was promoted to sergeant and awarded the Military Medal for bravery at Passchendaele and commissioned rank. He served continuously until demobilization in 1919. Upon return to civilian life he entered the employ of the Nelson Company of Toronto and travelled for them until his pensioning.

He was well known and highly respected by the grocery and confectionery trade from Belleville to Orillia and north to Haliburton and he was loved by all his old comrades of First and Second World Wars. Andy always appeared to be in a hurry, dashing hither and yon with a smile and a quip for all whom he encountered. He was a magnificent specimen of manhood at 6 feet in his height and as straight as a string. He had a quick wit and was punster of the first degree.

We remember on one occasion at Peterborough we had introduced to a fellow officer's wife and in the course of conversation we remarked that this lady was an ex-school teacher. Andy's rejoinder brought a smile from her as he quipped: "I thought I could see pupils in your lovely eyes". Another occasion we met him along the road in that beautiful village of Minden in Haliburton and we adjourned for lunch. It was a new French dish in which we dined and it was evident that screens were conspicuous by their absence—flies swarmed in that dining room. Andy carefully covered all edibles with paper serviettes and to the waitress he remarked: "You must be French to serve these parts". Quietly the gal replied: "I do, monsieur I've never tasted 'em." And that was the one and only time that Andy was ever stumped for a reply.

We remember, too, that on our return from the unveiling of the Canadian Memorial at Vimy Ridge on July 26, 1936, we met Andy and he told us that on that memorable occasion he sat along and listened to the broadcast of the ceremony, also in his dear old Cobourg. He confessed to us that he shed tears unashamedly as he witnessed in his mind's eye his old comrades of the 21st marching there on that hallowed plot. But a few short months ago we saw Andy for the last time here in Belleville on the occasion of the 21st reunion. He

Mrs. Thomas Bata Dies in New York

Marie Bata, widow of the man who founded the world's largest shoe empire, died Friday in New York. Mrs. Bata, a native of Belwen, Ont., has been called "shoe king of the world."

Mrs. Marie Roy Thomson-Bonn, born, was the daughter of a high government official. She married Thomas Bata who built shoe factories all over the world, because he was aghast at the fact that half the world's population was shoeless.

He changed the tiny Czechoslovakian town of Zlin into an industrial machine employing 150,000 persons, and Mrs. Bata's first concern was always the welfare of her husband's workers.

She continued to live in Zlin after his death in 1932 and stayed in Czechoslovakia throughout the German occupation. Two years ago she received a high political decoration for her work with the Czech underground from Cardinal Spellman in New York.

Her son escaped from Czechoslovakia in October, 1948, after the Communists seized his giant factories behind the Iron Curtain, and a year later his mother was spirited out of the country by air as officials pushed after the moving airplane.

For the past two years she had been living in Hamilton, Bermuda, and had come to New York for medical treatment.

She was the life of the party for his stories and stories were legion.

And when we gripped his hand in farewell, immediately after that 'Two Minutes' silence and 'Auld Lang Syne' we little thought that it was our last meeting on this earth.

The funeral will take place on this day, Monday, at Cobourg, where friends will gather from Belleville, Peterborough and Toronto—and many other points for the last sad rites. May the kindly earth rest gently on the mortal remains of our very own Andy Anderson — good soldier, affectionate husband and father and first friend.

1954 Objective Of Red Cross Is $19,000

The 1954 objective for the Red Cross campaign is $19,000, the same figure raised in last year's campaign. This was announced by W. J. Morrison, newly-appointed campaign chairman. The announcement of Mr. Morrison's appointment was made by Major J. C. Anderson, president of the Belleville and District Branch of the Canadian Red Cross. The chairman will be assisted by Lorne Buck, manager of the Capitol Theatre and several executive committees.

Returning to Mr. Morrison, Judge Anderson said he took particular pleasure in announcing his appointment. "Mr. Morrison has an enviable record as an administrator," he declared, "and we may look forward to enthusiastic leadership from him in this important campaign."

Mr. Morrison in a statement commended local Red Cross officials for keeping their budget so low in the face of general rising costs. Bills might for the campaign is March 16, and more than 300 volunteer canvassers will take part in the drive. Mr. Morrison is the former principal of the Ontario School for the Deaf.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were higher and trading was active in forenoon trading.

Uranium led the stronger trend with industrials, base metals and western oils following. Golds were slightly stronger in light trading.

First-hour volume was 880,000 shares.

Financial institutions, papers, steels, utilities and refining oils showed slight gains. Volume was moderate with no individual features.

New Bidlamaque led the uranium rise with a nine-cent addition and more than 220,000 shares in the first hour. Bathurst-area issues were relatively quiet.

Base metals were only slightly ahead. Manitouwadge-areas issues drew little interest. Geco was down 25 cents; as trading drew most of the market's speculative interest.

Golds were quiet with a few setbacks ahead and holding companies steady.

Western oils, although stronger, showed the least activity.

Detroit Suicide May Lay Bare Gigantic Swindle

DETROIT (AP)—An auditing accountant's apparent suicide led police today on an inquiry which they said might uncover frauds of $300,000 to $400,000.

A full investigation was waiting into the death of Edwin D. Keith, 37, whose body was found in an abandoned Detroit river gatehouse Sunday.

Police said embezzlement in large figures might be traced to Smith. They mentioned a total of up to $400,000.

Smith's body, expensively dressed, was found by a paperboy. Smith had been shot between the eyes. Beneath his body lay a new .22 calibre rifle.

Married and the father of two children, Smith had been missing for a week.

"Two notes were found on the body. One willed "everything I own" to Mrs. Smith. The other said, "I only did as directed and eventually turned the cash over to the person or persons to whom I was directed to do so. I did not personally profit from them."

Police said shortages had been uncovered in two companies for which Smith had authority to sign cheques.

George E. Currie is Named Principal at St. Catharines

George E. Currie, principal of Belleville Collegiate and Vocational Institute, has been appointed principal of St. Catharines Collegiate Institute and Vocational School.

Mr. Currie will begin his new duties Aug. 1, 1954. He replaces Dr. Gordon E. Price, who has been appointed a school superintendent in Hamilton.

Mr. Currie came to Belleville in 1945 from Elmira, Ont., where he was head of the Elmira district high school.

He was senior master at the Stratford Collegiate and Vocational School before his new duties will commence August 1st. He turned in his resignation at Belleville this morning, effective at the close of the present school term.

SORRY TO LEAVE

"I have been verry happy in Belleville and in a way will be sorry to leave," Mr. Currie stated today at noon when called by The Ontario Intelligencer. "However, St. Catharines is a larger school and there will be a greater challenge."

Mr. Currie said there was a high school enrolment of about 1500 at St. Catharines with a teaching staff of 64 as compared with a staff of 48 at Belleville. Mr. Currie had taken an active part in the formation of the present Bay of Quinte District High School Area and is currently planning the administration of the new Quinte high School now under construction.

He is an active member of the Belleville Kiwanis Club and this year is chairman of the vocational guidance committee of that club. He is also a member of the Moira Chapter of the Masonic order.

Mr. Roy Dulmage, secretary of the Bay of Quinte High School Area board, said that Mr. Currie had handed in his resignation today as school principal and that a special meeting of the board would be held Tuesday evening to consider a successor.

Ted Williams Hurt

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Ted Williams, slugging Boston Red Sox outfielder, fell on his left shoulder today when he stumbled while trying to catch a line drive during batting practice at Payne Field and was taken to a doctor's office for x-rays. Williams was in much pain and there was a possibility the shoulder was broken.

ANCIENT RELIGION

Safe-Crackers Fail to Open Plant Safe

Would-be safe-crackers made an unsuccessful attempt to open the safe at the Coca-Cola plant on Sidney Street some time during the week-end, it was reported today by police.

The attempt on the company safe was discovered this morning, when employees reported for work. Entry to the building was gained by smashing a window on the ground floor. The night operators then made their way to the office where they attacked the safe with crowbars and sledges but were apparently either scared away or had to leave because of lack of time to complete prying the door off the safe.

Attempt to Save Baby's Life Fails

SUDBURY (CP)—The combined efforts of a Sudbury-Algoma sanatorium staff physician and the Sudbury fire department failed Sunday to save the life of a two-year-old baby.

Dead are Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Luke, the baby died shortly after being fed, when her mother noticed she was turning blue.

Dr. Stephen Feldman applied artificial respiration. The Sudbury fire department brought an inhalator three miles to the sanatorium in an attempt to save the baby's life.

It was believed suffocation followed the feeding.

Grant is Made

HAMILTON (CP)—For the third successive year, the Atkinson Charitable Foundation of Toronto has made a $750 grant to McMaster University's summer course in the clinical training of ministers.

The educational project offers specialized training to clergymen of all denominations in psychology, psychiatry and pastoral responsibility of counselling the sick.

JOHN NIAGARA talks about:
Four ways to get a NIAGARA LOAN

Need money? Then the four different ways you can borrow at Niagara Finance will interest you.

First, domestic loans . . . These are sometimes called "husband-and-wife" loans — they alone sign — it is arranged in about 24 to 36 hours and enjoy widespread popularity amongst Canadian couples.

Second, car or truck loans. Here's one of the latest ways to borrow money. It's very easy to handle, both from your point of view and ours. Motor owners can apply by mail or in person. Only the owner of the car and truck need sign. Details are often completed in as short a time as 15 minutes.

Third, loans on business equipment . . . Businessmen like this service because it is fast and confidential. The business equipment acts as a backing and loans are made in accordance with value. Only the owner needs to sign — an excellent point for temporary financial shortages.

Fourth, loans on farm machinery—stock . . . These loans have been especially designed for farmers' needs. And of importance to them — seasonal payment plans are available on loans over $500. Such loans are completed with little delay.

Besides loan plans which fit the needs of almost everyone, there are two good reasons for you to pick Niagara Finance for money requirements. Loans to $1500 are life insured at no extra cost to you. And rates on many Niagara loans are lower . . . in other words, you get more for your money! For full information, just drop in anytime or phone.

SMALL CHEESE FACTORIES CLOSING.

"Whey down upon the Moira River . . ."

No, we just are not equipped to write it. But somebody has to come up with a cheese factory song, to take its place with "School days, school days, dear old golden rule days." For the Dominion Department of Agriculture says that the little crossroads cheese factories are going the way of the little red schoolhouses. And, as far as we know, nobody has yet immortalized the cheese factories in song.

In case you doubt the Department, it comes up with a flock of figures on the mortality rate of crossroad cheese factories. Since 1948 the number of cheese factories in Ontario has dropped from 451 to 262. Quebec has recorded an even larger decline, percentage-wise, for the number of factories in the province has been cut from 230 to 109. Most of the other provinces report a similar trend. Prince Edward Island's factories have dropped from 9 to 5, New Brunswick's from 8 to 7, Manitoba's from 19 to 7, Alberta's from 17 to 11. Saskatchewan has managed to hang on to the 5 factories it had in 1948. British Columbia, battling gallantly against the tide, has doubled the number of its factories, from one to two. Nova Scotia and Newfoundland do not make cheese. Cheese and fish never went well together.

In case you are prepared to view with alarm the future of the aged and honorable pastime of cheese-eating, we hasten to assure you that the picture is not quite as black as these figures suggest. The closing of the smaller factories has been largely the result of the replacement of five or three such factories by one larger plant. The trend does not necessarily mean that less cheese can be produced.

Cheese production in Canada has fluctuated widely in the six years covered by the Department's survey of the number of factories operating. Figures for production make it evident that the number of factories is not the controlling factor. And an important result of the reduction in the number of factories has been an improvement in the quality of the cheese produced. In 1953, according to the Department, 21 factories in Ontario and Quebec from which less than 100 cheese per factory were graded had an average of less than 2 percent fine grade cheese. Of the 5 largest factories in the same provinces averaged over 95 per cent first grade.

So much for quality. As for quantity, here are the figures for cheese production in Canada for the seven years from 1947 to 1953, both years inclusive; 1947, 121,952,000 pounds; 1948, 89,025,000 pounds; 1949, 118-915,000 pounds; 1950, 96,654,000 pounds; 1951, 85,260,000 pounds; 1952, 66,574,000 pounds; 1953, 70,250,000 pounds.

It is quite evident from these figures that the drop in production from the early post-war years is not the result of the closing of the small factories. An encouraging feature is the fact that production in 1953 showed a considerable increase over the low mark for the seven-year period, in 1952.

LET'S HEAR THE LION ROAR!

Let's hear that lion roar!

March is with us. March is supposed to come in like a lion and go out like a lamb. After December, January and February, of us feel any active desire to wrestle with a lion. But, the story goes, if March should come in like a lamb it would be considered a reflection upon us with sweet reasonableness by all the rest of the year. It depends. Most of us, at this season of the year, expect to be worse before we are better and if we have to do any wrestling with lions it had better come quickly. That March comes in like a lamb and goes out like a lion is no fun.

So let's hear that lion roar!

If it does not, perhaps we can take comfort from the suspicion that this lion and lamb business is an imported tradition, with no application in this part of Canada. But if we write off the idea of the meteorological lion we shall also have to admit that March is never very lamb-like. Spring does not come to Canada that early.

Over in England, where this lion and lamb see-saw apparently first got rocking, March is a mad month. The east winds whip in off the North Sea, or the west winds pour in from across the Atlantic. But there is a promise of good things to come. The mistle thrushes already have built their nests in the southern shires. If the hares are mad in March, it is in anticipation of April's soft showers.

Then if spring comes with a rush. Here she lingers so long in the lap of winter one would think he was a millionaire and she a demographer with a coney-size salary and a mink-sized yen for luxury.

Conservatives are reported as protesting the substitution of an eagle for the crown on the badges worn by non-commissioned personnel in the air force. There is no cause to get up in the air. It is just another flight of fancy.

BELIEVE IN YOURSELF

Believe in yourself! Believe you were made
To do any task without calling for aid.
Believe, without growing too
Of the greatest and least, are endowed
A mind to do thinking, two hands and two eyes
Are all the equipment God gives to the wise.

Believe in yourself! You're a divinely designed
And perfect mask for the work of mankind.
Believe in you, resist cling to through dangers and pains

The height man has reached
You can also attain.
Believe to the very last hour,
for it's true,
That whatever you will you've been gifted to do.

Believe in yourself and step out
undaunted.
By misgivings and doubt be not easily swayed.
You've the right to succeed. The promise of skill
Which betokens the great, you can read if you will.
The wisdom of ages is yours if you're ready
But you've got to believe in yourself to succeed.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

MARCH 18TH, 1934

Owing to the exceedingly cold winter, more fuel has been burned and a fair estimate of the amount of ashes collected by the garbage collectors so far this winter would show twenty-five to thirty per cent above that in a normal year. The ashes collected are often forced to work many hours over time to keep up with their work.

During the month of February three bulletin boards were used at the office of the city engineer, at an estimated cost of $1,000. The permit approval reads and alterations to stores and offices.

Miss Maude Campbell is attending the spring millinery openings in Toronto and New York City.

Mr. George S. Kerr, Benjamin Street, is spending a few days with relatives in Rochester, N.Y.

Mr. Bruce Lattimer was home from the College of Pharmacy, Toronto, to spend the week-end.

Scores of skiers and snowshoers from this city and throughout the district turned the vicinity of Oak Lake into a miniature Lake Placid on Sunday. The high hills in the district glazed with firm snow afforded wonderful recreational facilities. Jones' woods section was also a favored spot.

10 YEARS AGO

MARCH 18TH, 1944

In a bowling match last evening the Hardware team defeated the Waterworks, the score totalling 2942 to 2714. The following composed the teams—Hardware: Vanderlinde, Parker, Naphan, Whalen, Anderson; Waterworkers Hill, Lynch, Phillips, Walsh, Yerex.

Prof. Maines of Albert College addressed the members of the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon meeting today.

Mr. James Douglas of Fort Stewart, reeve of Carlow township, is spending a few days in town.

MARCH 1st, 1914

Miss E. J. Guest, M.A., of the Belleville High School, addressed the members of the Women's Institute at Redcross ville last evening. The chair was occupied by the president, Mrs. Alex. Anderson. Mr. John Hall furnished several organ selections on the autoharpsichone.

Sergt. William Black, of the 34th Battery, left today for Ottawa where he will take a course in physical training.

Mr. James Phillips of Montreal, an old resident of this city, is home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Phillips, Charles street.

Mr. A. A. Mark, of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, is spending a few days in town renewing acquaintances.

50 YEARS AGO

MARCH 1ST., 1904

March surely came in like a lion. It was the worst storm of the season; the wind blew and the snow fell in large quantities all evening at six o'clock the storm had become a regular blizzard and it was almost impossible to see across the street. At eleven o'clock there were sounds of thunder and flashes of lightning. The storm continued until an early hour this morning, when it ceased snowing. The railroads are blocked and the roads leading to the city are impassable. It was one of the worst storms that ever visited this city and vicinity.

Start Search For Snowman

(Brantford Expositor).

The stories have started to come in from Calcutta, Darjeeling and other places nearer the great Himalyan peaks) concerning an expedition which has set out to look down (or up, for all we know) the Abominable Snowman.

This is not to say there is no such animal, human or subhuman. There is, in fact, a rather long tradition, a volume of literature, concerning this amazing — and most elusive — creature.

In addition to the legends believed by the ordinary natives and the occasional testimony of Tibetan lamas and other persons of repute, we have reports from British and European mountaineers about astonishingly large and far-spaced footprints and by the Sherpas to be characteristic of the Yeti, or Abominable Snowman.

Where such tales persist over so long a period, and when there is yet partial agreement on the findings of men of Western science, there is likely to be a foundation in truth.

Just what the truth is, most of us would like to know.

In December, 1951, even the staid but scientific-minded editors of London printed some startling statements by Shipton, with clear photographs, of reputed Abominable Snowmen's footprints in the snows of the Himalayas. And yet the seriousness of this photographic evidence was not lessened by Eric Shipton, famed leader of the great Everest reconnaissance, or by partial forerunner of the expedition headed by John Hunt which achieved success in 1953.

This naturally set off a lot of speculation and argument, but Eric Shipton simply reported his findings. Hunt, who has since been promoted for a while (some still say) and, Finally one professor suggested that the tracks had been made by a recognized species of bear. This theory was immediately accepted by some — and scornfully rejected by others. Finally, the bear boys go cavorting about, in giant strides, in the topmost of the mountainous regions.

The fact that a question remains is the most unsatisfactory feature of the veritable international party, it seems—to try to find out about the Abominable Snowman. Their quest is spurred by the reference made by Sir John Hunt, however it really is) coincided with the conquest of Everest just before the Coronation last year.

All we can say is that we hope Operation Snowman is successful, just as we hope the sporadic search for the Loch Ness Monster and the increasingly serious hunt for Flying Saucers will be.

Russia's New Big Bombers

(Montreal Gazette).

The American magazine, Aviation Week, has published pictures and various reports on Russia's two new long-range bombers. The data, it declares, was obtained from sources behind the Iron Curtain and the U.S. Air Force's Intelligence seems to mark it as fairly reliable.

The pictures of the two heavy bombers, the Tupolev-200 and the Ilyushin-38, seem remarkably familiar to students of American aviation. The recognition is justified, for the Tu-200 is a rough copy of the U.S.A.F.'s atomic bomb carrier, the 10-engine B-36, while the Il-38 is equally similar to the U.S.A.F.'s newest heavy plane, the all-jet B-52, which will replace the B-36.

There is some notable difference. Both of these new Russian types are powered by turbo-props, that is by jet engines which drive propellers. Four engines are mounted on the Tu-200, the U.S. and Canada use pure jets.

The advantage of the turbo-prop is that it has a longer range than the pure jet, because it doesn't burn fuel so fast. How ever, it lacks the pure jet's speed. The Tu-200 is said to be 100 miles an hour slower.

Both bombers are heavily-armed, where the newest Allied bombers are stripped and armed with armament in favor of speed.

There are two other factors of interest in Aviation Week's report. One is encouraging, the other is not.

The encouraging fact is that the Soviet engineers are not yet caught up with the West in the field of electronics. Despite the still copying American designs, the Tupolev is said to be using the same type of American B-29 bombers "interested" in Siberia during the war. The Russians are also using first postwar long-range bomber.) But the electronic gear in the Russian designs are still far ahead of the Russian.

That the Russians lack in initiative, however, they try to make up for in production. Production is believed that several hundred of these bombers are already in operational stations and that more are being produced in quantity.

The American B-52, and the Russian Il-38 are believed to be superior to either the Tu-200 or the Il-38, but they are only being developed into production.

While America waits for production of the B-52, the Russian new Russian types are superior and can be temporarily depending upon for long-range atomic bombing, the B-36. Until the B-52 is available in quantity, the Red air armies have a measure of superiority.

IDOLS

I wish people didn't change their idols so often. I don't mean the dumb, material idols, but the living and blood, living idols. We owe more to them than we can ever repay. Socrates, Christ, Plato, inspiring book, "Heroes and Hero Worship," demonstrated the fact. In my library I have had many an idol in public life and among writers and artists, and even among my everyday friends.

One of my favorite literary idols has been Christopher Morley, book lover, able poet, novelist and essayist. Carlyle was a fine writer that Morley has pointed out to me, but I never fell in love and admiration long after the popular writers have faded into history.

How can we ever forget his "Parnassus on Wheels," "Where Blue Begins," "John Mistletoe," "Ex Libris Carissimis," and scores of others. In 1940 was published the volume of "The Ironing Board," from which many of his finest essays. There is a spiritual tone to much of Morley's writing that has escaped the eye critics. Out of all classification is his recent novel "The Man Who Made Friends With Himself," which received a chilly reception, but it remains a major effort that many of the critics will be glad to read them silently think.

In an intimate letter to me Morley writes, "I don't think I can really assume any credit for anything except when I have had a book of the perfect word. It's really easier to be recruited than to argue about it." But he was a little discouraged when he wrote that letter, not sure. His writings are filled with many a perfect word," and surprising one at that. Yes, Christopher Morley, has been an idol and a friend of mine for, lo, these many years. It is too bad that there is but one of him!

Yachting Revolution

(Chicago News)

We hadn't been fully aware of the social revolution that has taken place in yachting, once the sport of kings and well-to-do gentlemen, until we took an advance look at the 433 craft entered in the 1954 Motor Boat and Show at the International Amphitheatre.

Boating, we learned, is now a principal pleasure of between 8¼ and 8 million Americans and is gaining new addicts at the rate of 250,000 a year.

This is all the more remarkable in that yachting is no simple pleasure like canasta or parchesi games. You can't be a yachtsman without a boat, which runs on the average about $250, to which another $240 must be added for a motor.

Behind the ground swell of post-war boating is the growth of the skilled worker group, which last year accounted for 39 per cent of outboard purchases. With a shorter work week and higher wages than ever before, the skilled worker has more time on his hands and more money with which to enjoy it.

spect. Grannie's shoes were comfortable, fashionless and "bunion-proof."

Grannie's are, happily, still with us, but they are no longer "typed" in their proportions. They have naturally merged into the population. Today's grannies are not all in the Inglenook and kitty, or placidly read and doze. Life today is recognized as a constant challenge with its best rewards and fulfilment coming to those who accept it in terms of the outside world. It is, in fact, a world that might have frightened the old-fashioned grannie to death.

Old Fashoned Grannie Gone

(Hamilton Spectator)

What has happened to the old fashioned grannie? Years ago the typical woman became a grandmother she assumed something more than a new dignity, she joined a select and respected group. Nothing more noted for its wisdom than its activity. The mere mention of the word "grandmother" conjured up instantly an enormous mental picture of an old lady dressed in a black, or perhaps lavender, ankle-length gown of no particular style, quiet, retired and, let it be admitted, somewhat defeated by life's battles. There were many things that would never be expected of the old-fashioned grandmother. Being a grannie was like being a member of a dignified profession.

For example, there was the matter of dress. This must at once proclaim her new generation, there must be no artifice, no attempt to steal a few years by looking "a young matron." In the Granny knew her place in the family, she was content in it and did not try to jump forward a generation.

Even when the hideous button boots and bonnets had long passed away, Grannie's hat and grannie's shoes, like her gowns, were the despair of her generation. There were even stores that traded exclusively in these somber and dignified articles, while others specialized in keeping the grannie aged-looking and remote.

The hat—usually black, was perched with a few beads or ribbons. It looked, if such a thing were possible, like an eccentric imitating between a toque and a bonnet, and it accompanied an

ACUTE AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM

Since I began harping so strongly on the rheumatic in this and several columns ago, I have asked ironically what has become of the focal infection theory which cost so many arthritis sufferers all their teeth, not to mention their tonsils and other appendages, when Tony was a pup.

Dr. Brady.

Dont look at me like that. When Tony ruled the domain I was using readers not to give up their teeth on the order of any charlatan who implied that sacrifice of all the teeth would cure the rheumatic.

Focal infection means lodgment (metastasis) in joint or other tissues of germs which have lived in a primary septic focus where the invading germs have established a beach head.

In most instances of rheumatism (or all it chooses to call rheumatism if you prefer) there is no reason to think either infection or inflammation is involved. Impairment of joint function, weakness, stiffness and pain develop insidiously, slowly. If the trouble were infectious, it would present some manifestations would develop in the space of a few days. Likewise enlarged "arthritis" from strain, sprain or injury.

Genuine rheumatism is a chronic disability. There is no redness, no heat, no swelling, no color, rubor et tumor (heat, pain, redness and swelling) present to suggest any unusual complication. The other common joint disabilities which are likely to be mistaken for rheumatic and therefore wrongly treated, are strain, sprain, bursitis, synovitis, arthritis and infection of joint tissues by tuberculosis, syphilis, gonorrhea, typhoid, pneumonia or septicemia (streptococcus). All these conditions are acute (the manifestations occur in hours or days) and the inflammation and loss or use are usually temporary, of a few weeks duration.

These acute disabilities obviously not be confused with rheumatism. They have nothing in common with it, and indeed have nothing in common with one another, except perhaps pain. Each of these acute conditions calls for specific treatment — surgical repair, splints, rest, drainage, manipulation, corrective exercise or what-ever. It is just plain dumb to follow a trick diet, take heat treatments, mineral baths, take blood purifiers or alkalizers, or to change your diet in the hope of curing such ailments. Don't misinterpret, fathead, if do not mean to deny that such remedial measures may give a certain measure of relief or comfort. I merely say they can't cure anything.

If your trouble is chronic, if it developed in days or weeks or if it is of less than a few months duration, you should consult a physician about it and describe your pain or disability to him in detail without alluding to rheumatism or arthritis and without suggesting your own half-baked opinion or diagnosis.

If your trouble is chronic, if it has been developing insidiously for months or years or more joints, it is probably chronic rheumatic—not arthritis—and only when you know how it is—now, keep your shirt on—physical degeneration.

Physical degeneration means wasting or reduction in use-power impairment of function due to nutritional deficiencies from early childhood through the years up to and including breakfast this morning.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the dining car, the steward led me to one of those tables for two. Travelling alone, as most of us do, it is always a bit of an adventure to go into the diner. You never know who you will be seated with. At a table for four, you often can be seated with three strangers, each a stranger to the others. And if there is anything harder on the digestion, let alone the enjoyment of a meal, it is to be in company with three stiff and stodgy strangers at a small, polished table on which nobody knows whose bread is whose, nobody is speaking, and everybody eats with downcast eyes, or staring deliberately out the window.

A table for two cuts your risks down to 50 per cent.

I ordered Canadian pea soup, grilled lake trout, cherry pie with cheese, tea and Oka cheese with French bread instead of the salted biscuits. I told the waiter to see the Oka was nice and soft.

The moment I had ordered, the steward brought my seat mate to small, dark, reserved types. He gave me a quick, evasive glance at the table. He was one of those who is indicate he did not propose to talk to me. Well, it was my intention to watch out the window for a fox or a flight of snow buntings or some other such delight.

My table mate studied the menu. He studied it long and seriously. He glanced around at adjoining tables to see what others were eating. Finally, with great hesitation, he wrote out his order. The moment I looked away. A moment later he returned with my pea soup. I ate it with Canadian gusto. When he brought me my golden lake trout, he was still studying the menu. At his soup, pallid consomme. He ate the consommé whilst watching me eat my fish. And you could tell he had ordered wrong.

Along came his dish: a dark brown goulash in a pale, pallid brown gravy, with ominous disappointment. my lovely Oka with French bread arrived.

"Waiter!" he called despairingly. "Change my dessert. I will eat Oka."

And he pointed at my Oka. The poor fish! How few of those unfortunates who finds everybody has got something better than his.

Hog-Swiping Must Be Art

Pig pens at Wallaceburg have been raided and nine pigs weighing about 75 pounds spiced sausages. Police have asked farmers to take better care of their porcine herds. What we would like to know is how anyone can heft a 75-pound hog and keep him from reading the alarm with his fearsome screams. Did they use chloroform? To swipe a live hog—in silence—requires not be the ultimate of the art of rustling.

WHAT IS EDUCATION?

We live in an age which puts great store by education.

Two fallacies impede us in our thinking about education. The first is that education and information are the same; the second is that education is nothing more that the power to reason.

Information, enough truth in such positions to make them misleading. A well-educated man must, of course, be well informed, capable of clear reasoning, and one who reasons not just for the love of reasoning, but for the purpose of arriving at conclusions which will be beneficial to himself and to the world. A half-educator or a distorted education often leads men into prejudices and into courses of action which are of no help to anyone.

See that your children get well-balanced education. Let the love of information and reason should be added mental purpose. Then you have real education.

RAWDON

Couple Honored By Friends On 35th Anniversary

RAWDON—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fryear, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fryear and children, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fryear, Mrs. Helen Neal, Mrs. Keitha Hubel and family and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tucker attended a 25th wedding anniversary party Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Terry, ninth concession, Murray township.

Mrs. Terry was formerly Thora Hubel of Carmel. The Terry's were married on February 16th, 1929, but the party had to be scheduled for Saturday owing to the heavy snowstorm and blocked roads.

The community sponsored the event under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. John McColl and 200 relatives and friends attended. The honored couple received a large chrome kitchen table and matching rocking chair from the community; a local blanket from Carmel relatives and several other lovely gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDonell entertained their son, W.O. 2 Arthur McDonell, Mrs. McDonell and children of Kingston, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hubel, of Brighton, spent the week-end with Mrs. Keitha Hubel and family and attended the party for their uncle and aunt in Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gazely, of Belmont, (the former Miss Pounder, of Mount Pleasant), have announced the marriage of their son, Leading Seaman Arthur Raymond Gazely, to Miss Lucille Sondtrest, on February 20, 1954, in St. Mary's Basilica, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

On Sunday afternoon, March 28, Rev. L. S. Throop, Cannifton, chairman of Presbytery, will have charge of the dedication ceremony at Carmel United Church. The following Sunday morning, April 4, a special re-opening service will be held when Rev. Miriam Collins, assistant minister at Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, will have charge.

Giving Advice to Lovelorn Part of Sergeant's Duties

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KURE, Japan (CP)—The soldier with one of the toughest jobs in Canada's Far East forces is Staff Sgt. Bill Meder of Ottawa who gives advice to the lovelorn and keeps an eye on the sisters' progress.

So far, she's shepherded the brides and bridegrooms in 46 cases involving marriages between Canadian soldiers and Japanese girls.

Before he clears them for the altar he must be sure there are no impediments of health and character and see they are properly documented. Finally, if the marriage is carried out in Japan he must make sure that the wife, if pregnant, is not too close to confinement before putting her on a troopship headed for Canada.

HAPPY COUPLES

"It's nothing, really," said Bill with a wide grin, and then seriously, "They all seem happy when they leave me. I hope they stay that way. But, of course, a chancy."

Bill is on the staff of Lt.-Col. J. A. K. Rutherford of Oakville, Ont., chief of the Canadian administrative unit here. This is the unit that's responsible for the handling of replacements and shifts of the men of the 25th Brigade in Korea. The job isn't as urgent as it was when the hot war was on and the casualties were coming in fast.

"But we've the machinery well oiled just in case we have to be in a hurry again," said Col. Rutherford.

Also in this department come the handling of the casualty lists which are done in a delicate and humane way so as to make it as easy as possible for the next-of-kin at home.

In the case of fatalities the personal effects are handled with understanding by a quiet and business like crew who see that proper notification is made to the relatives and that belongings are shipped in the most thoughtful way possible.

ONE STILL MISSING

This branch of the army's Far Eastern operation also handles the prisoner-of-war exchange and through it was able to clear up all but one of the outstanding cases of men missing on the battlefield. The man unaccounted for is still listed as "missing, believed dead" but because all the documents have not been cleared through defence headquarters his name is withheld.

The later-marriage problem is one of the most difficult handled by this branch. It's a touchy process with 18 steps of investigation and documentation to get a Japanese bride to Canada. First the army, through the chaplain service and Red Cross, does its best to ensure that the Canadian is certain of his decision and realizes the delicate complications that may arise at home when he brings back an Oriental bride and starts raising a family.

This usually happens after the man has applied to his commanding officer for permission to get married. The CO is generally sympathetic if he thinks the girl is of good character and intelligence. It has happened however, that a commander has urged the soldier back to Canada with the suggestion that if he's still in love after a hitch at home he can re-enlist for Far East service and apply again for marriage. In a couple of cases the cooling-off period has been effective and the boy, usually with the guidance of his parents, has given up the idea. The remarkably resilient Japanese girl has found another boy friend among the Allied troops.

GOOD RECORD

In the 46 cases which have been cleared or are still pending no insoluble problems has arisen so far. The nearest thing to this has been the case of a bride who developed tuberculosis which excludes her from entry to Canada. However, she's on the mend and should rejoin her husband at home in about 10 months.

All but four of the marriages have been performed by Canadian Christian chaplains. Of the nine Japanese - Canadians who have married soldiers, Japanese girls, three used the Buddhist ceremony. There have been inquiries from soldiers interested in a Korean girl and they were given full instruction on the long procedures of documentation and the investigation this entailed. One case came back for more help so it is assumed ardor cooled in the interim. One reported did receive permission and married a Korean nurse.

The other main obstacle to marriage besides health is the character of the Japanese girl. If she has any criminal record or fails to pass the security check she is automatically ruled ineligible for entry to Canada. This, of course, would almost certainly mean no marriage.

LAMP-LIGHTING TIME

As I sit alone in the twilight
At the close of a winter day,
The lights in the village windows
Gleam with a gladdening ray;
And how the lights glow and beckon
From every window in bloom!
Symbols of homely firesides
And the family gloom.

How often the homesick wanderer
Who in distant lands may roam,
Dreams of the lighted windows
In his distant childhood home!
And three same lighted windows
In the home where a mother prays,
Keep his steps from the paths of evil
And sin's alluring ways.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Way, Hiller, Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Way of Hillier R.R. No. 1 celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Thursday, February 25th. Mrs. Way, who was the former Minnie Laura Burman, was born in England and orphaned at an early age came to Canada to make home with relatives and friends. She made her home for a number of years with the late D. Potter and Mrs. Potter who made cheese at the Mountain View Factory. Mr. James Way farmed on his father's farm the late Wm. Henry Way in Ameliasburg township. They were married quietly by Rev. F. Johnston on February 25, 1904. Their attendants were Miss Addie Potter, now Mrs. Morrow, and Mr. Arnold Potter of Seattle, Wash.

After the ceremony the young bride and groom drove by horse and cutter to Belleville. Mrs. Way remembers that at one time huge snowbanks nearly blocked the roads. On arriving in Belleville they learned that owing to the storm the train would not be going out until morning. After a short honeymoon, they returned to the farm at Ameliasburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Way lived at Bloomfield R.R. 2 for a few years, later moving to Hillier township where they have lived ever since. Mr. and Mrs. Way are both in fair health doing their own work on the farm and living quietly among good neighbors in a friendly community. Mrs. Way is a member of the Bowerman's W.I.

A turkey supper was enjoyed by the members of the immediate family, Mrs. Way wore a black dress with gold trimming and a lovely corsage of golden yellow roses. Mr. Way proudly wore a lovely rose boutonniere in the lapel of his dark suit. The table looked very attractive with a three-storey anniversary cake made by their youngest daughter Laura and nicely decorated with golden trimmings topped with a vase with pastel sweet peas and candles in matching tones, completing the table arrangement. Lovely congratulation cards and gifts of flowers, china and a Crosley lamp spoke their tribute for the bride and groom of fifty years. Mr. Selden Way eldest of the family who is with Bausch and Lomb Optical Co. of Rochester, N.Y. was unable to be present but called long distance to offer congratulations and enjoyed a long conversation with his Mom and Dad. Other members of this union are Mildred, Mrs. Jas. Sprague of Mountain View, Audrey, Mrs. Warren Chase of Trenton, Bessie, Mrs. Sherman Weir of Hillier, Gerald Way, who is with the Belleville Motors, Vera, Mrs. David Rowe of Picton and Laura, Mrs. Edwin Lott of Huff's Island. There were also fifteen grandchildren.

A group of friends called in the evening to express their congratulations and good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Way and presented a gift of china.

Among expressions of congratulation, Mr. and Mrs. Way received a message from Hon. C. D. Howe acting Prime Minister.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WHY HAS THIS HUSBAND STRAYED?

What makes husbands stray?

Well, obviously, sometimes it's one thing, sometimes another.

Perhaps it's pure selfishness on the part of the man; perhaps it's because he is trying to get away from a wife who fails to make the kind of home that makes a man want to stay there.

I'm inclined to suspect the the husband described in the following letter is behaving so badly is due partly to the first cause, and partly to the second. Read the letter and see if you don't agree with me.

"My husband says I am a nagging wife, when he knows deep down in his heart that I really should leave him for the way he is treating me.

"Any spare time he has, he spends at a bar where a woman in whom he is interested is employed. They have been intimate for over a year now. He takes her out to dinner at least twice a week. He even keeps some of his clothes in her hotel room, hoping I won't get wise to their affair. Instead of spending at least a few hours with his wife each evening, he prefers to spend most of his time in this woman's hotel room.

"This cheap woman now even telephones my husband at our home, and he and she ride by the house in the evenings just to show how little they care about me.

"All this is making me very ill, and I am very worried these days. Would you suggest that I leave my husband? I think he is the meanest man living, and God should punish him severely."

The reason why I think this situation is due to a combination of selfish husband and an uncongenial wife is found in two places in this letter. That is, the fact that this unfaithful husband takes his mistress riding directly by his home certainly indicates that he is considerably worse than selfish; while the last sentence of the letter sounds like, not a heartbroken wife, but a bitter and antagonistic one who may have given her husband such a hard time, when he did spend evenings with her, that he preferred not to come home any more.

I am not saying that this wife did make home an unhappy place for her husband, for I have no way of knowing whether this actually was the case or not. And I am certainly not excusing him for his behavior. But sometimes it does help a wife to solve this kind of problem if she will look at it clearly, and analyze it honestly, in a sincere effort to determine if by any chance she could have been at fault as well as her husband.

Moreover, the first step toward getting back a wandering husband for the wife to let him see that she is ready and willing to do her part in bettering or straightening out things between them, hard as it may be for her. A rigid, angry, antagonistic attitude such as this wife shows in her letter will get her nowhere; a forgiving one might. It is up to her to decide which attitude she wishes to take, but she will definitely have to choose.

What I would suggest is that she begin by finding herself some activity outside her home into which she can throw her heart and her energy so that she would not be constantly brooding over her husband's unfaithfulness. That would help bring about that so-important change of attitude in herself which must precede any possibility of reconciliation between them. It would also make her a more interesting person, a fact her husband might soon discover.

If she really wants a chance to mend her marriage, I think she will have to start with herself. Does she want a chance enough to do this?

CONGRATULATIONS TO A SENSIBLE TEEN-AGER!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am 15, and have been going with a fellow 22 for two years.

A few days ago, just before he went back to his work which is in another city, he asked me if we could go steady, and I told him that I wasn't sure I was in love with him and that we ought to wait.

Did I do the right thing? Both his parents and mine approve of our going steady, but I still think I am too young to be in love or to go steady with any fellow yet.

Alice

Dear Alice:

To my way of thinking, you said exactly the right thing to this young man, and I congratulate you on your level-headedness.

I'm afraid I cannot agree with your parents that it makes sense for a girl of your age to "go steady." It seems to me you are quite a bit more sensible than they are in this matter and don't let them persuade you to change your mind.

A Comforting Letter

By Mary Moore

LETTER:

So long-I have felt the urge to write you, I so enjoy your column. Even though I seldom try your recipes with the exception of your tomato catsup, which I found turned out just wonderful. You see I am just a plain farm woman, my children gone so we don't require much in the way of fancy cakes and dishes any more. However we always enjoy so much hearing about Pete and Marianne—all my friends do. It is just a little bit of sweetness sandwiched in between the dull recipes. In fact, and surely this is a coincidence, I happened to mention to another weary farmer lady friend of mine how disappointed I was when I found (another picture) staring at me from your column. I said "You see, sometimes, the recipes don't honestly interest me much, but somehow I like to turn to her page and gaze at Mary Moore." My friend said "Oh is not that queer. I do the very same thing. After a busy day in the hay field I am far too weary to read but I never miss turning to Mary Moore's page. Somehow her picture seems to pep me up. She must get tired too, plenty of times, but she has the bravest look.. Her face always seems gay yet sad, and reading about her boy and girl, well one feels sure she is a wonderful mother."

So pay no attention to the blasts Mary, as a wise doctor friend of ours used to say "Every knock is a boost" and keeping a perfect-ly wonderful secret regarding Marianne and Pete. Sincerely yours,

Betty S.

GRATEFUL ANSWER:

From you faithful folk I receive many wonderful letters but this one is certainly among the best. It was pure balm.

Sure I get weary, but I'm not sad Betty. I'm keeping a perfectly wonderful secret regarding Marianne and Pete. Sometime it comes.

I'll spill it to those of you who are interested. She is a full-fledged black-bander now and would not swap that little strip of black velvet on her nurse's cap for much fine gold.

Pancake Tuesday is tomorrow. Here is my current pancake recipe favorite.

SUPERIOR PANCAKES

If you have a wide-mouthed pitcher into which your rotary beater will fit do your mixing in it, for it facilitates pouring when you are baking these. One and one-half cups unsifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder 3-4 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg, 1 1-4 cups milk, 3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together. Beat egg (in pitcher or bowl), add milk and butter and stir to mix then add dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Add vanilla. Drop by spoonfuls or pour from pitcher onto greased but ungreased griddle. Bake on one side until puffed and full of bubbles. Flip over and bake on other side. Pete makes this amount for Marianne and himself and me, but it's supposed to serve four normal appetites.

BUCKWHEAT PANCAKES

(Yeast.)

To 1-2 cup lukewarm water add 1 teaspoon of sugar and sprinkle in 1 package granular yeast. Without stirring let stand ten minutes, then stir. Sift together 1 cup sifted flour, 2 cups buckwheat flour and 1-2 teaspoon salt. To the soaked yeast add 2 cups water, and stir this until smooth into the dry ingredients, and then beat hard for 1 minute. Cover and refrigerate overnight. In the morning stir in 1 tablespoon molasses, 1-4 cup melted butter, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in 1-2 cup hot water. Let stand at room temperature for 30 minutes. Bake as directed above for Superior Pancakes.

I hope you have some maple syrup for these.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

WIDOW KNOWS CORRECT NAME FORM

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please help me. My husband died last June. We had been married over thirty years, and I am bereft, lost without him. Directly after my husband passed on, some of my friends began to address letters to me "Mrs. Mary Brown." Not only this, but at Christmas time quite a few of my cards were addressed to "Mrs. Mary Brown." (I'm using this name just as an example.) Every time a card is received addressed like this it made me feel very bad, for I had been "Mrs. George Brown" so long that I felt this "Mrs. Mary Brown" was like leaving out my husband's name.

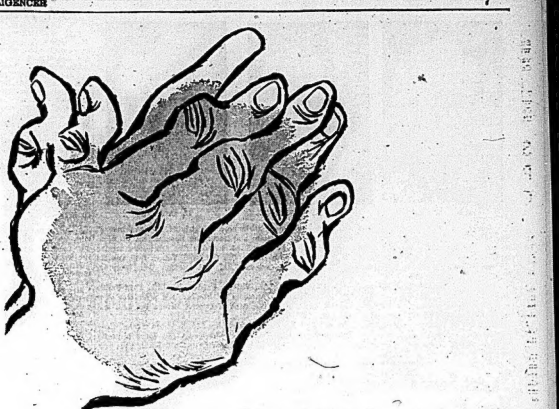
Are my friends right about my using "Mrs. Mary Brown" now, or am I right in wanting to keep my husband's name? If I'm right, please do suggest what I can possibly do to let them know that I want to continue to use my husband's name. Thank you.

Widow

You are completely right, my dear Widow, when your friends who are addressing you as "Mrs. Mary Brown" are completely wrong. Naturally you, who lived your husband so deeply and abidingly, want to cling to use the name he gave you (as I am positive you continue to wear the wedding ring he gave you). It is too bad that some women, not knowing any better at all, take the correct thing for her to do.

I suggest you do everything possible to show your friends and all others "concerned" that the name you wish to use. Indicate this name in your signature to letters to the friends who need convincing:

Sincerely,
Mary Brown
(Mrs. George Brown)



Always write this name in your return address on the backs of envelopes for have stickers printed and attach these to all envelopes and so forth: Mrs. George Brown, with your address. Always give this name for your accounts in stores and shops and whenever necessary drop a hint to a friend: "It is such a comfort to me to continue to use my dear George's name as I have always used it . . . I am, of course, still Mrs. George Brown."

A TOAST TO THE BRIDE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been asked to propose the toast to the bride at a wedding, and I don't know what to say. Will you please help me out by suggesting a proper toast for the occasion? When should I propose this toast? — M. T.

The toast to the bride is usually the first toast to be proposed. You may use one of the many necessary words for your toast, . . "To the bride!" or you may add some gracious words, for example: "I would like to propose a toast to today's bride, Mary Smith." Or you may propose a toast to the Bride and Groom: "A standing toast, please, to The Bride and Bridegroom . . and to their future welfare, and to their happiness always."

A WONDER DRUG HAS HELPED CHANGE THIS . . .

These gnarled, arthritic hands may well be raised in thanksgiving . . . for a wonder drug. Cortisone, perhaps, or another of the miracle drugs of today which has brought relief to pain-wracked people.

Not many years ago, pain and disability of this sort brought about heavy hardship. Treatment was expensive and lengthy and not always or permanently successful. Even in grandfather's day of low prices, the cost was great.

It is only because truly staggering sums have been spent in research and development by the leading pharmaceutical houses that we can buy today's wonder drugs at all. And buy them, moreover, at grandfather's prices . . . prices even he in his day would have found reasonable!

YOU CAN DEPEND ON YOUR NEIGHBOURHOOD DRUGGIST

You will always be sure of reasonable prices at your neighbourhood druggist's. He is highly trained in the profession of pharmacy, a friendly man . . . and you can depend on him as surely as you can depend on the wonder drugs he stocks. See him soon for whatever you need.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

IMPROVING ON NATURE

When a woman finishes shampooing her hair and looks in the mirror at that dripping head of hers she is likely to think heaven that she doesn't have to look at nature designed her. To her way of thinking, at that moment, cosmetic chemists are her best friends.

She yodels a few hoorays for the inventor of the permanent wave machine and lays a silent prayer of thanks for her lipstick, rouge and powder. For without these aids life would be less zestful. They help to repair the wear and tear of daily activities.

Fancy the by-gone days when beautifying was considered a bit "quite nice"; when it was believed that cosmetics would injure the complexion. How silly! Toiletries, properly applied, keep the skin conditioned. The friction necessary for the application of creams stimulates circulation and glands—helps tissues to stay frim so that they will not relax and let wrinkles settle in. Once there was a lot of gab about the charms of "natural beauty." All right, if you had it but what if you had been short changed?

We seek corrective measures for our beauty defects because good appearance makes for happier lives. The better a woman looks the better she feels.

If all women had peaches-and-cream complexions; if every figure conformed to standard weights and measurements; if all waists and ankles were slender; every one's hair thick, shining and in perfect form, the beauty shops and cosmetic industry would go out of business. True, millions lions are spent every year for toilet goodies, but what of it? They're good investments. Certainly there is no virtue in remaining unattractive when a little time, effort and cash will keep you in the beauty parade.

A touch of rouge will revive a tired soul. It will pull a woman out of a ditch when she has sunk there because of depressed spirits. It will lop off birthdays the weight of which even the most courageous woman feels now and then.

Improving on nature why not? It is being done all the time and with splendid results!

It takes time, effort and money, but beauty's worth it

Talent Scouts Hunt Woman For Movie Role

OTTAWA (CP)—National Film Board talent scouts are looking for a woman with unusual qualifications. She has to be a chic woman with a hidden talent for acting.

The ideal woman is wanted for the star role in an NFB short on the woman who clean up the Parliament Buildings while the rest of the capital sleeps.

A spokesman said today that it's nothing new for the NFB to bring out the actor in unsuspecting people. He said it has been done "quite a number of times" in the board's current series "Faces of Canada."

One NFB crew is making a short called "The Station Master" at Finch, Ont., about 33 miles southeast of here. Dalton Henry, star of the film, is joint agent of the Canadian National Railways and the New York Central Railway at Finch. He never acted before.

LIMITED CIRCULATION

Faces of Canada is primarily for distribution on the NFB non-theatrical circuit, for service and farm clubs and church groups, but many of the shorts have been seen on television. They give Canadians a look at their fellow countrymen and their jobs.

Titles of some of the pictures give an idea of what the series is about: "The Sexton," "The Motorman," and "The Photographer."

The shorts, usually from five to 10 minutes, are about the jobs of average Canadians, portrayed by the people who do the jobs.

PARLIAMENT DISAPPEAR

HAMILTON (CP)—All 1,200 copies of "the McMaster Silhouette," the university's student weekly, disappeared Friday before they could be distributed. Editor Charles Williams said he thinks a prankster is responsible and he is confident the papers will turn up. The issue, final one of the year, contained a mild take-off on the university's student council, Williams said.

"Imagine Raggedy Ann taking me to Bermuda!"

"I once had a doll called Raggedy Ann. She had red hair, and a wide, happy mouth. She was just a floppy rag doll, but I loved her.

"One night last summer I decided to make another Raggedy Ann for my niece's birthday.

"In two evenings I finished the doll and gave it to Martha, who is just six. She was so delighted, I made more Raggedy Anns for little girls I knew.

"It wasn't long before several mothers wanted me to make Raggedy Anns for their little girls.

"With the money they paid me for the dolls, I opened a special savings account at The Dominion Bank in our neighbourhood. My savings grew, and I really got interested in being thrifty, because now I had an objective. Mr. Wilson, the manager, calls it my 'Bermuda Vacation Account'.

"Next year, thanks to Raggedy Ann and my Dominion Bank savings account, I'm going to Bermuda for a vacation. Who knows where Raggedy Ann may help to take me in the future!"

Texas Research Institute Wars Against Blood Cancer

DALLAS, Tex., (AP)—Twice the little boy rallied. Twice he became nearly well as drugs helped him fight against acute leukemia, the blood cancer.

But the end was inevitable. Keener Bob Mosley, once gay and still brave, died at the age of 7½.

His grieving grandfather, J. E. Wadley, wondered why it must happen, why victims of leukemia cannot be saved.

"Because we simply don't know enough yet," said the physician, Dr. James M. Hill.

The grandfather who lost his only grandson took up the challenge. A lumber-and-oil millionaire, he dedicated part of his fortune to establish the J. K. and Susie L. Wadley research institute and blood centre here.

TREATS AND TRAINS

It is unique, in that it treats, studies and trains.

It treats patients with all varieties of blood diseases—leukemia, anemias, the bleeding disease of haemophilia, diseases of too many red blood cells, diseases of slow or too rapid blood coagulation.

It puts teams of scientists into research to solve disease mysteries such as, what are antibodies and how do they behave? Antibodies can be the soldiers to fight disease germs. Or they can be agents of destruction, like the Rh factor, antibody which can destroy a baby's blood.

The institute is a blood collection centre. Nearly 7,000 persons last year donating blood to the centre's blood bank. It can supply any type of blood in any quantity, at any time. It supplies 90 per cent of the whole blood sent to Texas City in 1947 for victims of the disastrous harbor explosion.

Lastly, the centre is a training ground for doctors and medical science students, including some from abroad.

Physically, the centre is a two-storey building with laboratories, treatment rooms, blood donor rooms and reception rooms. On the human side, "it is doctors, scientists, nurses, technicians (30 employees in all), and thousands of citizens who contribute blood.

As yet, research has not turned up controls for leukemia, but all the newest treatments for leukemia are used here, and better ones are being sought.

As an outpost for new knowledge, the research offers a chance to answer the grandfather's question: "Why did Keener Bob have to die?"

No One Man Proves Big Enough To Emerge as Stalin's Successor

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Joseph Stalin died a year ago this week.

In that 12 months, no one man proved big enough to emerge as Stalin's real successor.

Stalin died, according to official announcement, some time during the night of March 5, four days after suffering a stroke.

On March 6, the government was reorganized. Georgi Malenkov was premier, Lavrenty Beria his No. 2 man as first deputy, and V. M. Molotov No. 3.

The new government, apparently none too sure of itself, announced an amnesty for many prisoners in labor camps and announced a broad range of cuts in prices of consumer goods. Meanwhile, the government set down the former 54 ministries to 26.

Then came a shock. Jan. 13, 1953, Pravda had announced nine doctors had been arrested and accused of plotting against the lives of Soviet leaders. Several of the doctors were Jewish and Pravda linked Zionism with the alleged plot. The doctors all "confessed."

STRUGGLE DEVELOPS

Then Stalin died. On April 4 the ministry of interior—Beria's ministry—announced all the doctors had been cleared, that their confessions had been extorted by illegal means. It was clear then that a struggle for power was on in the Kremlin.

Moscow got another shock June 17. There was revolt in East Germany and it took the services of Soviet tanks and troops to save the Communist rulers there. It seems clear this revolt hastened the showdown for power in the Kremlin. Less than 10 days later, Beria was under arrest as a traitor.

Soviet republics underwent severe purges. Men Beria had pushed aside reappeared to purge the purgers.

From the army the party expected a pledge. With Defence Minister N. A. Bulganin, a party marshal, presiding, Marshals G. K. Zhukov, hero of Berlin, and others pledged allegiance to the aims of the Communist party.

The purging extended to satellites and to Communist parties in key non-Communist countries.

STALIN HELD WANING

Stalin's concentration on building a vast network of heavy industry left the consumer situation close to chaos. After his death the party was brutally frank. Agriculture was in a sorry state. Consumer goods were scarce and shoddy.

The party's "new program" would fix things. By inference, it was Stalin who was at least a little wrong, who bore at least some of the blame. The inference was not lost upon the Soviet public.

Stalin in death became just another Bolshevik leader. The new campaign of the party against the "cult of personality" forbade glorification of him.

Under Malenkov, now a sort of chairman of the board of a collective made up of six leaders, only the Communist party could be glorified.

Crowds Gather to See Madonna's "Bleeding Heart"

Crowds gather around the home, left, of Tita Castiglione, of Porto Empedocle, Sicily, following reports of a "weeping madonna" in which a statue of the Virgin was said to be weeping tears of blood. The statue was kept in the home of Mr. Castiglione who said he noticed one day that the perspiration remained on the statue and that the like remained on the index and middle finger, seen at right. Word spread about the "bleeding heart" of the madonna and thousands of curious and devout have flocked to see it. Catholic church authorities are investigating. — Central Press Canadian Photos.

Three Men Die As Car Hits Tree Near Hamilton

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three men killed when their car crashed into an elm tree in the highway near Hamilton were among 11 persons fatally injured during the week-end in eastern Canada.

The car collided with another before it went off the highway and crashed into the tree. Dead are: Stanley Breazck, 35, Hamilton; William Greenburg, Toronto; and Raymond James Wood, 31, Port Erie.

All but two of the deaths, nine of which occurred in Ontario, were caused by traffic accidents.

In Swansea, a Toronto suburb, Mrs. Harvey Snider, 22-year-old mother, was found strangled to death. Later, her Husband was charged with murder after a hearing at St. Michael's Cathedral.

WOUND FATAL

Leronzo Lanfere, Jr., 32, died of a bullet wound soon after a revolver hit his father during the theft of their Wakefield home discharged accidentally. The coroner said no inquest would be held.

At Hamilton, Joseph Menel, 36, was killed when the cars collided on wet pavement. Five other persons were injured.

Marsha Lynn Kelly, 2, was killed at Sault Ste. Marie when she walked into the path of a passenger train at a level crossing.

Mrs. Ann Collins, 68, Toronto, died at Aurora when she walked in front of a car. Percy Block, 39, of Port Credit, near Toronto, was killed when his auto left the highway, jumped a curb and struck a hydro pole.

Syrian Rebels Unite Behind Revered Leader

By SIMON ALLAWEDRI

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Rebellion-backed Syria's army chief of staff sternly warned against further violence and demonstrations today as the capital prepared to greet the nation's new chief of state, Hashem Bey El Attassi.

Though rival factions of army rebels united behind Attassi and pro-dictator Adib Shishekly's cabinet agreed to step out, new rioting broke out in Damascus Sunday night and 12 persons were reported wounded, some seriously.

Troops broke up the demonstrations by firing on the crowds and using tear gas. The capital for the second night was under a curfew.

Damascus was calm again today.

One person was killed and 20 injured Saturday night when the army fired on those who were demanding the resignation of the ousted dictator's cabinet and acting President Meahmoun Kuzbari.

Kuzbari, who took over after the army revolt Thursday sent Shishekly fleeing into exile in Saudi Arabi, agreed to step down in favor of Attassi Sunday.

Attassi, 79-year-old political veteran and two-time president, is considered the man the state in a broadcast Sunday by Col. Shawkat Shkair, the army chief.

AGREED TO MEET

Shkeir said Attassi was agreed on as a compromise choice at a military leaders Saturday night at Homs, 80 miles north of here. The all-night meeting apparently healed the split which had divided the rebel army during the last week.

Attassi was due here today from Homs to be received officially.

The much-revered Attassi has been a leading political figure since 1919, when he entered the Arab government of Faisal, set up at Damascus. He was a member of the first Syrian constituent assembly in 1928.

Attassi became president first in January, 1936, was ousted by the French three years later when they suspected his anti-French government of war and returned to office after adoption of a new constitution in September, 1941. Shishekly forced him out in December, 1951, when he took control of the army.

Attassi was one of 12 anti-Shishekly leaders arrested last month after rebellion broke out in the city of Hama. He was exiled from there after the dictator fled the country.

Unconfirmed reports today said a new cabinet had been formed with Faisal Assali as premier. The rest of the cabinet was expected to include three other Nationalists, four members of Shishekly's populist party and four independents.

Assali and his party were dominant in the regime of Al Said Shukri Al Kuwatly, ousted from the presidency by a military coup in 1949.

Death Toll Eight In New York Fire

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP) — Another victim died today in the record of Sunday's fire in a staff residence at Grossinger Hotel and Country Club, making the death toll eight. Twenty-five workers were injured.

Seven men and women were killed in the early morning blaze. The eighth fatality was Mrs. Anna Rubenstein, 58, waitress, of Liberty, N. Y. She died in a hospital, where she was taken after jumping from a second floor window.

Army Barracks Burned by Mob In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The government held a number of persons for questioning today following a mammoth religious-political rally in which an army captain was killed, many persons injured, an two army barracks burned down.

The violence broke out Sunday as 50,000 Moslems gathered to protest "insults" to the Islamic religion in recent political speeches.

After burning the barracks, the mob marched on parliament. Then it converged on Vice-President Mohammed Hatta's residence, where the leaders presented their complaints.

The demonstration was backed by the Masjumi, the major Moslem political party in the country. It is struggling for power against the Indonesian Nationalist party, which heads the current coalition government.

Britain to Build First Atomic Pile In Scotland

LONDON (AP)—A government spokesman announced today Britain will build its first regular atomic pile for power generation on Scotland's northern shores.

Aviation Minister Harold Eccles, opening a Commons debate on the atomic energy development program, said in a big, fast (atomic) reactor of the breeder type" will be set up at Dounreay, in Caithness, Scotland.

The plan will be the sort that produces more fissionable fuel than it uses, It will feed electricity to Britain's industrial north.

Pope Improved For Fourth Day

VATICAN CITY (CP)—The Pope for the fourth consecutive day was reported today to be resting well and slightly improved today." These sentences said he had spent a "fairly good" night.

There was no official announcement on the health of the pontiff, who marks his 78th birthday Tuesday. He will also be the 15th anniversary of his election as Pope.

Special prayers and other spiritual offerings for his recovery continued today. They began two days ago and end Tuesday. They will be high mass in St. Mary Major Basilica.

Pakistan Premier Praises U.S. Military Aid

DACCA, Pakistan (Reuters) — Premier Mohammed Ali declared that the United States decision to grant military aid to Pakistan "is a positive and effective step ever taken to insure the security and progress of our country since Pakistan came into being" in 1947.

Ali spoke in a monthly broadcast to the nation. He dwelt at length on the Turko-Pakistan pact for close co-operation between Turkey and Pakistan in all spheres, including defense matters, and the American military aid decision.

Ohio Smothered By Big Snowfall

CLEVELAND (AP) — Northern Ohio began to dig out from what is the biggest snow of the winter today as a blanket up to 13 inches deep stopped highway travel and industry.

The storm gave many school children—and their dads, too—an unexpected holiday. Another inch or more is expected before the fall is done.

Street and road crews were making headway against the all-night accumulation, but traffic accidents were numerous.

All across northern Ohio, driving was hazardous and in some places impossible.

Close Egypt's Universities After Students Celebrate Naguib's Return to Power

By ROBERT HEWETT

CAIRO (AP)—The Egyptian government strove to keep public order today following the return of ousted president Gen. Mohamed Naguib as chief of state and a new outbreak of mob violence.

All government universities—past hotbeds of mob action—were ordered closed indefinitely after wild demonstrations Sunday in which police wounded 12 rioters. One police officer also was hit by a shot from a student.

The police opened fire as disorderly, slogan-shouting crowds of young people surged toward the republican Square from all over the city to cheer Naguib, their popular hero. The display of force nipped the demonstration before it endangered the country's shaky military regime.

Naguib, waving and smiling, appeared on a balcony at the presidential palace and appealed in an impromptu speech for "moderation and forgiveness."

Perhaps the first anti-government riots since the army overthrew exking Farouk 19 months ago, Naguib and the man who supplanted him briefly last week, Lt.-Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, patched up their differences enough to make a show of unity.

VISITED VICTIMS

Then the two visited wounded riot victims in a hospital. There demonstrators, who had screamed against Nasser a few hours before the shooting, kissed him.

A joint statement Sunday by the cabinet and the revolution council said "some vicious elements and opportunists tried to exploit the national jubilance (over Naguib's reinstatement) in achieving their vicious aims."

This obviously referred to the drive by the Communists and members of the recently outlawed Moslem brotherhood. Both groups took advantage of the confused situation to come out into the open and try to stir up violence. A communique said a demonstrating student arrested was found to belong to the brotherhood.

In his unscheduled speech Sunday, Naguib promised that a "constituent assembly and parliament" late will be elected to the country very soon." Later, however, a council spokesman told reporters such steps are "matters that concern the ruling government and revolution council." The council announced last year that elections would be held after three years of interim council rule.

Naguib took a sideswipe at Britain in his speech, saying the "enemy was profiting from the discussion in Egypt.

Missing Inmate Of Penitentiary Held at Ottawa

KINGSTON (CP)—Search for a missing Kingston penitentiary inmate who had escaped from the mid-town Orgonauda hospital sometime late Saturday night or early Sunday was halted today with word from Ottawa city police that the man had been arrested there.

George Filion, 40, suffering from lung condition, had left the tubercular hospital apparently unnoticed. His home is in Trenton.

With Filion in Ottawa when he was taken into custody, was James Moore, 26, who disappeared from the hospital at the same time. Moore is not a wanted man.

Rhee Threatens To Use Force To Unify Country

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today again threatened to use force to unify the war-battered, divided country.

He called on south Asian lands with our brethren and march up to the borders of our ancient homeland again." Rhee said in a speech prepared for delivery on the 35th anniversary of Korea's declaration of independence from Japan.

"We hope that our allies will stand with us and will march with us," said the South Korean president-in-exile. "But if they do not join us, we shall have to go forward alone."

Rhee's address did not mention the April 26 Geneva conference and try to stir up free powers to take up the question of Korea's unification and the Indo-China war.

A Korean public information office spokesman said the speech was prepared before the Rhee Four decided in Berlin to hold the Geneva conference. All the nations which fought in Korea have been invited, but South Korea had not decided whether to attend.

Rhee has warned repeatedly the United States army would attempt to drive the Chinese Reds out of North Korea if unification of the country is not achieved at a political conference.

St. Laurent Did Not Attempt To Mediate Kashmir Dispute, Not Wishing to Be Meddler

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters)—Prime Minister St. Laurent, said today that he had not tried to mediate in Indian-Pakistan disputes and told reporters here "I do not want to be a meddler."

"It sometimes happens that those who want to be mediators are known as meddlers," he said.

The Canadian leader, who arrived here Sunday from India on his round-the-world tour, gave a press conference in the office of the Canadian high commissioner, James Hurley.

Among his statements were:

1. "I do not believe a war will occur."

2. "There is too great a disparity between the living standards of East and West."

The Canadian leader and his party arrived here Sunday after a short flight from Madras, India. He will remain here until Thursday when he flies to Indonesia, next stop on his six-week round-the-world tour.

He was greeted on arrival here by Prime Minister Sir John Kotelawala, members of his cabinet, and Canadian High Commissioner James Hurley.

Sunday night Prime Minister St. Laurent was a dinner guest of Sir John at his official residence, Temple Trees.

DRIVE TO KANDY

Following a round of official visits this morning, the Canadian leader was scheduled to drive to Kandy, picturesque capital of Ceylon's Kingdom in the 15th century.

En route to Kandy, where he will be the guest of Governor General Lord Soulbury, the Canadian leader will stop at D. S. Senanayake's estate to place a wreath. Senanayake was the first prime minister of this island dominion.

The Canadian leader told Colombo newspaper men that he is pleased to visit this Indian Ocean island, with its population of 8,000,000 and its fertile soil, instead of 25,000 square miles.

Referring to his visit to India he said: "I don't think in any other week of my life I have received so many new impressions."

Before leaving Madras, he sent farewell telegrams to Indian President Rajendra Prasad and Prime Minister Nehru.

He told the Indian press before leaving that he and Nehru had spent "many hours together and had many conversations."

His purpose, he said, was to learn "the background of the social and economic life of the people of India and whom Mr. Nehru is so proud and to whom he is so devoted."

NEW EDUCATION

"I am going back to Canada feeling I have had a new education. I hope this will be of some value in maintaining and strengthening the cordial good relations between the people of Canada and the people of India.

"In Canada we have the same aspirations as you in India. We have the same need of peace and stability which you have. We, like you, can succeed in our high adventure of economic and social development only if we do have peace and security."

Alberta Govt. Denies Report From Toronto

EDMONTON (CP) — Provincial government sources Saturday denied a Toronto report that construction of the $300,000,000 trans-Canada gas pipeline to eastern Canada won't start this year because of Alberta's delay in granting an export permit.

Tentative date for the provincial petroleum and natural gas conservation board to hear an amended application by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. for the permit has been set at March 22 in Calgary. Company circles say all preliminary preparations completely will be completed for the hearing to proceed on that date.

The revised application was made necessary by the amalgamation of Trans-Canada Pipe Line Co. and Western Pipe Lines, which previously had separate applications considered by the board.

"Everything is being expedited as much as possible," a government official said. "Certain preliminaries have to be taken but the way is being cleared. If there is any delay, it is not at the Alberta end."

Find Wreckage Of Airliner

NEWCASTLE, Wyo. (AP) — A ground party early today found the wreckage of an airliner which crashed last Friday in a snowstorm and killed nine persons.

In the first brief report from the scene by radio, state highway patrolman George Wilcox told the sheriff's office here: "It's a mess."

Wren Endorsed For Leadership Liberal Party

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor member of the Ontario legislature for Kenora was unanimously endorsed as a candidate for the leadership of the Ontario Liberal party at a convention of northwestern Ontario Liberals here Saturday.

The delegates, meeting to organize a Northwestern Ontario Liberal Association, voted to endorse Mr. Wren after he said in an address that he would allow his name to stand for the leadership at the Ontario Liberal convention in Toronto April 8-9.

Dr. R. Kerr Dewar of Fort William was elected president of the new association. The association, embracing the Ontario ridings of Fort William, Port Arthur, Kenora, and Rainy River, was formerly a part of the Northern Ontario Liberal Association.

West Should Be More Modest St. Laurent Says

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

COLOMBO, Ceylon (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today the Western world perhaps should be a "little more modest" about its accomplishments.

He made the statement to a group of Colombo newspaper men at a three-quarter hour press conference held in the office of Canadian high commissioner James Hurley.

The Canadian leader said in two weeks in Asia he has seen "a lot of the wonderful achievements of vanished Asian civilizations."

He recalled that on the outskirts of New Delhi in India he was shown an iron pillar that has withstood rust for more than 2,000 years.

"This iron pillar is of almost absolute purity," he said, "We can't produce that."

"It would perhaps be a good thing for us (in the West) to be a little more modest about our accomplishments," he said.

He was asked many questions about Asian and Middle Eastern political problems which he replied in most cases that he had not sufficient background to express an opinion.

When one newspaper man asked if countries of the West should not be turned over to a European, Middle Eastern, and Asian commission, he replied: "Perhaps I should be sitting where you gentlemen are and you here answering questions."

Duke Drives Unrecognized Through Streets

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh wearing sports clothes and dark sun glasses drove unrecognized through the packed streets of Melbourne Sunday.

Thousands admiring the city's decorations took no notice of the car which left Government House if crowds of fans gave the duke was at the wheel. He had with him his private secretary, Lt. Cmdr. Michael Parker, and Parker's brother Peter, whose home is in Melbourne.

They drove to the Naval and Military Club, played squash for about an hour, then back to Government House—and again nobody took notice.

Landowners in Oka District Rush to Stake Mineral Claims

OKA, Que. (CP)—Landowners in communities of the Lake of the Two Mountains, northwest of Montreal, hurried to stake mineral claims on their property during the week-end, hoping to "get in" on a uranium find.

Excitement over uranium, steadily building up during the last few weeks, was sparked Friday when Mines Minister Dufresne announced he had received a telegram from Molybdenum Corporation of America that analysis showed specimens from Oka contained a substantial amount of thorium, some uranium and columbium and tantalum.

By Saturday, some 30 stake claims were reported filed at nearby Vaudreuil, mostly by property owners wishing to protect the mineral rights on their land.

Meanwhile executives of other municipalities said they believed outside prospectors will have to get special permission to stake claims in incorporated towns or unsubdivided land. Town council of Hudson Heights announced it will discuss the position of "invading" prospectors and may decide to ask the provincial government for clarification of the rights under the Quebec Mining Act.

Officials said some 2,000 acres have already been staked.

Hundreds of prospectors have moved in on this district in the last three weeks and dozens of claim companies have sent in field teams to investigate the mineral finds.

Molybdenum Corporation, which holds mineral rights on eight square miles in the Oka region is drilling to determine how deep the minerals go.

Meanwhile monks of the cloistered Trappist order here gave no indication of whether they would take action against any prospectors setting out claims on their land.

Last week the monks, who observe strict vows of silence and reclusion, expressed annoyance at the arrival of the stakers and said they would interfere with their lives.

Jeep Breaks Ice, Two Are Drowned At Barry's Bay

BARRY'S BAY, Ont. (CP)—Ambrose Stanislaus Stamplecoskie, 36, of Barry's Bay and Felix Recoskie, 44, of Whitney, Ont., were drowned in Aylen Lake, 12 miles northwest of here Saturday when their jeep pick-up truck broke through the two miles from shore.

Joe Stamplecoskie, Ambrose's 19-year-old son, and Mark Stamplecoskie, 31, both of Barry's Bay, escaped drowning.

The three men and the boy were heading for the northern end of the lake, to cut fir take trout through holes in the ice when the vehicle broke through. Barry's Bay is 100 miles west of Ottawa.

"There was no time," said Martin Stamplecoskie. "The jeep just cracked through and sank."

Boy Was Canadian

BOSTON (AP)—Police linguists spoke in Italian, French, Greek and Portuguese to a little lost boy.

His answer was a little of syllables in a language none of them had ever heard.

Just as they were about to call the anthropology department at Harvard, a man rushed into the police station and hugged the little boy.

He was a Canadian, Weldon Fates, who had come with his little son from Toronto, from Newcastle, N.B., a week ago.

"He's a Mic Mac Indian," said the father.

Toronto Stars Sweep Canadian Badminton Titles

VANCOUVER (CP) — Four of five 1954 senior open badminton titles were won or shared by a Toronto pair, Marj Shedd and Don Smythe, in the Canadian badminton championships.

Vancouver's Daryl Thompson and Jean Barclay won the fifth, the mixed doubles crown.

Miss Shedd lost a share in the fifth when she and Bill Purcell, also of Toronto, lost to Mrs. Barclay and Thompson 15-17, 15-8, 17-15.

Purcell and Joan Hennessy, also of Toronto, hold a share in the women's doubles and men's doubles titles with Smythe and Miss Shedd.

The two junior titles went to Calgary and Montreal, Jean Warring taking the junior women's singles title to Calgary and Harold Moody winning the boys singles crown.

Thompson, 1951 singles champion, played in three finals losing the men's doubles when teamed with Vancouver's Johnny Bruce and being edged 15-4, 4-15 and 15-12 by Smythe in the singles final.

Smythe's singles victory set a record as he became the first to hold the crown three straight years.

Miss Shedd and Miss Hennessy defeated Joan Warren and Barbara Ince in the all-Toronto women's doubles final, while Miss Shedd defeated 1950 champion Lois Reid of Vancouver in two games for her second straight women's singles title.

ALS SIGN U.S. STAR

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Larry Grigg, the Oklahoma halfback who scored the touchdown that beat Maryland 7-0 in the Orange Bowl Jan. 1, has announced his signing of a professional football contract with Montreal of the Canadian Big Four league.

Grigg, a great choice of Baltimore Colts in the National Football League, declined to say how much his one-year agreement calls for.

He becomes the second Oklahoma backfield star in as many years to pass up the Colts for a Canadian offer.

Billy Vessels, all-America halfback from Oklahoma in 1952, played with Edmonton last season.

GOALIE BOXED, YALLIES

ELMIRA (CP)—With things a little dull around his net, goalkeeper Dennis Mooney joined the rest of his teammates and scored he final goal as Elmira Polar Bears walloped Georgetown Raiders 13-6 here Saturday.

The netminder for the Bears, who finished first in the Ontario Hockey Association Intermediate A big eight series, skated up to the Georgetown defence, passed to one of his players, took a return pass and fired a waist-high shot into the Raiders net. It was the final game of the regular schedule.

TURN-TO WINS STAKES

MIAMI, Fla. (CP) — Turn-To, owned by Calumet Hoy Stable, was true to his name Saturday and did just that to win the $133,600 Flamingo Stakes by 2½ lengths at Hialeah Park.

Owned by Harry F. Guggenheim and ridden by jockey Henry Moreno, Turn-To paid $4, $2.80, $2.60. Black Mail, ridden by Tony DeSpirito, was second and paid $6.60 and $4; Maharajah, with Ted Atkinson in the saddle, paid $3.10 for third.

Turn-To earned $96,400 for his victory.

OFFER SOVIET TOUR

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Greg Currie, trainer of Canada's world ice hockey championship team, said Sunday that Russia wants a Canadian team to tour the Soviet Union next year.

Boris Miyakinkov, Soviet team leader, told Currie in an informal meeting that Soviet delegates to the World Ice Hockey Federation's congress will extend a formal invitation to Canada when it opens here today.

The Soviet leader's approach to Currie, made through an interpreter, was informal. Currie would not bind Canada to accept since the invitation would have to go through the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

REJECTED WINS 'CAP

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The King Ranch's favored Rejected, a four-year-old bay with a rather drab history for winning races, brightened the picture tremendously Saturday with a furious stretch run to capture the $142,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

Jockey Willie Shoemaker drove the brown Kentucky colt up from a dead last position to win the 1¼-mile 900 top prize by a length and a quarter over pace setting Correction, and Cyclotron, a longshot, ran third, a length behind.

Indian Hemp, the second choice, owned by Alberta Ranches of Calgary, finished fifth. Indian Hemp's stablemate, Thirteen of Diamonds, was a late scratch.

NOT CRICKET, CHAPS

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (Reuters) — An incensed crowd threw hundreds of bottles onto the ground in the closing stages of Saturday's play in the third cricket test match between England and the West Indies at the Bourda Oval here.

They appeared to be aimed in the direction of one of the umpires who had declared Clifford McWatt, West Indies batsman, run out after Peter Burge, Surrey, had made a splendid throw-in.

When the day's play ended West Indies were 241 for nine in reply to England's 435.

WHITEY FINALLY IN FOLD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Pitcher Whitey Ford capitulated Saturday to an ultimatum from New York Yankees and signed his 1954 contract for a reported $15,-000. This was a raise of $4,000.

Ford, whose 18-6 record was the best on the world champion baseball team last season, is the last Yankee pitcher to sign.

CANADIAN WINS MILE

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (CP) — Rich Ferguson of Toronto, running for the University of Iowa in a Big Ten track meet Saturday, won the mile easily but finished 10 yards behind Gene Martine of Purdue in the two-mile event.

When Skin Itch Drives You MAD

Here is a clean stainless penetrating ointment—known all over Canada as MOONE'S EMERALD OIL—that stops the itch in a hurry and brings swift sure relief to the almost unbearable itching and discomfort.

Its action is so powerfully penetrating that the itching is promptly eased, and with continued use your troubles may disappear.

Moone's Emerald Oil night and morning as directions advise for the full week. It's like wiping on cool lotion as it is absorbed at once.

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Second baseman Billy Martin and outfielder Gene Woodling signed their contracts Sunday, ending all holdouts among the World Champion Yankees. Martin is believed to have accepted $17,000 and Woodling $17,000.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Jack Robinson arrived Sunday and completed the regular Dodger squad. He joined the club almost immediately at second base, which is the position he is least likely to play.

"I have no idea where I am going to play and don't care too much about it as long as I help the club," said Robinson.

FeeWee Reese also worked out for the first time.

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Dan Topping and Del Webb denied rumors that they'll sell New York Yankees.

In a statement which he phoned here from Miami, Topping said: "I have received numerous telephone calls about a rumor that the Yankee franchise is for sale. We have even had some offers. I would like to make it clear, therefore, that any talk of the sale of the Yankees is completely unfounded.

"I definitely have not, do not and will not contemplate selling any part of the Yankee franchise. I have conferred with my partner, Del Webb in this matter and he co-authors this statement with me."

The rumors began shortly after Topping sold the Yankee stadium and the land underneath it last December, a deal by which each of the partners realized a clear profit of about $1,500,000.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Clark Griffith, president of Washington Senators, hinted he may trade first baseman Mickey Vernon because of the player's salary demands.

The Senators' owner was reported as saying that Vernon is demanding "more than double" the $18,000 he drew last year.

Vernon, who will be 38 April 22, led the league in hitting last season with a .337 average.

'Dutchy' Bowlers Take Honors

GALT (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo bowlers won the first three places in the men's section and first place in the women's section of the National Bowling Council regional singles tournament for the Kitchener-Waterloo district here Saturday.

Harold Reibel of Kitchener defeated Dennis Diener, another Kitchener bowler in the final game of the men's event.

Mary Hass of Waterloo took first place in the ladies' section. Eileen Seifried of Guelph was second. The women bowled eight games, the men 10.

The winners advance to the National Bowling Council finals to be held at the Sportsmen's Show in Toronto.

Royals Nudge Chicoutimi With 4-1 Victory

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Second-place Montreal Royals moved to within two points of the pace-setting Chicoutimi Saguenens Sunday in the Quebec Hockey League by defeating the Saguenens 4-1. Royals have a game in hand.

The Saguenens beat Springfield Indians 6-3 Saturday. Third-place Ottawa Senators lost 5-2 in Quebec Sunday after being beaten 2-1 by Sherbrooke Saints Saturday.

Valleyfield Braves won 2-1 over the Saints Sunday after edging Quebec Aces 3-2 Saturday.

Ray Laplante with two, Eddie Litzenberger and Dick Gamble scored for Royals against Chicoutimi. Sherm White scored for Saguenens.

Stanislas Leclerc's third-period goal gave Valleyfield its 2-1 win over Saints.

Quebec scorers Sunday were Regs Hagidon, Roy Kelly, Lodger Tremblay, Larry Regan and Ray Powell. The Ottawa goals were by Howie Riopelle and Leo Gravelle.

Bisons Split Over Week-End; Hornets Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

League-leading Buffalo Bisons gained another two points in the American Hockey League Sunday by defeating Cleveland Barons 9-2 after suffering a 7-3 defeat in Hershey Saturday.

Pittsburgh Hornets beat Syracuse Warriors 7-4 Sunday, to take over second place, a point ahead of Cleveland.

Hershey Bears' 7-3 victory over the Bisons Saturday and 7-3 win over Providence Reds Sunday tied them in third place with the Barons. In other games Saturday Syracuse defeated Cleveland 3-2, and Pittsburgh and Providence tied 5-5.

Ken Hayden, filling in at right wing for the injured Ed Slowinski on Buffalo's big line, scored three goals Sunday. Gaye Stewart added two.

Andy Barbe of the Hornets and Mike Narduzzi of the Warriors each scored three goals Sunday in Pittsburgh.

Dunc Fisher paced Hershey with three goals against Providence Sunday to just edge out the Reds' hopes of a playoff spot. Arnie Kullman scored two and Cole O'Brien and Lorne Ferguson added singles for the Bears. Ken Davies scored twice and Tod Campeau once for the Reds.

This week-end the four men intend to prospect the area.

Minor Hockey

The pantam playoffs got under way at the arena on Saturday morning in the form of a triple header, with the Maple Leafs shutting out the Canadians 4-0, the Bruins blanking the Red Wings 3-0 and the Black Hawks blasting the Rangers by a 9-1 score. All games were the first in a two-game goals-to-count series.

The MacDonald-Boulter-Brennan line accounted for eight points in their 4-0 win, with Brennan scoring two goals and drawing one assist, Boulter scoring once and getting two assists and Earle MacDonald getting one and one.

The Bruin attack was paced by Hill with two of his team's goals while Boomhower notched the odd one. Assists went to Fuller, Reeves and Moreau.

The Rangers took an early 2-0 lead in their game and it looked like an easy win until the Hawks began to click. Gord Vaughan banged in three goals for the winners with Sprague and Quinn each claiming two, one of the latter's on a penalty shot. Rowbotham and Regent scored the other two, with the first getting two assists as did Goyer, James, Sprague and Quinn each having one helper.

Kerrulsh had one and one for the Rangers with single goals going to Coe, Keller and Deacon.

Pays $4,500 For Use of Park

Your Local Dealer Announces Plan To Aid Home Improvement

In the past few years the "do it yourself" trend has been steadily growing across the entire country. In recognition of this trend, Arthur A. Sills and Son have worked out a plan to help Belleville and district home owners renovate and improve their homes by means of this popular method.

A big feature of this plan is the expert help of the Arthur A. Sills and Son sales representatives, who will be happy to advise you on your home improvement problems. They will carefully check your project and give you an estimate of the cost of materials — together with helpful suggestions on how to do the job. If you wish to avail yourself of this service, call now . . . there is absolutely no obligation.

We would like to say a word about the materials you'll need. You'll see some pretty fair examples on this page. No matter what it is . . . flooring, strapping, studding, insulation, wallboard, sidings . . . trim and mouldings . . . Arthur A. Sills and Son have a complete line-up of supplies at Arthur A. Sills and Son. You can always be sure of only first class materials in whatever price range you choose.

And of course a big bonus feature when you deal with Arthur A. Sills and Son is that you always receive service — with and after sales. In other words, while "doing it yourself" they are as near as your telephone. They'll be more than willing to offer advice after you have actually begun the job. Here is the telephone number to remember . . . 1584.

Perhaps you have a home improvement project in mind that you have been putting off until you can afford it. Why not drop around to Arthur A. Sills and Son for a free estimate. They will show you how little it will cost you and how easily it can be done when you "do it yourself!"

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARTER, Sports Editor

MEMOS' FAREWELL!

That's it! It is all over but the shouting and the shedding tears. The Memos bowed out of the 1953-54 season in a blaze of victory glory on Saturday night when they defeated the powerful Orillia Pontiacs 7-6 and it should have read somewhere in the vicinity of 11-4. In fact 8-3 would have been better as we could have had the last laugh with ease, William Cook.

And don't let anybody kid you to the extent that the teams, with nothing at stake, were merely going through the motions. It was one of the better Senior "B" games of the season with both squads going all out to snatch the victory. The Orillians were at full strength with the exception of Favero, and did not, as some of the local wiseacres had it, send a team of minors here just to carry out their schedule duties.

Nor did the Memos hold back. They were flying all night and had all the help on hand with the exception of playing coach "Red" Doran and Jackie Wardaugh. Referees 'Moon' Flanagan and Louis Lecompte handed out a dozen sentences, all minors, in the somewhat hard-hitting tussle.

The Duncan twins and Doug Day were flying all night and picked up eight scoring points, each scoring a goal. They should have had a half dozen more. Duke Doran was hitting top speed and missed several clean in chances. The team played an all-round, all-out exhibition, and bowed out with all colors flying and guns firing. As they say along the banks of the Fagrani Cayenne down Flatbush way, "Wait till next year."

Although eliminated from the group playoffs, the Memos were far from being disgraced. Their eleventh hour bid for a spot in the charmed circle drew the attention of all, and caused worry to some of the rest of the pack. At that they finished just five points behind the fourth-place Kingston Goodyears, and, get this, a mere ten points in arrears of the group-winning Oshawa Truckmen. But they started the stretch drive a trifle too late and thereby hangs the tale.

But they are not crying over what might have been and took their elimination like good sportsmen. They shook hands with the Orillia Pontiacs all round on Saturday night after the game was finished.

Now for the playoffs. The die was cast Saturday night when the Kingston Goodyears defeated the Petes 8-3 in the Community Centre and deprived them of the honor of winning the group honors. As it stands Oshawa Truckmen finished on top perch with 44 points, the Petes were second with 43; Orillia third with 40 and Kingston fourth with 39, just five in front of our side.

The semi-finals series starts tomorrow night with Kingston the guests of Oshawa in Bowmanville. Wednesday night the Petes and Pontiacs open the "P" series with Orillia at Peterborough. The playoff schedule is published elsewhere in the sports pages.

PLAYOFFS!

The chips are down—and it is a new league. You can forget the statistics of the schedule, unless you are a stickler for the records. Four teams go to the barrier this week for what should be one of the "sizzlingest" series in the history of Senior "B" hockey in the district. It is going to be one of those dog-eat-dog affairs with no quarter asked, none given.

Every one of the teams in the group, Memos included, have shown they can get hot when the chips are down, and on a game-to-game basis we would not bet a plugged nickel on the outcome. We do fancy Oshawa and Orillia for the finals series, and as we "necked" before, Orillia for the group shakeis. But anything can happen. None of the four teams can afford a slump no matter how slight. Should be a thriller all the way round.

SHARPSHOOTING TWINS!

Ed and Erwin Duncan, the puck-chasing wills-o'-the-wisp from Vernon, Ont., finished one-two in the group scoring race with Ed edging brother Erwin by two points. Erwin, however, was the better sniper, having 39 goals to his credit with 37 assists, while Ed topped the league's assistgetters with 53. The twins with Duke Doran and Inter Doug Day, formed the most prolific line of the group with consistency being the key to their success. The boys, who left for home yesterday, said they were given painstaking treatment while in Belleville and hope to be back again this year. "The season here was fine," they chorused, "but it was a trifle too short. It will be different another year," they agreed.

Hot-and-Cold Rangers Split Week-End Series With Habs; Leafs Divide Pair With Hawks

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's more than a simple question of mathematics.

Should Boston lose a game or two while New York doesn't. . .

Should the Rangers falter once or twice and the Bruins continue their present pace, it's all over. One team or the other is in.

But there's another question: Can the respective coaches—and the lure of playoff money—keep their teams fired up for the last few games of the National Hockey League season?

The Bruins are still that one big point ahead of the Rangers for the fourth and last playoff berth. The Rangers were cold and hot during the week-end by splitting a home-and-home series against the rugged Montreal Canadiens. They dropped a 5-0 decision to the Montrealers on Saturday and came back with a 3-0 victory before 13,500 fans at New York's Madison Square Garden Sunday night.

BRUINS IDLE

The Bruins didn't play. In two other games, Toronto Maple Leafs tied with Canadiens for second place, walloped Chicago Black Hawks 4-0 in Toronto Saturday and dropped a 2-1 game against the Hawks in Chicago Sunday night.

At New York, Ranger goalkeeper Johnny Bower registered his third league shutout as rookie Camille Henry and veteran Doug Stanley rallied the only goals of the night.

At Montreal, Canadiens struck for four goals in the first period and gave relief goaltender Jacques Plante his third shutout in seven games. The Rangers never looked strong in this one.

Maurice Richard scored his 34th goal of the season and the other counters were Dollard St. Laurent, Jean Beliveau, Lorne Davis and Doug Harvey.

The Ranger defence sagged in the opening period and couldn't do it thing against the Montreal power. By the time the New Yorkers rallied themselves together it was too late.

The Black Hawks, out of the Stanley Cup playoff running, were sharp and rought as they treated 8,341 Toronto fans to their 19th victory this year. Jerry Toppazzini and Lou Jankowski beat Toronto goalkeeper Harry Lumley for the Chicago goals. Eric Nesterenko evened the score at 1-1 in the second period but the Hawks fought back.

In Toronto Saturday, it wasn't until the third period when Leafs scored three goals that Toronto was assured of victory. Leftwinger Harry Watson, with the 18th goal of his career, Nesterenko, Ted Kwan and Sid Smith accounted for the Leaf goals. Jankowski and Jack Price replied for the Hawks.

No games are scheduled until Wednesday, when the Rangers take a crack at coach King Clancy's Leafs in Toronto in the only tilt.

Norwegian Wins Slalom Title

ARE, Sweden (AP)—Stein Eriksen, 27-year-old Norwegian glamor boy, skied a bold, corner-cutting course Sunday to win the world's slalom championship with an official time of two minutes, 20.06 seconds—five seconds faster than anyone else.

More than five seconds behind came Beni Obermueller, German carpenter from the Bavarian town of Rottach — Eger. Obermueller's total was 2:25.52.

Art Tommy of Ottawa made the best showing among the Canadians. He finished 28th in 2:42.01 with runs of 1:22.35 and 1:19.66.

Suggest 2nd NHL Team in Montreal, Would Take Place of 'Old Maroons'

MONTREAL (CP) — The possibility of a second Montreal team in the National Hockey League was raised Saturday by managing director Frank Selke of the Canadiens who figured any new backers would need $500,000 to get the club well launched.

Selke told reporters junior and minor league hockey haven't been getting deserved patronage in Montreal and "it's no use trying to sell people something they don't want."

A new club would take over the franchise of the old Montreal Maroons, who retired from the league in 1938 and left the field to the Canadiens. The dormant Maroon franchise is still owned by the Canadian Arena Company which operates Club de Hockey Canadien and farm clubs.

Selke made it plain there would be no dual ownership. Prospective backers of a NHL club would have to buy the Maroon franchise outright and be prepared to spend money in organizing and building up a team.

DRAFT SYSTEM

Selke said that with the proposed new draft system in the NHL, possibilities for Montreal again having a second NHL team would be brighter. Under the draft each club would be able to protect only 15 players. No club could send a player to a minor pro league without getting waivers on him.

Selke also indicated he felt the parent company has done more than its share in providing player aid to both junior and minor pros formerly senior—clubs in Quebec province.

The major point that has brought him to consider seriously the possibilities of a second NHL club is the tremendous demand for season tickets to Canadiens' games.

Palmer Wins Mexican Open

MEXICO CIT Y(AP) — Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C., sank a putt on the last hole Sunday for a two-under-par 286 to nose out Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo for the Mexican open golf championship.

The victory gave Palmer $2,910 first prize money in the $12,300 tourney of the 6,679-yard, par-72 Club Mexico course. De Vicenzo's second place was worth $1,720—a difference of $1,200 which depended on one putt.

Third prize of $1,320 went to Johnny Witzel of Hershey, Pa., with 288—even par for the course. They were the only three finishers who broke or tied par.

Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., earned $453 by adding a 76 Sunday to his previous rounds of 72-73-70 for a total of 291.

FRANCE RAISES MINIMUM

PARIS (AP)—The French government Thursday gave agricultural workers a 15-per-cent increase in minimum wages. It was the second 15-per-cent wage boost given to non-government workers this month. Like the first, given to industrial workers, the rise was aimed at compensating non-governmental workers for the 15-per-cent raise granted last August to government employees.

Perfect Weather Expected To Greet 25th Canadian Curling Championships

By JACK ENEFER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Perfect curling weather is expected today for the opening of the 25th annual Canadian curling championships.

The weatherman forecast a high of 10 below zero, a welcome change for the minus 30 and 40 freezes that in that it will rule out any dripping from the roof of the Edmonton Gardens where the 25 rinks will be played.

Various local rinks were plagued during the last week by dripping from the roof which resulted in "bumps" on the ice where the water froze on contact with the ice surface.

The 44 curlers from 10 provinces will parade onto the ice for the official opening shortly before 3 p.m. MST.

The first draw will see Saskatchewan, skipped by Garnet (Mac) Campbell of Avonlea, go against Matt Baldwin's Alberta champions. Manitoba will play Ontario's Ross Tarlton rink. Dr. W. L. MacDonald's rink from Charlottetown will play R. J. Kent's rink from St. John's, Nfld. British Columbia, represented by E. C. (Bung) Cartmell of Vancouver, will play Don Groom of Sudbury and the northern Ontario rink, and the W. R. Tracy rink from Arvida, Que., will meet Reg Piercy's foursome from Halifax. New Brunswick will have the bye on the first draw.

The second draw will open at 8 p.m. with B.C. getting the bye; Newfoundland meeting northern Ontario; Quebec playing Manitoba; Alberta playing Nova Scotia; Saskatchewan meeting New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island playing Ontario.

Five rinks will be trying to bring their respective provinces the Dominion title for the first time, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland, Quebec and Saskatchewan have yet to produce a national winner.

In the years since the Dominion curling champion ships were started in 1927 Manitoba has won the crown 14 times. Manitoba won five straight years from 1928 to 1933, Alberta has won four times, Nova Scotia and Ontario twice each, and British Columbia and northern Ontario once each.

Manitoba, skipped by veteran Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg who won the crown in 1947, is considered a strong contender, and observers are watching the Camp-

Memos' Swan Song Victory Chorus With 7-4 Nod Over Orillia Pontiacs

Score 3 Goals in 64 Seconds To Chalk Up Impressive Win In Closing Battle of Season

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The Memos sang their Senior "B" swan song in Memorial Arena Saturday night, but it was a victory chorus backgrounded by a sparkling 7-4 win over the powerful Orillia Pontiacs.

With nothing at stake for either team, it was far from being a "going-through-the-motions" affair. It was one of the better Senior "B" games of the season, with both teams at full strength or nearly so, and going all out to cop the victory.

Led by the "Three-D" line of the Duncan twins and Doug Day, the Memos staged an all-out offensive game that netted them four goals in the first period, two in the second and the odd one in the third. Pontiacs scored two in each of the first two periods.

11TH VICTORY

The victory gave the Memos their 17th victory of the season good for 34 points, just ten behind the group-winning Oshawa Truckmen and five in front of the fourth-place Kingston Goodyears. Orillia had cinched third position with a win over Oshawa in Friday night.

It was fast, hard-hitting hockey all the way through with both teams checking hard going both ways, and the penalties counted through with topnotch performances. The Memos would have had up a more convincing score had Bob Shropshire, Pontiac goalie been a shade more brilliant himself. "Turk" Barclay scintillated in the Memos net but he did not have as much work at the opposing custodian.

The Duncan twins who alternated with Doug Day, Keith MacDonald and Duke Doran were flying all night. Ed Duncan had a hand in two assists, Doug Day got one and so also Jones and Doran got the pair and Jake Wade and Ted DeGray notching the rest. MacDonald, Vasey, Richardson and Powell were the snipers for the Pontiacs.

Orillia drew penalty a few seconds after the game started with too many men on the ice, three minutes of fast play had ticked away when Peter Jones took brother Davey's pass to the goalmouth to open the scoring. The lead was shortlived for Danny MacDonald ripped in with Bowen and Des Roches to give Barclay no chance.

Richardson and Pearsall drew consecutive penalties but the Memos could not penetrate the stubborn Orillia defence with any degree of success. Pontiacs shot into the lead in mid-period when Vasey scored from a net-front scramble.

THREE QUICKIES

Five minutes later the Memos unleashed an offensive that netted them three goals in a minute and four seconds. Doug Day swept in with the Duncans to score at 16.39 and 35 seconds later Erwin Duncan scored with brother Ed, and Day assisting. Twenty-nine seconds later Jake Wade engineered a three-way set with Duncan and MacDonald and drove the puck past Shropshire to give the Memos a 6-2 lead.

The fast pace was maintained in the second period with both goals having narrow escapes. Grigg got the gate for holding but no damage was done while he was away. Midway through the heat Ted DeGray picked up a Doug Goyer pass and whipped it home to give the Memos a 5-2 margin. Then Matsuda drew the wrath of the officials and the Pontiacs threw everything if the opposition. If ever goalie Richardson scored from Payne's pass from close-in.

Semark and Payne drew simultaneous penalties and Peter Jones picked up a loose puck from nowhere and drove it home to make the score 6-3. Vasey and Payne staged a pretty passing play with four minutes to go with the latter scoring to end the period 6-4.

MEMOS HAD EDGE

Memos had a decided edge in the third period and Shropshire came up with some brilliant saves to keep the flying Duncans and others off the scoresheet. Orillia in turn swept down tee in sudden forays but the Memos defence and Barclay threw back everything they had. With less than three minutes to go the Duncans finally hit paydirt with Ed scoring from Erwin on a passing play and carried them Shropshire's door-mat. At one time Duke Doran broke into the clear, raced in but was tripped from behind by Bowen.

Then it was over and players of both teams fraternized and shook hands in a fine gesture of sportsmanship.

The teams:

Orillia: Goal, Shropshire; defence, Pearsall, Des Roches; centre, Bowen; wings, Matsuda, MacDonald, Richardson; subs, Grigg, Robertson, Payne, Vasey, McIvor, Mc-Crone, Wood.

Belleville: Goal, Barclay; defence, Wade, Semark; centre, Ed. Duncan; wings, Er. Duncan, Day; subs, D. Jones, DeGray, D. Doran, P. Jones, Richardson, Pearsall, Donald.

Referees: Moose Flanagan, Louis Lecompte.

Teeps Extend Margin To 11 Points With Victories Over Quebec Juniors

St. Catharines TeePees extended their lead atop the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A group standings to 11 points during the week-end with a pair of wins in their current four-game spree.

Saturday the TeePees added two points with a 5-3 win over Quebec Frontenacs at the Quebec Junior Hockey Association.

Sunday night they downed Jonquiere Marquis 7-3.

The Toronto Marlborics, on second place, picked up only one point in their pair of week-end games. They were downed 4-3 by last-place Galt Black Hawks Saturday and managed to earn a 3-3 tie with Montreal Canadiens Sunday.

In other games Saturday, Canadiens defeated Hamilton Cubs 5-3 at Hamilton and Barrie Flyers edged Kitchener-Waterloo Green-shirts 4-3.

Sunday, Guelph Biltmores defeated Royals 6-2 and Toronto St. Michael's downed Oshawa 7-5.

NOTCHES FOUR GOALS

Barry Cullen was the star of the game at Jonquiere, scoring four goals. His brother, Brian, Henry Warchol and Henry Ciesla got the others.

Jonquiere goals were scored by Landry, with a pair, and Guy Rousseau.

In TeePee game Saturday, Cecil Hoskins and Jack Armstrong fired home two goals apiece, Robert Maxwell scored the other with Gerrard Turcotte, Gilles Thibeault and Leo Amadio scoring for Quebec.

At Kitchener Saturday Cleland Morton and Bob Wilie scored two each for Flyers, with Morton added a single. Greenshirts scorers were Gary Collins, with two, and Greig Hicks and Howie Glover with singles.

Claude Vinet paced Montreal to their win over Hamilton with two goals, Phil Goyette, Frank Kennedy and Andre Pronovost got singles. Ed Leuttl got the home Hamilton tally.

Scorers for the Black Hawks were Gary Collins, with two; Hilstead, Ken Crawford and Chick Chalmer. Dave Todd and Bobby Baun got the Toronto goals.

Four Rule Changes to be Presented To Canadian Rugby Union Annual

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Four rule changes in the wake of safety touches, the now-famous Pete Karpuk incident and the fate of ineligible pass receivers will be submitted to the annual meeting of the Canadian Rugby Union here March 26-27. It is likely all will be adopted.

The changes were recommended by the CRU executive at their eight-hour closed meeting here Saturday. The suggested changes:

Safety touches: A first-down kick off from the 25-yard line by the team scoring a safety instead of the team retaining possession on the 25-yard line. This recommended new rule would apply only when safety touches are scored with less than five minutes remaining in the second and fourth quarters. The rule would continue when safety touches are scored at any other period of the game.

Tying in with the suggested new rule change, the committee recommended that a five-minute warning signal should be sounded at the end of each quarter instead of the present three-minute signal.

Pete Karpuk incidents: If an unauthorized person such as a player, coach, trainer, spectator or any other person permitted a place on the playing bench should enter the field to interfere with play an automatic touchdown would be awarded and the offending person would be disqualified from further participation in the game.

Present rules say the awarding of touchdowns is left to the discretion of game officials.

Rough play and piling on: The penalty would be increased from 15 to 25 yards.

Eligible pass receivers: The stipulation that a backfielder must be "at least one yard behind" a wing-line to be eligible to receive a forward pass should be changed to read that such backfielder "must be clearly back of the wing-line."

This clarifies the position of the quarter as an eligible forward pass receiver.

Windsor Bulldogs Wallop Indians 7-3 To Even Senior A League Playoffs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Would-be prognosticators aren't getting any co-operation from Windsor Bulldogs and Stratford Indians. On the basis of the first two games the outcome of their best-of-five-game Ontario Hockey Association Senior A quarter-finals is still a toss-up.

The Bulldogs, who were trounced 7-3 in the first game of the series Friday, Sunday evened the series by walloping the Indians 7-3. Home games may be the clue.

The Windsor loss was suffered on Stratford ice. The victory was in Windsor. Of the remaining games two will be played in Windsor, one in Stratford.

Referees called 72 minutes in penalties, including two-minute majors and a 10-minute misconduct, in the hard-checking game.

Gary Gordon, with two goals, led the winners. Dick Kotanen, Gord Haidy, Earl Keyes, Clarence Jakes and Fred Hollyman scored the other goals for Windsor. Stratford's tallies, all in the early defencemen, went to Lloyd Finkbeiner, Ron Ingram and Mike Baldwin.

Three games during the week-end wrapped up the regular schedule of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group. Kirkland Lake Kings crushed Sudbury Wolves 12-1 in Pembroke Saturday while North Bay Trappers were edging Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds 3-2 in Sault Ste. Marie.

Sunday the last-place Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds scored a 3-2 home-ice victory over the Trappers but it didn't help them.

Pembroke will meet the Greyhounds and North Bay takes on Kirkland Lake in semi-finals. Each is a best-of-seven-game series. Both start Tuesday.

Duncan Twins Top Scorers In Senior B Group Race

Edwin and Erwin Duncan, the sharpshooting twin brother act of the Belleville Memos finished one two in the senior "B" point-getting race which concluded on Saturday night with the completion of the schedule.

Erwin Duncan after a somewhat slow start overtook the flashy Don Murray who led the pack at the start of the race, and was never headed, until the final three weeks of the schedule.

Erwin led on points until the Memos flashed their last minute bid for a playoff berth when Edwin suddenly flashed a point-getting spree, mostly assists, that enabled to overtake and finally nose out his brother.

Ed finished with 25 goals and 53 assists for 78 points to cop the honors with Erwin having 39 goals and 37 assists for 76 points.

Edwin led the group in assists (53) while Erwin's 39 goals was second to the top 40 scored by Cliff Fryia of Peterborough.

Don Murray of Kingston brought up third place with 38 goals and 36 assists for 66 points. His teammate George MacGregor who flashed sparkling form early in the season faded toward the last and finished in eighth place with 23 points.

Payne and Bowen of the Orillia Pontiacs finished in fourth and fifth spots with 63 and 59 points respectively with teammate Bruno Favero a late comer to the team into seventh place with 53 points.

The final standing of the "top ten" or thereabouts appears on the sport pages.

Lyndies Whip Swiss, Norway To Gain Four-Way Top Tie; Tackle Tough Swedes Today.

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Canada is up with the leaders after three days' play in the world hockey tournament. The first place tie with Russia, Sweden and Czechoslovakia, the three other pre-tournament favorites.

And the impression left so far with observers is that anything the other top-seeded entries can do, Toronto East York can do better.

Czechoslovakia, picked by many observers as the pre-tournament choice, whipped Switzerland 7-1 when the eight-team round-robin affair opened Saturday. The next day the Canadians downed the Swiss 8-1.

Meanwhile Russia's flashy Moscow Dynamos were blanking Norway 7-0, giving the Russians the whitewashing job Sunday—but the score was 8-0.

The Canadians figure to run into tougher opposition tonight when they tackle Sweden, last year's champions and the fourth club with an unbeaten 2-0 record.

SUBDUE FINNS

But the Swedes, who didn't have to meet Canada, Russia or Czechoslovakia in their opening round, had their morals shaken Sunday when they barely subdued Finland 5-3. It took a three-goal Swedish outburst in the last 10 minutes to subdue the stubborn Finns.

In other games today the Russians meet Germany and Czechoslovakia plays Finland.

The Czechs and Russians sat out Sunday's action while winless Germany and Switzerland played to a 3-3 tie.

Czechoslovakia had a sobering experience with the Germans Saturday. After flashing to a 6-0 lead at the end of two periods, they found themselves outscored and outplayed in the last 30 minutes as they hung on for a 9-4 victory.

Eric Unger, the Canadians' smooth - skating centre, scored three goals against the Swiss and picked up two, together with two assists, against Norway.

Unger, goalie Don Lockhart, defenceman Tom Jamieson and right winger Bill Sihli all figured prominently in both games.

SCORES TWICE

Centre Norm Gray scored twice Saturday and once Sunday. Left winger Bill Sutor, on a line with Sihli and Unger, picked two goals against Norway. Bob Kennedy and Moe Galand each scored a goal both days.

The Canadians also answered Slovakia's glowing criticism of their play. Adapting themselves to the unfamiliar European rules which were laid-down by Russia in support of the spectators with their clean play, drawing six penalties to Switzerland's four and four to Norway's five.

The Canucks another bye on Tuesday as Switzerland is slated to face Sweden, the Czechs meet the Russians and Finland is drawn against Norway.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

I'd like to clamp the wagging jaws of all those bony parts who think they have to bid because their hand has 13 cards.

North had the hand shown here:

♣ J 7 6 3 2

When his partner in south opened the bidding with a heart, north responded with a bid of one no-trump. South raised the contract to the level of three no-trumps and they went down to defeat.

When north was asked why he made a responding bid with such mangy holdings he became indignant. Not only that. He gave a couple of reasons in an attempt to prove he was correct.

One reason was that he did not want the opponents to know that he had such a weak hand. It would encourage them to enter the bidding, he thought. And his bid might talk them out of it, he reasoned.

Right smart figuring on his part, brilliant deduction and all that sort of rot. Look at the result and see what it got him. Only an unnecessary defeat that it roared his partner into.

His other reason was that he did not like to have it played in hearts. So, he steered it into a other denomination. Imagine that! Listen to Mr. Big, electing himself commander-in-chief.

What he refused to listen to was the fact that he fooled nobody but his partner; that it was not up to him to decide where the hands should be played; that he generated certain definite values.

When a player opens with one in anything he does not order his partner to bid. He assumes partner has two tricks and asks for a bid from there only if partner has more than two tricks.

If, therefore, responder bids at once in any he should have more than two tricks. This is the basis on which a partnership builds up to a final sound contract for the pair.

Do not expect to supply the blood bank from a turnip.

Little Benny's Note Book

It was 5 minutes after time for me to go to bed, and pop said, Benny.

Sir? I said, and he said, Get going.

Well aw G, pop, Jimmhy rooster, maybe the clock is a little fast, I said, and pop said, Maybe you are a little slow.

Being a good answer, and ma said, that reminds me, William, there's an iritating chapter in Dr. Krankheit's book on Modern child Rearing. After all, even adults do things more cheerfully when they do them of their own free will, and children are only small adults from a zoological point of view, she said, and pop said, Yes yes, go on.

Well, if you make Benny realize the advantages of going to bed promptly, he will go willingly, as though it was his own idea, instead of dragging himself to bed with negative attitude, ma said, and pop said, Go-ahead and try it, my dear, I'll tern the witness over to you.

Me being the witness, and ms said Benny all the doctors say that boys grow while they sleep, and that I'm sure you want to grow, dont you?

Sure, ma G, I said, and she said, Negative attitude, I'm go to bed promptly every evening without being reminded, you Are forming good habits of punktuality that will last you all your life, and fertermore, if you get plenty of sleep you will wake up keen in the morning and go to meet the day's education with open arms instead of a yawning mouth. Dont you think they are all very good reasons? she said.

Sure, ma, they're swell, I said. Can I stay up about 20 more minutes so I can think them over before? I said.

The result being they both sent me to bed together.

MARMORA

Marmora Ousts Hastings From Valley Playoffs

MARMORA — In taking their third straight win on the home ice on Friday evening against Hastings by the score of 8-4 Marmora now meets the winner of the Havelock-Campbellford series for the championship of the northern section of the Trent Valley League.

Neither team was at full strength, Hastings having only ten men, but a pleasantly fought game, almost exempt from roughness, resulted for the now perverbial three hundred or thereabouts to view.

Killen opened the scoring for the visitors in the first five minutes. After eight minutes had elapsed Marmora drew level as Haynes outwitted Mulholland on assists from Paranuik and Smith. In ten seconds Hastings scored again with Oliver putting the veteran Hill's assists to the desired effect.

Jones, for Marmora, tied the score a few minutes later on Brown's assists.

In the second Brown scored twice for the homesters with Darrah giving the assist on both occasions.

Stevenson then beat Killian at the other end on assists from West and Ford. Another goal was soon forthcoming for the homesters. Smith successfully tested Mulholland, the assists going to Paranuik and Leonard. Back came the visitors, whose exchanges were rather even through the whole game and Oliver hit the twine on Allen's assist.

Just before the close of the period Jones got his second goal, this time on a solo effort.

Marmora added two more goals in the third, while at the same time their goal underwent some hot bombarding too. Lavender got through with assists from Jones and Leonard and Brown did the hat trick, as he also scored unassisted with his other two players.

Each team had five penalties. George McFaul and Dick Fitzpatrick ably handled the game.

MIDDLESBROUGH, Eng. (CP) — Chief constable A. E. Edwards of this Yorkshire town in his annual report asked for a full complement of beat-pounding constables. He said four men in a cruiser cannot see or hear what one man on foot can.

Tom Corcoran Wins Dominion Slalom Crown

By MEL MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP) — Canadian-born Tom Corcoran took the Dominion slalom crown to the United States for the third straight year Sunday with two consistent runs over a melting course.

Corcoran, a native of St. Jovite, Que., now studying at Dartmouth College, ran what he described as a "cautious" race in manoeuvering the 58-gate course in times of 67.1 and 66.8 seconds for a total of 133.9. His only real competition came from Montreal Nordik's Bob Richardson, who checked in with 137.1.

The 22-year-old college senior succeeded Ostrum Bergs to the title. Bergs, a Norwegian, also represented Dartmouth in the 1952 race. He now is in Europe and did not defend the title. The 1953 championship was won by B. Davidson of Portland, Ore.

Corcoran's speedy slalom run was good enough to put him at the top of the Quebec kandahar combined competition, which was run off in conjunction with the Dominion slalom meet. Richardson, the defending champion, again finished second.

AT THE McCARTHY—A birthday party that's not so happy is the theme of this threesome, Tony Curtis who wants Joanne Dru and Lyle Bettger who has her. The tense situation is a highlight of the new Universal-International's "Forbidden", co-starring the three top players in a melodrama set in Macao. The films opens today at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Make believe is a wonderful thing, and I've loved it. I think it's good to dream at 5 years of one's life to it, but now I want time for other things."

This is the philosphy of Greer Garson, who will end her MGM career next May. Then she looks back on nearly 15 years with the studio.

After first winning attention as Mrs. Chips, she went on to a string of hit pictures. At last count she was among the top money-makers of all time. "Mrs. Miniver" earned a domestic gross of $5,000,000, "Random Harvest" and "Adventure" $4,500,000 apiece and "Valley of Decision" $4,250,000.

In recent years her films haven't been up to that standard, and she says that is part of the reason for leaving the studio. She detailed the reasons as she reclined beside the swimming pool of her sumptuous home:

NOT HER PICTURES

"It's no secret that I haven't been happy with the kind of pictures I have been receiving lately. The fact is that the studio is not making the big, romantic type of picture which was my particular forte.

"They are concentrating on other things — musical spectacles, pictures showing the training of young men for battle and big adventure epics made in foreign lands. I don't sing and dance with any great proficiency, and I don't fit into the second type of picture. As for the films made abroad, they often involve being out of the country 10 months or so and I don't feel I should be away that long from my husband (Buddy Fogelson).

"So we agreed to call off the contract."

The irregular coastline of Newfoundland is studded with rocky cliffs rising from 200 to 400 feet.

AT THE BELLE THEATRE

ANNETTE CARELL PLAYS FEMALE LEAD IN "MARTIN LUTHER" FILM

Annette Carell, well-known stage, screen and television, actress, plays the role of Katherine von Bora, the former nun who became Mrs. Luther, in the dramatic feature film "Martin Luther" which opens today at the Belle Theatre, for one week, matinee daily. In a cast dominated by men, Miss Carell has the only female speaking part.

The story of the 16th century monk who defied excommunication and the stake in his demand for religious reform will be filmed on location in Western Germany where Dr. Luther's theses were written, producers of "Lost Boundaries" and "Walk East on Beacon," among other hits. Niall MacGinnis, distinguished British actor, formerly with the Old Vic Theatre in London, plays the title role.

Much of the casting for the film was in Germany, where Miss Carell happened to be finishing a role in "Decision Before Dawn". When she heard that the de Rochemont company was casting the "Martin Luther" film at the Bavaria Film Studios in Munich, she rushed over, and, without preparation, read a scene from the script with director Irving Pichel. So convincing was the part Pichel and producer Louis de Wolfe signed her immediately for the role of Katherine von Bora.

Does she look like the original Katherine? A check with the old 16th century woodcuts and engravings shows that Miss Carell has the edge, aesthetically, over the original. When a native research worker asked why a lovelier Katherine had been chosen, producer de Wolf replied, "That woodcut must have been made when Mrs. Luther had become a tired haustfrau."

In the scenes played by Miss Carell, the audience received a glimpse of the romance with Luther, the marriage, the companionship, and homelife of the 16th century reformer and his bride.

Miss Carell was recently seen on CBC-TV's dramatic program playing with Fredrick March in "Death in Hell." She has also appeared with Alfred Drake on "Hollywood Screen Test," with Charlton Heston on "Studio One," and in Gloria Swanson's TV programs in the legitimate theatre she has played with Spencer Tracy in "The Rugged Path" and with Julie Harris in "Sundown Beach."

The talented actress appeared as a nun in "Portrait of Jennie" in which Jennifer Jones starred. For maximum enjoyment see the film, "Martin Luther" from the beginning. Performances daily at 2:00, 7:00 and 9:00 p.m.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Creativeness, essentials, and routine work highly favored now. Do not promise more than you can deliver; be skeptical about others' exaggerated statements.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Navy stimulate romance, lasting friendships, if you are in accord. At work's end relax for health's sake.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — There's danger to health if you allow exciting incidents to hurry or frustrate you. Accept new ideas, changes philosophically. Don't fret over past errors but do study how to control future action.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Be extremely careful about what you agree to do, what you say, you can do, or have already done. Later in the day errors may result to your disadvantage.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You could be an excellent period for making plans, contacting new leads, for managing, teaching, experimenting. Practical agreements with associates or friends, property and professional matters are favored.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Go right down the line with well thought out ideas or deals you have perfected. Friendly business rays on the whole. Consolidate efforts and take time to save when and where you can.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Do things in a practical way, on a high level. Others will look up to you with eagerness, listening carefully. Give that lift you so ably can. Stimulate self-expression, cr

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—By applying your knowledge astutely you can expect better results in both personal and business affairs. Of course, taking proper precautions is expected. Don't force your hand.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Besides maintaining harmonious relationships, you will need to be smart and intelligent in execution of plans now. Be aware of what is going on around you and you can take care of self.

December 22 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Proper coordination of efforts and co-operation with business associates will bring gains. Show interest in others—especially loved ones.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Weigh problems separately: increase benefits by devoting more time to spiritual advancement than worldly prizes. Improve quality of thought and work for better results.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Continuation of changes in business, profession, or abode can retard—even halt—progress. Further, it irritates those around you. This tendency to be "on the move" should be analyzed and curbed now.

YOU BORN TODAY delight in artistic, often outdoor activities, the country, farm and animal life. You are honest in intent and prone to accept with confidence what is told you; are generous, love beauty in nature and life, see almost everything good first. You delight in responsibility and can be depended upon. You may lack logic and consistency, however. You are keen, aim always to be calm, cheerful. Birthdate: His Holiness, Leo XIII; Sir Thos. Bodley, scholar, diplomat, founder of the Bodleian Library, Oxford; Samuel Houston, Amer. Gen'l, Texas hero.

Sleek Neptunes Join RCAF Neptune Squadron

Supplementing Lancaster aircraft but not replacing them entirely, the RCAF will, within a few months, have Neptune twin-engine piston-driven aircraft in use by its maritime squadrons. The Neptune will meet the need arising from the increasing importance of maritime reconnaissance and the development of new airborne weapons. The Neptune, which is a medium-range aircraft, is already in use by the U.S. navy and the RAF. — Central Press Canadian.

Fire Speeds Plan for New Goderich Courthouse

Condemned for years but kept standing for sentimental reasons, the historic century-old courthouse, at Goderich, Ont., was almost completely destroyed when fire swept through the famous landmark. The building, beloved my townsfolk and tourists for its old-fashioned gingerbread architecture, was scheduled to be wrecked early to make way for a modern $500,000 courthouse. The venerable building was built in 1854 at a cost of $4,000. — Central Press Canadian.

The battle came after rival factions representing the Umma party and the pro-Egyptian National Unionist party, which is led by Sudanese Prime Minister Ismail el Zahary, invaded the city's streets early today shouting slogans at each other.

SHOCK FOR NAGUIB

A huge crowd met Naguib at the airport, shouting: "Go out, go out, both British and Egyptians," and: "No unity, no federation."

The anti-Egyptian demonstration undoubtedly was a blow to Naguib, who flew to Khartoum after surviving a crisis in his own government in which he was forced out as president on Thursday and then reinstated on Saturday. Naguib, born in the Sudan, has been a popular figure in the Sudanese up to now.

Wild demonstrations broke out in Khartoum last Thursday when word reached the Sudanese capital that Naguib had been ousted by the Egyptian revolutionary council. Crowds roamed the streets shouting: "We want Naguib."

The Egyptian president had planned to attend the Parliament opening as a sort of super-salesman for Egypt, which has long been clamoring for the union of the Sudan with Egypt to insure the "unity of the Nile valley."

Authorities said the disturbances obviously were started by the Umma party, which opposes both Egyptian-Sudan unity and any ties between the Sudan and Britain. The Umma faction as decisively defeated in the first Sudanese parliamentary elections last September in which the pro-Egyptian National Unionists triumphed.

Egypt and Britain agreed a year ago to give the Sudan self-government in 1956 and to let it vote by then whether to unite with Egypt or be independent. Since 1899, the territory has been ruled jointly by Egypt and Britain under a condominium.

LIGHT CRUISERS

Canada's two cruisers, the Ontario and Quebec, each carry nine six-inch guns plus smaller armament.

MOTHER IS FOUND

Police found Mrs. Solder's naked body lying diagonally across the bed. They said a St. Christopher's medal on a light chain was found underneath her body and a torn undergarment was lying nearby. St. Christopher is the Roman Catholic patron saint of travellers.

THOUGHT CHILD DEAD

Police at first notified the coroner that both mother and daughter were dead. They had found the child lying quietly beside her dead mother and were unable to feel a pulse. More than an hour later one of the officers noticed the child had shifted its position. Only then did they discover the little girl was only sleeping.

John Solder, father of the accused, described his son as a "doting husband."

"He was crazy about her and adopted the Roman Catholic faith so he could marry her. Little Linda was nearly three when theywere married and I think he loved her more than he did her mother," he said.

Chief Lvell said Solder gave a statement to police after he was charged with murder.

The couple was married in St. Michael's rectory three last September. The slain woman's daughter, Linda Lee Holmes, was born in April, 1951. Police said Mrs. Solder had no other relatives and she was a ward of the Catholic Children's Aid Society and that her child had also been a ward of the society for a time.

Father of the accused said the couple lived a quiet life" before their marriage.

"Both were doing two jobs, working night and day, before the wedding. Then she just kept the day job and went on with both," he said, working at city hall by day and as assistant manager of a suburban theatre at night.

"They had an argument on their honeymoon . . . they came back after three days."

BLIND WALKERS

LONDON (CP)—Members of the St. Dunstan Institute for the Blind have been invited to compete in the annual London-Brighton walk May 22. Several war-blinded war veterans are training for the 58-mile event.

RUSSIA CAPTURES MARKET

LONDON (CP)—Russia shipped nearly 2,000,000 tons of oil to the Western world last year, capturing trade formerly held by British and American oil companies. About half the oil went to Finland and Italy. It was stated here by the Petroleum Press Service, a monthly review which often reflects the views of the big London oil companies.

Eclipse to Be Last in America For 200 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Air Force said Sunday an eclipse of the sun next June 30—first since 1947 to span the North American and European continents, and the last to do so for the next 200 years—may provide most exact measurement of long distances.

The Air Research and Development Command at Baltimore plans to make history's most comprehensive study of a solar eclipse.

The command said it would test three methods of measuring long distances—especially transoceanic distances—during the 3¾ hours of the eclipse.

"All are expected to give much more precise knowledge of the actual distance between points in the United States and Europe," the announcement said.

The air force said preparations for observing the eclipse have been under way for a year "because there will not be another total eclipse that spans North America and Europe until the year 2151."

ONTARIO PORT

This eclipse actually will affect more than two continents. It will occur as the shadow of the moon races 1,000 miles an hour along an arc from Nebraska, at sunrise, to southern Italy at sunset.

The air force will have major observation stations near the centre line of the eclipse path and minor spins on the edges of the 80-mile-wide shadow—more than a dozen in all.

They include James Bay, Ont.; Knob Lake, Que.; the Oak Islands off northeast Labrador; Greenland; the Faroe or Shetland Islands; Norway; Sweden and Iran, plus satellite stations near the outer edges of the eclipse path.

"Diplomatic negotiations have assured the expeditions access to all sites in foreign nations," the air force said.

Documents May Have Been Saved In County Fire

GODERICH (CP)—County officials said that a fire which destroyed the century-old Huron County court house here Friday night may have spared irreplaceable old records of county life which dates back for more than 100 years.

But they won't know until Tuesday when the record vaults are expected to be opened. A safe company official warned that the heat inside the vaults might still be so intense that the documents would burst into flame if the air were allowed in.

Modern documents not stored in the vaults—including information on police cases, unemployment insurance, cheques, and correspondance—were destroyed as the big building in the centre of this Lake Huron port burned down.

Clerk-treasurer A. R. Erskine said he told firemen to pry open vaults in four corner offices when it was apparent the building could not be saved. Sheriff Nelson Hill said he opened his vault Sunday and found it "just the same as when I locked it up."

The old court house was slated to be demolished next year to make way for a county building, but a plan has offered to provide land for a new building and has asked the county for municipal grants for support.

Goderich officials offered the use of an old high school as a temporary headquarters and county officials move in today.

The new county building is expected to cost $500,000. The old one was insured for about $75,000. It cost £4,000 to build in 1854.

Britisher Faces Crucial Year In Drive For Ordered Plenty

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — The British farmer faces a crucial year in his campaign for "ordered abundance."

Since the war, agriculture has become studied and more efficient on guaranteed markets, price support programs and subsidies.

But private traders will be buying most if not all Britain's food when meat is decontrolled in July. And the government is anxious to reduce the cost of its farm policy as much as it can, consistent with maintaining the agricultural revolution.

Thus, the farmer is wondering whether he will have a market for what he can grow and how much the home market is open to nations well stocked with surpluses. Or, what government assistance agriculture will continue to receive under the 1947 Agriculture Act, which commits the government to maintaining a "stable and efficient agriculture."

These matters are the concern of the annual policy review now under way between the government and the National Farmers' Union. They will plot a course of action for the next 12 months, deciding such things as how much fertiliser subsidy will be, how much money will be allocated to reclaiming marginal land and whether produce floor price guarantees will be raised, lowered or eliminated.

GOVERNMENT FEARS COSTS

The main question is whether the government feels it can offer these prices protection in an unbottrolled market. It points to the United States farm subsidy program as an example of the costs that might develop.

The farmers have asked for some basis to take such a protective step, which it regards as politically repugnant and unwise at a time when it wants countries like the U.S. to open their markets.

At the farm talks last March, the farmer was provided with a system of dual marketing. He could sell his eggs on the jurisdecontrolled open market, or he could sell to the government at a guaranteed price of four shillings a dozen.

Egg prices rose at first and the farmer could get a better price on the open market. Then, British hens embarked on an unseasonal laying splurge in November and December. Market prices dropped below the guaranteed price and the food ministry recently applied for another £34,500,000 for egg subsidies.

COST EXCEEDED ESTIMATE

The sum contributed to the total £235,000,000 which, it is estimated, the government will fork out in farm subsidies this fiscal year ending in April. Yet the original estimate last year was for £221,000,000.

Despite such problems, agriculture has in fact made more progress in post-war years toward efficiency than in the last century. Production is more than 50 per cent higher than in 1939, partly in response to a government-inspired farm productivity scheme begun in 1952 to save dollars and reduce Britain's traditional dependence on food imports.

It is hoped that when the scheme ends in 1958 farmers will be producing at a rate 60 per cent higher than pre-war. The government has just announced that English and Welsh agriculture struck records last year in seven main classes of produce—wheat, oats, barley, potatoes, fodder crops, sugar beets and milk.

ATOMIC ESTIMATE

STOCKHOLM (CP)—An analysis of modern means of combat and the probable developments in armament has been made by the Swedish defence staff. In a published article they estimated the United States has probably considerably more than 1,000 atomic bombs and other atomic weapons, while the Soviet Union's stock of A-bombs may comprise a few hundred.

Eskimo Woman Ready to Return To Her Home

EDMONTON (CP) — A doctor said Saturday there is nothing wrong with a 25-year-old Eskimo woman who was flown on a 1,900-mile mercy flight from the Arctic to Edmonton.

The Eskimo, known only as Elizabeth, was flown from Arctic Bay, 445 miles inside the Arctic circle, because she was believed to have tubercular meningitis.

The RCAF Dakota took five days to complete the mission because of bad flying weather and engine trouble.

A doctor who examined the patient shortly after she was admitted to hospital Saturday night said he found nothing wrong with her.

He said she could have been ill 10 days ago but she is in good shape now and will stay in hospital until another plane can take her home.

An RCAF spokesman said the Dakota made the flight after Ottawa headquarters received word by radio that the Eskimo was seriously ill. A radio station at Arctic Bay sent the original message.

PRISONER ESCAPES

KINGSTON (CP)—George Fillon 26, of Trenton, taken from the penitentiary to a sanatorium for treatment, disappeared Saturday night. Fillon spent several months in the hospital. Also missing from the hospital Sunday was James Moore, 26, of Belleville, a patient. Moore is not wanted by police.

Violence Marks Indian Strike

During riots sparked by a strike of school teachers in Calcutta, India, a streetcar is set on fire (top) by sympathizers. At bottom, mounted police seek to keep the streets clear of demonstrators after troops had opened fire on the crowds and used tear gas. Mobs reportedly tossed home-made missiles at the officials. Twenty were arrested and three persons were killed during the riots. — Central Press Canadian.

Shipowners Say Outlook For Season Gloomy

MONTREAL (CP)—Shipowners said Sunday the outlook for the coming season on the Great Lakes is gloomy unless foreign countries start some heavy buying to clear glutted grain elevators in Montreal and Lakehead centres.

Grain ship operators commenting on prospects of an early port opening, said that when the first lakers get in a trip or two the ships will be idle because of the slow movement of grain from overstocked elevators.

Last year scores of lake ships were idle for long periods here because they were unable to get their cargoes discharged.

One operator said 10 lake freighters are in port here still holding more than 1,000,000 bushels of grain from last year. Several more freighters are tied up in Prescott, first grain elevator west of Montreal.

Three of these must discharge their cargoes in Prescott as they are too large to navigate farther down the river, shipowners said.

It was reported unofficially that grain ships may delay their season until sufficient grain is shifted from downriver elevators to overseas markets.

NAVAL ADVICE

CAPETOWN (CP)—The South African government has asked the Netherlands government for naval technicians to help build up the South African Navy. The South African Navy has already gained many technicians from the British Navy and would like some electrical or armaments experts from Holland.

Oh, Horrors! Queen's Carpet 6 Inches Short

MELBOURNE (AP)—The ladies of suburban St. Kilda rolled out the red carpet today for Queen Elizabeth—and found it a few inches short.

They made their shocking discovery only a short time before the Queen was to walk across the carpet in a hall leading to a luncheon 176 Victoria state women's organizations were giving for her.

Somebody dug up six more inches of red.

Workmen rushed up with a box of nails.

The nails just bent—in the concrete floor.

Somebody bored holes with an ice pick. Then the carpet wouldn't lie flat.

In the nick of time a young workman produced an adhesive solution and stuck the overlapping carpet ends together.

As Her Majesty watched breathlessly, the Queen tripped in to lunch—and didn't trip.

Govt. Action Asked to Cut Accident Toll

TORONTO (CP) — Government action against the increasing number of traffic accidents and provincial highways was urged in the Ontario legislature Monday.

John Newman, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Bellwoods, called for a select committee to study traffic safety and a board of experts to examine every level railway crossing in the province.

He suggested during the throne speech debate that car manufacturers concentrate more on safety devices than on style and add directional signals and safety reflecting tape, should be standard equipment on every car.

Unreasonable speed and the disregard for safety was named the two chief reasons for traffic fatalities.

"You cannot cure this disease by engineering alone."

Dr. S. J. Leavine (PC—Waterloo North) said he did not believe there could ever be a medical plan that is solvent and complete at the same time.

In supporting pre-paid medical plans, he said there was "no evidence that the government can do a better job than private enterprise."

Dr. Leavine called for greater cancer research, the availability of polio vaccine to every person at the first sign of the disease and increased grants to hospitals.

GAS COMMISSION

He suggested a commission be formed to advise private enterprises when the natural gas pipeline from Alberta is constructed, but withdrew his support from a resolution he proposed in 1950 that the gas should be operated as a public utility.

C. G. MacOdrum (PC—Leeds) formed the traffic problem on No. 3 highway from Belleville to Cornwall is "serious."

"The highway is presently incapable of handling the traffic. I urge that some work should be done on it."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP)—Synopsis — The intense surge which moved northward across southern Ontario Monday is south of Sudbury this morning. As it continues its slow progress northward, the whole province will continue to have strong winds and snowflurries except near the centre of the storm where rain and some freezing rain will fall today. Southern Ontario will have scattered precipitation Wednesday but now will be general in northern Ontario.

SIX U.S. FLYERS DIE IN CRASH OF HELICOPTERS

Two 'Copters Collide In Training Exercise

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Six U.S. Navy men died today in the flaming crash of two helicopters a mile from downtown Key West.

The helicopters collided 100 feet above the ground seconds after taking off on a training exercise, flying in formation.

Both plunged to the bleak coral Key and burst into flames.

Each helicopter carried three men.

The six were members of helicopter anti-submarine squadron HS-2 based here. They are the first navy said this was the first patrol accident here.

Shooting Victim Remains In Critical Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative Alvin Bentley (Rep. Mich.) was most seriously wounded victim of Monday's shooting in the House of Representatives, remained in critical condition but still has a "50-50 chance to live," his doctor said at 11:45 a.m., EST today.

Dr. Joseph Rogers Young, chief of staff at Carnalby Hospital, said Dr. George Crile, nationally known surgeon from Cleveland, Ohio, is flying here for consultation on the case.

Dr. Young's 11:45 a.m. report said Bentley's "pulse rate is still quite high and he has some difficulty with respiration due to the injury to his lung. He is being treated for this by the constant use of an oxygen tent."

Dr. Young said Bentley has had four blood transfusions.

The hospital reported this morning that Bentley had spent a fairly restful night.

Malenkov Admits He Cannot Write Stalin Off

LONDON (Reuters) — Georgi Malenkov, Soviet prime minister, now admits he cannot write Josef Stalin out of the pages of history.

After almost a year of subtle attempts to sink Stalin into obscurity, the Kremlin has changed tactics and lauds his memory.

Moscow radio Monday night said a broadcast at 6 o'clock (1 o'clock EST) an official eulogy of Stalin with indirect praise for Malenkov had appeared to publish it March 5—the first anniversary of the Russian leader's death.

Malenkov had dropped his predecessor's name from the public record while building up the idea of "collective leadership" as a contrast to the "leader-worship" of the Stalin era.

Within months on end, Stalin's name was rarely and only incidentally mentioned in the press. Volume 5 of the new edition of the official history of the Communist party has come out with Stalin's name only twice.

Now, by fall, there were signs of a comeback. Stalin's poster began to appear with Stalin-Malenkov-Stalin-Stalin Mausoleum in Moscow's Red square, closed after Stalin was embalmed, was reopened to the public in November. With his restoration as the "beloved leader of the people," Stalin joins Lenin, founder of the Soviet state, as an "immortal."

Eclipse of Sun in June May Settle Argument Over Temperature of Sun

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian scientists are getting set now for next June's scientific argument about the temperature of the sun.

Dr. Jack Locke of the Dominion observatory here said today that scientists from three Canadian observatories will work on the problem during the eclipse of the sun next June.

Parties from the observatories here, in Victoria and Calgary, will set up their instruments between Kapuskasing and Hearst, roughly 500 miles northwest of here.

Dr. Locke said the estimates of the temperature near the heart of the sun range from 10,000,000 to 35,000 degrees centigrade. The eclipse June 30 may give scientists a clue to the real temperature of this area, known as the chromosphere.

Southern Ontario Snowstorm Blocks Roads, Closes Schools, Tears Down Power Lines

TORONTO (CP) — A snowstorm that swirled up through southern Ontario by the north left seven Ontario highways blocked today, some power and communications lines down and some schools closed. At least one death was attributed to the storm.

The weather bureau said the snow, whipped by winds into drifts in some places, will move into northern Ontario today then head eastward toward the Maritimes.

Counted a storm victim was William Priebe, 51, who battled snow drifts and ice while driving in Chatham. He pulled to the side of the road and died of a heart attack. The Chatham area had up to nine inches of snow.

Sarnia was reported snow-clogged with the winter's heaviest fall. Schools in the area were closed for the second straight day, when school buses were unable to burst the drifts.

DRIFTS MOUNTING

Heavy drifting was reported in the southern and southeastern part of the province. Highway 7 was blocked by snow in the London district and No. 2 and No. 3 in the Chatham district. No. 3 was blocked in the Windsor district and No. 40 in the Kingsville district.

Road crews were hampered by drifting and continuing snow.

Further north, Highway 24 was blocked by flooding in the Galt area and a 24-inch snowfall overmelted the snow. Highway 17 in the Sudbury area also was reported flooded.

In Toronto the snowfall was comparatively light but slowed morning traffic to a crawl.

Upwards of 1,000 vehicles became stuck along the 125 miles of highway between London and Windsor at dusk, rain and snow hit that section. Provincial police blocked off Highway 2 at Lambeth near London and Highway 3 at Talbotville near St. Thomas temporarily cutting off access to Windsor by road.

FREIGHT FOOT DRIFTS

Between Thamesville and Tilbury drifts reached eight feet in height. Stalled cars dotted the highway.

West of London, telephone and telegraph lines were damaged by weight of snow and ice. Wingham was cut off from London, Stratford and Kitchener by phone.

Chatham dug itself out from under nine inches of snow Monday during a storm that started Sunday night. Snow and sleet also brought wires down in the city's fire alarm system out of order.

Windsor reported eight inches of wet snow, heaviest fall so far this winter. Police reported numerous minor accidents.

Strong winds swept eastern Ontario.

Rain which fell most of the day at Toronto turned by nightfall to wet snow that melted almost as fast as it hit the pavements. The temperature, 30 degrees above zero at 8 a.m. Monday, dipped close to freezing during the night.

In some areas of the province, the heavy snowfall clung to thaw water filled flooded highways. Highways blanketed away less on Highway 28 near Stayner to prevent a serious washout. Highway 7 was flooded near Brampton but cars could pass.

MANY LINES DOWN

Hydro crews in western Ontario toiled for more than 20 hours without letup to repair power lines damaged by the weight of ice or broken when their encrusted trees fell across them.

Two hundred homes in Lucan, Ont., were without electric power for hours. Four townships in Huron county were also blacked out early in day. Power was cut off at Mitchell. Street lights went out at Byron.

Telephone lines and north of London were damaged and calls were delayed. Calls were also delayed up to six hours as operators re-routed them over remaining lines. Telegraph and telephone lines into Wingham were cut off. Telephone service between Exeter and Strathroy and Listowel were snapped by ice.

At Strathroy, a television aerial was knocked over by the wind and a 4,000 volt high-tension power line. A flash of electricity burned the keys on the hand bub in the home of the TV owner, Mrs. Annie Brown, and a wide area went without power until break was repaired.

CLOSE UP SCHOOL

Five thousand students were estimated to have been kept from school in western Ontario. Many rural students who came to classes failed to spend the night with their urban classmates.

Sarnia reported rain six inches deep on main street, cars stalled on every street and city buses were the only vehicles moving.

At Listowel several windows were shattered as dynamite was used to break up ice jams in the Maitland river that threatened to cause a flood. Many homes had water in their basements.

Homes on two streets at St. Marys were surrounded by water and merchants' cellars flooded in the main business section as the Thames river overflowed.

The Saugeen river at Paisley rose eight feet and overflowed its banks surrounding the Baptist church with water.

The Grand River valley authority officials said the Thames flood was not yet at its crest.

Automobile Association Urges Cut in Auto Excise Taxes

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian automobile association today urged a major cut in the 15-per-cent excise tax on automobiles and parts on grounds that owning a car is a basic right, not a luxury.

"The car is as much a part of the Canadian way of life as the telephone," the association said in a brief presented to Finance Minister Abbott.

The association, which says it represents 300,000 Canadian motorists, said car owners are burdened with an unfair proportion of sales and excise taxes.

The 15 per cent excise tax on auto mobiles, rubber tires and tubes netted the government $162,000,000 in the year ended March 31, 1953, it said. Another $72,117,000 was collected through imposition of a 10-per-cent sales tax, or a total of $162,000,000.

"The excise tax and sales tax combined represent nearly one-third of the total amount of wages paid in the automobile industry," the brief said.

LOWER IN U.S.

The average Canadian motorist paid $424 in taxes to the federal government, made up of $254.40 in excise tax and $169.60 in sales tax. The owner of a car in the United States paid a federal tax of $134.

The brief said about 36 per cent of the adult population use a car for business, while another 3,500,000 persons use a car at least once a week. Approximately 83 per cent of car use is for essential travel and 65 per cent of every 100 miles of car travel is connected with how Canadians earn a living.

The association is composed of representatives of the Alberta Motor Association, Maritime Automobile Association, Royal Club of Canada, Quebec Automobile Club, Manitoba Motor League, Ontario Motor League, Saskatchewan Motor Club, Victoria Automobile Club and British Columbia Automobile Association.

Going Blind, Youth Sentenced On Fraud Charges

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A Sarnia youth who told the court he is going blind Monday was sentenced to three concurrent terms of three months in jail for fraud.

Richard Buchanan, 18, said that last week London doctors told him there was nothing they could do for his eyes. Glaucoma has robbed his vision.

At an earlier hearing, Buchanan admitted using a worthless check as part payment for a truck.

He also admitted obtaining a car radio and accessories from two Sarnia dealers by means of worthless checks.

Two other Sarnia charges were returned to authorities in that city.

HOUSE DEFEATS TWO MOTIONS BY OPPOSITION

No Committee to Study Unemployment Issue

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons has defeated two motions of want of confidence in the government, dealing with Canada's unemployment situation.

Members Monday night voted 101 to 81 against a Progressive Conservative motion that a Commons committee study the unemployment situation and suggest methods for dealing with it.

All three opposition parties supported the proposal, as they did an earlier CCF motion calling for direct government action which was defeated 129 to 68 a week ago.

Tuesday morning's topic in the debate, which began Feb. 15 and continued intermittently through the day on the two motions, technically want-of-confidence motions since they amended a government motion for the House to go into committee to discuss estimates.

The government's position, stated at the start of the debate by Acting Prime Minister Claxton, is that national unemployment will end by spring and that the situation will not be as healthy this year as it was in 1953.

Unemployment figures released two weeks ago showed 534,000 persons looking for work at 1,000 through the National Employment Service, 186,000 more than at Dec. 10. The bureau of statistics estimated 380,000 jobless at Jan. 15, the month after the early December peak.

Social Credit leader Low Monday outlined a five-point program he said would meet the unemployment problem.

Boys Confess Three Attempts To Wreck Trains

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — New York Central railroad police reported today that nine boys had confessed three attempts to derail the Water town branch of the railroad.

Meanwhile, railroad authorities were seeking another boy believed to have given a detailed account on the same line at Central square Monday.

Police said that:

On Jan. 27, a four-pound 110-car freight was derailed at Central square.

On Feb. 2, a speeding train just missed striking a car. Automobile axle suspended by a cable from a footbridge in the same area.

A few days later, a northbound train struck an old railroad tie on the tracks. The train was not damaged.

Kingston Citizen Fatally Injured

KINGSTON (CP) — Fred Walker 54, of Kingston, died in Kingston General hospital Monday night when struck by a car in front of the Fort Henry Hotel here where he was employed as a clerk.

Mrs. Walker died a few minutes after admission to hospital.

Leo Logue, 27, of Kingston, told police Mrs. Walker stepped in front of his car and that he had no chance to stop.

Save Woman, 46, from Leaky Sailboat In Which She Tried to Circle Globe

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A French ship rescued a 46-year-old woman Monday night, ending her lonely flight against the sea in a leaking sailboat.

Mrs. Vera Olive Rideout, 46, who set out from San Pedro, Calif., Feb. 10 in an attempt to sail around the world alone, was picked up about 15 miles south of San Diego by a French training vessel Maurier Christmas. She was transferred to the United States coast guard cutter, returned here and taken to hospital for treatment.

A 20-foot sailboat, the 46-year-old French ship rescued a dilapidated spiral disk.

Her 25-foot sailboat sprang a leak off Lower California south of here, "then I threw my back out trying to squeeze boom bit more," she told reporters. "I planned to heave to off the island for two or three weeks until my back got better, but I woke up with the boat only inches above the waterboards in the cabin."

Mrs. Rideout said she pumped for at least 120 hours and manned the sails while attempting to reach San Diego.

New Scale Raises Eastern Rates, Cuts Those in West

Reduce Spread in Charges For Short and Long Hauls

OTTAWA (CP) — The board of transport commissioners today laid down an equalized scale of basic freight rates for Canada to go into effect March 15, 1955.

The new scale, generally cutting western rates and boosting those in the east to bring regional levels closer together, substitutes for one the board proposed tentatively in December, 1952.

Commissioners have made some changes in the original equalization program and also have retarded the effective date. The initial target date was Jan. 1, 1954. That was put back to Jan. 1, 1955.

Today's order says the scale may be effective "not later than" March 1, 1955. The railways have asked for a minimum of one year to make it operative.

CHANGES MADE

The board's order directs equalization between the Pacific coast and Manitoba-Saskatchewan-Alberta border, of the railways' "class" rates. It also has made certain ceiling charges, which carry about one fifth the $1,000,000,000-a-year rail bill the business and on which many other tolls are based in effect.

ALL TRAFFIC

All traffic within the Atlantic provinces is exempted from equalization, in line with the 1951 parliamentary legislation ordering the 20 per cent of rates as between different regions. The Atlantic rates are protected under the Maritime Freight Rates Act of 1927.

Concurrent with the effective date of the new order, a board-directed general reduction of five per-cent on previous ceiling rates within western Canada will be wiped out. This went into effect last Nov. 15 as an "interim" measure pending prospective reductions in the equalized scale.

It was accompanied by permission to the railways to boost Ontario-Quebec class rates by a compensating 5 per cent and this provision also will be rescinded as of next March 1.

Some major departures from the tentative board order of 1952 are contained in today's scale.

The chief one is that the new tolls will have a "spread of 10 per cent on long-haul traffic. This means that the charge per mile will dip more than 10 per cent, cutting down the spread in charges between short and long hauls.

BENEFIT TO WEST

This provision is expected to be of particular benefit to the three prairie provinces, because the bulk shipment of their products to the east and in the haulage of fuel supplies to the east.

Manitoba benefits somewhat less than Saskatchewan or the west, but an unofficial review indicates that the province would average a 7½ per cent reduction in that province's freight bill.

SENATORS MEET CHURCHILL

LONDON (AP) — Two United States senators on a fact-finding mission in Europe met Prime Minister Winston Churchill this morning at his private room in the House of Commons. Senators Styles Bridges (R., N. H.) and Senator Stuart Symington (Dem. Mo.) arrived earlier from Paris on a survey of western European defence production. Details of the discussions were not disclosed.

No Ticket But He Rides, He is Duke

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — A young man in a hurry today told a woman redcap at a suburban railroad station, "Sorry, I haven't a ticket" and boarded a train for the Australian navy training station at Flinders.

The redcap, Pat Ringwill, nearly fainted—but not because the man got a free ride.

The lady wobbly at the knees and was so flabbergasted I could not think of anything to say to the Duke of Edinburgh," she explained later.

Celebrate Pope's 78th Birthday, Condition 'Good'

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Whitehaired and golden flags of the state of the Vatican flew which Pope Pius is sovereign, few today in honor of his 78th birthday and the 15th anniversary of his pontificate.

Telegrams and messages from all parts of the world continued to pour in, greeting the pontiff and expressing hope for his full recovery from the stomach ailment that has confined him to bed a apartment for 36 days.

Vatican sources said this morning that his improvement of the last few days continues.

In Rome's St. Mary Major basilica, the world's oldest shrine to the Virgin Mary, Masses for the Pope said his own first mass 54 years ago—hoursands attended a solemn mass that morning for his recovery.

Most heartening news of his illness and grave Sunday by the Vatican newspaper, l'Osservatore Romano, which described his progress as "good."

Considerable time is needed yet for the possible cure, it added.

BELLEVILLE'S PHONES INCREASE BY 639

With more customers, more share-holders and more employees than ever before in its history, The Bell Telephone Company of Canada enjoyed "a state of vigorous good health" during 1953, according to the company's 74th annual report.

Commenting on the report, G. W. Proctor, Bell manager here, said that local expansion had paralleled the overall growth of service. During 1953 639 telephones were added in Belleville, bringing the number in service to 10,300 and leaving 31 unfilled orders at the year-end.

15 TRANSPORTS SEEN IN DITCH IN EIGHT MILES

About 15 transport trucks were reported off the highway between Belleville and Shannonville this morning by traffic coming into Belleville from Napanee. Four provincial police constables were on duty directing traffic. Several tow trucks were busy trying to pull the transports back onto the highway.

The regularly scheduled early morning bus from Kingston to Belleville was several hours late arriving in the city by about an hour.

Slippery pavement and low visibility early in the morning were blamed.

POLICE CONTINUE INVESTIGATION

Provincial police are continuing investigation into an attempted safe-cracking at the Coca-Cola plant, which occurred during the week-end.

Police said there was a possibility that a car or streetcar may have been seen about the building at various times during Saturday or Sunday evening and request that anybody having seen anything of this nature contact the provincial police office.

IDIOTS HAND JERKS 10-3 LOSS

In the second game of the best of three finals for the Northern Electric hockey title played over the week-end the idiots handed the Jerks a 10-3 defeat.

Brant had three goals and as many assists for the winners with D. Jeffrey getting a hat trick and adding on one. Semark was credited with two goals and two assists while Philp also scored. Creegan had one assist.

Jerks were participating in all three of the losers' marksmen, scoring two each being Wardaugh on for the odd one.

Referees were Joe Barrett and Bill Hurst.

A team from the N.E. plant detailed the A, B, and P, team 4-3 in an exhibition game.

Council Votes to Purchase Foley Foundry Property For Off-Street Parking Area

Subject to the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board, Belleville is to have a supervised off-street parking area.

Last night at city council it was voted to purchase the old Foley Foundry property on Front Street for the sum of $40,000 and to turn it into a paved parking area at an estimated cost of an additional $20,000.

Cost of the project would be paid for by ten-year debentures which, it is expected, would be paid off from revenues from the parking lot.

Alderman Robt. Temple as chairman of the traffic committee declared there was a vital need for off-street parking in Belleville. Lack of parking space was causing cold-down shoppers to go to Belleville with resultant loss of business for local merchants.

He estimated that the Foley property containing approximately 30,000 square feet would provide parking space for 100 cars. Besides the parking lot for development, together with its operation as a parking lot for the 10-year term, debentures was estimated at $108,000. Against this revenue from parking fees was "conservatively" estimated at $10,000 per year, so that at the end of 10 years the project would have about paid for itself.

REVERS TO PETERBOROUGH

As a basis for the acquisition of revenue from the lot, Alderman Temple referred to a municipally owned parking lot at Peterborough with accommodation for 160 cars, which had a revenue of $1,600 per month.

Mr. Temple admitted the city would lose property taxes but he pointed out the Foley Foundry expected to locate elsewhere in the city. Therefore the city would actually lose only the taxes on the land.

He said that the parking lot proposition was a large project for the municipal world.

Alderman Keegan said the Foley property would be an ideal site for a possible bridge across the Moira some time in the future. The parking lot would be needed to carry traffic from Moira Street along an east-west artery through the city.

Alderman Reid could not see the point of spending the amount of money suggested on the Foley property when it already had the cliff fire hall property, the value of which had been set at $7,100.

It was pointed out, however, that the fireball property could be ed only 4,000 square feet and would accommodate only a few cars.

TIES WITH FUTURE PLANS

Mr. Keegan said the Foley property tied in with future plans of the Moira Conservation Authority for the narrowing of the river bed and provision of additional parking area.

The motion to purchase the Foley property carried by a 10-3 vote. Supporting were Aldermen Bradford, Countryman, Duffy, Hyde, Keegan, Moxam, Smith, Templeman and Wood. Opposing were Mayor Both and Aldermen Clarke and Reid.

The accompanying by-law was given two reading by council and will be forwarded to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval before receiving its third reading.

The chairman of the city traffic committee, Ald. Robert Temple, declared that the proposed parking space as the reason consumers from outlying areas came to Belleville to shop elsewhere. Ald. Temple was speaking at the meeting of the Kinsmen Club in the Hotel Quinte Monday noon and dealt with the proposed acquisition of the Foley Foundry property for parking area.

Ald. Temple said that traffic in relation to parking is becoming more and more a problem. He stated that the Traffic Commission had the proposed acquisition of the property considerable thought.

In describing the proposed layout of the parking lot, the speaker said there would be space for 100 vehicles, with 45 degree head parking meters. Annual revenue from the meters would be about $100 each, Mr. Temple estimated.

Following his talk, Mr. Temple threw the meeting open to questions from the floor.

The speaker was introduced by Alan Sprague and the thanks of the club were tendered by Chairman Burrows.

Works Dept. Both Criticized, Complimented

City public works department last night received both a compliment and an objection on its garbage collection and disposal program.

Former parks board member Cleo R. Colling congratulated council on its sanitary land fill method of garbage disposal at Zwicks Island, which he said had been "well handled." He said the marsh area about the island would be one of the finest pieces of property in the city following its being filled with garbage and covered with soil.

At the same time Mr. Colling said he was forced to condemn council for permitting garbage collection to commence in the city at the unreasonable hour of four o'clock in the morning.

"It is not fair that garbage pails should be bounced on the street at that hour of the morning," he said. "Milk delivery and other utility services cannot start until a reasonable hour and the same should apply to garbage collection."

Mr. Colling noted that city officials last year said nothing could be done about the hours of collection as no times were placed in the contract with the collector.

"But there is an anti-noise by-law in the city and I am asking that it be enforced," he said.

Hourly Rated City Workers Will Get No Increases in Pay

Hourly rated employees of the city public works department must get along without pay increases this year it has been ruled by city council.

Public works employees paid by the hour were forgotten when pay increases were granted to other city employees prior to setting the budget and efforts to remedy the matter have been turned down twice by council. Two weeks ago a motion to allow pay increases for public works men was ruled out of order. Last night the recommendation was allowed but was turned down by council on a close vote.

Cliff Murphy, representing the public works employes' guild, addressed council asking why they had been by-passed when pay increases were granted other employees.

"It is about time our guild was recognized by city council," he said. "We are not informed of pay committee meeting."

Aldrman Bruce Smith as chairman of public works later introduced a motion to give hourly rated employees a five-cent per hour pay increase, and the motion touched off a lengthy discussion by councillors before it was turned down. He said the increase would cost about $4,500 for the year.

RECEIVED REGRET

There was considerable discussion as to how the public works employees came to be over-looked when pay increases were granted to other employees. It was agreed that the request for pay increases had been received by the committee early in the year but it was referred to a special meeting when all salaries were to be discussed.

But the request was not again discussed at an open meeting and the public works budget was passed without provision being made for the pay increases.

The feeling was quite general that the increase should have been given but some councillors pointed out the danger of granting the increase after the budget was set.

"I do not like to have the public works committee say they have not been given the opportunity to bring this in, but we are simply expending for something which has been already dealt with," pointed out Alderman Bradford.

"The weakness is that if we do this thing now then we are leaving ourselves wide open for demands from other departments."

Alderman Countryman took the same attitude. "We would be just asking for trouble," he said.

He raised a point of order pointing out that for the matter to be introduced now the motion would require the signatures of two aldermen who had been opposed to the public works budget.

NEED TWO-THIRDS VOTE

Alderman Temple, as chairman of the committee, ruled the motion in order declaring, however, that as it called for an expenditure not provided for in the budget it would require a two-third vote of council. The motion to give the employees a raise received a majority vote but was ruled when the required two third's vote was not obtained.

Approving the motion were Aldermen Bradford, Hyde, Keegan, Moxam, Reid, Smith, Temple, Thomas and Tice. Opposing were Mayor Both and Alderman Clarke, Countryman, Duffy and Safe.

TRENTON — (Special) — Two transport truck-and a sixth truck were involved in an accident on Highway No. 2, five miles west of Trenton at 7.00 on Tuesday morning. No injuries were reported.

Damage to the vehicles is estimated to be several thousands of dollars, however, the highway was delayed about an hour and a half.

Will Ask Tenders For Construction Of All Services

City council Monday night authorized the calling of tenders for the installation of services in the new bilsaing sub-division, planned by Ruggle and Smith for east Macdonald Ave.

The sub-division allowing for construction of about 16 houses had previously been approved by council. The contractors will pay for construction of all services in the area.

Council referred to the city solicitor a request from Mr. Smith regarding bonding conditions on Mary Street. Mayor Both said that grading by McFarland's was holding up the water.

Council voted to take out workmen's compensation for city employees with the Workman's Compensation Board at a rate of $1.90 per $100 in wages. The cost was $-4 in favor.

At the last council meeting a recommendation was tabled calling for the insurance to be taken out with a private firm but it was referred to last night's meeting. A representative of the Workman's Compensation Board addressed council on board regulations. He said there was nothing to say a municipality could not withdraw from participation but such a municipality may be asked to pay off some of its liability if its accident rate had been responsible for any increase in rates.

OLD FIREHALL UNSAFE

A report from the building inspector and assistant city engineer on the condition of the old fireball on Front street indicated a recent fault had appeared in the building and it was unsafe for further use. Alderman Tice said his committee was awaiting a report as to what to do with the building.

Mr. J. J. Trudeau was re-named as council representative on the Belleville and Suburban Road Commission.

Council voted to have the solicitor report on the advisability of the city licensing electrical contractors.

City Fire Chief Gerald Vance and one fire inspector were authorized to attend a fire inspector's course in Toronto.

TROOP MOVES MYSTERY

VIENA (CNS) — Moscow (AAP)— Government officials were silent today on heavy movement of troops and planes to the Cordoba area near here. There have been reports of discontent and even disorders among farmers of the area, due probably to the backing up of water behind a large dam.

IN MEMORIAM

WELLMAN. — In loving memory of my dear husband, Arthur Wellman, who passed away March 2, 1953.

Dearly missed and sadly mourned

And I'll miss him more as long, strange year.

A year I've reached but could not touch And listen for your voice but could not hear.

I thought I walked alone and wept, But you

Walked somewhere far so lonely and I am still nearer now the year is through.

And you still near, and I would have known

As I felt there is no road on weather,

Howe'er we go, we do not walk

Ever remembered by his loving wife Myrtle.

WELLMAN. — In loving memory of our dear son, John Wellman, who passed away March 2, 1953.

You're not forgotten, Dad dear, Nor ever shall you be;

As long as life and memory last, We shall remember thee.

Ever remembered by his son Arthur, and daughter-in-law Ruth, and family. M7

LATTA. — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Marian Latta, who passed away March 2nd, 1952. Nothing but memories as we journey

Longing for you more,

Missing you more each day,

Some love the depths or our deep regret,

But we remember when others forget.

Ever remembered by her son and daughter. M7

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were mixed and forenoon trading moderate today.

Industrials and western oils were slightly ahead but the mining groups were all lower.

First-hour volume was 744,000 shares.

Steels and papers were slightly lower, but refining oils, foods, utilities and liquors were a little ahead. Most emphasis was on individual movements. General Dynamics was up $1.75, but most others moved only slightly.

Western oils were lightly traded as the group edged slowly ahead. Canadian Collieries and Anglo-Canadian both showed 15-cent losses and gains ranged to 10 cents by Peace River, Canadian Atlantic, Canada-Southern and a few others.

Uraniums were lower. New Bidlamaque was down nine cents as it traded more than 210,000 shares. Gunnar was up 13 cents, Bathurst-area issues drew little interest.

Quemont led base metal seniors lower, dropping to a new low on 813.81½. Opemiska and East Rim led juniors lower and Manitou-Barvue-area issues were slightly off.

All gold categories were down slightly.

Bible Society Work is Related

The Rev. F. Young of the Upper Canada Bible Society was present at the monthly meeting of the Belleville Ministerial Association, which was held Monday morning. He gave a most interesting and enlightening address on the great work of the Bible Society.

Answering his own question, "Why should the Bible Society command the attention of the ministry and Christian laymen?" Mr. Young said: "The population of the world in the past two hundred years has increased almost two billion, but the Christians of the world have not increased accordingly. The Christian population," continued Mr. Young, "has increased from 145 million to 775 million. About one half of this missionary expansion has been Protestant. The Missionaries and Mission Societies have used the Bibles produced by the Bible Societies during this missionary expansion."

At the close of his address Mr. Young challenged each minister to an even greater interest in the work of the Bible Society by stating that "according to an estimate given, Communism is being propagated by the printed page in ten times greater volume than is Christianity by all the churches put together. This means that we must recall our people to the Bible, hold mass meetings, hold services of witness and give our whole hearted support to the great work of the Bible Society."

The president, Archdeacon J. B. Creegan, who was chairman for the meeting, and the president, Rev. Keith Daniel, thanked Mr. Young for coming all the way from Toronto to be present at the meeting of the association.

Among the many items of business transacted at the meeting it was unanimously carried that May 30 be the occasion of a Bible Sunday in Belleville, and that inasmuch as this is the 150th anniversary of the Bible Society a special service of witness be held on Sunday night, May 30.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer by the secretary, Rev. James S. A. Spearman.

Zoning, Parking Interest Citizens

The council chambers at city hall were packed to capacity Monday night as citizens waited on council to register complaints and suggestions. Many restaurants were unable to gain admission and had to stand in the lobby.

Residents of the Parkwood Heights area interested in the city zoning by-law as it affects their area were most numerous among the spectators. The spokesman for this party indicated they were interested in what had transpired at a planning meeting held Monday afternoon.

The objection was told by Alderman Art Keegan, chairman of the planning, that the zoning by-law had not been discussed at the meeting and the by-law would be presented to the municipal board at the March 4th hearing, as decided on at the council meeting two weeks ago.

George DeVuyst, Bridge street restaurant operator, wanted to know why the public washrooms under the city hall had not been opened. He also asked where washroom fixtures went from the former washroom on the market square.

He also had a complaint regarding the noise of trucks passing along Bridge street and another complaint that he was dumped at the rear of his home on Highland Ave.

Ed Kellaway suggested that additional parking area could be provided cheaper by narrowing the Moira River and construction of a retaining wall, than by the purchase of the Foley property.

He also suggested the construction of rental controls claiming this was not fair to the property owners. "Nothing else is controlled now" he said.

Mr. DeVuyst later received the answer to when the washrooms would be opened.

Council passed a recommendation naming William Whalen as janitor-caretaker at a salary of $100 per month and Alderman Tice said the lavatories would be open Tuesday morning. The washrooms would be open from 9 in the morning until 5.30 in the afternoon, daily except Sundays.

No Steps Taken by Council To Continue Rent Controls

Belleville city council will take no step to continue rent controls, it was decided at the regular meeting of council Monday evening.

Alderman Robt. Temple introduced a recommendation two weeks ago calling for the city to take over rental controls but the matter was tabled to allow investigation and report by the finance committee.

Last night Alderman Countryman reported the finance committee had decided it would not be good business for the city to go into the rent control field and the motion was soundly defeated.

Mr. Temple said it would cost the city from $3,000 to $3,500 to carry on rent controls to September 30th. In his opinion there should be some control continued. If not there would be hardship for many tenants. This was indicated by the fact that already there had been a steady flow of complaints from tenants who had received notices of rental increases following lifting of controls.

AN DECISION UNPOPULAR.

He agreed that no matter what steps council takes the decision would be an unpopular one in the view of a large section of the city.

There was a lengthy discussion as to the necessity of continuing controls. Alderman Moxam said landlords had had control around their necks for years. He suggested they would not be too hard, when controls were lifted.

Alderman Thomas favored some sort of a delaying action and asked if controls could be re-introduced if they were allowed to lapse. The city solicitor said this could not be done.

Alderman Tice suggested the need for controls was now past and that this was indicated by the fact that the province had seen fit to de-control rents.

Rent controls were said by Alderman Safe to have been an emergency measure, the need for which was now past. It was not right that rental controls should be continued when all other controls were off. He declared rent controls were "class legislation of the worst sort."

Although the approval of controls being lifted, Alderman Duffy said that the effect of decontrol would reflect on the welfare department of the city which would be called on to find accommodation for evicted families.

March, March the Boys Are Shovelling Old Man Winter Has Us Grovelling

Winter Wonderland — Two Phooeys.

The battle cry of Winter's March, March, March, the Boys are Shovelling.

That fresh lamb that was supposedly ushered in yesterday was nothing but a slumbering lion in a young man's clothing.

It drooled splashes of rain during the afternoon and evening, and overnight shed its wooly covering, bared its teeth and roared over the countryside in a good old-fashioned blizzard.

As the poetical fraternity would say, "The countryside was blanketed in a mantle of pure white."

From what this writer perceived the district was studded under a carpet of dirty grey snow.

And the gentle March lion has no intention of turning over the territory to the gambolling young creatures of legend.

The weather's mark, as fickle as a politician, hasn't any wires crossing while we're quoting the "liars" figure. He says there is more of the gentle white blanket" in the offing which will be garnished with drooping mercury with temperatures ranging from 20 and 30 degrees.

And that woodchuck on groundhog, whichever you prefer, is another big phony. A little while ago he pushed his small topside from a warm earthy bed, failed to see his shadow (there's about anyway) and decided spring was around the corner. He did not say which corner, nor mention how far away it was.

Anyway it is to be hoped the furry double-crosser has learned a lesson and frozen here in will which to his underground activities.

New School Without Playroom False Economy Says Official

Construction of a new city public school without a playroom would be false economy, it was stated today by public school board officials following a suggestion by Mayor John Roth that the board be asked to delete the playroom from plans for the Sir Winston Churchill school to be built on MacDonald Ave.

The objection to the playroom was made by Mayor Roth at Monday night's council meeting when the by-law to provide $215,000 for the school's construction came up for its third reading.

The mayor pointed out that no grant would be received from the Ontario government for the provision of the playroom. He suggested the playroom be deleted from the plans and the board get a credit from the contractor. "The saving might amount to to $30,000", he said.

The by-law was withdrawn pending an interview with the school board, which would be asked to come to council to explain why the playroom was necessary.

Today public schools administrator Lawrence A. Kells said that by exclusion of the playroom, the school would lose the advantage of a room which would eventually have to be built.

WOULD HAVE TO BE BUILT

"The Sir Winston Churchill School will have 13 classrooms within three or four years", Mr. Kells said "and the playroom would have to be built eventually."

He said that even the oldest schools in the city have playrooms or auditoriums.

By omitting the playroom the city would save between $500 and $600 per year for the 30-year life of the debenture.

The administrator stressed that time was now an important factor in the construction of the new school with every delay setting back the completion date.

Mr. Kells said it was possible that the public school board chairman-William VanTassel would ask for a special meeting of council in order that the matter could be straightened out as soon as possible and construction of the school started.

IMPORTANT POSITION VACANT

One of Belleville's most important jobs is vacant.

George E. Currie, principal of the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational Institute, has resigned. Next fall he will be principal of the St. Catharines Collegiate.

The best wishes of his many friends will go with him. Since coming here from Elmira in 1945 Mr. Currie has not only faithfully and effectively discharged his duties as principal but has also taken an active part in community affairs. As a member of the Kiwanis Club, he headed that organization's vocational guidance committee. As for the manner in which he discharged his official duties as principal, his selection for the St. Catharines post speaks for itself. "There will be a greater challenge," Mr. Currie said in commenting on his new position. That comment speaks volumes for the spirit in which he tackled his duties here.

The position of principal of a secondary school is, in many respects, the most important post in any community. For an able, energetic man or woman, the position offers enormous possibilities for leadership, not merely in the school but in the community as a whole.

Unfortunately, the financial rewards are not commensurate with the responsibilities and the opportunities which exist in the position. Yet the talents and the ambitions required in a first-class school principal are of a type frequently found in men who value these responsibilities and opportunities for service more than do the financial rewards which private industry would bestow on the man selected to fill such a post.

Fortunate indeed is the community which, in selecting a successor to a school principal, obtains a man whose talents are tailored to the challenge he faces, rather than to the salary which is offered.

The fact that the young residents of Belleville may well depend largely on the decision which the Bay of Quinte High School Area Board will have to make within the next few weeks.

ANOTHER LESSON FROM CHURCHILL

Sir Winston Churchill has been at it again—speaking. Almost every time he speaks, it is news.

This is not because he always has something new to say. More often than not, it is because of the manner in which he says those which are old, which we ought to know but which we tend to forget.

There is nothing new about the statement that "the forces of the human spirit—cannot be speedily extinguished."

There is nothing new, either, in the theme that good often comes out of evil. But, faced with the evil of our days, we sometimes find it difficult to remember that Churchill reminded us of it when, in the British House of Commons, he declared that the imperishable valley of the Soviets had laid the foundation of the deep and lasting association which now exists between Germany and the western world. The conception of a United Europe, a dream by Briand's day, is now brought, by the menace of Communism, "into the forefront of modern thought."

Something of the same sense of the unpredictable course of history, and the manner in which time sometimes wipes out obstacles which appear insurmountable and produces solutions for problems which have dismayed the most brilliant statesmen, was displayed on the same day by Dag Hammarskjold. Speaking to the Empire Club at Toronto, the secretary-general of the UN said that "the past has many lessons to teach us about apparently irreconcilable conflicts between peoples."

Events change more minds than do arguments. That was apparently what Churchill had in mind when he declared that he did not believe that men with such able minds as the Soviet rulers have not taken stock of the price they have paid, as well as of the possessions they have gained by the Stalin policy.

That statement, by the way, included another typical Churchillian approach. Time and again, when referring to the Communist leaders, he has refused to credit them with intelligence inferior to their own, with political views further to the left, used similar phrases they would be accused of being "pink." But, amid all the charges and denogatory epithets hurled at the Russians, it is imperative that we should not lose sight of their mental and physical achievements. If they were not clever, if they were not tenacious, we should have no reason to fear them.

A couple of centuries from now, when some historian is poring over the records of the world's events in the west and which have been sent forth to do battle in the cold war, Churchill's contributions will prove to be among the very few which will then appear to have dealt with the situation realistically.

TALENTED "FORGETTERS"

There is more talent in Canada than most of us recognize.

The majority of Canadians will find it difficult to believe that anybody could forget a million dollars in assets. But that figure is on the debit side of the ledger, a lapse of memory would be more understandable. We know quite a few individuals who have been practising for years on smaller amounts and who, as a result of long, arduous training, have reached the stage where they could forget $6,000,000 in liabilities. But cash in the bank—that is a different proposition.

Yet this almost miraculous feat in "unremembering" has been achieved. Of course, it is a collective triumph, a case where the value of co-operation has once again been strikingly demonstrated. Canada's chartered banks and the Bank of Canada have unclaimed balances amounting to almost $6,000,000. "The bulk of the unclaimed balances is in amounts of less than $100 but there are hundreds of accounts which amount to more than $1,000. The largest account totals $125,000.

RULE FOR DIET

A diet is a simple thing.
Ope your mouth as it to follow;
What you detest you may digest,
What like you mustn't swallow.

Forget the doctor's printed list.
'Tis nonsense through it.
Your teeth may chew what's close to you,
If like it, then eschew it.

Don't search his list for tasty food
Because you'll never strike it
Eat all you wish of some sour dish,
But shun it if you like it.

Be not concerned with calories
Or carbohydrates curious;
What's bad is good. It's understood
What's good is most injurious.

Don't search his list for tasty food
Because you'll never strike it
Eat all you wish of some sour dish,
But shun it if you like it.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

25 YEARS AGO

MARCH 2ND, 1901

The month of February 1901 will probably be recorded in the memory of residents of this district as the month of sustained unprecedented temperatures and billowing snow drifts with the heaviest fall of snow registered in many years. The month just ended has set an all time mark for sustained temperatures. Just five days in the month were there zeros according to registrations at the city pump house; twenty-three days were marked by numbing temperatures ranging from the 10s to zero; a registration of 30 degrees below zero to an average of five below zero.

Lieut.-Col. David Barrgar has left for New Orleans where he will spend several weeks with his daughter, Mrs. Ireland.

Mr. George Holgate has returned to the city from Edmonton where he spent several months.

Miss Ruth Bell, Reg'N, of this city has returned home after visiting her sister, in Cornwall and her brothers in Watertown and Napanee.

Mrs. Marion Poste and Miss Merle Bracefield of the Woodley fur and hat shop returned from Toronto where they attended the spring millinery openings.

30 YEARS AGO

MARCH 2ND., 1924

In a bowling match in the Jubilee League last evening the Belle Motors defeated the Arsitocrats, the score being 2508 to 2311. The following composed the teams: Belle Motors —Dyer, Mackiewicz, Harris, Lloyd, McMullen; Aristocrats—Hall, Lent, Hurley, Savage, Edgeworth.

The silver trophy, which resembles a miniature football league, is on exhibit in the show window at McFee's jewellery store window.

Dr. R. M. E. Ward is spending some time in Peterborough.

40 YEARS AGO

MARCH 2ND., 1914

Mrs. C. Johnson, Bowell Street, is visiting her father at Marlbank.

Dr. Coughlin, superintendent of the D. & D. Institute, Trent Road, is spending a few days in Peterborough.

Mr. Russell C. Chown, formerly of this city, has been appointed superintendent of supplies in the City of Edmonton's public works department.

Mr. John McIntosh has left for a business trip to New York City.

Mr. Hector J. Poste of the Ritchie Company, is spending a few days in Toronto on business for the firm.

Mr. George Matthew of Calgary is visiting friends here.

Prince Edward County produced about 25 tons of tobacco last season.

50 YEARS AGO

MARCH 2ND., 1904

The members of the Belleville hockey club and some friends met at their rooms last evening and decided to put on a minstrel show some time before the end of the month for the benefit of the hockey team. The following officers were elected—hon. president, E. Guss Porter, M.P.; hon. vice-president, Harry Bowell; president, Jack M. Trusisch; business manager, Frank Y. Brenion; secretary, Jack Winchester; treasurer, Jack McFee; stage manager, Harry McLinch; committee — Sanford Burrows, Fred. Denmark and E. McIninch.

A portion of the roof and brick walls of the Dominon House stables collapsed from the weight of snow this afternoon. There were no horses in the stables at the time.

Avalanche Rescue Work

(BBC London Letter)

At Kleine Scheidegg in the Bernese Highlands of Switzerland is a training school where dogs are taught to locate and rescue people caught in avalanches. Most of the pupils are German shepherd dogs, which are best for the work, but the classes also include Belgian sheep dogs, a boxer or so and a few setters. Russell Henderson recently went to Kleine Scheidegg to watch the pupils at work and to make arrangements for a talk over broadcast in the BBC's "Radio newsreel". The training academy is very like a school for human beings in its procedure for on the first day the puppies are graded and divided up into small workable groups. The dogs coming to this finishing school are already well trained, for before a master writes his dog down for the course it will have completed about three years' basic training. Strict discipline is a fundamental requirement for a dog on whom many lives may depend.

The best age for an avalache dog is between four and five years. They are seldom dogs and they and their masters get to know each other very thoroughly. In their daily training they are taught first to come to heel, then to fetch at command, for when an avalance comes down the belongings of the nearest man which will give a dog scent may be in places inaccessible to human beings. At school the avalanche dogs must learn to jump to a height of five or six feet, possibly to get over a great mass of fallen snow, so hurdles are put up on a flat piece of ground for training. On the second day real avalanche work begins, the training prepare several flasks and shovel the snow to make it as rough as though an avalanche had just passed. The dog starts his training by seeking his master in an open hole in a simulated fall, next a stranger goes into the hole with the master. The final stage is reached several days later when the dog systematically scents the whole field, working backwards and forwards but always towards the wind carrying the scent, as he does not directly him with voice and gesture to find the whereabouts of the buried person. Then comes intensive work for both them and their masters, who must be expert skiers as well. After their first days—very like the dogs settle down in straw with only a few barks of protest at their strange beds.

Consumption Could Rise

(Financial Post).

Businessmen seem to be planning a steady course in capital expenditures in 1926. Figures aren't available yet. But it's likely that capital investment this year will be about the same as in 1925, although there will be more change in the components, as emphasis shifts in Canada's progress.

What about consumption?

Some economists argue that we can have a big increase in consumption this year. They say that from 1917 to 1921 there was a decline in per capita real consumption, even though personal incomes were rising. In the past two years, consumption has picked up, but the totals are still below their historical level.

Shouldn't "consumption" as opposed to "investment" be given a lot more emphasis as a determinant of total economic activity?

Lord Keynes and his successors developed an economic framework where the level of investment through the capital market largely determined the level of a country's total income. Saving, or abstinence, in turn, was determined by total income and tended to have a fixed relationship to it. It was the tail that did not wag the dog.

But times have changed. Perhaps we not view consumption from a different angle? Perhaps we must. Today's real incomes are higher than ever before. After taxes, life's necessities leave more left over to spend or save as one chooses. There's a big proportion or "discretionary income."

A person must buy necessities. But he doesn't have to buy luxuries. He doesn't have to deposit his contributions then ever before are possible in savings institutions.

Investment activity is vital in any look at the future. But the "tail" that wags the dog may be somebody steady.

Perhaps consumption in 1954 can be the important variable. How? Well, it largely depends on the success of selling. As living standards rise, and the price of a load of bread stays the same, necessities become smaller and smaller parts of total income. Yet a certain percentage-wise is sold automatically for consumption. Selling becomes more and more important.

Provincial Bank's president, J. E. Labelle gives some advice that is applicable to all business plans to build factories and buy equipment, and to individuals shopping for homes, cars, radios, or to houses.

If it is followed, 1954 should hold no fears. He says Canadians should be neither over-optimistic nor unduly pessimistic. The ambitious expansion could lead to failure which could bring on depressions. At the same time, in trying to play it safe too much we would only be helping to create ourselves the deflationary spiral which we call depression."

Smelt Dulse, Don't Eat It

(Victoria, Times).

Certain papers in Ontario are discussing dulse, the edible seaweek, with the enchantment that their distance from the ocean lends.

Victorians and other coast folk who have grown up with dulse as the tidal rocks have their own opinion on the substance as food and those opinions vary.

But perhaps coastal people are not the ones to judge. In one Ontario paper points out, dulse is not only impregnated with iodine. It contains also calcium, iron, phosphate, cobalt, nickel, molybdenum, manganese, strontium, titanium and vanadium.

In this part of the world, people have been eating it. Obviously they have been doing the wrong thing. Dulse should be shipped to Trail. This is something for the smelter, not for the stomach.

Red Purges Back in Power

(New York Times)

Few matters aroused greater interest in 1935 than the "Case of the Murdering Doctors," as first announced and then repudiated by Moscow. January 1935 the Kremlin declared with a great flourish that it had discovered a "terrorist group" of eminent Soviet doctors, most of them Jews, had served Western intelligence by murdering, or trying to murder, some of the highest Soviet figures. All the world's Communists immediately hailed this as additional "proof of the "dastardly" activities of American and British intelligence. Then last that the doctors were the victims of a frame-up, their alleged confessions the result of the use of "inadmissible" means, i.e., torture. The world's Communist press went into rhapsodies of praise for "Soviet justice," which had "proved once more" that it protected the innocent.

Then, one may wonder, are the Communists to say about the news that Semyon D. Ignatiev, the highest party official in the key Bashkir industrial area? On April 3 [illegible] announced that he was the Minister of State Security whose "criminal activities and connivances" had permitted the frame-up. The enormity of his crime was "political blindness" and his dismissal from his post as a Secretary of the Communist Party. But now he is restored to high good standing.

Moscow is that the whole case, from its original fabrication to its repudiation, was designed to prevent in Kremlin intrigue and struggle for power. By "liquidating" those responsible for exposing the frame-up did not suffice to save him from the fate which befell Leon Trotsky and his victorious rival, Georgi M. Malenkov, who had originally provided himself a loyal supporter of Malenkov long before this intrigue, has naturally benefited from his patron's victory.

But the real point is that the terrorism, the exposure of the depths to which the men in the Kremlin will descend, is revealed in their own internecine struggles, let alone in their efforts to enslave the world.

Florida Life Is Cheaper

(London Free Press)

There is here and there an impression that Winter holidays in Florida are beyond the reach of us but this may be due to a misconception. It may be somewhat expensive, if we are content to live modestly.

For example, in Michigan, Eugene C. Keyes, of Dearborn, Michigan, has made careful figures and poses that the State of Michigan should give its indigent aged comfortable surroundings, as Florida.

Why? Because, he says it would cost $2 a day in Florida compared to more than $3 a day in Michigan now.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

YOUR GIFT

Jenny Lind the great Swedish singer who was at the height of her career 75 years ago was also a Christian saint. She regarded her voice as a gift of God and although she made tremendous sums of gold, she was ever ready to do so, she spent practically all of it in philanthropic work. She was particularly interested in the education of the poor children of Stockholm. Shortly before her death last year she said, "My daily prayer is that I may have grace and strength in order to carry out my plans for these poor children."

Every person has a gift. For most people the gift is the ability to do some humble and necessary work efficiently. There are a goodly number of people in the world you have, be it great or small?

who can do some one thing well. Such people are rare. They are generally twisted personalities, but they have one thing well. Such a mountain heights or achievement far beyond the strength of ordinary men and women.

The Parable of the Talents with the New Testament also clearly indicates that God gives some people a few talents and others a great many. We may not like this arrangement and call it discrimination, but, however, that is way it is and there is nothing to do about it. But God is just as much interested in the one-talent man who uses his talent well as He is in the man who serves the world magnificiently.

What are you doing with the gift

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON FORGIVING AND FORGETTING

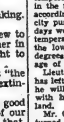
No one can be one's self who harbors an unforgiving spirit or resentment against anyone. Jean Paul Richter once said: "The heart that forgives an injury is like the violet which perfumes the heel which crushes it." Or, as Shakespeare says, "Forgive and forget."

There is a world of meaning to that familiar phrase. It is not only human, to forgive is divine." How very many of us have experienced some act from which we have since come some act for which we were forgiven. Even Christ on the cross exclaimed: "Father, forgive them (His executioners) for they know not what they do."

For so long as you refuse to forgive, you will keep remembering and that is bad, for it is so cumulative. Day by day it is being strengthened. But with forgiveness its remembering soon becomes a part of the long past. Forgive and forget. And start living again!

We are never our true selves for so long as we harbor hatred toward someone or hold resentment against him or her. None of us is perfect. We are bound to make some mistakes or conduct ourselves faultlessly. Generally, we belong toward another should be of short duration. There should be forgiveness and forgetfulness then a forgetting.

It is a fact that often a quarrel clears the atmosphere, the same as a storm does—but one of short duration. Prompt forgivers are the salt of the earth and their friendships are enriched over the years.



There came to me the story of two brothers who has quarreled on a trip, returning from Europe. One had left words to be said that his brother, who had refused to "make up," read them. Then he, the brother who said "I love my brother," told me to write something. I did—and the brothers forgave and forgot! It can always be so easy.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

BREAKFAST AND THE RHUMATIC

Regular readers of this column if any, ought to know by now that one of my pet notions or beliefs is that for most instances chronic rheumatism (call it arthritis if you prefer) is physical degeneration due to nutritional deficiency through the years from early childhood. Lest you show your ignorance by resenting the insinuation you had better look up Webster's definition of the word.

Dr. Brady

It talks to follow I'll state a humph, bear me, talking like an authority, when of course everybody knows I'm not associated with or employed by any clinic — I'll tell you what specific deficiency or deficiencies I mean and how to correct your faulty diet habits. But first let me ask do you have an adequate breakfast? For that matter do you know what is an adequate breakfast is?

An adequate breakfast every day is essential to maintain good nutrition, functional efficiency, good health, wise if you skip or skimp breakfast you cannot do your best at work or play.

Minimum Menu for Adequate Breakfast

I
Fresh fruit in season
or Canned or frozen fruit
or
Fresh, canned or frozen fruit juice.

It is always better to eat fruit first but if you like to drink its juice. Some nimshammers have a funny notion that the juice of fruit or vegetable has some vitamin, mineral or other virtue entirely lacking in the fruit from eating the fruit or vegetable. But the menu isn't made of green cheese either.

II
Any unrefined cereal, with milk or cream and sugar or syrup if desired.
or
Bread or toast or roll or bun or muffin or cake, with butter or fried mush or doughnut.

Only coarse wheat flour should be used to make any of the breads or cakes in the breakfast menu. Don't put in your own hand or power mill every morning or two or three times a week. Or crack it coarsely, for cereal.*

Margarine or butter on bread, toast or cakes, if desired. Also sweetening — preferably crude or raw sugar, dark brown sugar, honey, molasses — or, if you are rich or have a friend in Mesopotamia or Pennsylvania, maple syrup.

III
Bacon or ham or sausage or fish or eggs. Eggs cooked as you prefer.
or Bacon and eggs
or
Ham and eggs.

Breakfast without at least one such animal protein item is fodder only, a poor way to start the day. Especially for a growing child.

IV
Not less than a glass (one-half pint) of milk.
or
One-half pint of skim milk if preferred.

One-half pint of buttermilk, sour milk, or cultured milk (Acidophilus, Bulgarian, Yogurt or the like) and for persons over 16 coffee, tea or cocoa.

It this minimum menu for an adequate breakfast strikes you as being too hearty for a nambypamby, I'll remind you are very likely cultivating pellagra or beriberi, to name two of these deficiencies—diseases, pellagra due to insufficient niacin and riboflavin, beriberi to insufficient vitamin B, fresh vegetables and fresh meats are the best food sources; and beriberi due to insufficient thiamin, another B complex factor of which grain seeds is the best source; are generally undiagnosed in Yankeeland. The early manifestations of niacinism and vitamin D deficiency fo unrecognized in most instances for the same reasons which we'll consider in a piece to follow.

Toy Troubles For Tovarisch

(Christian Science Monitor).

A letter published in the Young Communist paper, Komsomolskaya Pravda, enables one to get a glimpse of Soviet toys. Many dolls have their heads fastened on with crude pegs, and "every now and then, to the child's horror, the doll's muffin or pie falls off (like Bernie's)" And the toy furniture soon begins to fall apart. (Like morale in a kolkhoz!) And the paint peels off bright-colored balls (like the glamour of Communist promises!)

Komsomolskaya Pravda verified the complaints itself, in its own researches and illustrates the article with several humorous drawings. One of a young delpha a Russian mother pointing at a toy shop window and saying to her child: "Behave yourself now, or I'll buy you a toy!"

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Bernard Berenson, the world famous art critic, wrote a striking sentence. "Time," he said, "is the raw material of life. Time is devoured like a little, for the benefit of the intellectuals to whom the knowledge of knowledge is power, they would catch it fully. But for the rest of us, he might have gone on to visualize time, perhaps, as a tape, like a ticker tape, tirelessly unrolling from each one of us.

It is up to us to see that not an inch of it gets by without something in it. Either each moment of time's ticker tape has some meaning for us, or we must put at least a finger print on it. It should not be blank.

Because mind it filled him with horror to hear people speak of killing time. Because, he knew, never in his life cast an idle moment. Because, he knew, time to be savored with his eyes, his ears, his nose, his attention, everything that existed around him. When you read his books, you can understand his love of beauty, his love of art because he also appreciated blank?

Hespeler Union Votes to Cut Pay To Check Layoffs

HESPELER (CP) — About 300 employees of Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited will get a 5-per-cent reduction in wages as a result of a union vote Sunday.

The reduction was aimed at helping the company keep its mill in operation and prevent further layoffs. The amount was agreed taken from weekly cheques. Existing pay rates—which average $1.11 an hour—will not be affected.

Working members of the Woollen Workers Union of Hespeler (Ind.) voted 163 in favor and 39 against the wage reduction. Results of the vote were submitted to management after the meeting and th company agreed to the plan.

About 150 mill and office workers were laid off Friday when a 25-per-cent production cut in some lines was announced. The company normally employs about 1,200, but recession in the Canadian textile industry has resulted in cutbacks and layoffs so that the working force now is about 600.

A three-man committee, representing union and management and headed by an independent auditor, will review the company's operating position monthly to determine if the 5-per-cent reduction continues to be justified.

Five Clinics For Alcoholics Recommended

TORONTO (CP)—The establishment of five clinics for the treatment of alcoholism in the province was urged in the third annual report of the Ontario Alcoholism Research Foundation tabled in the legislature Monday.

The report suggested that clinics, branches of the one now established in Toronto, should be set up in Hamilton, Ottawa, London, Kingston and the Lakehead.

An increasing number of alcoholics—800 in 1953—is applying for treatment at the Toronto clinic, But the foundation, and the alcoholics themselves, had to face a barrier in public thinking that made it difficult to give the most effective treatment, the report said.

In tabling the report, Health Minister Phillips said it was indicated that the foundation's treatment led about 32 per cent of the patients to sobriety. The report showed that 47 per cent of those treated suffered from liver disease.

Dismiss One Charge

NEW YORK (CP) — Judge Thomas Murphy Monday granted a defence motion to dismiss one of two charges brought by James (Niggy) Rutkin against two former bootlegging partners.

In the complaint, Rutkin had accused Joseph Reinfeld and Samuel Bronfman of conspiring to have him convicted of income tax evasion charges in addition to private Rutkin from instituting a $22,000,000 damage suit against the two. Reinfeld is former of the Reinfeld Importers Ltd., of New Jersey, and Bronfman is head of Distillers Corporation-Seagram's Ltd.

Judge Murphy reserved decision on other defence motions seeking dismissal at the damage suit in which Rutkin charged Reinfeld and Bronfman conspired to defraud him in business transactions.

New York State Is Expecting 20 Inches of Snow

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Gale-force winds moving in from the southwest tiropped up to four inches of snow over western New York state during the night.

The weather bureau said that from three to seven more inches are expected today with depths up to 30 inches expected in some counties.

Winds up to 50 miles an hour piled four-high drifts over roads, making driving hazardous throughout the 2 Gusts up to 65 were reported at the Buffalo airport weather station.

At least 10 suburban schools were closed today.

Plains States Gripped By Cold

CHICAGO (AP) — A March cold wave hailed into the great plains states today as the Ohio river valley dug out from a paralyzing snow storm that took at least 13 lives.

The Arctic air, flowing down from northern Alberta, sent the mercury skidding to sub-zero levels in the United States on the northern plains and along the eastern slopes of the Rockies. The entire midwest is expected to feel th sting of the wintry onslaught.

Many schools are closed and highway travel was impeded today after a heavy snowstorm that piled a deep blanket over northern Ohio and eastern Kentucky and eastern Tennessee.

Elven deaths were attributed to the storm in Cleveland, one to forled cond one in Friendsville, Tenn.

The storm centre moved northward into Ontario, and only snow flurries continued today.

Kitchener Television Station Goes on Air

KITCHENER (CP) — Television station CKCO-TV, Canada's third privately-owned television station to go on the air, began operations Monday night.

Operating on 5,000 watts, the station covers Galt, Guelph, Brantford, Woodstock, and Stratford areas, all within a 25-mile radius of here.

Station officials said they also received word from London, about 50 miles southwest of here, that the telecast was picked up there.

ROYALTY OVERFLOWS BOX

LONDON (AP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth took Queen Ingrid of Denmark to the theatre Monday night With Princess Margaret and half a dozen friends they saw the American musical hit "The King and I." The royal party packed the ancient Drury Lane Theatre's Royal box and overflowed into the next one.

Queen Welcomes 65 Children With Polio

MELBOURNE (AP) — Queen Elizabeth today greeted 65 children recovering from poliomyelitis.

She was on her way to a women's organization luncheon when she stopped her car for a few seconds as it drove through the Government gardens to ask them "How are you all?" The 65 children came from a convalescent home especially to see her.

The children laughed, shouted and cried with delight.

Their visit was brought about by a voluntary effort from a Royal Australian Air Force signals unit in Melbourne.

The Queen lunched with 650 women representing 175 Victoria state organizations. She wore a tailored white corded silk suit with white accessories—the first time Australia had seen her in an all-white outfit.

In the afternoon the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh mingled with 3,00 guests at a garden party in the lovely grounds of Government House. They had tea on the terrace.

NEW SCALE

Another big difference from the original decision is that the board has decided to retain intact a big "triangle" bounded by Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Windsor and Montreal within which all points for many years have had the same rates to and from the west.

The 1953 judgment proposed to wipe out the "triangle" and have all points pay rates on a straight mileage basis. Quebec province and many municipalities and organizations within the triangle opposed this.

The board now has decided to retain the triangle—known formally as "groups A and B"—but to lay down some modifications in the way the rates will operate. The old rates were based on a relationship to charges for water transport from Ontario-Quebec points to the Lakehead.

TORONTO KEY POINT

Under the new setup Toronto will be the "key" point for rates on shipments into and out of the triangle. Toronto shipments will pay straight mileage rates into the west, and from the west, and more distant points such as Windsor and Montreal will get the Toronto rates.

Along with this change, the board is maintaining its original intention of wiping out a so-called "constructive mileage" between Fort William, Port Arthur and Winnipeg. This is an historic device that, for rate-making purposes, cuts that mileage from the actual 420 to a fictitious 390 miles.

For the west coast, the board partly restored an old rate "grouping" that had been wiped out about five years ago.

This was a provision that gave the same freight rates to Vancouver and Victoria, separated by 80 miles of water. It was eliminated when the board swept away British Columbia's "mountain differential" with additional charge on freight hauls over the Rockies.

The board now is ordering that freight going beyond Vancouver to Victoria, and in the opposite direction, will pay only for 40 miles of haul. Thus, the freight rate difference between Vancouver and Victoria will be halved.

Drinking Water Polluted

A gas mask is needed when washing dishes with tap water in Prince Albert, Sask., says Bill Mills who works in one of the city's restaurants. The unpalatable taste and odor in the water supply, drawn from the North Saskatchewan river, has bothered residents for more than three months. The trouble is said to lie in the multi-million dollar petrochemical and refining area of Edmonton's eastern outskirts which has been ordered to stop dumping waste chemicals into the river. The river flows 700 miles from Edmonton to The Pas, Man. — (CP Photo.)

40 Residential Lots Disposed Of Quickly

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—In one of the most spectacular real estate operations in Peterborough's history, the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation within about two hours Monday sold 40 residential lots in the Manor Heights subdivision with a total value of $64,725.

The property was developed during the war and wartime houses erected. These were removed a year ago and the lots were subdivided and offered for sale Monday.

Prospective buyers started lining up at 4 a.m.

Licences Restored

TORONTO (CP)—Three Toronto meat-packing firms whose licences were under temporary suspension pending investigation of alleged misbranding of beef have been allowed to resume full operations.

Said abbatoir commissioner C.T. Hunt: "After a meeting in my office the whole matter has been cleared up. There will be no further action taken."

The firms, Industrial Packers, William Puddy Beef and L. Goldman and Son, were ordered to halt their operations at Toronto municipal abbatoir after misbranded meat had been found in Montreal.

Newfoundland Fog Continues For Eighth Day

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Fog hugged the cobble-stoned hills of this old port city for the eighth straight day today. The weather bureau predicted no immediate relief for the next four days from the "pea-souper" that has boosted the business of grounded travelling salesmen.

Fog this time of year is customary for Newfoundlanders. But this year's blanket is broader and deeper than anything seen in 10 years.

There has been no sun for eight days. The grey-stone walls of buildings glisten morning, noon and night with moisture.

Planes — big, four-engined airliners from a dozen international airlines—have either been stranded at nearby Torbay air terminal or prevented from landing.

PASSENGERS STRANDED

More than 110 Trans-Canada Air Lines passengers have been stranded here and still wait for flights to the mainland. Some have been waiting for a week.

Many of them are salesmen. These commercial travellers are taking advantage of the close-in to chase up additional orders over telephones.

Many reported business has never been better and one said: "I wish there was a fog every time I came to Newfoundland; then I might sell something."

Residents of the surrounding district fear a continued mild spell which would turn the steeply-graded roads into ravines and make vehicle traffic impossible. These roads are their only avenue into the shopping centre of St. John's.

Several roads forming the spider-web leading away from this capital already have been closed.

Reports reaching here say that the normal run of supplies to tiny hamlets on the south and east coasts of the island have not been cut short by the fog although the murk has reached that far.

Ships equipped with radar crept around the coasts. Those without the radar device kept close to port.

LIVESTOCK SHOW

Oldest fat-stock show in the world, the annual Smithfield show in England goes back to 1799.

Graceful silhouette of the 1954 Oldsmobile "98" four-door sedan is a result of the most complete model change in Oldsmobile's history. Brand new features are the sweep-cut front fenders and the unique two-tone paint effect. With an overall car height of 60.5 inches, the redesigned chassis still maintains adequate paint effect. With an overall car height of 60.5 inches, the redesigned chassis still maintains adequate road clearance. The 1954 Oldsmobile presents lower hood and rear deck contours and a highly visible panoramic windshield that offers 1304 sq. in. of glass area. Total glass area is increased by 278 sq. in over the 1953 model. Wheelbase of the "98" has been increased to 126 inches to improve roadability, but overall length of 214 inches is about the same as 1953. Rich upholstery over foam rubber makes riding a luxury. The "98" is driven by a more powerful 185-h.p. "Rocket" engine with 8.25 to 1 compression ratio.

George L. Magann New Ambassador To Switzerland

OTTAWA (CP) — George L. Magann, 53, former industrialist who has been Canada's ambassador to Greece since 1948, has been named ambassador to Switzerland. He succeeds Dr. Victor Dore, recently retired.

Canada's new ambassador to Greece will be T. W. L. MacDermot, 49, high commissioner to South Africa since 1950.

The two appointments were announced by the external affairs department. The statement, however, did not say who will go to South Africa.

Mr. Magann, a native of Toronto and former director of a number of industrial corporations, served Canada's foreign service in 1941 as special assistant to the Canadian minister in Washington. He later served in Ottawa and Paris before his first major appointment as ambassador to Greece in August, 1948.

Mr. MacDermot, born in Jamaica, was principal of Upper Canada College from 1935-42 and for two more years taught at the Royal Military College, Kingston.

STRIKE OVERTEA

SWANSEA, Wales (Reuters)—Seven hundred factory workers—most of them women—went on strike here today because they claimed their firm had stopped supplying them with hot water for the tea is considered "a reasonable amenity."

Weddings

WELTZ—KEEBLE

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Christ's Church, Belleville, on Saturday, February 27, when Mary Margaret Keeble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Keeble, Mountain View, was married to George Emerson Weltz, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Weltz, Toronto. Archdeacon H. R. Cressy officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of navy blue and plaid shantung, a corsage of red roses and pink hat trimmed with rhinestones.

The bridesmaid, Miss Helen Yorke, of Belleville, wore a dress of turquoise taffeta and a corsage of pink roses.

James Weltz, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

At the reception held in the Queen's Hotel, the bride's mother received wearing a printed silk dress, black hat, and a corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a dress of black velvet trimmed in white with a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Weltz left for a short motor trip.

OUT-OF-TOWN WEDDING

EDWARDS — COCKRANE

A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday, February 27th at 11 o'clock when the Rev. G. T. Martin united in marriage Norah Maye Cockrane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cockrane of Deseronto, to Charles John Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Edwards, Deseronto.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her floor length gown, of frost white satin with over skirt of nylon net. She wore a finger tip veil of nylon net, held in place with a halo of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Jessica Cockrane, her sister's matron-of-honour, and Miss Barbara Dawson the bridesmaid, were floor length dresses of blue taffeta under nylon net with bolero of net and carried harmonizing nosegays.

The groom was attended by his brother, Leo, and his cousin, Robert Kitchen, of Belleville.

The reception was held at the groom's home. The bride's mother received wearing deep rose taffeta with accessories to match and a corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore grey taffeta with pink accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Those assisting at the reception included Miss Nora Fox, Miss Mervelle Harvey, Miss Ann McVicker, Mrs. Harry Bender, Mrs. Pearl Delanty and Mrs. Eddie Harvey. For her wedding trip to the United States the bride chose a brown suit with black accessories.

Guests were present from Napanee, Belleville, Kingston and Toronto.

BLACKHEADS

Bridge St. W.A. Feb. Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Bridge Street United Church was held in the ladies' parlor last Friday afternoon with the president, Mrs. E. Fairman in charge.

A somewhat lengthy business meeting showed that several projects for raising money had been carried out in the previous month. Two representatives of the society were appointed to the Hospital Auxiliary. The sum of $25 was donated to the Red Cross drive.

It was decided to have a tea on March 20th at which the men had offered to serve. The usual spring tea would be held on May 19.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Arthur Clare and Mrs. Dewey Acra and their group.

Mrs. Clare gave a few words on the theme of the month: Christian fellowship, and our duty to live and to work in the Spirit of Christ. Mrs. Fuke read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. Arnott spoke on the fruits of the spirit and led in prayer.

Mrs. Dennis introduced the speaker, Mrs. Morley Davidson, a former teacher at the Ontario School for the Deaf, a former member of Bridge Street Church choir, and at present the president of the Hastings and Prince Edward Presbyterial.

Mrs. Davidson first sang a solo, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Guthridge.

Mrs. Davidson took for her text the verse "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden." "Tarry we in the city", and "Arise and go" are old and preach the gospel to every creature."

With these words "Come", "Tarry" and "Go"; Mrs. Davidson explained the Association's activity visiting His disciples to come to Him, to tarry with Him and learn of Him, and then to go and preach His gospel unto all the world.

Mrs. Dodson extended the vote of thanks of the society to Mrs. Davidson, for her address.

Mrs. Fairman invited the ladies to stay for refreshments and a social half-hour.

Pioneers Hold Social Evening

A social evening, sponsored by the Northern Electric Company and the Bell Telephone Company of America, was held Friday night at the Kiwanis Centre. A large crowd attended.

James Ritchie, master of ceremonies, assisted by the entertainment committee, was in charge. The major prize of the evening was won by F. E. Croft. It was a clock radio. Three other prizes were also presented.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

B.C.I.V.S.H. and S. Assoc. Hears Address on Library

The monthly meeting of the B.C.I.V.S. Home and School Association was held in gymnasium of the collegiate on Monday night, March 1st. Mrs. W. H. Gander presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Lennox Smith.

The preliminary business session disclosed a membership drive with total collection by the room mothers of $206.35 and a current balance of $301.41.

Members who wish to attend the annual meeting of the association to be held in Toronto during Easter week were invited to give their names to any member of the executive, as that bus accommodation might be provided.

Mr. A. D. Archibald introduced the theme of the evening, Miss Nellie P. Merry, librarian and supervisor of the English staff in the school. Her subject was "The Library In Your School."

CORE OF EVERYTHING

Describing the library as the core of everything in the school, Miss Merry traced the growth of the library in this school. Starting in the old school as a far corner of a dismal room which doubled as a combined teachers' dressing room, the library was under the supervision of the English Department.

Samples of the old books were shown. The chief criteria for their choice were that they be "not too fussy and wordless, that the print be fine, and that the author be 'good and dead'".

In the new school adequate space was provided, but no provision was made for purchase of books. The school board had to be educated to supply the 75 cents per pupil per year which is current practice.

The function of the library in the school is to provide the supplementary reading demanded by the various courses, and, as well, to induce in the pupils a desire to read and an appreciation of good literature. This aim was best served in many cases by providing some books, not necessarily of the highest standard, dealing with the personal interests of the young reader.

ENCOURAGED TO VISIT

The library is open at noon and after 4 o'clock each school day. Pupils are encouraged to visit and even whole forms are taken to the library when convenient. Lately, such form visits have had to be limited. With a single day's issue of books, the titles covered biography, music, drama, history and travel as well as fiction. Modern literature as well as the classics, is available.

The mechanism of running the library is in charge of the Library Club, which meets every two weeks. Composed of 18 members, the club takes charge of the issuance of books, and, in addition, repairs damaged books, and provides covers to maintain a neat attractive appearance.

CLUB RAISES MONEY

The money to provide these services is raised by the club through the sale of second hand text books and from auditorium checking privileges.

During a discussion period following the address, strong criticism was levelled at the Provincial Department of Education for its failure to provide adequate working space in the new school for the library, as well as for arts, physical training and other courses.

Mrs. S. Hagerman thanked Miss Merry on behalf of the association.

The Home and School Association picture entitled "The Family Circle", filmed by the National Film Board was shown at the close of the evening. In the picture the effect of the influence of home environment on children was very vividly portrayed.

Fashion Flashes

Wise selections makes it possible to pick up little prints and cottons that should be able to see service now and all through the warm weather. One such is blue silk allover garden print, the bodice subtly draped to a low V neckline, with draped sleeves. Pellon-lined skirt is draped to a fly-away panel in back.

Teaming up for a fine accessory ensemble ar striped denim and calf. Striped denim makes a huge carry-all bag with handles and matching tab at side cuff. Striped denim is used for the front part of a little pump, with white calf for the back and flat heel.

Surface interest is deep in many of the new fashions. A pretty dinner dress—scooped neck, flared skirt and sleeveless—is of black silk and cotton blend, covered all over in fine cotton cord embroidery in a brocade-like floral design. A deep band of crystal bead embroidery marks the neckline.

NEW PAPER PUBLISHED

VANCOUVER (CP) — The first edition of the Chinese Free Press, only Chinese-English daily newspaper in Canada, was published here Monday. ## Housewives "Investigate" Coffee Situation in Brazil

In Brazil at the invitation of the Brazilian Coffee Institute to see for themselves what caused the alleged shortage of coffee which is blamed for sky-rocketing prices of coffee in the U.S. and Canada, American housewives examine a fruit-bitten coffee tree on a plantation near Sao Paulo. From left are Mrs. Carl Swanbeck, Huron, O.; Dr. Walter Lazzarini, head of the coffee institute.. Mrs. Gilbert Loebs, Waterville, Me.; Mrs. Theodore Chapman, Jerseyville, Ill., and Lucia Caldas of the Pan American Coffee Bureau. ## H-S Assoc. Sees Film 'Shyness' At Foxboro

Mrs. J. Churchill presided at the February meeting of the Foxboro Home and School Association which was held in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Churchill spoke briefly on "Founder's Day" which is observed in February. It was decided that Mrs. Hayton and Mrs. Waller complete a questionaire on behalf of the Association. Mrs. MacPhee reported two new members.

Mr. Churchill introduced and showed the film "Shyness". A lengthly discussion followed the showing of the film, which showed that a great deal of help can be given to shy children if their problems are understood by proper authorities.

Refreshments were served.

Surprise Party For Mrs. Orpha Mitts

Mrs. Helena Wallace, 280 Dufferin Ave., was hostess at an afternoon tea to a number of neighbours and friends on Wednesday last in honour of Mrs. Orpha Mitts.

During the afternoon the guest of honour was presented with a rose and fern corsage and a feather-weight flannel house coat by Mrs. Wallace on behalf of those present.

Mrs. Mitts, who was taken by surprise, thanked one and all for the lovely gifts.

The hostess served refreshments. Mrs. Jack Smith poured tea.

Mrs. Mitts is going to Stirling to spend sometime their with her sister, Mrs. Donahue.

NRC EXECUTIVE DIES

TORONTO (CP) — Thomas M. Jacobs, 32, chairman of the fire panel of the National Research Council, died Monday. He was a former semi-professional football player with Oshawa Indians and was an instructor at the University of Toronto's ski club.

Bahai Tenders Farewell Party

The local assembly of the Bahais of Belleville participated in a farewell party given at the home of Rina Gordon, East Bridge Street, honoring Mrs. Helen White, librarian, who is leaving Belleville shortly to join her husband, Mr. Roger White. She will reside in Ottawa where Mrs. White has taken up his duties as a reporter on the Hansard staff of the House of Commons.

This was a surprise party for Mrs. White who were presented with many gifts. Refreshments were served.

A lively evening of entertainment followed consisting of a magician and his bag of tricks, charades, accordion and harmonica selections, musical chairs and dancing.

About 25 guests said their goodbyes and good wishes. Mrs. and Mrs. White will serve as members of the Ottawa Bahai Community.

5th Belleville Scouts, Cubs, Hold Dinner

The annual father and son banquet of the 5th Belleville Scout Troop and Cub Pack was held in honor of Lord Baden-Powell last Wednesday in the College Hill Sunday School rooms. Ninety fathers and sons sat down to dinner.

Scout Randall Cowles proposed a toast to the fathers, Mr. S. Martin responded.

Assistant Cub Master, Mildred Townsend, proposed a toast to the mothers auxiliary which had worked so willingly to prepare the dinner.

Following dinner a sing-song was led by Cub Master, John Townsend, with Jim McBride at the piano.

Cub Alan Martin put on his magician's act which was enjoyed by all.

Cubs John Olliver and Bobby Townsend sang a duet.

The annual Scout Master Willis Jackson, 2nd Belleville, gave an interesting talk on what scouting means to boys and the thrills of camping. A.D.C., H. Middleton spoke briefly on scouting.

A.D.C., P. Alcorn told of the progress of 5th Belleville Cub Pack and informed the pack that it had earned the 1st achievement crest for 1953.

Scout Master Bernard Fox was master of ceremonies for the evening.

Rev. W. Merrick brought the evening to a close with the benediction.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

ONE OF THESE BOYS IS A JITTERBUG!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

At 20, a girl should be old enough to know her own mind, but I don't.

The problem is that there are two boys I like very much, both of whom say they love me and want to marry me.

I went steady with Art for a year. Then he went into service and a little later I met Bill, and have been going with him ever since.

Now Art is going to be discharged from the service shortly, and Bill says that if I even have one date with him he will never speak to me again. I told him that if I didn't date Art after all this time I wouldn't be able to tell which I wanted to go with.

Don't you think that Bill is unfair, and do you think he would have said what he did if he really loved me? — Mary

Dear Mary: I think that Bill is acting very childishly indeed, and in my opinion that alone should be enough to eliminate him. Do you imagine you could have a very happy or satisfactory relationship with a young man so juvenile?

In any event, if you have to ask someone to help you make up your mind which of two young men you like best, you're not ready to make a choice anyhow. When you are, you'll know it instantly and won't have to ask anyone's advice.

MAKING A MOUNTAIN OUT OF A MOLEHILL

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going steady with a boy for about six months. A couple of days ago he received a very passionate love letter from a girl he went with before he met me, in which she said she was still very much in love with him. He brought the letter for me to read and then burns it, saying he wasn't interested.

Do you think he is just trying to spare my feelings, and that he is really in love with her? If I ask him questions about this girl, he always answers them but will not start a conversation about her himself. — Suzan W.

Dear Suzan:

What a mountain you seem to be making out of a molehill! If your boy friend cared anything about the other girl, do you think he would have taken the trouble to show you her letter? And why in the world would you suspect him tp start conversations about her when he has told you he's no longer interested in her?

I can't imagine anything more foolish than for you to keep dragging this subject up. Probably the only reason he wanted you to see the letter anyhow was because it made his male ego feel good that another girl was still crazy about him, and he thought you ought to know what a prize package he was!

For heaven's sake, stop nagging him about it, or he's likely to get sick of the whole thing—and of you, too.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

VOICES—SWEET AND LOW

Loveliness should be heard as well as seen. Perhaps there is nothing that destroys the illusion of beauty as quickly as a harsh shrill voice. Any woman can make her voice a vital, compelling instrument if she will take the trouble to find out its defects. Usually the unpleasant quality is due to habit, most often to pitching the tone too high or using too much volume.

Qualities of voice develop in childhood. Speaking is largely a matter of imitation with the small fry. The wise mother will not lift her voice, will speak in well-modulated tones. She will endeavor to speak distinctly. Sloppy speech and careless enunciation denote a mind that does not function in an orderly manner. If a woman speaks musically she will pass on to her children a priceless inheritance.

It is a good plan to test one's self if one has doubts about its quality. That can be done by reading aloud. Another way is to have a recording made. A well known announcer for a broadcasting company says says that only five individuals among a hundred have really beautiful speaking voices.

The list of offenders is long. There is the fast talker, fearful of having someone else take the floor and deprive her of her speaking rights. You can't get a word in edgewise. She is continually on a conversational marathon.

Probably the women who whines is the worst pest of all. In due course she develops the whiner's face — sagging jowls, drawn-down lip ends. Nerves her right. She is filled with self-pity, and that is a devastating force that robs her of her good looks and charm.

Some cute young things think it is smart to over-emphasize words. Everything is "per-fectly DARling" or "Simply DIVINE." The fairly hammer their words, a practice that is tough on the listener's ears—and nerves.

Suggestions: keep throat passage open, so vocal chords will not be strained. Endeavor to cultivate resonance. Avoid the nasal twang. Pronounce each word clearly.

Lent Gives Opportunities

By Mary Moore

If we are going to observe Lent let's do it with a little verve. (I'm teaching a French girl how to cook Canadian style so don't be surprised at such French confusion.) Now that I've de vivre stuff and Lent—what I'm getting at is let's discover new dishes using fishes. Next week I'll give you new recipes using cheeses.

SALMON FRITTERS

You might call these delicious little numbers French Toast Salmon Sandwiches—as a matter of fact that's what they are.

One-half pound can salmon, pepper, salt and a little vinegar —about 2 teaspoons; bread and butter cut very thin. Batter: 1 cup flour, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, salt. Break up salmon and season with salt, pepper and vinegar, and mix well. Spread generously between thin slices of buttered bread. Then firmly cut off crusts. Beat batter ingredients until smooth—don't thin it down. Dip each salmon sandwich in the batter, until well coated, then let drain for a moment. Fry in sizzling butter until crisp and golden on both sides. Serve as a once. A delicious luncheon or supper item. Lovely on a dinner plate with broccoli, assorted carrots.

The fisherman tells me that fish fillets cutlets other fish, and these fish fillets are usually cod or haddock.

Baking is the all-purpose method of cooking fillets or steaks—if you want to know the foolproof method. Canadians do far too much frying of fish, and once they have acquired the baking habit they seldom go back to frying.

The tried and true method for

requires an oven temperature of 500 deg. Fahr., which is very hot.

Wipe fillets or steaks with clean, damp cloth. To 1 cup milk add 2 teaspoons salt, and dip the fish in this to coat it then in fine sifted crumbs. Place in well-greased baking pan and dot over with small pieces of butter or margarine. Bake uncovered in hot oven of 500 deg. Fahr. from 10 to 20 minutes, time depending on thickness of thickest part of fish. The fish is cooked when flesh becomes flaky and will separate readily from the bone. Do not over cook. Well cooked fish is opaque but moist. Never dry. Serve with lemon wedges or Tartar Sauce.

CHOWDER OF HADDOCK

Two lbs. haddock fillets, 1-4 lb. salt pork finely chopped, 1 medium-sized onion sliced thin, 2 cups boiling water, 3 cups 1-inch potato dice, 4 cups milk, 1-2 cup coarsely crumbled crackers, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 or 3 teaspoons salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley. Cut fish fillets into 2-inch cubes. Saute the salt pork until crisp and golden brown, then add the onion and cook it until transparent but not brown. Add the water and potatoes and cook ten minutes, then add the fish. Simmer ten minutes longer. In another dish to the milk add the crumbled crackers, butter, salt and pepper. Heat these just to scalding. Combine the two mixtures. Pour into large soup tureen or into individual large soup bowls. Sprinkle some tomatoes.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

WEDDING QUESTIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. At a church wedding the attendants are to be: 3 ushers; 3 bridesmaids (a cousin of the bride, and two classmates); matron of honor (bride's sister); a flower girl and a ring bearer; and the best man(the groom's brother). What is the proper order of the Processional?

2. The weddingdinner is to be held in a restaurant at noon. What are the correct seating-arrangements for the wedding party and the members of the families of the couple at this dinner?

3. The reception is to be at the same place at 4 o'clock. What is the correct order for the receiving-line? — P.T.L.

1. Processional: First, the ushers, the two shorter ones, walking together, followed by the tallest one, walking alone. Next the bridesmaids, the two shorter ones walking together, followed by the tallest one, alone. Next, the matron of honor alone. Next, the flower girl, followed by the ring bearer, the two may (and very often do) walk together. Last, the bride and her father, whoever is to escort her. (The best man does not take part in the Processional): he enters the church with the groom, usually from the vestry or other room in the front of the church.

2. Bride and groom seated side by side at the right of the groom. At the bride's right, the best man; at the groom's left, the matron of honor. Bridesmaids and ushers seated alternately. At the right of the bride's mother (or the hostess of the wedding), the groom's father; the man guest of honor; and at the left of the bride's mother, usually the minister who performed the ceremony. At the right of the bride's father (the host), the groom's mother, woman guest of honor; at the left of the host, the minister's wife, if she is to be present; otherwise, a close woman friend or a member of the family. The rest of the seating according to closeness of relationship.

2. Receiving-line: First, the bride's mother, the groom's mother, the bride's father, the host, if he wishes to stand in the receiving-line; next, the groom's father, his father too, if he wishes to stand in the line (very often the father does prefer to mingle with the guests.) Next, bride and groom, bride at the right of the groom. Next, the matron of honor, and last, the bridesmaids. The flower girl and ring bearer usually do not stand in the line, particularly when the reception is not held immediately after the ceremony. The best man and ushers are not part of the receiving-line.

THE WIDOW AND THE RINGS OF HER SECOND MARRIAGE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Does a widow, when she decides to marry again, receive an engagement ring? Please explain about a widow's rings. — W.

Customarily a widow, when she becomes engaged, receives an engagement ring. As soon as she has become engaged, a widow usually takes off her first engagement ring. Usually too she takes off her wedding ring, although sometimes, if her fiance does not object, she continues to wear her wedding ring until the morning of her second marriage.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids.

Toronto, (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking reductions" were noted and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinkage) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued—over a period of many months!

In fact, medical men say this is the most comprehensive and satisfying statements in relief they have ever heard to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissues on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® At all drug stores. And remember — if not entirely satisfied your money will be refunded promptly. *Trade Mark

'Mr. and Mrs. Canada' in Moscow Ready to Head For Home

By BILL ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP)—The couple who for two years have been "Mr. and Mrs. Canada" in Moscow are heading home.

Robert Ford, charge d'affaires at the Canadian embassy since February, 1951, turns over his office to newly-designated ambassador John Watkins Wednesday. Watkins, who has held two earlier appointments in Moscow, comes here from Oslo and the bachelor ambassador was scheduled to meet Mr. and Mrs. Ford in Helsinki, Finland, Monday and discuss the turn-over with them.

Here as charge d'affaires before Ford, Watkins knows his new home well, but despite recent extensive renovations, the Fords will have to forewarn him about burst pipes, water leaking through the replastered dining room ceiling, buckling tiles and a lop-sided sink in the bathroom, and unmatched electrical fixtures in the halls.

The dilapidated-looking Canada House on Stara-Konyushni street originally was the home of two wealthy sugar-merchant brothers and has matching upper and lower storeys where each had his home.

The building was the Danish legation before the Second World War and was acquired by Canada during the war when the Danes left after Germany occupied their country.

KITCHEN DUTIES

Teresa Ford has a reputation for getting things done and, thanks to her drive and ingenuity, the Fords have made Canada and hospitality synonymous in Moscow. Mrs. Ford learned to cook here so she could teach the embassy servants and worked with them for six months in the embassy kitchen. Now the servants are in demand when other diplomats plan functions.

Ford, a quiet-speaking, tall, dark man of 39, is highly regarded by his colleagues in the diplomatic corps. Not many chiefs of mission here are linguists but Ford speaks Russian, French, Spanish and Portuguese well and has a working knowledge of German.

His hobbies are painting and the translation, in verse, of Russian poetry.

Son of Arthur Ford, editor-in-chief of the London Free Press, he is a graduate of University of Western Ontario and Cornell University, where he was assistant lecturer in history.

He joined the department of external affairs in 1940, was in Rio de Janeiro from 1941 to 1945, attended the first General Assembly of the United Nations in London in 1945 and there met his wife, a member of the Brazilian delegation. They were married in the United States and came to Moscow for the first time in 1946.

From November, 1947 to June, 1949, Ford was a first secretary at Canada House in London, then, after two years in Ottawa, he returned to Moscow.

His next assignment is the European desk in the external affairs department in Ottawa.

The Fords have no children.

MEA Asks Project Built Entirely Within Canada

TORONTO (CP)—A resolution urging the federal and provincial governments to investigate every possibility of constructing the St. Lawrence seaway and power development entirely within Canada, was passed Monday by the Ontario Municipal Electric Association.

The association, voice of the province's hydro consumers, said such investigations should be carried out so Canada and Ontario could proceed without United States participation if further delay appears likely.

The report of a special committee, adopted at the association's annual meeting, suggested the deep waterway through the Rideau system between Ottawa and Kingston as a possible route to keep the seaway all-Canadian.

The report, tabled by W. E. Wright of Toronto township, said the committee "is most anxious that the developments take place with the greatest co-operation between the two countries."

However, it urged "no further delays be countenanced."

Mr. Wright said the recommendation was prompted by a recent statement by Transport minister Chevrier that approval of the present legislation by the United States might set construction back 20 years.

Later the OMEA turned down a suggestion that landlords be held liable for utility bills unpaid by tenants.

However, delegates approved a resolution asking the provincial government for power to attach a lien to property when the owner was in arrears on his hydro bill.

C. H. Moore of Fort William said neither provincial nor municipal systems should ask for special privileges over other business.

"Any utility should be big enough to be willing to take its chances, just as a business man does, in making its collections," he said.

DOG AWARDED MEDAL

LISBON (Reuters) — The National Portuguese Society for the protection of animals awarded a gold medal to a dog which saved 31 persons from asphyxiation. The dog used to go to wait outside a school here every day for its master but one day the owner was late. The dog then seized the coat of a passer-by and persuaded him to enter the building. There he found the teacher and 30 students overcome by gas from a leaking pipe in the class-room.

Butler Fired

John Dean, 33-year-old butler of Britain's high commissioner to Canada, has been fired because of a series of articles he has written about the Duke of Edinburgh, his former employer. A wartime RAF veteran, Dean was head of Sir Archibald Nye's servants at Ottawa. Dean said Sir Archibald took a critical view of the articles, describing his employment with the Duke. Dean said he will make a month's tour of Canada before returning to the United Kingdom. — (CP Photo.)

Indo-Chinese Infant Death Rate Very High

By CORLEY SMITH

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters)—Doctors here say that 30 to 50 per cent of all babies born in Indo-China die before they are 12 months old—and ancient, but pernicious, superstitions are a major contributing factor.

The Viet Namese government has only just begun to compile statistics on childbirth and infant deaths, but the few figures already becoming available point to these startling conclusions:

1. Despite dirt and strange superstitions, babies survive the perils of birth almost as well as children born with all the aids of modern science.

2. But after the first three days of life, the most dangerous period for a Western child, they begin to die off like flies. By the end of the first year at least three of every 10 babies have died. The real figure may be as high as five in every 10.

SUPERSTITION DESTROYS

Superstitions lessen a baby's chances of survival in this warm-town country. Many mothers-to-be suffer from malnutrition for lack of milk, fruit and meat. Yet in many villages in the Red River delta expectant mothers are forbidden to eat anything but rice and salt in the last month of their pregnancy. Other foods are considered poisonous to the unborn baby and mothers-in-law keep careful watch to stop them being eaten.

Thus many babies are born without enough strength enough to resist the tropical diseases which attack them in their first year.

According to another old wife's tale here, birth is an evil thing and will bring ill fortune on the house, where it occurs. Often a young mother-to-be is driven out of her home to bear her baby in the bushes or in a corner of an open rice-paddy.

MATERNITY HOMES BUILT

As part of an energetic health program, the north Viet Namese authorities have built and equipped 110 maternity centres in the zones of the delta free from Vietminh rebels. Here mothers can await their children in peace with an experienced midwife at hand.

The maternity units are not mostly hospitals. Some of them are simple wood and cement buildings with five or six bamboo beds on a dirt floor. Equipment is primitive compared with western standards.

As long as peasants work barefoot in the rice fields there is no

Stirling

STIRLING— L.O.L. No. 110 staged a successful euchre party Thursday evening in their lodge rooms with 18 tables in play.

A film was shown before play commenced.

Prize winners were ladies' high, Mrs. H. L. Parkinson; low, Mrs. Gordon Burrell; men's high, Carman Bruce; low, Karl Sine, Belleville.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Bob Sine, Belleville.

Refreshments were served.

Plans are underway for a Chamber of Commerce banquet next Thursday evening in Stirling community hall. Members of Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 211 are catering under the direction of Noble Grand Sister Neva Vandervoort.

Mr. William Young, a director of Hamilton Cottons Ltd., will be guest speaker.

The World Day of Prayer Service will be held on Friday afternoon, March 5, in St. John's Church of England.

FARM FORUM

River Valley Farm Forum entertained Hazard's and Fosbery's Forums with Mr. Jack Sager as master of ceremonies.

Mr. Bob Burkitt gave the highlights of his trip as a Junior Farmer delegate to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago. Mr. Allan Francis, assistant agricultural representative, showed colored slides.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Stirling R.R. 3, was guest elocutionist on Thursday evening at Cannifton United Church. She gave several readings.

WHOSE CLEANED?

HAMILTON (CP) — Some dirty thief stole William Grover's bath tub. Groves told police the new tub, worth $35, was sitting parked and crated in his backyard Saturday. Late in the afternoon it was clean gone.

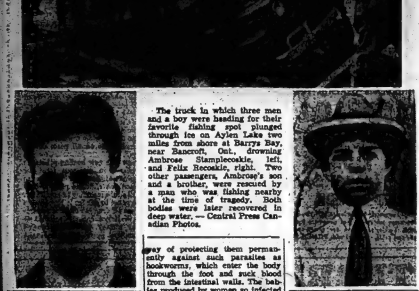
Britain Passes Half-Way Mark In Fixing Dikes

By JOHN DUDMAN

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain has passed the half-way mark in her campaign to repair a 1,000-mile stretch of dikes and sea walls smashed at 1,200 points by last winter's raging floods.

Months of intense reconstruction work have so far cost the British government £20,000,000. The gaps have been closed. Thousands of workmen have built up and strengthened sea walls protecting densely-populated areas.

The program will not be complete until later this year, but experts are confident the defences now will withstand another onslaught from the North Sea.



High spring tides are forecast for March but chances of last year's disaster being repeated are remote. For one thing, the floods, which gushed over the east coast killing more than 300 people on the night of Jan. 31-Feb. 1 last year, were a fluke caused when a North Sea gale hurled waves nearly 600 feet long against the sea defences while the spring tides were at their maximum.

160,000 ACRES COVERED

In one night, 160,000 acres were covered by the sea, 24,000 houses were damaged, 200 major industrial plants were inundated, 14 major gas and electricity installations were crippled.

In East Anglia, Norfolk and Lincolnshire, sand dunes, which had previously provided a natural defence, were washed away and new sea walls, about 10 miles long, have had to be built in their place.

From an agricultural point of view, the damage is still far from repaired. Salt water ruined thousands of acres of fertile land. When the floods receded soil analysis showed concentrations of 30 to 60 tons of salt to the acre in some areas, and it may take up to 15 years to get all the flooded land back to normal. The over-salted soil is being dressed with thousands of tons of calcium sulphate.

HOUSE DEFEATS

It included: Bigger unemployment insurance benefits, a more active house-building plan, encouragement of trade and of manufacture of raw materials and higher pensions and veterans payments to expand the home market for goods.

Mr. Low also proposed a permanent "watchdog" committee of the Commons to make an annual check on the unemployment situation and suggest ways of keeping the economy busy.

Hon. Earl Rowe (PC—Dufferin-Simcoe) said the government is giving the unemployed a "political brush-off."

"They've ridden the gravy train so long they don't care what happens, as long as it doesn't happen to them."

Mr. Rowe said farm profits are falling and for the first time since Confederation the government has the whole of the previous year's wheat crop still unsold.

"It is time we remembered economic reality and forgot political expediency," he said.

Hazen Argue (CCF—Assiniboia) said the government should recognize the interdependence between agriculture and industry. Instead it had tried to "drive a wedge" between farmers and industrial workers.

CNR LAYOFFS

J. Waldo Monteith (PC—Perth), whose home-town of Stratford has been affected by layoffs at the Canadian National Railways shops there, said the government should assure CNR workers their jobs are safe.

The CNR spent millions in recent years on additions and machinery for the Stratford steam-locomotive shops, but apparently had no program for their full use following a change-over to diesel engines.

He said the government should take the leadership in alleviating fear of a future recession. Yet it was acting just as the Liberal government of 1929 had done in ignoring "obvious signs of economic distress."

FIVE

The other three, less seriously wounded, were Representatives Ben F. Jensen (Rep., Iowa), 61, hit in the left shoulder; Clifford Davis (Dem., Tenn.), 56, hit in the right leg; and George T. Fallon (Dem., Md.), 51, struck in the thigh.

All were felled by bullets frenziedly fired from automatic pistols in the hands of three men and a woman who rose dramatically during a routine House session, waved a Puerto Rican flag and sprayed bullets wildly through the chamber "to attract attention to their cause."

SAME GROUP

Their professed cause: "The Independence of Puerto Rico."

They are members of the Puerto Rico Nationalista, the same group which included as members the two men who tried to shoot their way into Blair House in November, 1950, and assassinate former president Truman.

That more congressmen and spectators weren't hurt appeared nothing short of miraculous.

An estimated 30 to 30 heavy-calibre bullets were fired from Luger-type pistols.

About 250 House members were on hand at the time, about 2:30 p.m. EST, having been summoned to the chamber only a short time earlier to debate a bill dealing with importation of Mexican farm workers.

The shooting lasted only about a minute—but it was the most turbulent minute in the history of Congress.

"NOT FREE"

Mrs. Lolita Lebron, 34, of New York, admitted leader of the group had difficulty controlling her pistol. It spouted flame and bullets toward the ceiling, punctuating the woman's cries of, "My country is not free! Free Puerto Rico!"

Police, doorkeepers and others rushed into the gallery and the door leading from it. Quickly they grabbed three of the assailants and either held them firmly or pinned them to the marble floor in a general scrimmage.

The three assailants, along with a fourth captured shortly afterwards, were booked at police headquarters as:

Mrs. Lebron; Rafael Concel Miranda, 25; Andres F. Cordero, 29, and Irving Flores, 27, all of New York. All were charged with felonious assault to kill, a charge which carries a maximum penalty of 15 years.

Each was held on bail of $100,000.

Police said all four charged were members of the Puerto Rican Nationalists, whose president is Pedro Albizu Campos. He was pardoned four months ago after having served about two years of prison sentences totalling 54 years as a result of a 1950 riot in Puerto Rico in which 30 persons were killed.

U. E. Baughman, chief of the secret service, said Monday night that his agency "got information several months ago" that the same nationalist group might try to harm President Eisenhower. He declined to discuss details.

RAWDON

Relatives, Friends, Honor Couple On 50th Wedding Anniversary

RAWDON, — Mr. and Mrs. Hybla Charles Dunham, Wellman's, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Wednesday, February 24, at their residence.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Clifford Clancy, Mrs. Victor Graham and Mrs. John Carlisle received them with a purse of money on behalf of the Wellman's community and with tablecloth on behalf of Wellman's Women's Association Wellman's Missionary Society.

Mr. Dunham has always lived in the community and has served as steward and elder of Wellman's United Church for many years.

Mrs. Dunham has been active in both of the ladies' organizations of the church and also in Wellman's Women's Institute.

Mrs. Dunham was the former Margaret Wallace, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace of Seymour township.

Mr. Dunham is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dunham, 7th concession of Rawdon.

WED IN 1904

The wedding was held at the home of her parents, Burnbrae, on February 24th, 1904, with the Rev. John Moore, of Burnbrae Presbyterian church officiating.

Mrs. Dunham came as a bride to the Dunham homestead, 7th concession, where she lived until they retired a few years ago and took up residence in Wellman's. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dunham have always been interested in community affairs. They have four sons and five daughters, Clarence at Wellman's; Carl at Mount Pleasant; Reg, Tweed and Jack on the homestead.

The daughters are: Leatha, Mrs. Charles Bailey, Carmel; Florence, Mrs. James Maidment, Port Hope; Dorothy, Mrs. Ira Allhouse, Peterborough; Bernice, Mrs. Byron Seeley, Wellman's; and Hazel, Mrs. Gordon Perlow, Rawdon.

Mr. Dunham was an only child and Mrs. Dunham has one sister, Mrs. Rose Third, Campbellford; and three brothers, William Wallace, Toronto; Clayton Wallace, Burnbrae, and George Wallace, Campbellford.

They have 17 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

BEAUTIFULLY DECORATED

Their home was beautifully decorated with yellow and white streamers and bells for the anniversary celebration. The five daughters received the 90 guests, all of whom were relatives except six people who were neighbors.

Rev. R. R. Bonstead, pastor of Rawdon circuit, presided over a brief program, Carol Sealey and Ralph Dunham presented their grandparents with a dozen yellow roses in a silver basket on behalf of the small grandchildren.

The three great grandchildren, Trudy Bush, Judy Dunham and Elaine Warren, presented a guest book.

SEVERAL GIFTS

The married grandchildren chose a wall mirror for their gift, while the immediate family gave their parents a platform rocker and a rangette.

Several family pictures were taken during the presentations.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunham also received a number of individual gifts and dozens of congratulatory cards.

Mrs. James Pollock and her sister, Miss Fay Wallace, sang two songs.

Mrs. Jack Dunham and Miss Doris Dunham each read an appropriate greeting. Miss Shirley Dunham played two piano solos.

A decorated three-tier wedding cake graced the dining-room table and two neighbors, Mrs. Wanda Beckett and Mrs. Walter Draper, poured tea. The granddaughters served refreshments.

Marmora

MARMORA — The monthly meeting of the directors of Marmora Agricultural Society was held on Thursday evening at the home of the president, Carl Heath, with a fair attendance.

The field crop competition for 1954 was discussed but laid over until the next meeting, which will be held on April 1 at the home of Louis Hulsman.

The certificate of the Agricultural Service department was presented by the president to past-president John McAvoy for his work for the society over the years.

Mr. McAvoy thanked the directors for having submitted his name for the honor and the kindness that had been shown him during his term of office.

Future improvements to the grounds, including the painting of the barn and fence were discussed.

Prices will be submitted at the April meeting. It was decided to hold da dance in the town hall on Easter Monday with John McAvoy in charge of the committee making arrangements.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

STERLING - BRACEBRIDGE TONIGHT

What should be one of the better juvenile games seen in Memorial Arena this season takes place tonight when the Stirling Jaycee clash with the Bracebridge youngsters in the first game of their second-round OMHA Juvenile "C" playdowns. The Stirling youngsters face the severest test to date in their march down the playdown trail, and if they stop this series they will be in line for a crack at the OMHA provincial title.

We're all for Russ Fryer's kids. Not only would we like to see them win the battle, but we would be able to toss out the torso in justifiable pride (with backing from Doug Patterson) at the next OMHA annual and tell those "guys", Mike Weichel, Jack Christie, Herb Parker and the rest of the grand aggregation that we can raise champions down here in this "Lower Canada" neck of the woods.

Seriously, hockey fans should not miss this tilt. The youngsters play an excellent brand of hockey, that will surprise a lot of the seasoned railbirds. They play for keeps and you will get your money's worth, believe us.

A RYERSON "RAM"

Up around the Ryerson Institute of Technology, two things are synonymous in sports. Basketball — and Ed. McCloy.

The Ryersonians think a lot of this six-foot three centre who has spearheaded and sparked the school's senior "Rams" into one of the most-feared squads in intercollegiate intermediate basketball.

You won't blame "Red" Townsend for shoving out the chest a bit when he reads this, for McCloy was one of the shining lights on the BCI COSSA squad before he decided to go to "Tech."

Ed is a son of Mrs. H. McCloy of 179 John Street, and is a student in electronics at Ryerson. The "Ryersonian" school publication has a fine piece on Ed in a recent edition. It quotes Ed as being "the definite factor in leading the Rams to victory over such intercollegiate squads as Varsity, McMaster and Queen's. He is averaging about 21 points a game and is an excellent rebound man."

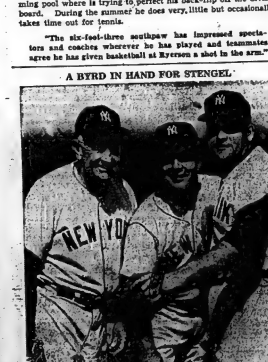
Ed with the family moved to Belleville when he was 14 years of age. He was born in Belfast, Ireland. He was a successful BCI team and, it says here, led his team to the COSSA championship in the 49-50 season.

Ed has a team-mate in Bill Gastle, formerly of Albert College, and who, if our memory is correct, starred on Peterboro's champion senior COSSA football squad a year ago.

However, here is what the Ryerson's sports writer has to say about him:

"Last year Ed was instrumental in seeing the Rye Rams from the Blackhall Tournament held in Orillia, as he hooped 33 points to pace Belleville. However, his team lost out to the Oshawa Grads in the final sudden death game.

Tinkering with radios, which Ed considered a hobby, brought Ed to Ryerson, after spending a year working with the Stewart-Warner Company in Belleville as a trouble shooter fixing radios. He heard of Ryerson through his uncle, H. Howard, a welding instructor in MIT.



Before moving to Belleville, Ed's favorite hobby was bridge climbing. His most noted achievement was the naming of the Deseronto viaduct with a friend. However, he abandoned the hobby after climbing the steel arches of this viaduct, which is noted for its suicide leaps, having climbed all the worthwhile ones around.

Although Ed cannot recall his greatest thrill in basketball, he has managed to score as high as 35 points in top-flight competition such as the Queen's Invitation Tournament.

"On Wednesday nights Ed can be found in the UTS swimming pool where is trying to perfect his back-flip off the diving board. During the summer he does very, little but occasionally takes time out for tennis.

"The six-foot-three southpaw has impressed sportscasters and coaches wherever he has played and teammates agree he has given basketball at Ryerson a shot in the arm."

A BYRD IN HAND FOR STENGEL

Casey Stengel (left), manager of the New York Yankees, knows he has no bush-leaguer in Harry Byrd (right), who is ready to show off his pitching form in St. Petersburg, Fla. Even Ed Lopat (centre), a veteran pitcher, appears hopeful that the newcomer, obtained in a trade with the Philadelphia Athletics, will help the Yanks in their quest for a sixth straight pennant and world championship.

Team 'No Sports Writer Loved' Emerges Favorite To Annex World's Hockey Championship

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Toronto East York, the team none of the sports writers loved, emerged today as local favorite to win the world hockey tournament in Canada after Monday night's convincing 8-0 victory over Sweden's defending champions.

The East York club, which endured blasts of withering criticism before the eight-team round-robin tournament began for their uninspirative showing in European exhibition games, won over a crowd of 10,000 fans headed by King Gustaf Adolf of Sweden and the Swedes as well with their showing of all-round superiority against the Swedes.

The Canadians, tied for first place with Czechoslovakia and Russia with three victories and no losses, drew a bye in today's schedule while the two chief rivals were pitted against each other in a battle for tournament leadership.

The Canadians outshone Sweden at both ends of the rink Monday.

TWO INJURED

Doug Chapman was carried off with a back injury midway through the first period after a collision with Bild Gustavsson of the Swedes and will be out for the remainder of the tournament.

In the second period Harold Flaherty re-injured an ailing knee and also left the game.

Moe Galand and Bob Kennedy led the East York scorers with two goals apiece. John Petro, Earl Clements, Eric Unger and Norm Gray accounted for the others.

The Czechs had an easy time subduing Poland 12-3 Monday but Moscow Dynamos had trouble with Germany, leading 3-2 only after a single goal after two periods before they pulled away for a 6-2 victory.

The Germans face Canada Wednesday while Norway is drawn against the Czechs and Russia opposes Sweden.

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Swedish newspapers made a complete turnabout today and ranked Canada as top contender for the world hockey title after the Canadian representatives had blanked Sweden 8-0.

During Toronto East York's warm-up trip before the tournament began the Swedish papers gave them virtually no chance to win any medals. But today a unanimous Stockholm press struck a couple of team captains praised the Yorks and especially goalie Don Lockhart.

"Swedish ice hockey suffered its biggest defeat in modern times against a team which was enormously superior in everything," the Canadians played better, skated better, shot better," said the Daily Morgon-Tidningen.

OUT OF RUNNING

"Sweden has no chance—at the end of the match we were even grateful when Lockhart was permitted to borrow the puck for a while," said Svenska Dagbladet, adding:

"No team will be able to drive Canada from the top of the table."

"The difference between Sweden and Canada was that one team had a defence and the other lacked it," commented Czechoslovakia's star and team captain, Vladimir Zabrodsky.

Sweden's captain, Plutten Andersson, said "in all my life I've never played against a team with such phenomenons."

That was Lockhart, formerly on Toronto Maple Leafs' list and who played with Kitchener with Sydney Sonalires in the Maritime Major League before switching to the Yorks at the start of the OHA Senior A this season. He joined the Yorks as a reinforcement before the tournament started.

The papers generally referred to him as one of the best goalies ever seen in Sweden.

Training Camp Notes

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — A first-class fastball for the second year is shaping up here at Milwaukee Braves' training camp.

Manager Charley Dressen of the Braves gave Pittsburgh Pirates an estimated $100,000 and six players, including the 1952 last year's regular, Jack Dittmer, and running second at the moment, Dittmer has been named to the regulars and O'Connell to the Yanaigans for today's opening intrasquad game.

Shortstop Johnny Logan, working with both men, added that O'Connell "learns fast and should develop into a high class second-baseman, but he'll have to work hard to be as good as Dittmer."

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies Monday signed shortstop-second baseman Granny Hamner for a reported $25,000 completing the 41-player roster of the National League club.

Hamner, who last season at shortstop but was switched to second base to make a big gap in the Phillies' infield defences. He may return to shortstop this season if Ted Kazanski is drafted.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Pitcher Early Wynn agreed Monday to his 1954 contract terms with Cleveland Indians.

The signing of Wynn leaves only Catcher Jim Hegan and outfielder Bobby Prentice, a native of Tucson, still outside the Cleveland fold.

Wynn won 17 and lost 12 last season.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Manager Eddie Stanky has tabbed Ray Jablonski as first baseman in particular third-baseman again this season.

Stanky's vote of confidence for Jablonski, a rookie last season, followed the trade of Chuck Shortstop Solly Hemus might shift to third to make way for Rookie Bobby the Cards' $100,000 rookie shortstop. But Stanky indicated Hemus and Grammas will have to fight it out for the shortstop spot with the loser moving to the bench.

Alberta, Two Ontario Rinks, Lead Country's Curling Pack In Canadian Championship

By JACK SNEPPER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Two rinks from eastern Canada and one from the west—all masters of the draw-to-the-button game—have emerged at the top after the first two rounds of the Canadian curling championships.

Ontario, represented by the Ross Tarlton rink from Hamilton; northern Ontario's Don Groom foursome from Sudbury, and Alberta's Matt Baldwin rink from Edmonton, were undefeated at the end of two games each Monday night.

The two eastern rinks were cast in the roles of giant-killers in the opening round. Groom polished off British Columbia, skipped by E. C. (Bung) Cartmell of Vancouver, 17-6 and Tarlton defeated Manitoba's Jimmy Welsh 15-7.

Baldwin edged the Campbell brothers of Avonlea, the Saskatchewan representatives, 13-10 in the first round, and crushed the Reg Pierce rink from Halifax 23-4 in the second round Monday night.

EASY VICTORY

Groom was matched against the R. J. Kent rink from St. John's Nfld., in the second draw and won handily, 14-3. Tarlton had to fight all the way to edge Jim Ursel's rink in the second round over Dr. W. L. MacDonald of Charlottetown, 9-8.

Remember When

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens cooled off Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings with a 3-0 victory at Montreal 25 years ago tonight, but the Bruins' stopover was long. They won their first Stanley Cup that spring by defeating the New York Rangers straight with a squad that included such stalwarts as Tiny Thompson, Eddie Shore, Lionel Hitchman, Frank Fredrickson, Dutch Gainor, Charlie Cooney Weiland and Cy Denneny.

Bill Carson defeated Bill Campbell, defeated New Brunswick's R. T. McCully rink from Moncton 14-7 in one of the best games of the night draw.

McCully was given a bye in the first round and British Columbia drew the bye in the second round.

In the first round, Dr. MacDonald defeated Newfoundland 15-1 and Manitoba edged Nova Scotia 13-11.

Grouped behind Ontario, northern Ontario and Alberta with one win and one loss each were: British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island. Newfoundland and Nova Scotia suffered two straight defeats. New Brunswick and British Columbia have played only one game apiece because of the byes—and both lost.

Baldwin gave a brilliant display of the draw game in chalking up his two victories. The Campbell brothers made a fight of it down to the last rock when, with Alberta leading 13-9, they chipped in for one on their last rock.

Nova Scotia made a game try at stopping Baldwin but were thoroughly outclassed.

PLAY BACKFIRED

Cartmell's British Columbia rink started with a knockout game against northern Ontario in the first round but it backfired when Groom continued to draw into the house, refusing Cartmell's style. Groom went for the knockout style against Welsh and never played to get going.

Today's morning draw will throw Nova Scotia against New Brunswick; Prince Edward Island against Quebec; northern Ontario against Quebec; Manitoba against British Columbia, and Alberta against Manitoba.

In the afternoon draw: Ontario plays British Columbia; Alberta plays Prince Edward Island; New Brunswick meets Manitoba; Nova Scotia plays Saskatchewan, and northern Ontario meets Quebec.

Swiss Gal Forgets Pal, Wins Title

ARE, Sweden (AP) — Switzerland's Lita Schoepfer got marriage off her mind Monday for a couple of minutes and dashed down the slalom mountain to score an upset victory in the women's ladies downhill ski championship.

The 24-year-old brunette snatched the prize from an eager and disappointed squad of Austrians. Her time was an impressive 1:32.3—fast enough to edge in front just barely enough to edge in front of Trude Klecker of Austria, whose time was 1:32.5 and Lucienne Schmidt of France, whose time was 1:32.8.

Jeanette Burr of the United States was fourth with 1:33.0.

Twenty for Miss Schoepfer, who will marry a Swiss soldier guardsman in the spring was another setback for the Austrians—the most unhappy folks in Are. Sunday they pocketed their Toni Spiss or Christian Pravda to win the men's downhill. Norway's Stein Eriksen took the title.

Ted Williams Says He'll Fool Doctors, And Appear on Opening-Day Lineup

By JOE REICHLER

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Ted Williams vowed today that he'll fool the doctors who gloomily predict that the Boston Red Sox slugging star will miss the baseball season's opener because of a fractured collar bone.

"Don't bet against my playing in the first game of the season," Williams advised. "I'll be ready. I'll get over this sooner than they think. I've fooled the doctors before and I'll fool 'em again."

The star 35-year-old outfielder, who astounded the baseball world by hammering .407 in 37 games after his discharge from the services last year, broke his collar bone in the dash Pvt. Russell R. Sullivan, chief surgeon of the orthopaedic division of Boston City Hospital, who set the fracture and placed the injured left shoulder in a cast, is not so optimistic.

"It was a clean break and x-rays show a quite satisfactory position," he said. "But Ted must be in the cast at least three weeks and cannot swing a bat for about six weeks. It is highly doubtful he'll be ready for the season opener."

The Red Sox open their season at Philadelphia April 13, six weeks from today. It is estimated that Williams will need at least two weeks of batting practice and conditioning after his recovery before he can play in a regular game.

The injury occurred less than an hour after he arrived for his first spring workout of the season. He had been slugging flies in his customary left-field position for 18 minutes when he raced into left centre for a sinking liner from Hoot Evers. The ball struck Sandy and Williams, realizing he couldn't catch up with it, tried to stop. He stumbled, and landed heavily on his left shoulder.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Not long ago there was a junior hockey game in which the player was rough and vicious that the referee himself was knocked down. It is inevitable that someone would get hurt or even killed if the game continued. The referee stopped it. This happened in an organized league.

This shocking incident has an alarming significance. In the past year, junior hockey was beset by many scenes of violence and assaults on visiting players. According to the reports, there have been charges, counter-charges and court cases.

By no stretch of the imagination can all this be considered part and parcel of good sportsmanship. But such a sad state of affairs could hardly have developed except where officials and coaches encouraged it in all the other sports, copy emplee Youngsters in hockey, as in all the other sports, copy their elders. They trust the judgment of their coaches and leaders. They look to him for advice.

Club leaders should recognize that they have a sacred responsibility—Young Canada. We do not want to be a ruffian with no respect for the established rules of conduct, no respect for law, no respect for constituted authority and no regard for good sportsmanship.

In the light of those incidents of rough play none may wonder just what Canada's junior hockey players are being taught, by instruction and by example. If, as one must suspect, they are learning the dubious arts of thuggery, violence and foul language, then the outlook for major hockey of the future is a sorry one indeed.

But there is another, vastly more disturbing aspect to the matter: this kind of conduct is liable to be copied by generation after generation of amateurs and professionals. It is destined to follow unerringly in the footsteps of its synthetic heroes and to be a source of trouble and disasters to Canadian sportsmanship as a whole.

What major hockey players perpetrate in the way of mayhem and discord is unseemly enough, but it is not to be compared as the sheer cowardism that is becoming more and more prevalent among the juniors. Senior players are already set on their careers. But the juniors are just being launched on what amounts to a pattern of life. Unless many of the reported incidents in Canada's junior hockey are exaggerated, it's going to be a pretty sorry pattern.

The juniors are at the turning point of their lives as future athletes and as future citizens. With the wrong kind of leadership, they could easily go the wrong way. If there are, within ship, they could easily go the wrong way. If there are, within the junior ranks, those who would teach tough tactics under the junior ranks, those who would teach tough tactics under that guise of sportsmanship, they should be weeded out—but fast. than good sportsmanship, they should be weeded out—but fast.

Charles Replaces Nino Valdes As Top Contender

NEW YORK (AP) — Ezzard Charles has replaced Cuba's Nino Valdes as the No. 1 heavyweight contender, Willie Pep has dropped to the bottom of the featherweight rankings, and Eddie Chavez has taken over the No. 1 position among the lightweights in the boxing world.

These were among the major changes made in the March Ring Magazine ratings, released today by editor Nat Fleischer.

Valdes lost his top ranking because of his close decision over unranked Archie McBride in a Havana bout. The big Cuban dropped to second behind the former heavyweight champion, who gets another crack at the heavyweight crown June 17 when he meets Rocky Marciano.

Pep, twice holder of the featherweight crown, fell all the way from No. 1 to 10th as a result of being stopped in two rounds by 20-year-old Lulu Perez, a Cuban discovered from fifth to third.

Wallace (Bud) Smith, the Cincinnati southpaw who was the No. 1 lightweight challenger, fell to third behind the champion and loser in welterweight Joe Miceli.

Johnny Bratton also got the ax. The Chicago welterweight, drubbed by Johnny Saxton, plummeted from second to 10th among the 147-pounders.

Earl Walls of Edmonton and Windsor, Ont., and Armand Savoie of Montreal are the only Canadians rated in their divisions. Walls retains seventh position among the middleweights. Savoie is ninth in the lightweight division.

Pt. Anne Hands Cobourg Team First Defeat

The Point Anne Cementmen, group leaders of the Trent Valley Hockey League, southern division, travelled to Cobourg on Monday evening and there met and defeated the Cobourg Merchants by a 9-8 score, in an exhibition game.

The score was knotted at 2-2 at the end of the second period but then play opened up and the Cementmen roared in to bang five goals past Jones in the Cobourg net and hand the Merchants their first defeat of the year.

Pat Gilmore gave the winners a one-goal lead in the first minute of play when he broke from centre ice to score and it remained that way until the second stanza when the home crew outscored the visitors 2-1 to tie the count.

The final period saw the Ontarioites go out front by one goal on two occasions before they could hold the lead and add three more to make the score read 7-4. Cobourg then got one back only to watch the Pointers add the last two goals. Cobourg scored the last goal of the game with the 19.40 mark.

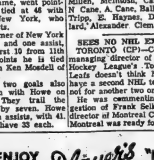
Playing coach Tim Williams had three of the winners goals with Bill Mundell getting two. Pat Glimour had one goal and two assists while Ernie Hayres had a trio of helpers. Bob Hunter claimed one and one while Leo Goyer was the only player to register the other two goals went to Jacklin and Casey. Jacklin was played one of the best games he has played this year in the twine.

Casey was penalized in a losing cause with four of the Merchants goals while Ed Haynes and MacIntosh claimed the others.

Referees D. Cane and R. Cane handed out nine penalties in each period with Point Anne getting three and the visitors five.

The teams:

Point Anne: Toye, P. Marsale, P. Green, S. Mulholland, F. Gilmour, G. Jacklin, Hunter, Strachan, Williams, Goyer (C), Gilmore, Stewart, Bradshaw.



Cobourg Merchants: Jones, Mc-Millen, McCabe, Casey, Wilcox, N. Cane, A. Cane, Ball, D. Haynes, Pringle, E. Haynes, Chalmers, Pollard, Alexander Clemens.

SEES NO NHL EXPANSION

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe, managing director of the National Hockey League's Toronto Maple Leafs, doesn't think Montreal will have a second NHL team—at least not for another two or three years. He was commenting on a suggestion of Frank Selke, managing director of Montreal Canadiens that a Montreal was ready for further representation in the six-team NHL.

Smythe was quoted in a telephone interview from Florida as saying: "One or two American teams now are having difficulties getting enough players. I don't think there are enough players or NHL calibre around to provide for a seventh team at the present time."

'Thar's Gold In Them Heels', And Fat Rolls of NHL Money. Await Victors of Close Races

MONTREAL (CP) — Regardless of the post-season Stanley Cup series, a rich harvest of dollars in itself, fat rolls of money are still without owners as the National Hockey League heads swing into a three-week stretch drive 'of the regular schedule.

Even considering first place to Detroit Red Wings before they clinch it mathematically there are at least three razzle-dazzle races within a race. Collectively they might not be decided until the last day of the schedule.

Curtsey Harry Sawchuk of Detroit and Harry Lumley of Toronto Maple Leafs are in a real tight battle for goal-tending honors that $1,000 is hanging on decision. Fractions, if necessary, will get nothing.

The Leafs and Montreal Canadiens at the moment are tied for second place although the Leafs have a game in hand. The second-place club gets $6,000; the third-place finisher $4,000.

With a game in hand over New York Rangers, Boston Bruins are hanging to fourth place by one point. If they can stay there the Bruins will divvy up $2,700. If the Rangers fake it, the Bruins not only can kiss the $2,700 goodbye but will be shut out of the playoffs and the money they might earn therein.

PLAYERS DECIDE

Assuming Detroit nails down first place, the Red Wings will collect a pot of $18,000.

The NHL hands out the scales to downward money awards to the first four clubs in units of 18. Usually more than 18 participants on each club and the players decide on the division.

The Red Wings' Gordie Howe is also on the verge of winning his fourth consecutive point scoring title. That would give him $1,000, Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal, now 10 points behind Howe, will get $500 if he finishes second.

The league-leading Red Wings have rolled up 79 points, 19 more than Toronto and Montreal, and have 10 games to go.

Boston Bruins played only a single game, but it was all-important because they snuffed out Rangers 6-5. The New Yorkers had one win in three outings, the same as the lowly Chicago Black Hawks.

HOWE BOOSTED TOTAL

Gordie Howe, with a goal and two assists, boosted his total points to 68. Richard, with only a goal, has 58. Ted Lindsay of the Red Wings with three assists, maintained his third-place position with 56 points.

Simcoe Blanks Stamford 3-0 In Senior B

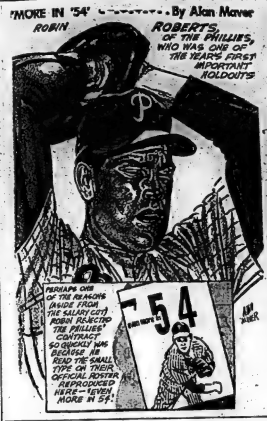
NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Three members of the Stamford Kerrios hockey team were reported slightly hurt Monday night when the chartered bus bringing the team home from a game at Simcoe skidded into a ditch near Dunnville, Ont., and overturned. Stamford 3-0 in the opener of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior B best-of-seven semi-final series.

The team and its supporters, 33 persons in all, faced the hazards of a snowstorm and slippery roads on the Hamilton-Niagara Falls highway.



The bus driver telephoned to Niagara Falls for a rescue bus to take the passengers the rest of the way.

Red Kelly, picked up a couple of assists and took over fourth place with 48 points. Terrie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of Montreal, playing only nine games, went pointless and now is tied at 48 with Paul Ronty of New York, who counted two assists.

Wally Hergesheimer of New York scoring two goals and one assist moved into the first 10 from 11th place. With 43 points he is tied for ninth spot with Ken Mosdell of Montreal.

Hergesheimer's two goals also brought him even with Howe on total goals—27. They trail the leader, Richard, by seven. Howe is well in front on assists, with 41. Kelly and Ronty have 33 each.

Mercs Take 2nd Game From Maroons Tigers Even Series With Dutchies

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Owen Sound Mercurys, who wound up the regular schedule in top spot, now are leading the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group playoffs.

Monday night they took their second victory in as many games with Chatham Maroons by whipping Maroons 9-5 at Owen Sound.

Chatham has, so far, made the poorest showing in the playoffs.

In the series B best-of-five quarter-final, Hamilton Tigers edged Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 3-2 to tie that round 1-1 in games.

Stratford Indians and Windsor Bulldogs, idle Monday night, also are tied 1-1 in their series C round.

Winners of the series B and series C rounds will meet in semi-final play with the survivors meeting the winners of the Owen Sound-Chatham series for the league crown.

At Owen Sound, 1,500 fans saw Maroons hold the homestowers to a 2-2 deadlock in the first period before Mercurys took a 5-2 lead in the second.

Bill Hagen and Joe McArthur each scored a pair for Mercurys and others went to Doug Gillespie, Bill McComb, Buck Forsiund and Harry Kazarias and Herbie Carnegie.

GET YOUR GOAL

Rightwinger Jerry Connelly got four goals to pace Chatham. He also assisted on the fifth goal scored by Paul Oliver.

Hamilton took a 5-0 lead in the first period on goals by am Kennedy and Gordon McGinn. Only goal of the second period was scored by Charley Brooker of Kitchener.

Bill Harrington got the third goal for Tigers and Doug Verity scored for Kitchener just before the game ended.

Tonight, Stratford and Windsor will continue their series with a game at Windsor.

In the semi-final round, Owen Sound will travel to Chatham Wednesday and Hamilton will play at Kitchener Thursday.

Quebec League Will Probe Game Television

MONTREAL (CP)—A meeting of the Quebec Hockey League Monday night appointed a three-man committee to investigate claims by Rollie Hebert, coach of the league-leading Chicoutimi Saguenens, that televising of games at Montreal Forum is unfair to visiting teams.

Hebert raised the objection last week and said telecasts at the Forum, home of Montreal Royals, cut attendance and reduced revenue of visiting clubs.

Hebert was not at the outset meeting. The meeting decided to take up the problem again after the investigating committee held a conference with Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League.

Hebert last week was reported to have threatened not to bring his team in Montreal after last Sunday because the game would be televised. The Saguenens refused to play however, going down 4-1 before a crowd of 10,000—the season's best.

Hap Day Blames Position On Stupid Penalties

TORONTO (CP)—Assistant manager Hap Day gives these reasons why Toronto Maple Leafs haven't broken their second-place tie with Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League:

"Too many stupid penalties and too few shots on goal."

Returning from Chicago where the Leafs were defeated 3-1 by the last-place Black Hawks, Day said an example of a "stupid penalty" was the high-sticking minor given George Armstrong in Sunday night's game.

"Armstrong had the guy stopped, then up went his stick and off he went.

"I can't take exception to the refereeing when half the penalties we get are stupid ones on our part."

Both he and coach King Clancy have been after players to shoot on the net at every opportunity.

"They don't. For every goal scored I don't know how many are missed because we're not trying to make a production out of it. High-goal scorers, such as Rocket Richard, shoot every chance they get. Centre Ted Sloan and defenceman Jim Thomson are our best offensive men—it's so long since Thomson scored a goal I don't remember, but all the Leafs are bad enough."

Thomson's last goal was in March, 1953, when he shot into an empty net against New York Rangers.

Kelly Wins Over Mowatt

HAMILTON (CP)—John Kelly, 190-pounder from Niagara Falls, Ont., Monday night won a five-round decision over Les Mowatt, 200 pounds, of Toronto in the feature bout of an amateur boxing card.

Other bouts were three rounders.

Harold Whitney, Hamilton, 135 pounds, earned a decision over Lionel, Niagara Falls, 135, fought to a draw.

Red Sullivan Has Big Lead In American League

NEW YORK (AP) — George (Red) Sullivan, Hershey Bears' heads into the home stretch today in his bid for the American Hockey League scoring championship.

The 25-year-old centre enjoys a big edge over the rest of the field with only three weeks remaining. Sullivan has a total of 90 points on 26 goals and 73 assists. He tops the league in the latter department.

Gaye Stewart of Buffalo Bisons is second with 77 points. Pete Conway, Cal Gardner and Ed Slowinski of Buffalo Bisons are tied for goal scoring with 35 each.

Jacques Plante of Buffalo, recently recalled by the parent Montreal Canadiens, still leads the goalies with a 2.69 goals-against average. Emile Francis of Cleveland is tops in shutouts with four.

District Governor Tells Lions Of Value of Club Associations

CAMPBELLFORD — Two most important subjects were discussed here on Wednesday evening as the Campbellford Lions' Club and their guests entertained Vic. Frederick, Governor of District A3.

The first portion of the governor's speech was in answer to the question, "Why Have Service Clubs?" There are three great international clubs, Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis, the former being the largest with half a million members. These combined membership throughout the world is one and one quarter million.

Their growth fills an important place in the social, economic and moral life of an individual and a community. Welfare work is their chief object, but attendance and good fellowship of periodic meetings bring their dividends in the individuals and health, happiness and prosperity to the community. Internationally, Lionism has broken paths of goodwill between the countries of the world making over which ambassadors of understanding and peace may travel to bring international relationship into closer harmony.

LOCAL ACTIVITY

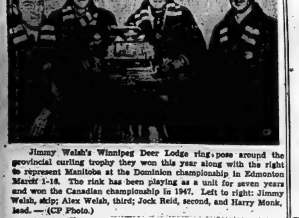
In the local field, Lionism has embraced many commendable projects, the success of those undertaken in District A3 (from Alsa to Brockville and eastward to Hawkesbury) include, swimming pools, baseball leagues, hockey, hoping the needy, safety driving schools, public speaking, T.B. seal campaigns, assisting hospitals, safety patrols, summer camps, sponsoring Boy Scout troops etc. Civic improvement projects by the thousands have been undertaken in various places; this category alone is a major job.



Opportunities for service and self-development are unlimited. It has been said that success is 75 per cent technical training and 85 per cent personality. The ability to lead and arouse enthusiasm is the greatest education and reaps the highest reward in human endeavour. The ability to get along with others is the greatest asset a man can have.

Lionism supplies this to a great degree. It creates a new interest for each member and encourages him in the development of his talents.

REAP BENEFITS

A member is encouraged to think of others and to give his ability that he may reap all the benefits, primary among which are the building of character and the realization of

Barbole Verdicts Sudbury Boxer

TORONTO (CP)—Willie Barbole of Toronto scored a unanimous decision Monday night over Jorma Ahopelto of Sudbury, in the five-round, 140-pound main bout of an all-professional show.

In the semi-final, Jerry Durette of Toronto, 140 pounds, earned the nod over Harry Orphanidis of Sudbury, who was down for an eight count in the fifth round.

Johnny La Chapelle of Cobourg took such a lacing from Toronto's Bob McCusker in 47 seconds of the first round of a 145-pound preliminary go that he turned his back on his opponent and walked out of the ring.

Other preliminary results: 158 lb.—Harry Lynds, Sudbury, scored TKO over Louis Simon, Toronto, 33 seconds of fourth round.

135 lbs.—Clayton Smoke, Cobourg, won a decision over Hallsey Allison of Toronto, three rounds.

150 lb.—George Nickerson, Toronto, scored decision over Howard Gould, Cobourg, three rounds.

115 lb.—Dick Goulette, Sudbury, won decision over Ed Wareham, Toronto, three rounds.

a spirit of tolerance and understanding. It is notable that the Lions' club of the Phillipine Islands sponsored the first club in Tokyo a short decade after the Japanese had ravaged the island.

To the individual, Lions' Club work offers a development of personality and latent ability. The holding of others assists him to hang the right sort of picture in his mental gallery gives him aims and objects which he can be proud to use as a yardstick of character. In short, it gives him the opportunity to become the person he would like to be.

The district governor was introduced by "Bruce Wallace and thanked by Bill Allen and president Vern Rose.

MUSICAL NUMBERS

The banquet was served by the ladies of the Rebekah Lodge and several musical numbers by Don Ferguson contributed to the enjoyment of the evening.

Lion President, Vern Rose, thanked the Rebekah ladies for their service. He called on Dr. Atkinson, president of the Norwood Club, and P. R. Dennis, representing the Kinsmen Club, for a few remarks.

It was reported by the health and welfare committee that glasses had been purchased for two school children and that eyesight testing for relief for a needy family.

The agricultural committee, in conjunction with R. C. Banbury, agricultural representative, reported that there is a tractor club being organized for boys from 14 to 21 years of age.

Mr. Banbury offered every assistance to Lion Nicholas and his committee.

Pete Wilson reported on the bingo.

The Kibitzer

Skillful bridge players learn to surmount obstacles. Many are the difficult play problems they overcome. Not even a bad division of outstanding trumps can make them give up.

There was the deal you see here:

| | NORTH | |
|---|---|---|
| | ♠A 5 | |
| | ♥A J 9 | |
| | ♦A 6 4 3 | |
| | ♣8 7 5 4 | |
| WEST | | EAST |
| ♠9 | | ♠J 8 7 3 |
| ♥K J 92 | | ♥7 5 4 |
| ♦Q J 10 5 2 | | ♦9 8 7 |
| ♣K Q | | ♣J 10 9 |
| | SOUTH | |
| | ♠K Q 10 6 4 2 | |
| | ♥5 6 3 | |
| | ♦K | |
| | ♣5 3 2 | |

The players bid like this:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | 1 D | Dbl | All Pass |
| 4 S | Dbl | All Pass | |

The double by north was for takeout. It told of a hand that was as good as an opening one bid. If ordered south to bid something if east did not intervene with a bid. South complied.

South might have taken it a little slower, perhaps. Maybe not a first jump to three spades. This would keep the bidding alive and more information might be had from north in the meantime.

But south had his head made up to go to game and decided not to dilly-dally. Furthermore, his unusual jump impressed north with the fact that south could jolly well take care of his own trumps.

If north had anything like what the takeout double promised, a good chance for game in spades was there. At any rate, south thought there should be a play for game in his suit.

Of course, he ran into a bad outstanding trump division. This is always considered possible. But there is always the hope that it will not happen in the wrong hand or at the wrong time.

Declarer did not discover the bad trump split until it was too late to finesse. At west two three club tricks fast before leading a diamond. So, the trump situation was a sad worry.

South cashed two trump tricks with ace and queen before seeing how the trumps were. But he made the contract anyway. You do it.

Corriveau Clings To Lead In Quebec League

MONTREAL (CP)—Little Andre Corriveau of Valleyfield Braves is still clinging to the lead in the Quebec Hockey League scoring race but he is being pressed by Howard (Rip) Riopelle and Leo Gravelle of Ottawa Senators.

Corriveau picked up three assists last week, boosting his scoring total to 78 points on 34 goals and 44 assists. Riopelle kept pace only one point behind with 36 goals and 41 assists for 77 points. The Ottawa star's assists total is the best in the league.

Gravelle, the loop's top goaltender with 31 wins to his credit, Corriveau with 75 points, only three off the pace.

Skipper Burchell of Montreal Royals holds down fourth place with 70 points on 31 goals and 39 assists. He is followed by Jimmy Moore of Chicoutimi with 62 goals and 64 assists for 69 points.

Bob Perreault of Montreal took over from Ray Frederick of Ottawa as the league's leading goalie by a fraction of a percentage point. Perreault has an average of 2.780 to 2.782 for Frederick.

Rep Gosselin of Ottawa is the most penalized player with 146 minutes. The Senators also are the league penalty leaders with 728 minutes in the box.

IRISH LIZARD STILL 10-1

LONDON (AP)—Irish Lizard remained a firm 10-to-1 favorite for the March 27 Grand National Steeplechase at a betting call-over in the British pool Monday as long day but third favorite Queen's Taste dived sharply from 100-to-8 to 33-to-1.

Bookies heightened the price of Queen's Taste after the horse's poor showing in the 3½-mile Grand National Trial Stake at Gatwick's Bridge Saturday. Queen's Taste was a fine jumper behind when pulled up three fences from the finish.

Betting odds of Clearing and Whispering Steel also slumped following their second-place finish Saturday. Clearing finished out of the money in a three-mile steeplechase at Worcester and Whispering Steel threw his jockey in a Hampton Park race. Both were 8-to-1 picks at last Monday's call-over. They are now second and third in list that included 40-to-1 choices.

Coneyburrow held to his second favorite place at 11-to-1 and Irish trained Royal Tan was steady at 20-to-1. Mont Tremblant went from 21-to-1 to 33-to-1.

'Martin Luther' The Most Widely Discussed Film of Year

"Martin Luther," a full-length feature film with a running time of 103 minutes now showing at the Belle Theatre, was produced by Louis de Rochemont Associates in co-operation with Lutheran Church Productions, Inc., on location in the world famous cities of Germany. West Germany. It is the story of the work of a man, Martin Luther, his efforts for reform, his excommunication, and the developments that led to the origin and the growth of the Protestant Movement. Careful research of Europe and America, loan documents of Roman Catholic and Protestant writers formed the basis for the script. Much of the dialogue was culled from historic documents. For dramatic structure and purpose, dialogue, sermon material, and a few characters in this authentic story were blended.

Fear of sin and God's judgment struck terror in Martin Luther's heart. So, like many others in the 16th century, the young law student in Erfurt, Germany, sought shelter in a monastery. As an Augustinian monk, Luther tried to find peace of mind and soul through asceticism, mortification and prayer. But he soon came to the conclusion that, no matter what he did, he was not able to escape the fear of evil and punishment.

One day in the monastery in Wittenberg University, he found his answer and he says, "It was like the gates of heaven opened to me." Reading St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans 1:17, he came to the conclusion: "A man can't earn salvation by what he does through faith in Christ, through faith God has done for man through Christ Jesus."

So Luther fought against the sale of indulgences, letters of pardon from punishment of sin—which the Pope, Leo X, used to raise money for his building program in Rome. He demanded that the church of his day be cleansed of its evil abuses and that the authority for doctrine and practice be Scripture rather than Popes or councils. By tearing up the abuse of indulgences for debate, he nailed 95 theses to the door of the castle church and the Roman Catholic Church and the Reformation began.

Labelled a heretic, Luther was excommunicated by Pope Leo X in 1520 and condemned by Emperor Charles V. He was declared an outlaw by Frederick of Saxony and spent his years of banishment teaching and preaching, writing a catechism for use by family and pastor, and by translating the Bible into the language of the people. Luther did not die at the stake like his many followers from Hus and Savonarola.

Instead he lived on to see the birth of many of his theologians reject Charles V's demand that they abandon their teaching and make peace with Church and Empire. Luther's beliefs found expression in their Augsburg Confession of Faith. And his demand for reform, rejected by the world, gave the world new birth to an evangelical movement that quickly spread throughout the world. The world will see Niall MacGinnis, distinguished British veteran of the stage and screen in London, plays the title role in "Martin Luther." Irving Pichel of Hollywood, who has his credit such films as "The Moon Is Down," "Treasure Island," and "Miracle of the Bells," directed and plays one of the key roles in "Martin Luther." In "Martin Luther," is showing today at the Belle Theatre, Picton, on the balance of the week. Matinee daily.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Egyptian" may rank as Hollywood's headache picture of the year. It has been just as much trouble casting the props as it has the leading man.

Marlon Brando left for New York as filming was about to start Twentieth Century - Fox charged breach of contract and sued him for $2,000,000. Brando's action, however, said he was ill.

Now, it turns out that "The Egyptian" is one of the toughest pictures in years from the scenic standpoint, too.

"We had to start from scratch" said Walter Scott, head of the studio's prop department. "Pictures we've already had four men like Cecil B. Demille over here to see what they can use in The 10 Commandments."

MASTERS OF MAKEUP

Those ancient Egyptians were masters of makeup, centuries of research. He demonstrated a replica of a queen's makeup—but it would make Mae West look green with envy.

Research for "The Egyptian" has uncovered some odd facts about the 1300 B.C. era, including:

Egyptian men were baby sitters.

Affection was shown in early times by placing the nose in close proximity and sniffing. Later the kiss replaced this nasal caressing.

Egyptians quaffed beer made of barley. Since they didn't have hops, they used the lupin, silver herb and an Assyrian root for flavor.

SHEATH GOWN POPULAR

Today's sheath gown was popular then, but with a difference. While the Egyptian woman, it hung from below the bosom to the ankles.

Both sexes shaved their heads for reasons of religion, hygiene and pest plain heat. Hence the wigs.

Jewelry was also popular in the days of Moses and Savonarola.

Instead he lived on to see the birth of many of his theologians reject Charles V's demand that they abandon their teaching and make peace with Church and Empire. Luther's beliefs found expression in their Augsburg Confession of Faith. And his demand for reform, rejected by the world, gave the world new birth to an evangelical movement that quickly spread throughout the world. The world will see

"JENNIFER"

Drama soars to great heights in "Jennifer," mystery thriller which opened yesterday at the Capitol theatre with Ida Lupino and Howard Duff starred.

The film which stirred critical acclaim when shown to the film industry press drew excited response from the audience which saw it the first evening.

Miss Lupino, whose acting ability has kept her high on the roster of Hollywood's great actresses in a performance rated as one of the best of her career.

She portrays a young girl who helps solve the strange circumstances of a maiden Indiana family's fanned seaside resort of Santa Barbara.

Duff, who is accused by Miss Lupino of murdering the heiress, is excellent. Others in the talented cast include Robert Nichols, Mary Shipp, Ned Glass and Matt Dennis.

For filming reasons of the key scenes, one of the large estates at the millionaire's colony of Montecito, adjacent to Santa Barbara, was used.

"TIMES GONE BY"

Then the same progress "Times Gone By" is a perfect blend of story, sentiment and sophistication in the continental manner. Gina Lollobrigida and Vittorio Desica have starring roles in the loves and morals of "Times Gone By" which opens at Picton today, dialogue with English titles.

Additional selected to perform 18 years of age or over.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your Friday comes and find what your book is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, MAR. 3, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A minor upset involving property or business activities possible. Be forewarned. Protect your interests. A family. Some gains possible in matters where astuteness was used at the outset.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — A surprise in personal matters may irritate if you let it. Do not take risks which could interfere with regular work and domestic happiness. Analyze all news thoughtfully.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Avoid unnecessary and time-wasting travel, jaunts from the scene of strife, home. Curb rebellious-ness. Everyone should heed this now.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Apparent misfortune may turn out to be a blessing in disguise, an occurrence by which to profit. Study well before making decisions. Outside assistance may come in a strange form or manner. Be alert.

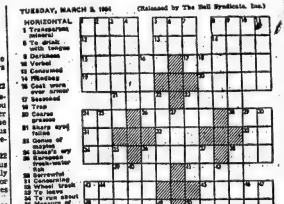
July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Today could be a red-letter one for you keen observers of others' needs, desires. An element of change is in the air. It can be for good or otherwise; it's up to you to make it worth while.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Sudden new and unexpected events may cause strain if you are not strong and firm in holding on to your principles. Adjust to your usual intelligent manner.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Be cautious in financial and hasty decisions. Study first. Some exciting (maybe domestic) news that could mean happiness.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Keep those nose of routine ideas under cover till you survey the outlook and consider possible reactions. Aspects advise calm, deliberate judgment, plus keen analysis, for 100 per cent results.

November 22 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Be more cautious with property, money, family assets. Don't go to extremes or waste precious time. Pursue duties wisely and well.



December 22 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Aspects may be partly unfavorable but they could also inspire you to use better methods. Summarize events carefully. Be aware that other smart folks are striving for the same things you are.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Whatever your schedule and your opinions, make moderation your watchword. Think deeply, calmly; spend wisely, and keep promises. Don't overlook the seemingly unimportant.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Planetary positions warn against indulging in fancied wrongs or looking for opponents. Most trouble is self made.

YOU BORN TODAY are idealistic, philosophical; should be fond of beautiful things, travel, art. Somewhat retiring and less aggressive than many you can, nevertheless, do a top job when aroused and really interested. You may need the association of more aggressive individuals to push you forward. Your nature is somewhat contradictory. You are sympathetic and affectionate, but at times can

SPRING WILL HAVE SPRUNG

By the time you move into one of these homes it will be all settled for happy living.

RANCH STYLE HOME

In east end where you want to be and have an excellent three bedroom ranch style home. Hardwood floors. Oil heated. Just bursing fireplace in the living room. Attractive kitchen with the spacious kitchen that has plenty of cupboards and counter space. Tiled bath with shower. Tiled floors and walls done with tile. We did not have five of them. Now there's only one. Four happy buyers are preparing to move in. Why not you be the fifth satisfied customer? Full price considered at a full price of $17,700.

ONLY THREE SPRINGS

Years ago, rather than refer to this as being "so many years of age," it was customary to compare one's age to so many springs. How many — how has been the question. Well, more than we care to say seeing the young, sturdy, modern three-bedroom brick bungalow we have for sale. A real buy that will be a joy to live in for many happy years.

Situated on Blvd., near Victoria Park Public School and Shopping. Lovely living room done in plywoods. Good size kitchen. Tiled bath with shower. Hedges for basement. Oil furnace. Full price considered at $13,500.

Oh — What will you offer?

Canadian-Built Ships Supply Vietminh Forces

By F. K. WU

HONG KONG (CP) — The Canadian-built Ming Sung ships are being used to supply the Communist Vietminh rebels in French Indo-China, according to shipping circles here.

These informants say the vessels are carrying military equipment and supplies to Haikou in Hainan island and to Kwangboowan, supply centre for the Red troops fighting the French government forces in Indo-China.

The ships were built in Canada after the war for the Ming Sung Company, under loans guaranteed by the Canadian government. When the Chinese Nationalist government collapsed, payments ended, and Canada has been unable to get the ships back.

(In the Commons at Ottawa early in February, Trade Minister Gardiner said Feb. 24 that $18,732,000 is still owed on the vessels, expressed some hope of recovering the money.)

The seven vessels, which had been based here, suddenly left two years to get all the flooded land

Paper Charges Dairies Paying Large Bribes

TORONTO - (CP) — The Toronto Telegram said in a newspaper story Monday that "wholesale bribery of apartment house owners and janitors by dairies of Toronto has become an accepted part of the milk business."

The newspaper says the charge is levelled by the president of one of the city's largest dairies and confirmed by officials of other leading milk companies.

The bribes were said to have been paid to get new business in apartment developments whose owners prefer to be serviced by one company.

The Telegram quotes one unidentified dairy official as saying the practice has been going on for some time but now is reaching "serious proportions." He is quoted as saying his company had set up a fund to take care of "payoffs."

WINTER DUCKS

BARRIEAD, Alta. (CP) — District residents have been feeding a flock of 300 wild ducks who were misled by the mild autumn into spending the winter on a creek near here. In past winters only a dozen or so ducks have been seen on the creek.

Body of Man Found Frozen Near Geraldton

GERALDTON (CP)—The body of a man with a note in his hand accusing a neighbor of poisoning him has been found in an isolated cabin 42 miles west of here.

The body of Ed Humphreys, 72, a prospector, was reported found in a sitting position by police. Police said the date of the note indicated the body had been frozen in the cabin for about seven weeks. Temperatures in the area 150 miles northeast of Port Arthur have gone as low as 60 below zero recently.

Police said the man's body is being examined for poison. A graphologist is examining the note in an effort to identify the writing. The note is said to have accused the occupant of cabin several miles away, where Humphreys said he had eaten a meal.

Filion Arrested In Hull, Quebec

OTTAWA (CP)—Georgs Filion, alias George Edward, 50-year-old penitentiary inmate who escaped Sunday from the Ongwanada hospital at Kingston, was arrested Sunday night by Ottawa detectives in neighboring Hull, Que.

Filion, who has been a patient in the hospital for several months suffering a lung ailment, is serving a sentence for armed robbery.

John Trusiach, Kingston's chief of police, learned that Filion and another patient, James Moore, 36, who disappeared with him, might be in Hull. He also learned that Filion might be using the name Edward.

Ottawa detectives checked all hotels in Hull and found no legible "Edward" on any registry, but one name was indecipherable.

Acting on a hunch, the detectives entered the room and found Filion and Moore in bed asleep. Filion will be returned to Kingston by penitentiary guards, Moore is not a wanted man.

Defends Bride Who Posed at G.I.

While American security officers investigated the story of 22-year-old Teresa Smith Vlara, above, her husband, former airman Jim G. Vlara, Jr., top, of Dayton, Ohio, staunchly defended his bride of eight months and said he would bring her to the U.S. as soon as he can afford it. "Terry," who now lives in Wimbledey, Lancashire, England, reportedly lived for six months in 1950 as a GI with seven airmen in Hut No. 253 at the Great Burtonwood air base. She donned GI uniform, she said, and stood in on parade to answer the name of anyone who happened to be missing. — Central Press Canadian Photos.

Charged With Murder of Wife of Six Months

An all-day argument between a young married couple ended in strangulation of 22-year-old Mrs. Shirley Snider of Toronto, bride of six months. She was choked and then strangled with a skipping rope in the bedroom of her home. Her husband, Harvey, seen above, has been charged with the murder of his wife. A keen shot, he has been a 365-a-week clerk in the city parks department, Harvey Snider, aged 23, told police he had intended taking his own life after the killing, but instead drove to St. Michael's Cathedral to seek counsel from Father Edward Madigan. The couple had been to see the priest on occasions because of their domestic differences. It was Father Madigan who informed police of the tragedy. — Central Press Canadian.

Fishing Opens On Lake Erie

PORT DOVER (CP)—With nets mended, engines overhauled and hulls painted, most of Port Dover's 36-tug fishing fleet chugged out of harbor, early Monday to open the commercial fishing season on the north shore of Lake Erie.

Six other tugs were unable to get out of Port Stanley harbor because of high waves and strong winds.

The Port Dover fleet lifted 2,484,000 pounds from Lake Erie during the first nine months of 1953. Total take in Ontario by commercial fishermen during that period was 30,500,000.

Mrs. K. Aitken Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Katharine Aitken, a sister-in-law of Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born British publisher, and mother of two members of Parliament in different countries, died Monday night. She was 71.

A native of New Brunswick, she was the former Katharine McAffee.

Survivors include a daughter, Margaret Aitken, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for York Humber, and a son, William, a member of the British House of Commons and an employee of Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express.

McCarthy Wants Explanation Of McLeod Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy said today that he will demand an official explanation of State Secretary Dulles order stripping R. W. Scott McLeod of authority over state department personnel.

The department announced Monday that McLeod, a close personal friend of the Wisconsin Republican senator, will have charge "only of security and consular matters from now on. As personnel officer, he had hiring and firing powers.

Learning of the order, McCarthy told reporters "this will make it infinitely more difficult for Mc Leod to do a good job", or ridding the department of subversives.

DULLES AWAY

The Senator presumably will try to get the explanation from Dulles, but he didn't say so in so many words. Dulles now is in Caracas, Venezuela, attending a meeting of American republics.

Democratic senators meanwhile have served notice that they want from chairman Philip Young of the civil service commission more details about government "security risk" firings on which he released Monday night a long-sought breakdown.

Young sent to Congress a report stating that out of 1,761 "security" separations by the Eisenhower administration between May 28 and Dec. 31 of last year, 333 involved persons with subversive information in their files.

President Eisenhower has said his administration got rid of 2,200 security risks in its first year in office.

FIRE WOOD FLOATS IN

PORT STANLEY (CP)—A misfortune to an unknown woodsman has benefited some residents of this Lake Erie port. Kettle creek recently has been floating sections of stove logs into the harbor, where residents can recover them. Recent floods apparently washed away a pile near the creek upstream.

The Gnat and the Bull

A GNAT alighted on one of the horns of a Bull, and remained sitting there for a considerable time. When it had rested sufficiently and was about to fly away, it said to the Bull, "Do you mind if I go now?" The Bull merely raised his eyes and remarked, without interest, "It's all one to me; I didn't notice when you came, and I shan't know when you go away."

Tornado Claims From Businesses To Be Considered

SARNIA (CP) — A three-man board of arbitration Monday decided that all tornado damage claims will be reviewed including business and luxury items. "The greatest generosity should prevail," the decision said.

The board was set up to decide what to do with $53,000 left in the tornado-relief fund after the fund committee and city council failed to agree on whether business claims should be honored. The fund was collected to help those who suffered in a tornado that hit the city last May.

Donors to the fund will be given a chance to withdraw part of their donations before business claims are paid, the board decided. Some groups had objected to compensating businesses because, they said, the money was donated to relieve injury and hardship of private persons.

Any withdrawals will be based on the percentage of money left in the fund and the amount originally given.

Little Benny's Note Book

I started to eat breakfast feeling kind of punk, saying, G, pop, gosh, ma. I had a fierce dream last nite.

I dreamed I have nite mare? ma said, and I said, It was even worse than a nite mare, because at least a nite mare is exciting, but I dreemed nobody ever even looked at me, because I never did anything to attract any attention. Even my face was such an ordinerry rgoiler face that nobody could even say I was ugly, I said.

My, what a trajedy, ma siad, and pop said, Yee gods, tell us more about your heart rending dreem.

Which I did, saying I dreemed I stayed in the exact middle of my class in school, so I had to just sit there while other fellows were smart enough to have meddles pinned on them, or else dum enough to be expelled. Even when I played games nobody noticed me, because I wasn't good enough to come in first, and I wasn't bum enough to actually make my side lose. Even at meels you and pop didn't pay attention to me, because I ate just enough of everything, even spinnich, and I even knew just when to stop eating ice creem and cake without being remlinded. Heck, I mite as well of been an invisible ghost, I said.

Oh for lords sakes I'll bring you back to erth in a minute, ma said. Take your elbows off the table while you're eating, she said, and pop said, And dont sit there like an invisible lump in a submerged log. Thank your mother for making you conspickuous, he said.

Sure, G, I said. Thanks, ma, I feel better already, I said.

And I walked to school with the other fellows, pushing and yelling and acting pritty near more conspicuous than anybody.

BOAC CUTS EAST RATES

LONDON (AP) — Cheaper tourist air travel to the Far East and Australia was announced today by the British Overseas Airways Corporation. The new service, which begins April 15, provides two tourist flights weekly to Tokyo and one weekly to Singapore by British Argonaut airliners. A once-weekly tourist flight between London and Sydney will be operated by Qantas Empire Airways of Australia—using Constellation aircraft.

SEX AD RECORDS

TORONTO (CP)—Two Canadian advertising agencies were among the 37 in North America that placed more than $10,000,000 in advertising for their clients last year. A survey by Advertising Age, the industry's trade paper, named Cockfield of Montreal and MacLaren Advertising Company of Toronto as the top Canadian firms, with $21,800,000 and $17,300,000 in billings respectively. These were all-time highs for both companies.

POWER TO SPARE - for extra Safety and POWERFLITE - for effortless no-clutch driving

You'll find that the combination of the mighty FireDome V-8 engine and the added pick-up that PowerFlite gives you, puts you in command of the road. You have power and acceleration to take you safely out of tight spots . . . a big reserve of power when cruising that ensures quiet, economical operation.

PowerFlite—fully automatic transmission—is the simplest and smoothest way to drive without gearshift or clutch. You move forward in one effortless motion without lifting your foot from the accelerator—PowerFlite makes its single shift for you at exactly the right time.

And for the ultimate in driving ease and safety the DeSoto FireDome offers Full Power Steering and Power Brakes as extra equipment.

Arrange for a demonstration soon—it's a tremendous experience.

Distinctive - that's DESOTO

You're years ahead with the FireDome V-8

The mighty FireDome V-8 engine has a rating of 170 h.p. with a compression ratio of 7.5 to 1 to take full advantage of today's finer gasolines. It's a "years ahead" type of engine, with "dome-shaped" combustion chambers for more complete combustion, short stroke design to reduce friction, and high-lift lateral valves for better "breathing". It is generally considered by automotive engineers the ideal type for power and economy.

Pioneer of Full Power Steering

DeSoto's Full Power Steering is in action all of the time your engine is running—does 4/5ths of the work of turning when you park or steer. Available in production at moderate cost.

Ask Grand Jury For Indictment Of Puerto Ricans

One Congressman Shot Still in Critical Condition

Southwest Corner Of Province Gets New Storm

TORONTO (CP) — Southwestern Ontario, still staggering from Monday night's storm, was walloped again today as a swirling blizzard pounded northward.

The Ontario highways department advised against highway travel west of London. It said visibility was nil in the area dead-centre of a storm of blizzard proportions.

The weather office said the storm, heading northeast from southwestern Ontario, would hit all of southern and eastern Ontario by today.

All schools in Sarnia and most in the surrounding district were closed this morning. About 10,000 pupils were affected.

TELEPHONES OUT

At Owen Sound the Bell Telephone Co., said at least 650 rural telephone subscribers in Grey and Bruce counties were without service today.

SNOW WAS . . . para 3 2rd 14—132 deleting para 4

Snow was also falling in Chatham, with three to six inches forecast by 4 p. m.

Highway department snowplows succeeded late Tuesday in opening Highway 2 from Chatham 17 miles west to Tilbury for one lane of traffic.

However, the highway east of Chatham is still clogged to Thamesville, mainly due to several large transports stalled across the road. Until the highway is cleared, traffic is being routed south from Chatham to Blenheim and up Highway 21 to Thamesville to avoid the jammed section of No. 2.

Thamesville is also snowbound.

Sarnia and Lambton county was hit by severe snow for the third consecutive day as a blizzard raged over the area, choking roads, stranding cars, trains and buses, forcing closure of four district high schools and causing trains to run at least late.

At 9:30 a. m. provincial police and the Ontario Motor League urged motorists to avoid travel. Eastern Greyhound resumed service today after two-day suspension but doubted if service could be instituted.

Sarnia snowplow crews which have been in action since Monday morning tackled the new snowfall.

The highways department reported indistrict Lambton heavy trouble getting stalled trucks out of drifts because of a Sarnia-area hour wind and almost zero visibility.

Cold north winds with a few snowflurries were also expected to continue in the Windsor district.

Windsor was blanketed with six inches of snow by early morning today, in one of the worst snow storms seen there in many years. Bus travel was ordered to a halt with schedules virtually abandoned.

Driving conditions were bad at Belle River, Leamington and Amherstburg.

Trans-Canada Air Lines cancelled early morning flights in and out of Windsor.

An estimated 3,000 cars and trucks were stranded in the Chatham area Tuesday, between Tilbury and Thamesville, as the big "dig-out" began.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

TORONTO (CP)—George A. Wilson, Toronto branch manager commissioner and former president of the Ontario Hotels Association, was charged Tuesday with assault causing bodily harm. The charge was laid by Mrs. Margaret Knudson. General hospital officials said Mrs. Knudson was treated two days ago for bruises and facial lacerations.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: March weather continues its lion-like ways as the second intense storm in three days moves across southern Ontario bringing very snow or rain followed by snowflurries and considerable drifting weather. This storm will move out of the province tonight with improving weather expected over Ontario Thursday. Cold north winds with a few snowflurries are expected to continue in northern Ontario.

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government prosecutors went before a federal grand jury today to ask for indictment of four Puerto Rican fanatics for a wild pistol attack upon the House of Representatives Monday.

U. S. Attorney Leo A. Rover and his assistant John Cronin said that four witnesses would be called. They indicated they expected to complete the testimony today.

Representative Paul W. Shafer (Rep. 'Mich.) was listed as a principal witness.

The four Puerto Ricans who are in jail in default of $100,000 bond each.

The prosecutors went before the grand jury as Capitol hill leaders pondered security measures to head off any more such attacks.

Congressional leaders were generally agreed, although unofficially, that no airtight precautions can be devised against recurrence of one bold incident. Incidents occurred in U.S. annals, in which the Puerto Ricans fired a score or more of pistol shots into the House of Representatives chamber from the visitors' gallery.

All five House members felled by the fusillade on the crowded floor recovering, although one of them, Representative Clifton R. Bentley (Rep. Mich.) remained in critical condition today.

Doctors said the danger is from complications which might develop from his internal injuries, particularly to his liver.

The others wounded, representatives Clifford Davis (Dem. Tenn.), Ben F. Jensen (Rep. Iowa), George Fallon (Dem. Md.), and Kenneth Roberts (Dem. Ala.), were less seriously injured.

TO PRESENT CASES

District attorney Leo Rover arranged to present the cases of the four Puerto Ricans to a federal grand jury today.

Oddly, Rover, besides practising lawyer here, was assigned by the court to defend Oscar Collazo when he and another Puerto Rican Nationalist, the group to which the four involved in the House shooting pledge allegiance, sought to assassinate President Truman in 1950.

In 1950, Collazo was sentenced to die, but Truman later commuted the sentence to life. Collazo's companion was shot down by White House guards, one of whom was killed.

The four involved in Monday's incident are charged with assault with intent to kill. There are charges for each of the five House members shot down, making the maximum penalty upon conviction 75 years in prison—15 years on each charge.

If any of the wounded congressmen should die, the charge could be increased to murder in the first degree by death.

Those held are Mrs. Lolita Lebron, 34-year-old divorcee and acknowledged leader of the group; Rafael O. Miranda, 25; Andres F. Cordero, 29; and Irving Flores Rodriguez, 25, all of New York.

Their avowed purpose in invading the House Monday, which the shooting wildly was in call attention to the Nationalists' campaign for freedom for independence because which Puerto Ricans have rejected at the polls several times.

FREIGHT RATE DECISION WILL BE APPEALED

Canadian Pacific Will Go To Supreme Court

OTTAWA (CP)—A major freight rate decision of the board of transport commissioners is to be appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada. Another is to go into effect on March 1, 1955, shaking up present ceiling rates on traffic.

But the board's ruling on "equalization" of the ceiling rates was made public Tuesday, it was learned the Canadian Pacific Railway is taking to the highest court in the country. The commission considers" rejection of a bid for higher tolls.

The appeal will be against a Feb. 15 judgment in which the board refused to allow the CPR a specified "rate of return" on its investment in rail property.

The railway application said, will contend that a "fair return" to a company is implicit in the long-standing parliamentary direction to the board that it is to prescribe "just and reasonable" freight rates.

The railway application that was largely thrown out by the board two years ago, the CPR contended it should have a "rate of return" on its rail investment equivalent to a nine-per-cent freight rate increase now and open the way for further increases later.

GREATER INCREASE FEARED

The nine-per-cent increase would amount to around $38,000,000 a year on the railway's present bill, now totalling around $1,000,000,000. Opponents of the railway application contended the CPR's real request would be rate increases up to 33 per cent. The general rate increases apply to around half the carriers' traffic.

The board threw out any idea of using annual CPR profits as a basis for rates, even though it now takes that company as a "yardstick" and sets rates generally on the basis of time-to-time financial needs of the Canadian Pacific.

However, it did establish $1,140,000,000 as the CPR's net rail investment for rate purposes as compared with a suggested figure of $1,147,000,000 proposed by the company.

But the commissioners said this is to be used as only one of the various checks on the adequacy of rates.

Canada, U.S. Might Post Radar Ships in Atlantic, Pacific

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States are thinking seriously of posting radar picket ships in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Defence officials said today an ocean radar screen will have to be established eventually as the Russians develop bombers with longer ranges.

Up to now, the main threat of attack against North America has been considered from the north. That will probably continue to be the main avenue of attack for some time to come. But as bombers increase their range, defence planners say they must consider the possibility of air attack coming directly from the sea and without landing.

TRAVEL OCEAN ROUTE

According to this view, attacking bombers, instead of flying by the shortest route over the Arctic, might speed south over the Atlantic or Pacific oceans, outside radar range, then wheel swiftly into the coasts.

The answer to this threat, officials said, would be a system of floating radar stations.

Original studies on defence plans were carried out on the assumption that attack would come from Greenland and Labrador or over secret Alaska. A far-north early-warning system was rolled out last autumn and not 100 effective and so radar networks have been built "upward and outward" from main target areas such as the eastern U.S. industrial cities and the U.S. missile works in the state of Washington. The U.S. pays two-thirds of the cost and Canada one-third.

This radar system is gradually being built up on both coasts, extending north into Ontario, Quebec, Labrador and British Columbia. These chains, of course, give a certain amount of radar coverage out to sea.

MCGILL FENCE

At the same time, a new type of radar chain, the McGill Fence, is being strung from coast to coast further north, both to supplement the original networks and to supply warning of any attack coming over the centre of the continent.

The fence, so named for its development at McGill University, is regarded as a means to "thicken up" the existing radar gridwork for detecting and plotting aircraft. It is much cheaper to build and operate than conventional radar stations, but is not so effective. It is not expected to replace the radar lines now being built.

Effectiveness and extent of radar coverage on this continent are closely guarded secrets.

ALL OPPOSITION PARTIES OPPOSE FILM BOARD MOVE

Motion Made to Take Item Out of Estimates

OTTAWA (CP) — All opposition parties in the Commons have lined up behind a CCF member's attempt to scuttle government plans to move the National Film Board from Ottawa to Montreal.

Rose Thatcher (CCF — Moose Jaw-Lake Centre) Tuesday night presented a motion to remove item 61 of $1,549,000 from the government's 1954-55 estimates, earmarked for a $2,200,000 NFB building in Ville St. Laurent, a Montreal suburb.

Speakers of other opposition parties opposed the transfer, together with Liberal members.

George McIlraith, member for Montreal West and one-time parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, asked the government to postpone consideration of the move pending a decision on the board's future pattern of operations.

Debate on the NFB transfer developed as the Commons pursued for the first time this session, to a consideration of government estimates, the spending proposals for the coming fiscal year.

Opposition leader Drew, whose constituency of Carleton includes part of Ottawa, said the government has given no reason for the move to justify asking Parliament to approve it.

RECENT DECISION

The final decision had been made only a few days ago, he said, and after Prime Minister St. Laurent had given a clear undertaking that it would be discussed in Parliament.

The film board had "grown up like Topsy" and the government should say how wide future operations will be before going ahead with the new headquarters building.

Works Minister Winters said reasons for the move were explained as long ago as the summer of 1952, when a common committee of both houses was appointed to debate the decision.

A film board building for the board's operations would avoid the present inconvenience of the board's staff of working in nine buildings spread across Ottawa.

Members had been chosen because it provided the largest supply of creative talent from both French- and English-speaking people. The new office would be in the centre of the private film-making industry and the CBC's production of television.

SAY MOVE EXPENSIVE

Mr. Thatcher said the move would be expensive and was opposed by most of the film board staff. Many of the 200 employees that films produced in Montreal would not be censored by the Quebec provincial censor.

Mr. McIlraith said the board should be kept in Ottawa where its operations could be watched more easily by the government and by parliament. The government should decide matters of policy such as the transfer of the board's operations before starting construction.

Walter Dinsdale (PC—Brandon-Souris) said Winnipeg is as suitable a location for the film board headquarters. It had the necessary bilingual talent.

Navigation Re-opens

KINGSTON (CP) — The motorship John Islander today reopened navigation between Kingston and Wolfe Island when she pushed her way through shifting ice floes to Spoor dock at the head of the island.

Normally the vessel puts in to Marysville, near the northern end of Spoor dock, but wind-driven ice made a call there impossible today.

Navigation closed in Kingston harbor Jan. 22.

Cost-of-Living Index Expected To Show Slight Fall for Jan.

OTTAWA (CP)—Three drops in a row.

That's the latest cost-of-living score as statisticians prepare their calculations on January's trends, likely to be published Thursday.

Despite the continuous rise in rents, lower food prices have powered three consecutive monthly declines in the consumer price index, breaking a previous five-month rise.

Based on 1949 prices equalling 100, the index for measuring living costs dropped from the 1953 high of 116.7 in September to 115.9 at the end of December.

Thus, the index is about 2.5 points below the all-time high of 118.2 in December, 1951. Little change is expected in the index of 1953, survey.

The declines in the 1953 final quarter were tapering. The index dropped five-tenths during October, two-tenths during November and one-tenth in December.

In all three months it was a case of lower food prices offering resistance to climbing rents. In December the food subscore dropped by a half-point to 111.6, lowest in more than two years, and only a point to 8 new high of 125.4.

In the non-food part of the index, there was relative stability, with changes held to one-tenth of a point. Clothing was up and the rise recorded on the yardstick.

The slight declines in the clothing sub-group shaved a tenth of a point from that index, dropping it to 113.2 in January, 1953, level.

Household operations edged ahead by a similar amount to a peak of 117.5. Prices were higher for laundry, cleaning supplies and household help, outweighing declines for washing machines, cotton sheets and glassware.

Eisenhower Hints Disregard Of Fair Play By McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today criticized "disregard of the standards of fair play" in Congressional investigations, and declared that no one in the executive branch is required to submit "to any kind of personal humiliation" before investigating committees.

Eisenhower said this statement read to a press conference that "in opposing communism, we are defending ourselves if we do not sign or through carelessness we use methods that do not conform to the standards of fair justice and fair play."

The President did not mention Senator Joseph McCarthy by name, but there could be no doubt he was aiming at the Wisconsin Republican, for the President coupled his remarks about "disregard" investigations with praise for Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker.

It was McCarthy's treatment of Zwicker, commandant at Camp Kilmer, N. J., which touched off the heated row of the last two weeks between McCarthy and army secretary Robert Stevens.

The President said the department of the army has "performed various errors" in promoting and giving an honorable discharge to Major Irving Peress, New York dentist who refused to say whether he was a Communist when he appeared to testify before McCarthy, sitting as a one-man investigating committee.

McCarthy later called Zwicker "not fit to command a platoon" after questioning about Peress and, in a heated session behind closed doors, told the general he only did what he was not fit to wear his uniform.

This brought from Stevens a denunciation of "abuse" of army officers.

Eisenhower said he and everybody in the executive departments recognize Congress' rights to "investigate into every phase of our public operations."

Observing that there ought to be a true spirit of co-operation among the three branches of government, he said such co-operation "is possibly only in an atmosphere of mutual respect."

The president said that when he was testifying as a witness before Congress or any member of Congress' guilty of disrespect toward the public servant he would "do my pearing before him." He said he regards he current the tradition of mutual respect between executive witnesses and members of Congress.

Knowles Requests Pension Increase Above $50 Month

OTTAWA (CP)—The champion of about 1,000 civil servants employed by the government and the Canadian National Railways Tuesday urged the government, as he has for the last eight years, to increase their pension of more than $50 a month.

Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) made his annual plea for a minister pension to help these pensioners.

He said there are about 2,385 retired civil servants receiving $50 or less; 3,736 widows of retired people in the same category and 9,055 former CNR employees receiving $50 or less a month.

Prime Minister Abbott replied that the CNR employees were the responsibility of the railway company. With regard to the civil servants and widows, Mr. Knowles gave no indication of how long the pensioners worked for the government. That would have an effect on the amount of their pension.

Probably most had served only a comparatively short time. The civil service pensioner should be given better pensions than railway employees who were unable to increase their pensions after retirement.

Two Scarborough Children Perish As Fire Guts Home

Mother Saves Two Sons Who Had Crawled Under Bed

TORONTO (CP) — Two young children were burned to death and a woman and two other children injured today when fire gutted their one-room home in suburban Scarborough.

Constable John McLean of Scarborough police force named the dead children as Daniel Hampson, 2, and Shane Wilkins, 4.

He said the injured were Mrs. Louise Wilkins, 31, and her two sons, Robert, 2, and Bruce, 1. Robert was reported suffering superficial burns. The injured live in the mother and brother were not immediately known.

Constable McLean said the blaze broke out from unexplained causes in the one-room building. He said it broke out shortly after the mother of the Hampson child went to work.

Mrs. Wilkins two boys climbed under a bed to get away from the flames, the officer said. Then another grabbed them and ran outside.

Two Are Killed Near Alexandria, Car Strikes Tree

ALEXANDRIA, Ont. (CP)—Two persons were killed and two others severely injured today when their car skidded off an icy road and hit a tree near this community 36 miles east of Cornwall.

Killed were Ronald Joseph O'Connor, St. d'Alembert, and Miss Frances McDonald, 23, of Green Valley. Taken to hospital in critical condition were Alexander McDonald, about 30, a brother of the girl killed, and Lee Ladouceur, 20, of Alexandria.

The two killed were in the front seat with the two injured in the rear seat with Campbell McDonald, 28, of Green Valley, who escaped injury. All were residents of Glengarry district.

The three in the rear seat were taken from the wreckage through the windows of the car. The wrecked car was driven by Campbell McDonald, who took two hours.

Campbell McDonald said the car, driven by Miss McDonald, hit an slush, went out of control and wrapped itself around an elm tree.

Draw Up Plans For Atomic Power Plant

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian scientists and engineers soon hope to draw up plans for an atomic power plant to produce electric energy.

Acting Prime Minister Howe made the statement Tuesday in the Commons in reply to a question asked by George Hees (PC—Toronto Broadview). Mr. Hees asked the minister to comment on reports that the United Kingdom is taking steps to build an atomic power plant.

Mr. Howe said an evaluation study was launched several weeks ago by officials of the Ontario hydro-electric power commission, another crown company companies and representatives of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., the crown company which operates the Chalk River atomic project.

The studies were well advanced. It was hoped that actual plans for the installation would be undertaken shortly.

OMEA Asks Law Against Utility Workers' Strikes

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Municipal Electric Association Tuesday passed a resolution asking the Ontario legislature to outlaw strikes by municipal utilities employees, including police and firemen.

It also asked that a new arbitration board be set up to deal solely with disputes involving all municipal employees.

The strike-banning resolution came from the Lindsay hydro-electric system at the annual meeting of the OMEA, voice of Ontario's 64 commissions.

A. A. Kennedy of Owen Sound was elected president. W. H. Bowman of Fort William was chosen president of the allied Association of Municipal Electric Utilities comprising utilities managers and their assistants. Ray Hall, assistant commaggling officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment is dead.

'Russian Colonial Troops Are Already In Our Midst' Says Speaker at Kiwanis Club

Russian colonial troops are already in Canada, Capt. J. R. De Graff of Brockville, a former Red Army officer and British secret service agent, is authority for that statement. This was the description which he gave to members of the Labor Progressive, or Communist Party as he addressed the Kiwanis club here yesterday. Capt. De Graff warned the Kiwanians against taking "our basic freedoms for granted" and urged them to get out and fight to preserve democracy.

Captain De Graff was born in Germany 60 years ago. At the age of maturity he went to Moscow, Russia, and there was trained as an espionage officer. He rose to the rank of major and then deserted to the British Government where he entered the Intelligence Service. Since coming to this country he has assisted the R.C.M.P. in undercover work, particularly during the Second World War.

"The entire Soviet system is based on terror," Captain De Graff declared. "Three minutes after I entered Russia I could tell it, and in this paper at the time I decided to learn as much as I could and rise as high as possible and then go to another way of life and work for it."

Commenting on the L.P.P., Captain De Graff said: "We don't need to wait for the Communists to fly across Canada; we don't need to wait for Russian military forces to land here to be aware of them. They are here now. We have Russian colonial troops in Canada at the present time and I'm talking of the members of the Labor Progressive Party." In the event of a war with the Soviet Union, members of the L.P.P. will be expected to institute civil war in this country, he said.

Orton Buck (head of the L.P.P.) hopes to become the 'Malenkov' of Canada," Captain De Graff declared. "I hope he hangs first," he said fervently.

"We won the battle on the field of action," he stated, "but the politicians have lost it."

PREPARE FOR CONFLICT

The speaker said that the two powers, capitalism and communism are now "dug in" and conquer the other in time. "Stop dreaming of peace!" he commanded, "Get busy and begin preparing for a conflict."

Captain De Graff outlined briefly the Russian form of government. He told members that Russia is ruled by a central committee of 42 men, elected by the Politburo, one political party. These 42, he said, not only control Russia, but also the L.P.P. in Canada. "Therefore," he stated, "there are 42 dictators, not just one."

The captain made reference to James Endicott, Canadian winner of a 1953 Stalin Peace Prize, "The laws of libel in this country forbid me to call him a Communist," Captain De Graff said, "but I can say, because it has been published before, "if it walks like a duck, quacks like a duck and acts like a duck,—it must be a duck."

Recalling life in the Soviet Union, he said members know that Russian children begin their education at six years of age. They are taught to believe the Soviet Union is the only free country in the world and a capitalistic system is the next thing to slavery, Captain De Graff said that there are more than 18 million political prisoners in slave labor camps across Russia.

Returning to Canada, the captain branded every Communist in the country "a potential spy and traitor."

"I can't come right out and call them spies and traitors," he explained, "there again, they are protected by the laws of libel."

IDEALISTS MOST DANGEROUS.

"Reta" was the term, Captain De Graff used to describe the character of native born Canadians who work for the Communist Party. "Persons who work out of idealism in serving a foreign party are more dangerous than any other in this country," he stated.

"These spies and traitors," the speaker said, will be enjoying the freedom of our country and our law."

"Those trained in sabotage work by Russia, according to Captain De Graff, are provided with a good reason for being at the place they are sent.

Captain De Graff demonstrated an explosive chemical compound of casually used articles in Canada. He called the two chemicals, "salt and pepper," which they are not. Security regulations forbid him to reveal their true identity, he said. Canada Dry Ginger Ale, however, that both chemicals could be purchased in any store without any questions being asked and for less than five dollars. When a drop of water is added to the mixture, it ignites and burns at an intense heat. The demonstration Captain De Graff made on the top of a tin can resulted in the metal melting.

In concluding his address, the speaker urged members to fight to maintain a happy home life and to educate children in the principles of Democracy familiar with the threat to Canada and other Communism presents.

"Let's become guardians of our way of life," Capt. De Graff urged, "if we sleep and take for granted the things we now have, the awakening may be rude. Wake up, that's the word as it is."

The Rev. Sidney Larman expressed the appreciation of the club following his presentation of Captain De Graff's speech.

Teachers Hosts To School Board At Social Night

Bellevville public school teachers were hosts to members of the public school board and their wives at a social evening held at Prince Charles School. A program of amusing games was enjoyed, followed by folk dancing under the leadership of Bill Workman, director of the recreation commission at Trenton.

A highlight of the evening saw L. A. Kells presented with an engraved cigarette lighter, the presentation being made by C. J. Frederick, on behalf of the teachers' association. Mr. Kells has completed 10 years service as inspector-superintendent of Belleville public schools. Miss Frances Sullivan presented Mrs. Kells with flowers.

Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Guild of Bridge Church. The committee in charge of program arrangements was Fred Dier and Miss Orlene Shunk, Evelyn Emerson, Grace Houston, Aileen Wright, Leanore Yeden and Vivian Welbourne.

Students Visit Coca Cola Plant

Thirty-five students of Albert College under the supervision of Mr. J. Macfarlane of the faculty staff, were taken on an educational tour of the Coca Cola Company's Sidney Street plant on Tuesday.

The students were warmly greeted by branch manager Aubrey Coe, prior to the conducted tour. Following the inspection they were given complete information by Mr. Coe. Mr. MacKenzie expressed the appreciation of the students for the opportunity to view the company operations at first hand.

creates a new color...
Lido-Venice Pink

Glowing . . . roseate . . . with undertones of pink and overtones of pure red, Elizabeth Arden's newest Dust Lipstick captures the brilliant shade of the canals traditionally worn by Lido beach boys at the colorful Venice resort.
LIDO-VENICE PINK is the one color shimmering through another!
As an artist, Miss Arden knows that one color over another not only produces an entirely new shade but adds a luminosity and translucency that a single color alone can never achieve. That is why you need two colors in one Dust Lipstick . . . for only with two colors can you achieve the true Lido-Venice Pink.

Town Council Meet Postponed Until Saturday

TRENTON (Special)—A regular meeting of council last night was postponed until 8.00 p.m. Saturday night in the municipal office. Mayor Ross Burtt has been awaiting the return of councillors Claude Graham and Gerald Weaver, hollidaying in the south and expected back in Trenton on Friday. Courses of action to be taken on several questions require the expression of a full council, the mayor explained. Mr. Burtt has invited the chairman of the Parks Board, Dr. J. W. Farley, to sit in on the meeting.

YACHT CLUB DANCE

The Trenton Yacht Club held its first dinner dance meeting last night with 70 people in attendance. The social function was considered very successful by Commodore R. E. Whitley, who announced that the profits would go to the building fund. The club's headquarters is under construction on the bayshore next to the softball field.

The guests were received by Commodore and Mrs. Whitley.

Among those present were Group Captain R. C. Hawtrey, Commodore of the Trenton Air Station Aerquatic Club, and Mrs. Hawtrey; George Miller, Commodore of the Quinte Outboard Club, and Mrs. Miller of Consecon. Out-of-town guests included Messrs. J. T. Pfeiffer and J. Munch officials of the Erie Resistor Company which recently acquired a plant in Trenton.

A colored film depicting speedboat racing was provided by the Mercury outboard company. This feature was well received.

Jim Brown of Trenton won the door prize while Jack Keane and his orchestra played the music for dancing.

Merchants to Hold Seasonal Sales Promotion in May

Members of the Retail Section of the Chamber of Commerce voted to hold another seasonal sales promotion in May. It will be similar to the Chamber-sponsored "Spring Shopping Spree" held in the city last year. The Retail Section met last night at the F. W. Woolworth Co. for its regular monthly meeting under the chairmanship of J. L. Alletson.

The representatives also voted in a special committee to organize and plan the promotion. Howard Walsh manager of Zellers was elected general chairman of the committee.

No action will be taken in regard to the proposed 5:30 p.m. closing of retail shops in the city and stores will continue to remain open until 6.00 p.m., for the present at least. A survey of retailers in the city taken last week by the Chamber of Commerce, indicated merchants were undecided on the question. The proposal will be taken up again at a later date.

A report on the second series of retail sales training films held Monday and Tuesday evenings was received at the meeting by Joe Agnew. Mr. Agnew said there was an overall attendance of 210, representative of 32 local retail shops.

Carson Elliott general chairman of the Santa Claus parade committee, told the retail trade committee is fully organized and prepared to go ahead with plans for the 1954 parade.

Board Decides To Advertise For Principal

The Bay of Quinte District High School Board will advertise immediately for a high school principal to succeed Principal G. E. Currie who has resigned to accept the principalship of St. Catharines collegiate.

Members of the board held a special meeting Tuesday night to discuss what is to be taken and voted to advertise before deciding whether the new principal would be an outside man or be chosen from the present collegiate staff. Duties of the new principal would begin with the opening of the school term in September.

Area Chairmen For Red Cross Are Appointed

The campaign chairman of the Belleville and District Red Cross Society, W. J. Morrison, has announced the appointments of Mrs. Herbert McCabe as residential area chairman and Mr. Earl Elliott, chairman of the business area canvass. Mr. Wilfred Richardson and Mr. Staff McKenna will act as co-chairmen with Mr. Elliott.

Mrs. McCabe will supervise 14 captains and 14 co-captains as well as 250 volunteer canvassers. Mr. Elliott will be responsible for 40 canvassers.

Canvassers in outside areas include the following: Batawa, Mr. W. G. Ritchie; Frankford, Mr. J. A. Sticker; Stirling, Mr. R. West; Marmora, Mr. Fraser and Mr. Olsen; Consecon, Mr. P. M. Wood; Trenton, Mr. J. Taylor and Mrs. H. Keefer; Tweed, Mr. R. Wolfrey; Madoc, Mr. Robert Smith.

Soft Shoulders Causing Grief For Transports

Soft highway shoulders are spelling big trouble for heavy highway transports these days as wheels sink into the frost-free ground, resulting in the vehicles getting thoroughly bogged down.

Deep ruts in the mud on the shoulders of highways leading both east and west from the city are mute and unsightly evidence that some transport driver has been in trouble. Wheels of the heavy vehicles get slightly off the pavement and the drivers are unable to control their truck as the mud swings the transports completely into the ditch.

In some instances the transports merely get stuck in the mud. In others where the ditch is deeper the transports tip over and the driver is really in trouble. In many instances more than one wrecking truck is required to get the transports back onto the highway.

Even motorists are not escaping trouble completely. Soft highway shoulders have given private autos and again the only result is a tow truck.

The moral of all this is merely "keep on the highway."

Y Golf School Proves Success

The YMCA Golf School got under way last night with 43 golf enthusiasts attending the first session. Although the number was more than the golf committee had anticipated, instructors Val Smith and Mike Acquafredde handled it very capably.

For next Monday's session, the class will be divided into two groups; beginners and advanced. The beginners will meet from 7.00 p.m. to 8.15 p.m., and the advanced from 8.15 till 9.30 p.m. "Beginners" is defined as those who are starting golf now, and those who have played it for only one year or less. This division will ensure more practice time for all and more individual attention to each student.

The committee has also decided not to accept further registrations.

VACATION PLANNING.

The Royal Bank of Canada has us on a sec-saw. It builds us up and it lets us down.

The Bank, in its wisdom, has decided that February is a good time to talk about vacations in its monthly letter. This is an example of sound constructive thinking. There is no time of the year when we would sooner think about vacations than in February. Let one thing be clear, actual vacation is still so far away that we have comparatively little difficulty in deluding ourselves into the belief that this year there will be enough money in the bank to finance adequately the type of vacation we wish to take. In February, not only bank accounts but time and space become elastic, readily expanded or contracted by our imaginations to any desirable proportions. The result is that a vacation planned in February—or even early March —is much to be preferred to a holiday hemmed about by the budgets for dollars and days which are clamped upon us all when summer finally arrives.

The Bank, with a wisdom which one does not always associate with financial institutions, proffers some sage advice to vacationists. The necessary equipment for an enjoyable holiday, A vacation, it says, can be a dead loss if not embarked upon in the right spirit.

"There are people to whom a picnic is all ants and mosquitoes," it says. "There are others, like Tom Sawyer, who return wishing they had had no holiday, because it makes the accustomed ways more odious. Still others take their bodies for a vacation while they leave their minds at their desks."

That paragraph strikes us as providing any little push which might be necessary to start even the most sluggish imagination happily vacationing.

But just when we think we have got into the spirit of things the Bank's letter, on which we have balanced our dreams of holiday, goes into its see-saw act.

Says the Bank, acting very, very bankish: "The hours of a vacation are too precious to be frittered and dribbled away."

Says who? Those vacation hours are the only hours throughout the whole year we can call our own. The summer we have to spend either resting up to start work, working or resting up after work. And then comes along and tells us that even for two some banker comes along and tells us that even for two short weeks our time is not our own but must dribble. The whole secret of a happy vacation is the ability to grasp immediately the fact that here, at last, are hours which can be frittered and dribbled if one is so inclined. The man who stares at lake-watching as soon as he collects his vacation pay may see a lot of sights, drive a lot of miles, meet a lot of people and come home with a bronzed face but no anecdotes. But he will not have had a holiday. He will have been working at the most strenuous job on earth—trying to have a good time.

BUTTER CONSUMPTION SMALL.

Buttercups will soon be blooming in the fields. And this spring, as in every spring for generations, fond parents will show wide-eyed youngsters how to hold the buttercup beneath the chin to determine whether or not they like butter. If there is a yellow shadow cast on the dimples of the childish chin, the beaming tot likes butter. And there is always a yellowish tint discernible. But that is not surprising. Everybody likes butter.

What is surising is that, with so many people liking it, so little butter is consumed. The average Canadian eats less than half a pound a week and even there were no butter substitutes on the market this consumption was very little higher. Statistics show that during 1953 the per capita consumption of creamery butter was 19.3 pounds and for butter of all types 27.2 pounds. In 1948 comparable figures were 23.7 pounds and 28.7 pounds.

Somebody is going easy on the butter. Perhaps at breakfast, mashed potatoes with a butter heart at dinner, pancakes smothered in butter at supper. If they do not know what they are missing we will tell them that it is a lot of good eating.

NEED A FEW BUSY-BODIES.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brandnam of the Collingwood district have been sentenced to prison terms for "unlawfully exposing a child under two years whereby his life is endangered."

Third, Andrew, aged eight months, died in a fire at their home on Feb. 12. Andrew and two other children, aged four and three, had been left alone. According to testimony at the trial, the parents went to church together at Wasaga Beach and Elmvale from morning until afternoon on the day of the fire.

Few will quarrel with the punishment meted out to this couple. But this punishment will not restore the dead child to life. Much as we all detest busy-bodies, much as we all dislike to meddle in the affairs of others, what are urgently needed are more people who will inform authorities when they suspect that children are being neglected in this manner, so that corrective action can be taken before, not after, some tragedy occurs.

FLAVORED STAMPS.

Cubans have been grumbling about the disagreeable task of the stickum on the stamps. So the government has brought out an unusual eight-cent airmail stamp with the gum flavored with a light mint essence. Parents have to hide them from children.—(New York Herald Tribune).

QUESTIONING

Something seemed to whisper as
I stood upon the land
And watched the white-capped waves come in and die
upon the sand:
"There's not a rock out yonder
But has the blue waters play
But has experienced more of life
Than the oldest man today.

"What is the process 'working?'
Why should the waters
What is it sky and earth and stream and stars were made to prove?
And why has man so feeble and granite made so strong?
And why must pain be suffered
if life is not for long?"

There by the blue lake standing
A great rock seemed to say:
"Man still will come in question
ten thousand years away.
But all I've learned I'll tell you.
It cannot be for naught.
That white waves breaking on a ledge can stir man's deepest thought."

There has been less influenza in this city this winter, with a comparative absence of severe colds, according to Miss Germain Dumais of the local branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses. If the blizzards and the polar blasts and the cold and snow that have characterized this winter have brought inconvenience to some, the cold weather has been more than offset by the fact that sickness throughout the city generally has been nil and the city is fairly bursting with health. "It is commonly known among medical men," stated one local doctor today, "that a continued mild spell reduces colds and pneumonia. I don't know when I have treated a case of pneumonia this winter and as for the usual colds there simply are none at all."

Makes Plea For Help For Korean Orphans

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,
This letter is to bring to your attention a matter which is on the hearts and minds of many of us these days. This matter is the Christian Children's Fund with headquarters at Richmond, Va., and the work which it is doing amongst orphans of Korea. A pamphlet dealing with the work of this fund is enclosed with this letter.

The facts have been told to members of Centenary United Church here, located three miles northwest of Belleville, and we have been moved to help and this help has been a substantial amount.

We feel that the generous minded and sympathetic people of this grand country of ours only need to be informed and immediately they take steps to do something about a problem. Your paper has given that necessary information many times in the past in connection with other worthy causes.

Reports from North Korea tell of a dearth of children there and it is believed that they have been taken to Russia for training and indoctrination. In South Korea there are thousands upon thousands of starving children who can be indoctrinated into our way of thinking about world affairs and our one most powerful weapon is food. Surely out of our plenty we can help their need!

Yours truly,
W. J. Slavin,
R.R. 9, Belleville, Ont.

Keys Small But Power Vast

What magic still attaches to the keys which men and women carry! There is no doubt that the key of today largely replaced the key of the door as a symbol of maturity in youth and the key to the safe-deposit box, with its hinged, possibly of the savings of a life-time; there is the key to the old-fashioned jewel-case, which unlocks the treasure of a woman's sentimental treasures, and there is the key that opens the drawer of a desk where are lodged the papers and letters which are for your eye alone. And there is the key which opens the door to that private and secure world in which you call home. There are keys which could open the Pandora box of tragedy, and there are keys which can admit to a supreme serenity of the spirit. And there are the mastery of laughter and tears.

Yet, withal, a small thing — but it wields a vast power.

INWARD SECURITY

There is more being written about outward security in this world than ever before. We wonder how safe the body of ours is and the homes in which we live. Our forefathers had little concern for what they were fears just the same. What we should be conscious of every day of our lives is the fact of inward security, self created.

We should have a clear sense of values so that we may fortify ourselves to meet any emergency. It's not inward security, whether in nation or individual, that is the all important thing. Security is a spired his army that it felt itself invincible, when outnumbered 10 to 1. It's the same with our individual selves. We are no bigger or stronger than we feel ourselves to be.

This inward security is a matter of will, faith, and religion. We must build within us a spirit that will not desert us in any critical time. Something that will assure us of our strength. Something that will come to us in moments of weakness and doubt and give us courage. Something that will make us feel secure in the midst of danger. Something that will make us feel safe when we are surrounded by enemies. Something that will make us feel that we are invincible.

Children Know How to Play

(B. K. SANDWELL, in The Financial Post).

In New Orleans the other day I ran into a high-ranking New York official who was preaching on what is to me the most acceptable doctrine that what children need in their playtime activities is not supervision but freedom from supervision. He assured me that what I had begun to suspect was actually the case, namely, that many of the demands and appeals that are now proceeding from children and adolescents, and directed to the provision of more playground equipment and technical personnel for playtime activities, are really suggested by the professional supervisors themselves, who naturally do not discover the having the idea spread abroad that the children are passionately desirous of their services.

My friend was strongly convinced that the only supervision really necessary was that which sees to it that there is no serious bullying or gross unfairness on the playground. The idea that children have to be taught to play is characterized as one of the grevious errors resulting from the excessively competitive nature of modern "sport" in North America. If our idea of play is winning of district competitions in basketball and baseball, of course there must be coaches and trainers and showers and uniforms. But the idea that children and even the adolescents would have far more fun if left to themselves and not interfered with by their elders. It was these elders who got them the idea that wrestling the district championship was the all-important thing about playing it would occur or occur to a group of completely unsupervised children, and they would have a far better and healthier time if it didn't occur to them.

I admit that if this idea became prevalent it would throw a lot of playtime supervisors out of business, and I don't know what they could do with the training in playtime supervision which they have laboriously acquired. But the same I think it is a sound idea.

Vertical Trespass

(Hamilton Spectator)

A judgment at Osgoode Hall by Mr. Justice McLennan, sitting in Toronto, gives the owner and pilot of an aircraft which hit a power line privately strung from the mainland to an island on a northern lake, a reminder that the three-dimensional age trespass can be vertical and obstruction is no longer limited to streets and driveways on the surface.

The power line in the airspace above an arm of water which was the natural approach for an aircraft landing on the lake. To a pilot, an air-lane of that sort is as much a public thoroughfare as a road is to a motorist; yet it is a safe bet that the people who erected the poles never thought of the sky above them as anything but empty space, without boundaries, direction or an imaginary white line in the middle.

The air regulations are specific about where and how kites may or may not be flown; the fact which probably nine out of ten kite-flyers are blissfully unaware.

Dating The Old By New Method

(BBC Weekly Talks Summary).

Few people would imagine that archaeologists and atomic scientists would have anything in common but it is a fact that by working together they, in a sense, have discovered a method of dating old objects. If a piece of something very old, such as a bit of wood, is heated or burned until it turns to gas and the amount of radio-active carbon in the gas is measured the result can be used to determine the age of the wood with reasonable accuracy. British scientists have been working on this theory for years, using and improving a simpler technique which an American, Professor Libby, discovered at Chicago University soon after the war.

One of the scientists concerned, Harold Barker of the British Museum, explained in a broadcast in the BBC's "Radio Newsreel" that until recently the only method had been able to speak rather loosely of "about . . . years old" when dating very old objects. Then Professor Libby established that all living things contain a small but constant proportion of radio-active carbon. This carbon is dwindle at a known rate when they died. Libby had measured the two thousand years or so, half that after another five thousand years, and so on, and if the amount or radio-active carbon in a substance is known, he argued, it is possible to tell its age. Professor Libby's method involved measuring the amount of carbon of wood, into solid carbon and measuring the radio-activity. After a considerable step forward in dating archaeological objects, the early accuracy of his new method by testing it on objects that were already dated, for example, wood from an Egyptian tomb known to be about three thousand seven hundred and fifty years old. His method has now been in use for some years, and experiments are being continued and improved. It should not be more than a year or so before the results are available for dating objects to within a century in five thousand years. Mr. Barker said this would be a big step forward in dating events that happened way back before the beginning of recorded history," said Mr. Barker.

Finds Reasons Behind Rules

(Fort William Times-Journal)

An acquaintance we met yesterday was recently a patient in a Lakehead hospital.

"Funny how some people have to have a 'disturbing me,' he said. "I was one of those birds tied to the bed in hospital with broken legs. I'm particularly mad about the fellow in the next room who turned off my light at 10 o'clock. I'm a confirmed night owl and prefer to read at night. I was feeling real miserable, and when visiting time came around I felt like bursting my head off. The bright chatter, the footsteps and the general bustle really upset me. The best day I had during that whole two on a Sunday, when no visitors were allowed."

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADT

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THIS SCHOOL?

Dr. Bradt

I am teaching an 8th grade class of 34 pupils who, apparently, used aspirin last year, instead of having headache. Sometimes five or five in an afternoon ask for a "pill". I don't discourage it in headache, but I right or wrong. I need information. The question if I'm right. The fact is that it is easy to hand out the tablets if I'm wrong. (J.W.)

School children who have headaches should be first given medical care. It is not at all natural or normal and certainly not a proper concern for a teacher or other layman.

If the headaches occur in the afternoon, as your letter suggests, and especially in the middle of the afternoon, a possible explanation may be carbon monoxide anemia from breathing odorless, colorless carbon monoxide given off by the human heater, leaky gas pipes or fixture, scented burner or the like. Remember, it takes only a very little of carbon monoxide in the atmosphere of the room (one part in 1,000 parts of air) to produce tightness across the forehead, headache, noticeable flushing of the face and throbbing in temples . . . If the polluted air is breathed for an hour or more.

If your school has no school physician it might be well to send a note to the pupil's parent saying that the pupil's headaches worry you and perhaps he or she needs medical advice—if the parents are enough enough to laugh at your suggestion or to resent your interference, at any rate you will . . . you know me, all.

Strength for the Day.

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS.

Not long ago two men were discussing juvenile delinquency. A child of teen-age boys had just been arrested after a series of petty burglaries in several grades. One man cited the movies, television and comic books as the cause of such outbreaks. "Everywhere you turn, it's the same—crime, crime." Even if the crook isn't actually the hero, he's still made such a romantic figure that all the boys envy him."

The other man had a different theory. "The real trouble," he asserted, "is the schools. If children were made to work as hard in school as when we were young, they wouldn't have time to sit around and watch crime programs on television.

If these men had heard more about the histories of the boys who had just been caught, their solutions might have been different. Take the first case. In a foster home; two had lost their fathers by divorce or death, a fourth was one of a family of ten children notorious for being neglected by their parents. In every case there was a distinct lack of parental affection and interest.

Television, movies, and comic books may be to blame, but the greatest influence of all is the home. Parents who really care enough to resist any evil force, have done your duty.

Instead of hanging out or even permitting a pupil to take dope of any description during school hours, an alternative is to handle the problem when parents are not intelligent, is by a kind of scientific neglect. When a pupil complains repeatedly of headache, quietly excuse the pupil from the room and tell him or her to go out and run or walk fast around the block once or twice or, if there is a gym, go to the gym and do some rope jumping or equivalent exercise for five minutes. That will relieve many a headache without the hazard of destroying red blood corpuscle or damaging the heart with aspirin, acetanilid, phenacetin or the various more or less dangerous and one more of these sense-deadeners.

A stale lesson, to physicians as anoxia (insufficient oxygen in the blood) and anoxemia (insufficient oxygen in the blood) accounts for all the effects of carbon monoxide poisoning, arising or asphyxia (another term for oxygen deficiency). In fact carbon monoxide is dangerous only because it combines with the hemoglobin of the blood cells and causes crowds out the oxygen the hemoglobin should carry to the blood cells and tissues.

Anoxia, no matter from what cause, is, I believe, the explanation for early morning headache in many homes. Instead of resorting to dangerous headache pills, the wise thing to do, instead, is better to get out and do some work, play or exercise that will increase greatly the oxygen rate and depth of breathing, increase absorption of oxygen. This digests most headaches in a few minutes —but alas, many sufferers are too lazy.

Earthquakes and Open Graves

"The three crosses . . . stood in crisp, black silhouette against . . . the sky."

CHAPTER I

When Jesus of Nazareth was put to death, there were strange happenings in Jerusalem.

The three crosses—on which two thieves and the Son of God were hanging together on Calvary—stood in crisp, black silhouette against the ill-centered light in the sky. But those gaunt crosses seemed to leap out of sight in the instant that Jesus, with a loud cry, bowed His head and gave up the ghost. For the earth under the feet of weeping women and gawping men began to tremble from some vast, inner convulsion; great rocks on the side of the Hill of the Skull—or Golgotha, as this Calvary was called—boulders and granite fragments were shaken and ripped apart as if they were bread and not stone.

Messengers, fleeing from the Temple Courts, panted the frightening news that the veil of the Holy of Holies had been torn across by some invisible hand, a sign of dreadful and mysterious portent. The veil had long since replaced the solid partition that in olden times separated the Holy Place from the Holy of Holies; it stood for the mysteries of God. No mortal hand could have sliced the two thick rich curtains of the veil as they swung in the wind and the intensifying darkness. Three cubits apart were the twin curtains, the one toward the Holy Place being open at its north end and the one toward the Holy of Holies at the south end, hung so especially to avoid any risk of exposing the sacred interior to profane eyes on the Day of Atonement when the high priest entered for the most solemn rites.

Now both curtains of the veil were frazzled into rags, at the very moment when the tortured figure on the middle cross gave that fearful cry and breathed His last breath, about three o'clock in the afternoon, on that first Good Friday, which now we mark as April 7, A.D. 30.

Many strange events in Jerusalem, then, with the opening up of old graves all exposed by no visible hands, and bodies of long-perished saints come tottering out of the prison houses of death, pushing away the stones rolled against the rocky caverns, and rising through the earth like divers up from the sea. These saints marched through the dimmish streets of Solomon's capital and stared at feeble men cowering in doorways, showing their presence to old acquaintances as if preparing them for the miracle of grace that within forty-eight hours would be coming to the world.

Who could mistake such signs and omens as the quaking earth, the returning dead, the torn veil of the Temple? The Roman centurion Longinus, assigned to Golgotha to make sure that Jesus and the two thieves were well and truly despatched, looked wildly around him and, hearing the tales, seeing the falling rocks, feeling the earth sway and shudder under his mailed boots, fell on his knees, in manner unbecoming to a Roman officer. Yet his face was not fearful but convinced.

"He was a just Man! Indeed, this Man was the Son of God," he repeated, as one who has discovered the greatest of secrets. He had just seen the truth which changed his life, the life which he would one day surrender as a martyr in the service of this Just Man.

And there was a light in his eyes that was not in the eyes of those who now began to back down the swaying sides of Calvary; the multitude of those who, thanks to Him, had known a larger life and who had stood there to watch Him die. They were striking their breasts as they backed away, and they looked neither to the right nor to the left. They did not see the ecstatic centurion on his knees. They did not notice the steadfast women who had followed Jesus from Galilee, and who stood watching everything: Mary Magdalene; Mary of Cleophas, and Mary Salome, the mother of the sons of Zebedee, James the Greater and John the Beloved. They did not recognize Joanna, Christian wife of one of Herod's own stewards.

At the very foot of the cross stood Mary, the mother of Jesus, the mother whom Jesus in His dying words had given to the world. And beside her, supporting her with a strong arm, stood the apostle John, called the Beloved or the Divine, to whose earthly care the Master had just confided Mary. As he stood next to her, eyes closed in prayer, John could not guess the destiny that lay ahead for him, the years of white-haired age when he would write one of the four Gospels, and the Book of Revelations, the Apocalypse. In those agonized hours of the crucifixion, John did not dream that he would live to see heaven plain, before himself died!

Suddenly the prayers of mother and apostle were interrupted. A friend came and touched Mary gently on the arm. She turned to face that staunch defender of her Son's case in the council trial, Joseph of Arimathea.

"I come direct from Pontius Pilate," said Joseph of Arimathea softly. "I have begged him to let me have His body. For I have a plan for the burial of your Son, my lady!"

Mary looked at him, pain-darkened eyes troubled with questions. Yet

"Pilate did not consent at first," said Joseph of Arimathea. "The Roman procurator wanted to be sure Son was dead, beyond all careful; to protect himself. You see—he wanted to make sure doubt. He suspected that I might even be trying to spirit away the Body and restore Jesus to consciousness. So Pilate sent for the centurion captain that you saw fall to his knees a little while ago. 'Is He dead?' Pilate wanted to know from the centurion; 'is it finished?' The centurion declared on his oath that it was so —and here I am, with official leave from Pilate himself to take down the body of Jesus."

There was still a question in Mary's great sorrowful eyes. She looked back thirty-three years to a winter twilight, when Joseph, her spouse, had scoured Bethlehem seeking a place for Jesus' birth, and there had been no room at the inn. And Mary, the widow, stared now at this second Joseph, who had come to lend her Son in death, and wondered.

TUGNETTE—FLUNDER

A quiet, pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, February 27th, in Christ Church, Belleville, when Doris Betty Flunder, daughter of William Clark and Mrs. Flunder of Belleville, was married to Thomas Gerald Tugnette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Tugnette of Belleville.

The Rev. J. Cantrell officiated. The witness were James Webster Tugnette and Miss Betty Tugnette, both of Belleville.

B. and P. Women See Film On Coronation

Mrs. Winnifred Maund, Greenlawn Avenue, was hostess to the Business and Professional Women's Club of Belleville at a coffee party held at her home last week. President Isabell Wallbridge conducted the business meeting.

A vote of thanks was extended to the committee in charge of the concert featuring Neil van Allen, concert pianist, held at the Belleville Collegiate Auditorium during February. Well attended by music lovers of the district, the concert was highly successful.

Mrs. Helen Buchanan and Mrs. Sadie Rose are joining a large delegation of Ontario B. and P. women who will attend a United Nations seminar on March 11th and 12th. This is the second such seminar undertaken by the Ontario clubs.

An invitation was received to attend charter night of the Trenton Club to be held on March 3rd. A group of the members plan to attend a dinner meeting in Cobourg on March 10th when the Cobourg B. and P. club has as guest speaker, Lister Sinclair, playright and critic.

The guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. E. E. Follwell was introduced by Mildred Moorman. Mrs. Follwell, who has addressed a number of organizations not only in the Bay of Quinte area but in several Ontario centres, delighted the group with pictures of the Coronation and several European cities, which she took on an extended visit to Britain and the continent last summer. These were very colorful and extremely interesting to her audience. Irene Rainey thanked Mrs. Follwell.

Members were also advised of the regional conference to be held at Cobourg on April 3rd. An unusual and varied program is being planned and the conference promises to be an outstanding B. and P. event of the year.

The club unanimously thanked Mrs. Maund for her kind gesture in opening her home for the meeting.

C.G.I.T. Hold Most Enjoyable Pancake Supper

The C.G.I.T. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church sponsored a pancake supper in the church Sunday school room on Shrove Tuesday from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. Attendance was excellent.

The room was decorated in the C.G.I.T. colors of blue and white. Bouquets of daffodils were used as centrepieces on the dinner tables.

Members of the C.G.I.T. who served wearing their uniforms of white middies and blue skirts were: Beverley Pigden, Patsy Luck, Marilyn Huddleston, Edith Campbell, Doreen Luck, Linda Peoples, Jean Muirhead, Corinne Fargey, Carol MacLean, Shirley Parker and Diane Trill.

Mothers of the girls and members of the W.M.S. who made pancakes and assisted in the kitchen were, Mrs. T. Thomson, Mrs. H. Yorke, Mrs. D. Kane, Mrs. S. Luck, Mrs. J. Browning, Mrs. F. Parsons, Mrs. E. Pigden, Mrs. K. Fargey and Miss Barbara Thomson.

Mrs. G. Trill was treasurer.

Girl Guides, Brownies Hold Skating Party

Under the direct supervision of their leaders, girl guides and brownies of the local Girl Guides Association held an enjoyable skating party in Memorial Arena on Monday afternoon.

Some 275 guides and brownies of a total strength of 300 attended the party which started at five o'clock and ended at seven.

The Girl Guides Association furnished chocolate milk and box lunches for the girls following the skating period.

The party was the first of its kind sponsored by the association, and the success of the function was such that in all probability it will be repeated next year.

N.E. To Start 6 Week Courses

The six week's courses in Home Nursing and First Aid will begin at the Northern Electric plant this week from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Home Nursing classes will be on Mondays with Mrs. John Bradford, Reg.N., of the medical department as instructress.

First Aid classes will be on Tuesdays with Bert Waters as instructor and on Thursdays with Phil Allcorn as instructor.

At the conclusion of the courses examinations will be held and those successful will receive certificates from the St. John Ambulance Brigade.

To catch drips from a bottle of bleach, slip a knitted glass jacket around the bottom. The top of a man's sock will work well, too.

Women's Institute

PARK DALE W.I.

The members of Park Dale Women's Institute held their February meeting at the home of Doris Bannon, with 21 members and three guests present.

It was decided to have a raffle and weekly card parties at the members' homes.

The motto "Light is the task when many share the load," was outlined by Hazel May, District president, Mrs. Roscoe Robson, explained the boundaries of our district and spoke a few words of encouragement for our recently formed division of Women's Institute.

Jerry McLaughlin gave a short reading on "What is a Canadian."

One of the guests, Mrs. Shorey, shared with the institute the experiences she enjoyed at folk school.

A candy demonstration was given by Bertha Doyle, Doris Bannon, Doreen Ralston and Helen Brown.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, Maureen Bridge, Thelma Burley and Marjorie Rouse.

Author Says Starlings Have Pleasant Song

TORONTO (CP) — Mazo de la Roche, author of the well-known Jalna books, says starlings "have a truly pleasant song which I have heard many times, even in midwinter.

"Their rather raucous cry," she says, is "their cry of warning or alarm."

Miss de la Roche's Jalna books about the Whiteoak family and their home in southern Ontario have been read by thousands in many countries. She lives in residential Forest Hill, a Toronto suburb, and her views on starlings were made known in a letter to a Toronto newspaper columnist. She wrote:

"I realize that it may be necessary to keep down the numbers of the starlings in certain localities, but I am filled with wonder by the ferocity shown by many people when the question of eliminating certain creatures comes up.

"It seems they would do away with everything but themselves and motor cars.

"Doubtless these people will have their way and the future will see long lines of cars and trucks, bumper to bumper, filling the air with their fumes, staining the streets with their oil, blaring their stinking way through the streets of a birdless city.

"But if any of these gentlemen appear in my net with their guns to destroy my starlings, I pity them."

Member Wants Equal Pay For Women

OTTAWA (CP)—A woman member of Parliament gets equal pay with men MPs. One woman in the Commons, Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, thinks Parliament should pass a law extending this idea to industry and business.

Mrs. Fairclough, PC member for Hamilton West, Tuesday proposed such a bill in the Commons. She urged the federal government to follow the lead of Ontario, British Columbia and Saskatchewan which have similar legislation for employers under provincial jurisdiction.

Mrs. Fairclough did not refer to the equality of pay among men and women members of Parliament but Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) did in supporting the bill.

However, Labor Minister Gregg said he does not believe the problem of pay differences between the sexes is serious enough to warrant a law requiring equality in industries under federal jurisdiction.

He said that the major labor bodies which have completed making their equal pay recommendations to the government did not ask for such legislation. Nor had the National Council of Women.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WISHFUL THINKING IS A WASTE OF TIME

Nothing in the world is so easy as to fool yourself into believing that something you want very much to be true, actually is true.

It is very, very hard to look squarely in the face of something you wish were true, and admit honestly to yourself that it really is not.

One of the most curious ways in which people—and, I think, especially women—delude themselves is imagining that some particular man is interested in them even though he has given them no reason whatever for any such idea.

That is what, in modern psychological language, is called "wishful thinking." You want it to be true that a particular someone loves you. You can't bear for it not to be true. Therefore you tell yourself that it must be true.

My mail is full of letters from people who are indulging in this sort of foolish daydreaming. Mostly, they come from the very young; either young in years, or in emotional development. Typical illustrations of this type of wishful thinking are the following sentences, taken directly from four such letters:

"He seems to be interested in me, yet he never asks me out."

"All my friends tell me that he is in love with me, but he never asks me for a date." "He acts as though he loves me. The only thing is, he seems afraid to tell me so." "I know he loves me but he's too bashful to ask me to go out with him."

Now there aren't so very many absolute certainties in this world. But one of the principles that comes closest to qualifying for this term is that if a boy has a yen for a girl, or a young man is intrigued by a young woman, or for the eye of a middle-aged or elderly widower, bachelor or divorced man is caught by girl, young woman or middle-aged or elderly widow, spinster or divorcee, one of the very first things he thinks of is—in the words of my correspondents—to "ask her out." It will be week after week goes by without a given male suggesting as much as a trip to the movies to a given female, it is wishful thinking of the highest order to imagine for one moment that he is secretly pining for her. It is no secret passion that afflicts him, but a vast indifference.

So my advice to any girl who wants a special young man to be interested in her is for her to start by admitting honestly to herself that at present he hardly knows she exists. Don't fog up the problem by trying to persuade yourself that you're starting from anything but scratch in your campaign to win his attention.

Next, instead of trying to angle for a date, make yourself so attractive and so interesting that you'll be kept busy every night in the week with invitations from both girl friends and boy friends. That has a double purpose.

The first, of course, is to let the boy see that people have such fun with you that they're anxious to have you around, which is very likely to intrigue your young man to the point where he'll want a date with you himself.

The second purpose of such a program is to give yourself such a good time that you'll do very well for yourself even though the particular object of your affections never does fall for you. It might even be that in the course of your good times, you'll find somebody else you'll like still better!

Eat and Run

By Mary Moore

What I was doing isn't interesting —except to us and maybe a few of you friendly readers— but what I did about managing the food connected with it might help you. You, too, have to streamline your meals, when you must sandwich your own activities between the goings and comings of your family. Every mother does.

This was the set-up. At 4:15 am, on Saturday Pete telephoned to say he was bringing his chum Kaye home and could we have dinner early for Kaye had to play basketball at 7 p.m. Marianne telephoned to ask if she could bring Herbie home for lunch on Sunday after church. Now that's simple enough, but I wanted to go to church at 11 a.m., and teach Sunday School at 3 p.m., be at my sister's at 4 p.m. to help prepare a turkey dinner for a host of the guests having been invited by me to her house without consulting her, because they had telephoned me from a city 150 miles distant to say they were coming for Sunday afternoon. Previously we had already invited Marie for Sunday dinner because it was this old girl's birthday.

A lot people were taking a lot of hospitality for granted—and that's exactly as I and my sister want them to feel.

I made one basic dessert that served both Saturday dinner and Sunday lunch. And I virtually threw together an oven dish that had to take care of its own cooking while we were at church, and be ready to eat when we all hit the house at 12:30 after church.

Everybody arrived on time and I arrived at Sunday School to find I had 13 pupils all expectantly gazing up at me as I opened the classroom door at the stroke of two o'clock.

The two menus were:

1) Baked Breaded Pork Chops, Buttered Noodles, Spinach, Tossed Salad, Lemon Snow with Custard Sauce, Doughnuts, Coffee.

2) Quartered Broiling Chicken Baked on Rice, Health Salad, Lemon Snow with Mandarin Oranges and Custard Sauce, Hermits, Coffee.

LEMON SNOW WITH CUSTARD SAUCE

(7 servings)

Soak 1 1-4 tablespoons gelatin in 1-3 cup cold water 5 minutes. Dissolve it by stirring into it 1 cup boiling water. Stir in 2-3 cup sugar, and when that is dissolved add 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Let this chill until it begins to congeal and a consistency of thin honey. When it is thus partially set, beat with rotary beater until very foamy, and when allowed to stand for a minute, clear liquid does not settle at bottom of bowl. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff, and fold them into the beaten gelatin mixture. Pile lightly in seven sherbet glasses and put in refrigerator to set and chill.

CUSTARD SAUCE

To the 2 leftover egg yolks add 1-3 tablespoons sugar, in top of double boiler heat to scalding point 3-4 cup whole milk. Slowly stir into the mixed sugar and yolks about half of the hot milk, then stir it into the remaining milk in double boiler until thick enough to coat spoon. This is not very thick at all while it is so hot, but you must not overcook it. Remove it from heat as soon as it thickens slightly. Add shake of salt and 1-2 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into pitcher to chill.

When serving time comes, pour sauce over snow pudding and top with a few sections of canned Mandarin oranges or a maraschino cherry. If you are going to keep sauce that is left in refrigerator overnight it should be carefully covered or skin will form.

QUARTERED BROILING CHICKEN BAKED ON RICE

I bought the broiling chicken from Barb, to broil, but that is one thing you can't do in absentia. So I improvised this dish: In large baking dish with cover I put 1 cup rice, 1 1-2 cups cold water and sprinkled it with salt. On top I placed the quartered 3-lb. chicken, sprinkled it with salt, pepper and a lot of paprika, dotted the whole thing with about 3 tablespoons butter, put on cover, set oven temperature at 375 deg. Fahr. at 10:30 a.m., then went to church. It was delicious when we sat down at 12:40. Chicken was golden and rice was flavored with its juices.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

WHEN A YOUNG WIDOW RE-MARRIES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A. I am a widow, 34 years of age, with two small daughters, and I am to be married in about two months. My fiance and I would like to be married by a minister in our church. For a second marriage is a church wedding considered correct? If so, are there any restrictions as to music or soloist? Is the procession for this type of wedding the same a for a first wedding? And is the bride given away at a second marriage?

What else wedding and reception is proper for the second marriage? Both my fiance and I have many friends, and also he has numerous business friends who would like to be at either the wedding ceremony or reception or both — A.

1. Since you are a widow, and if your fiance is not divorced, there will probably be no reason why you may not be married in the church. But to hope you can be married in your church, however, of course, you must consult with your minister about this, and about the date and hour you wish to reserve the church, and all other plans for the ceremony. The minister will inform you about the music, or he may refer you to the sexton, with whom you will arrange about the music you wish . . . he will also tell you the proper official fee for the organist and for the soloist, if there is to be one. Simplicity . . . that's the best taste for a second marriage. You should have only one attendant, perhaps a matron of honor; the bridegroom of course has a best man; and you may need two or three ushers to seat the guests, the ushers perhaps not taking part in the processional and recessional. Your father or other male relative may give you in marriage, if you like.

2. It would be far the best taste for you to invite to the ceremony and reception only the relatives and most intimate friends.

Moose Ladies Plan Banquet For Blind

On Thursday evening the Women of the Moose, Belleville Chapter 452, held their last meeting of the month in the Moose Hall with Senior Regent, Ruth Minty, presiding, with good attendance.

One candidate, Marion Gedman of Trenton, was initiated into the degree of the circle.

Two candidates will be initiated at a next meeting. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by recorder Nellie Scrymgeour.

A letter was read from Mrs. J. T. Forester of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary inviting the Women of the Moose to join with them in work.

Thank you cards were received from Mrs. Boivin, Pearl Way, and Mrs. Simpson. The Senior Regent gave a report on the pot luck supper held last week which was a huge success.

The next meeting will an open meeting followed by a euchre. Chairman Marie Thrasher and her committee served refreshments.

Sentinel, Lena Connel, and Arbor, Louella Downer, thanked the Chapter for gifts and cards received while ill.

Co-worker Mary Wright spoke of the banquet held for the C.N.I.B. by the Kineties on Wednesday evening which was attended by the Senior Regent, Ruth Minty, and Gladys Ritch.

On March 25th the members of the C.N.I.B. will be invited by the Academy of Friendship members of the chapter to attend the meeting. A banquet will be served in their honor.

Junior Regent, Michaeline Calbury, and Willie Burke will receive a draw on a blanket to help in raise funds. A draw for lovely glasses which were donated by Mary Mallette was won by Mary Wright.

Following the meeting a penny bingo was held by Mary Van Dusen.

Club Activities

MEN'S CLUB MEETS

The monthly supper meeting of Hallowell Street Church Men's Club was held in the Church Hall on Wednesday, February 24th.

There was a large increase in attendance over the February meeting and the members, after enjoying supper, were entertained by music and motion pictures.

The executive for the coming year was appointed and the members present laid basic plans for projects which would be undertaken during 1954.

WESLEY W. A.

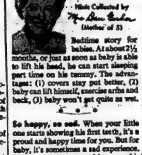
The regular meeting of the Wesley W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. J. Stewart on Wednesday with a splendid attendance.

The president, Mrs. Windover welcomed the members.

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. M. Rutter. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Stewart. Readings were given by Mrs. Rutter, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Lowe. Several aprons and pot holders were turned in for the fall bazaar.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. E. Rutter.



The hostess and the lunch committee served refreshments.

H. HAINES MONEY

A large sum of money for the playground equipment fund was raised at the euchre and dance held by the Foxboro Home and School Association on Friday night.

Prize winners, were: ladies', 1st, Mrs. J. Herbertson, ladies' consolation, Miss Ruby Eggleton. Men's 1st, Bob Meyers, men's consolation Walter Johnston, door prize, Guy Wannamaker.

Following refreshments dancing was enjoyed with Mr. and Mrs. W. Rombough and Mr. Lorne Carter providing the music. Mr. Gordon Mills and Mr. Lyle Lewis called for the square dances.

Bedtime story for babies. At about 7½ months, or just as soon as baby is able to lift his head, he can start sleeping part time on his tummy. The advantages: (1) covers stay put better, (2) baby can lift himself, exercise arms and back, (3) baby won't get quite as wet.

So happy, so neat. When your little one starts showing his first teeth, it's a proud and happy time for you. But for baby, it's sometimes a sad experience. Here's a way to ease him over his troubling troubles. Gerber's Teething Biscuits provide baby with the chewing satisfaction he needs, give gentle comfort to tender gums. Made from wholesome ingredients, Teething Biscuits are specially firm, specially shaped so that little hands can hold them easily. Individually wrapped in cellophane, so convenient for you to carry in pocket or purse when visiting.

Familiar idea. New foods, at whatever age, are more pleasing to baby if you make them similar in texture to foods he's familiar with. Cereals should be quite soupy at first. As baby progresses to pureed or strained foods, then to minced junior foods, he'll be happier with a thicker cereal consistency.

• • •

Many doctors prescribe orange juice as soon as baby is happily established on milk or formula. Important facts to remember about Gerber's Strained Orange Juice, processed just for babies: it's made from true-ripened oranges, selected for high Vitamin C content. It has an especially mild, natural flavor. And Gerber's Orange Juice is carefully pasteurized and finely strained.

Friends Honor Couple On Anniversary

On Saturday evening, February 27, Mr. and Mrs. James Calbeck, 34 Colborne St., were taken by surprise when a number of friends visited them to celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary.

During the evening card games were played. Mr. Ernie Mott presented Mr. and Mrs. Calbeck with gifts on behalf of those present.

Refreshments were served.

The bride and groom of yesteryear cut an anniversary cake made by Mrs. John Armstrong.

All wished the guests of honor many more happy anniversaries.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

PREPARING FOR THE BIG DATE

If you are tearing through life like crazy, as most of us seem to be doing these days, and if you have a big date ahead, do give yourself a restful breathing period before your Best Feller comes to drag you places. If the day has been particularly hectic, don't fancy that you can fare forth radiant and dazzlingly lovely without resting. Believe it, or be scrornful, but you are not made of wire and fiddle strings; you are made of substance that suffers from wear and tear and exhaustion. So—

Let us say that you are not in your usual sprightly form and the merry evening looms ahead. The first thing to do is to refresh yourself by lolling in a warm bath. It will untie the knots in your nervous system. Tense fibers will relax. Close your eyes; breathe deeply. Go over your body surface with a soaped brush of heavy bristles to awaken sluggish blood streams. This stimulation will cause your complexion to take on a pleasing glow.

Before getting into the tub apply a cleansing cream to your face and neck. Let some remain on. The combination of lubricant and moist air will make your skin soft and smooth. Finish the bath with an alternating hot and cold shower. Have a brisk rub down, then use a fragrant dusting powder.

This is the time to get out the atomizer and spray the neck, arms and shoulders with toilet water. Warm flesh will cause the alcoholic content to evaporate and only the flowery essence will remain—to stay with you all evening.

Now for the best part of your pick-up treatment. Place an ice cold compress over your eyes. Use a heavy wash cloth; little pads of gauze don't cover enough flesh. Lie down; go limp. If you can snatch just twenty minutes of relaxation, you won't look wilted when the party ends.

A foundation cosmetic will help make-up to stay by you so you won't need any touch-ups. If you have never used any of these toiletries, experiment with them. You may find a cream rouge more satisfactory than the compact for evening use. And don't forget those last little dabs of perfume. They lend enchantment.

30 Attend Stork Shower

A stork shower was held recently at the home of Mrs. C. F. Moore, 184 James Street, Belleville, for Mrs. Andy Ernest. Thirty guests attended.

Mrs. Ernest was presented with a doll's carriage decorated in pink and white and laden with many useful gifts.

Refreshments were served. Mrs. C. F. Moore acted as hostess. Mrs. Shirley Superson cut the cakes and Mrs. Jean Armstrong and Mrs. Dorothy Dobson poured tea and coffee.

Annexation Powers of Board Are Criticized

TORONTO (CP) — Arthur Child (C—Wentworth) on Tuesday criticized as "undemocratic" a section of the Ontario Municipal Act which permits a city to annex an adjoining area even against the wishes of residents of the area concerned.

Speaking in throne speech debate in the Ontario legislature, he said the act gives a municipality power to appeal to the Ontario municipal board for the right to annex part of a neighboring municipality without consulting the municipality affected. He suggested the act should be revised.

Other topics touched on during the day's sitting ranged from pensions for members of the legislature to high-powered cars and the difficulties faced by the textile industry. Speakers besides Mr. Child were R. N. Myers (PC—Waterloo South) and Aurele Chartrand (L—Ottawa East).

LAKES REPORT

The report of the select committee on the Cemeteries Act was tabled. Its recommendations included one that "high-pressure selling" of cemetery lots be curbed.

A select committee's report on water levels of the Great Lakes is scheduled to be tabled today.

Mr. Child said that in the recent annexation by Hamilton of part of Saltfleet township, without consideration for the future of the smaller municipality, the municipal board permitted the township to be torn apart for the benefit of Hamilton.

"In the face of unanimous opposition of the township's council and of 80-per-cent of the people in the area, it was handed over to Hamilton. Today, with much higher taxes, the plight of those people is much worse than ever."

Mr. Child also said new high-powered automobiles are just "bankers' hot rods." He urged governors for cars to limit them to 60 miles an hour, leaving a 10-mile margin over the legal speed limit for emergency use.

FINANCIAL STRAITS

Mr. Chartrand, a bachelor member of the Opposition, came out for the pensions. Emphasizing that he was expressing his own views and not necessarily those of his party, he said that in the past many members have left public service only to find themselves in financial straits. He said the alternative to a pension plan is that the political domain "will become, generally speaking, the preserve of people with affluence or political adventurers."

Mr. Myers said that in one large woollen mill in his riding, only 505 persons are employed where 1,200 once held jobs. He said that last December there were 22,000 unplaced job applicants in the Canadian textile industry.

"The principal reason for this distressing condition is that for the past 15 years Canada has been consistently reducing its import duties on textiles with the result that the Canadian market has been all but captured by goods of foreign manufacture."

School for Indians

SARNIA (CP)—Sarnia board of education Monday night decided to build a three-room school for Indian children as an addition to Sarnia's Blue Water school.

The addition is to open, if possible, in September, 1954, enabling the Indian affairs branch to close St. Clair Indian day school on the nearby Sarnia reserve.

The department of citizenship and immigration said in a letter to the board that it will bear the cost of additional facilities required by the admission of Indian children, including buildings and equipment, up to a total of $60,000.

Accidents Worry Legislators Of 3 Provinces

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Problems arising from the mounting toll of traffic accidents were discussed Tuesday in the legislatures of Quebec, Ontario and Saskatchewan.

Major changes in traffic laws were announced in the house at Regina. A bill given first reading contained provisions to double minimum fines for violations, as well as new regulations covering truck loading and license issuing. "A truck loaded on one part of its cargo could drop on a highway would bring in more a fine or jail term."

Quebec's Premier Duplessis blamed some of the growing number of traffic accidents on credit buying of automobiles. He said most of the persons who buy that way cannot afford to own cars.

"They are not prudent persons, they do not drive as carefully, and all this leads to increases of traffic violations."

At Toronto, Arthur Child, Progressive Conservative member from the Hamilton area riding of Wentworth, said automobile manufacturers spend millions of dollars yearly to sell high-powered cars. The manufacturers claimed the high power was needed "to get you out of difficulty" but the usual reason for getting into difficulty was speeding.

British Budget Sets New Record For Peacetime

LONDON (AP) — The House of Commons Tuesday night approved Britain's record peacetime defence budget by a vote of 295 to 270. Prime Minister Churchill had asked its approval by a vote of confidence, but the Labor opposition forced a ballot.

The budget, pointed toward a "new look" building of Britain air and atomic strength as a deterrent to war, provides for the expenditure of £1,625,000,000 in the fiscal year starting April 1. It tops the announced outlay for the current year by £3,160,000.

Churchill asked in debate Tuesday night that the House accept the budget without a vote to keep the defence question out of "the trough of party bickerings." He said "any weakness or disunity in Britain, when she is known to be working for peace, would weaken her strength out of all proportion to the money saved."

CRIPPLER ECONOMY

Labor leader Clement Attlee said "it has always been clear to us that one of the objects of the Kremlin would be to make us expend so much on military preparations that we might cripple our economy."

Conservatives and Labor divided on strict party lines in approving the budget, which includes United States military aid amounting to £85,360,000.

LONDON (CP)—Alfred E. Ballcombe and his wife, Edna, are bewildered. Their foster son, Peter, who had "never dodo anything wrong" while living with them until the age of 19, will be hanged at Cornwall, Ont., May 25 for the fatal stabbing of a pretty young WAC sergeant.

The Ballcombes' intimate knowledge of Peter Balcombe, 24, ends in June, 1949, when Peter was 19 years old. Of necessity, they reluctantly returned to England, but they were confident that Peter had the "balance" to carve out for himself the Canadian medical career he seemed set on.

They learned by newspaper reports of his arrest and conviction at Cornwall, Ont., for the murder of 20-year-old Marie Anne Carrier, a CWAC reserve army sergeant with whom he had been keeping company.

(The stabbed body of the Blenville, Que., girl was found in a ditch near Cornwall, Oct. 16. Young Balcombe, married and the father of two children, was arrested at London, Ont., four days later. He will be hanged May 25.)

CLEVER, HIGH-STRUNG

"He lost touch with us," said Mrs. Balcombe, clean-cut world-worn hands as she stood in the small Balcombe house, located on a small sidestreet in London's working-class district of Putney. "We had always watched and trained him—he was clever, high-strung and a dreamer with a boiling-pot mind—and I am certain this would never have happened if we had been there."

Echoing her shock and confusion, her accountant husband added disbelting sentences: "We thought he had the balance to go ahead on his own. I feel a terrible responsibility to the Canadian people."

Then, together, they recalled the development of Peter Balcombe in Montral and Brantford, Ont. "It's a wonderful country, Canada," said Mrs. Balcombe. "How I wish we were back."

"He always got good marks and he loved school so," said Mrs. Balcombe, fingering Peter's school certificates. "Sometimes I'd get up with him at four a.m. When he wanted to concentrate on a subject—and if he did he'd talk it breakfast, lunch and tea."

They recalled, too, his "blackouts" and the doctor's warning that Peter must not over-exert himself because of them.

Girl Testifies She Accompanied Men on Ride

SUDBURY (CP)—Blanche Deschaneaux testified Tuesday at the murder trial of Robert Deslauriers, 29, of Montreal that she accompanied Deslauriers, two youths and slaying victim Frank Asselin on a car ride to a lonely sideroad four miles north of here the night of Oct. 2.

Asselin, a bushworker who formerly lived in St. Catharines, was found dead near the sideroad Oct. 3. Doctors said he had been fatally beaten.

Deslauriers was charged with murder jointly with Montreal youths Emile Bedard and Jean Guy Hemaire. He chose to be tried separately. Bedard and Hemaire were convicted last week and sentenced to be hanged.

Miss Deschaneaux said she drove from Toronto with Deslauriers, also known as Jean Paul Bisson, accompanied by Hemaire and Bedard. She said they arrived here Oct. 1. The next night, she said, they met Asselin in a hotel beverage room and he asked to be taken to a bootlegger's.

ALONE IN CAR

The girl said Deslauriers drove the car to the sideroad and the four men left her in the car.

She said that 15 or 30 minutes later they returned without Asselin. She quoted Hemaire as saying:

"He will sleep for a while. We will be able to go a long way."

She said she concluded Asselin had fallen asleep at the wheel.

High-Powered Selling of Cemetery Lots Scored in Ont. Legislature

TORONTO (CP)—High-pressure methods used in the selling of cemetery plots drew fire from the Ontario legislature's select committee on the Cemeteries Act Tuesday.

The committee's report, tabled in the house by J. N. Allan (PC—Haldimand-Norfolk), proposed formation of a three-man advisory board to control sales and the licensing of salesmen, as well as the appointment of supervisors to inspect cemeteries and to safeguard plot holders.

The report also urged creation of perpetual care funds to be invested in trust, thus assuring a longer life for Ontario cemeteries.

"In making these recommendations against the high-pressure selling of cemetery plots . . . we feel the restrictions are justified," Mr. Allan said. "We do not feel we have injured anyone with these recommendations."

The committee was formed last April.

According to figures of the health department under whose jurisdiction cemeteries function, 363 are owned by religious bodies, 172 by plot holders, 138 by municipalities, 24 operate privately or for profit, and 183 are miscellaneous and undefined.

NUMBER INCREASED

The number of cemeteries operated for gain is small compared to the total but they have increased in recent years.

The report said:

"Owners of cemeteries not operated for gain submitted before the committee that personal solicitation of sales for cemeteries operated for gain created unfair competition. They stated that not to feel this was a method of selling they wished to adopt since their cemeteries were always available to the public when the plots were required. They stated that if so called 'door-to-door' selling was allowed to continue, difficulties would be encountered in financing the older cemeteries, and might result in a number of them becoming burdens on the municipalities concerned.

SOME CONDITIONS

"The committee does not feel cemeteries operated for gain should be prohibited in the future, because they provide burial services of a kind evidently preferred by some . . . The committee is of the opinion that in the future, cemeteries operated for gain should be allowed to continue operations providing certain conditions are observed.

Maple Leafs Can Take Second Place Tonight Providing 'Jinx' Holds Good

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

WELL, WELL, WELL...

Picking game winners in this senior "B" playoffs series is like selecting the first hanky-boy to get back with a load after the queen has announced open-season on production. Now who in hockey would have bet the Kingston Geodynors would have hung a neat jnizy 5-0 horse collar on the Oshawa Truckmen right in their own Bowmanville ballwick. Which just what happened last night, kiddies and down Bodderville way the Geodine stock has soared no end. We have no details of the game at time of writing but that score is sufficient. The teams clash tonight in Kingston and you'll be lucky to get a seat in the rafter section.

WELLINGTON-TRENTON HERE TONIGHT

The Wellington Iron Dukes and Trenton Carr Admirals clash in the second game of their best-of-three Trent Valley semi-finals in Memorial Arena tonight. The Admirals whipped the Dukes 9-2 in their first clash. 'Tis rumored, via Picton way, that there has been a shake-up in TVH, officialdom with President Ari Duncen's spot being taken over by a Mr. Carr from Trenton. Lyn Greer, Wellington, we hear, has been ousted from the official clique, and there's been some very going's on, we are informed. Brian Mulvihill will be in a Wellington uniform tonight. Looks like puckchasing fireworks, all the way round.

"CAFF A MO, MITE!"

Uncle "Dame!" Parker, sports columnist of the New York Daily Mirrer, is an expert dialectician. He knows his Brooklynese like a native Flatbusher. He can let down Hebrew, German, Finnish and practically every other dialect known including that of the long-lipped Ubangis. But Uncle "Dame!" in his column the other day erred slightly in his presentation of the English dialect "as he is spoken in Manchester."

The fact was brought to our notice by Willie Lacemaker, copy boy freshly arrived from Manchester, who has the true Mancunian dialect.

"'Lookut this, lad. There's summat wrong." Willie pointed a grimy forefinger at Parker's column. "Ah've bin around abit, Ah have, and Ah've seen quite a bit o' Lance, too. It's a thing, y'know, to see the laddies and lassies o' the clogs and shawl, bein' blamed for talkin' like the blokes o' Bow Bella."

We agreed with Willie. Parker wrote the story of one "Foulproof" Taylor, a Mancunian expatriate who went to the United States and there allegedly invented head-guards for football players, shin-guards for soccer players and stomach guards for boxers. The column dealt with the return of "Foulproof" to his native Manchester, and what happened in a pub there.

He wrote the column in a true-to-the-line Cockney dialect. It would have done credit to any peasrt-encrusted 'Arry and 'Arriet from 'Amstead 'Eath or Covent Garden, or a Petticoat Lane's Sunday morning business in rags.

But here is how Parker wrote it. You blokes from 'across the pond" will get a big kick out of it, if you are from anywhere but the home grounds of the "United" or "City". Harris' been a patient in the Trent River Hospital in Nettingham during World War I, we are partial, E'gum, to the "Forest" and the County."

"A hatless stranger walked into a pub near the Mune Road grounds of Manchester city just before the team was scheduled to play the Frankenham Hotspurs from London.

"He was an American by his clothes" says Parker. "Ears pricked up from one end of the bar to the other 'opin' to 'ear the man of mystery order a round for the 'ouse. "He signalled the barmaid.

"What'll you 'ave, sir!" she asked.

He surveyed the drooling audience before he replied. "I'll 'ave an 'ammer".

"An 'ammer," repeated the barmaid. "Sykes alive, I never 'eard of a drink called a 'ammer, me wots been 'andlin' this tap for 24 years come bank 'oliday. Speak up like the gentleman I mistook you for and stop spoofin' a lidy what as to work 'ard for a livin'."

"Beerin' your pardng, lass," said the stranger, "but a 'ammers not a drink. A 'ammer is something you 'll somethink with. I ersk you, like a gentleman, 'ave you got a 'ammer or 'aven't you got a 'ammer?"

"Oh, a 'ammer" said the barmaid coyly, "Would a bungstarter do? 'Ere it is, sir as 'ow I was tryin' to be cheery."

"Rights" said the man of mystery tossing her a slightly-bent bob. He stepped back and started hammering his shins with such grace that the barmaid screamed: "Stop 'im before he 'arts 'imself and I'm 'alted before the assizes as a accessor before the bloody fact."

The barflies, Parker writes, edged towards the stranger. He lifted both trouser legs to the knees, revealing a pair of shinguards.

"Why, them's wot the 'Otspurs wear," cried one drooling son. "If you don't believe me tyke a look this arternoon at the gyme."

A cry of recognition went up from the crowd. "You're not Foulproof Tyler, the bloke that beerme a millyonaire in the styles inventin' all those 'eadguards!"

"Lor luvva duck (Bilney, if that ain't Bow Bells and not Manchester, George Robey never appeared with Violet Lorraine in ("The Byng Boys") If I'm not. Call me Jymes and 'ave one with me."

Willie shook his 'ead-parden-head. "It does beat all, lad, what Lunnon's done t'Manchester, 'Arold with 'is 'awk an 'is 'and will turn over in his grave in 'Astings. There socialists must 'ave raised 'ell over 'ome since Ah left,' E'gum.

Even Willie was getting his dialects mixed, so we settled for an 'arf-and-'arf.

Meet Lowly New York Rangers In Crucial Positional Game; Blues Can Make Fourth Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The jinx may be Toronto Maple Leafs' greatest weapon tonight.

If so, they can count on taking over second place in the National Hockey League. The Leafs meet New York Rangers and the New Yorkers have only sad memories of not having won a game in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens since Nov. 3, 1935.

It's the only league game of the night and a big one for both clubs. A Leaf win would move them two points ahead of Montreal Canadiens, who have been dueling the Leafs for the second spot for the last few weeks. A Ranger victory would move them past Boston Bruins and into the fourth and last Stanley Cup playoff berth.

Coach Muzz Patrick of the Rangers is counting on this one to move the New Yorkers ahead of Boston. He had them fired up for a 3-1 victory over the Leafs in New York two weeks ago, the last time the two clubs met.

So far this year the Rangers have one tie in five starts on Toronto ice. They have nine games to go in the 70-game schedule and have 58 points, one behind coach Lynn Patrick's Bruins.

The Leafs have been off on their shooting in the last couple of games and coach King Clancy says he's been working hard for the last few days.

SHOOT STRAIGHTER

"I want to try to start shooting straighter and more often," he [illegible] have been away off".

The Leafs can't miss a playoff berth. It's just a question of whom they meet, in the first round, the unparalleling Detroit Red Wings, the Bruins or Rangers.

The Leafs may have some trouble with Doug and Max Bentley, the two power play experts will be the Chicago Black Hawks centres together for the first time since they were teammates with Chicago Blues. Max and Doug, together, make up the two best point men in the business."

Selke Insists Montreal Ripe For Second Team

MONTREAL (CP) —Managing director Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens, tub-thumping and pipe-fully needling Connie Smythe, said Tuesday the statement of the Toronto Maple Leafs' boss that Montreal isn't ripe for a second National Hockey League team "does not alter the situation in the least."

In interviews last week-end Selke suggested a Montreal entry of a second team because fans want it—as indicated by thousands of letters for season tickets to Canadiens' games—and can't be sold junior and minor pro hockey.

From Florida, where he is belaying-the-pins, Smythe replied at length one or two American teams in the NHL are having difficulties getting enough players and "I don't think there are enough players of NHL calibre around to provide for a seventh team at the present time."

In a statement Tuesday Selke said that "for Montrealers who are anxious to see big-time hockey, here is my final suggestion."

"Jack Adams, (manager of Detroit Red Wings) is a man of many fuss, keeps coming up with sensational amateur super-stars. He sold all-stars Kenny Reibel and Vic Lumley without weakening the team.

"If I wanted to form an English team in Montreal I would offer Jack Adams 100,000 dollar title featuring Abe Lincoln's picture for Gordie Howe, pick out a few boys who are on the loose, surround them with useful checkers and start clipping coupons."

Glen Cunningham, the great American runner, set a pace in 4:04.4 for the mile at Hanover, N.H., 18 years ago today. The mark set by Cunningham, then 21, has been beaten several times with the existing world's record credited to Sweden's Gunder Haegg, who did 4:01.4 at Stockholm in 1945.

Unbeaten Alberta, N. Ontario Meet Today in Crucial Game Of Canadian Championships

By JACK SNEYDER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Two undefeated rinks meet today in what may prove to be the crucial game of the 1954 Canadian curling championships.

Alberta, skipped by 37-year-old Matt Baldwin of Edmonton, meets northern Ontario, skipped by Don Groom of Sudbury, in the fifth round of the championships at 3 p.m. MST.

Both rinks boast four straight victories. Baldwin holds decisions over Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island. Northern Ontario has defeated British Columbia, Newfoundland, Ontario and Quebec.

Both rinks have brought in the drawing game and observers are looking for the best match of the five-day bonspiel.

Alberta scored its third and fourth victories Tuesday, defeating Manitoba 12-7 on the opening draw and edging Prince Edward Island 9-3 on the second draw of the day.

Northern Ontario defeated Ontario, previously undefeated, 10-8 in the first draw Tuesday and walloped Quebec 14-7 in the second round.

In other games Tuesday: New Brunswick defeated Nova Scotia 14-11 in the first round and edged Manitoba 8-7 in an extra end in the second round; Prince Edward Island edged Quebec 11-9 and then lost 9-5 to Alberta; British Columbia defeated Newfoundland 10-7 and then edged Ontario 11-10.

DROP CLOSE DECISION

Saskatchewan, which had a bye on the first round, dropped an 11-10 decision to Nova Scotia in one of the best games of the day. Newfoundland had the bye in the second round.

British Columbia and New Brunswick, who had both byes in earlier draws, have two victories and one loss apiece. Grouped behind them with 2-2 records are Ontario and Prince Edward Island. Saskatchewan, which has also had a bye, has one win against two losses.

Manitoba, Quebec and Nova Scotia have 1-3 records and Newfoundland has three straight losses.

Nova Scotia, skipped by Reg Piercy of Halifax, went against Saskatchewan Campbell brothers rink Tuesday in the best game of the day.

After building an early lead, Nova Scotia was gradually overtaken by Saskatchewan which went one up on the 11th end.

The Campbells were counting one when Piercy delivered his last rock. It worked its way through a narrow port and inched up against another Piercy rock just back of the button, edging out two Saskatchewan rocks which had been lying shot.

A crowd of about 2,000 persons applauded as Piercy counted two, enough to win 11-10.

Teepees Defeat Montreal Canadiens In What Might be Preview of Finals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fans in Montreal Tuesday night may well have had a peek at a preview of the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup final and 4,000—the largest junior crowd of the season—turned out to see St. Catharines TeePees defeat Montreal Canadiens 2-1.

The TeePees, league-leaders of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, and the Canadiens, on top of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Junior loop, didn't disappoint the crowd. The game was close.

In the only other junior game of the night Kitchener Waterloo Greenshirts defeated the last-place Black Hawks 8-2 in Galt.

Brian Cullen, OHA scoring leader who already has broken the Junior league's scoring mark, got both goals for the TeePees. Henri Richard, Montreal's ace, notched the sole marker for the Canadiens.

Bob Maxwell of the TeePees was in the penalty box when Richard gave the Canadiens a 1-0 lead in the second period at 5:24. Cullen knotted the count five minutes later while Denis Brodeur was off for the Canadiens.

In the final period Montreal's Henri Cherier was sitting it out when Cullen took a pass from his brother Barry and fired the winning counter from the blue line. St. Catharines took nine of the 15 penalties handed out but except for the one which allowed Montreal the goal the TeePees didn't have much trouble while they were short handed.

Kitchener's victory over the Hawks came after the Greenshirts lost their netminder Claude Pronovost in the first period. Provost was struck in the face by a puck one minute before the end of the period and left for the remainder of the game. Hospital authorities said that in addition to face cuts the netminder may be suffering a possible concussion.

Don Oliver replaced the injured netminder and had an easy time with only 13 shots to handle. Both goals were scored on him.

Fred Glover led the Greenshirts scoring three goals. Dud Horne fired two and singles went to Bruce Angus, Ken Cressman and Greig Hicks. Ed Switzer and Red Crawford tallied for the Hawks, cellar-dwellers in the league standings. Kitchener's victory hoisted the Greenshirts to within two points of the fourth-place Hamilton Cubs.

St. Catharines play the Reds in Trois-Rivieres, Que., tonight while other games have Toronto St. Michael's College Majors at Hamilton Guelph Biltmores at Barrie Flyers and Toronto Marlboros at Kitchener.

CANADA ENTERED

ARE, Sweden (AP)—Top alpine skiers from 10 nations are expected to compete in the Arlberg-Kandahar ski festival at Grumisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, March 12-14, Dr. Fred Stober, sports commissioner of the West German Ski Federation, said Tuesday entries have been received from Canada, United States, Japan, France, Switzerland, and Austria in addition to West Germany, Sweden and Norway also are expected to send their top skiers.

With The Minors

By GARRY ALEXANDER

There was plenty of action around the arena on Saturday morning with six playoff games played, three in bantam and the other three in pee wee.

In the bantam section the Black Hawks built up a five goal lead over the Rangers to carry into Saturday's game which the Hawks lost four out front and the Bruins are three.

The Hawk slaughter of the Rangers was led by Gord Vaughan with three of the nine goals while Quinn and Sprague had two each. One unusual feature of the game was the penalty shot awarded to Quinn when he was tripped from behind on a breakaway. He went in close on the free shot and made no mistake. Final score was 9-4.

Arnold Barclay, youngest brother of Don, turned in a fine performance between the pipes for the Bruins to earn his shutout while Gord of the Leafs also looked good for his goose egg.

The Leafs big line picked on where they left off at the end of the regular season with all four of the teams goals. Brennan had two and the others one each.

The pee wees are one week ahead of the bantams in their playoffs due to the fact the bantam all-star team took one Saturday morning from 9 to 11 for practice. Maybe they should have used the pee wee time too.

The Black Hawks won their series with 1815 trouble at all by virtue of their 5-0 win last week and their 4-0 victory the week before. The Rangers won their game on Saturday but only by one goal and they lost out on the round 6-5 to the Bruins while the Canadiens broke their tie with the Wings taking the game 2-0 and the series 4-2.

This means the Bruins and "Les Habs" will meet in the semi-finals with the Black Hawks going against the winners for the title. The Hawks set this round up because of their first place finish.

It seems rather that end the season so soon for the eliminated teams, the losers of the Hilton games for the next couple of weeks while the remaining clubs will complete the playoffs.

Doris was their top scorer again with three goals and an assist. The next game which must be won by Campbellford to remain in the running for the championship of the northern section is also being waged at Marmora on Wednesday evening with Campbellford being the home team.

Marmora hockey team is meeting Vandorf here in the O.H.A. intermediate series on Wednesday evening and playing the second or four out of seven, series in the Vandorf district on March 9.

Havelock Defeats Campbellford 10-4

MARMORA, — Using Marmora Arena as their home rink, Havelock's hockey team defeated Campbellford in a T.V.L. semi-finals game in the northern section on Monday evening before a crowd of six hundred spectators by the score of 10-4.

Both teams had an even share of the good play of the first two periods but in the third, the Havelock boys showed a decided superiority and rang up a string of six goals.

Doris was their top scorer again with three goals and an assist. The next game which must be won by Campbellford to remain in the running for the championship of the northern section is also being waged at Marmora on Wednesday evening with Campbellford being the home team.

Stratford Indians Edge Bulldogs 5-4 To Grab 2-1 Edge in Quarter-Final

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Howie Meeker's Stratford Indians, who finished fifth in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A standings, have Windsor Bulldogs up against the wall in the first round of the playoffs.

The Indians took an important 5-4 victory in Windsor Tuesday night that put Stratford in the driver's seat with a 2-1 edge in the best-of-five game quarter-final. The next game is in Stratford Saturday with the fifth game, if necessary, in Windsor Sunday.

Winner of the series moves into the semi-final against the winner of the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen-Hamilton Tigers set.

Penalties played an important role in the game which was watched by 4,402 fans. The Indians scored all their goals while they had a manpower advantage.

Dinny Flanagan whipped home the winning goal—a short rebound that climaxed a Stratford power play. It was his second goal of the game. Fred Fleischi also scored a pair for the winners, the other going to Bob Mader. Alec Birukow, Wally Kullman and Gord Haidy were the Windsor snipers.

The playoffs started in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior southern group and the favorites showed as was expected.

Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds, who finished the season on top of the league, walloped Timmins Lumber Kings 7-2 in Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury Wolves, who finished second, trounced North Bay Trappers 8-0 in Sudbury.

The victory gives each of the winners a 1-0 lead in each, best-of-seven semi-final.

Leftwinger Tom Smellie and defenceman Don Johnston led the Greyhounds with two goals each. Pentti Lund, Mat Mesich and Ed Mulligan scored the others. Emil Dagenais and Jim Maxwell got Pembroke's goals. Second game of the series will be in Sault Ste. Marie tonight.

In the other semi-final, Ed Harrison, Mauno Kauppi and Tatter McLellan each bagged two goals for Sudbury, Pete Horeck and Yogi Kraiger added singles. Second game is in Sudbury tonight.

The winner of the NOHA will meet the OHA winner to decide Ontario's entry into the Allan Cup playoffs.

Walls Rematched With Harrison; Fight March 23

TORONTO (CP) — Promoter Frank Tunney said Tuesday night a rematch has been set here for March 23 between Tommy Harrison, 23, of Los Angeles and 25-year-old Earl Walls of Toronto, Canadian heavyweight boxing champion.

Harrison, a 3-1 underdog at their last fight here five weeks ago, dropped Walls for two nine-counts and went on to take a 15-round decision. Walls was ranked fifth for Rocky Marciano's world title before the fight. He now is ranked seventh and Harrison sixth.

Russia Chief Opposition To Canada After Bouncing Czechs By 5-2 Score

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Canada's standard - bearers in the world hockey tournament placed their unbeaten record on the line against Germany today after an open date during which the Russians established themselves as their chief opposition.

Toronto East York, scored on only once in their three games, were locked in a three-way tie for second place with Sweden and Czechoslovakia, having whipped the Swedes 8-0 Monday while Moscow Dynamo handed the Czechs their first defeat Tuesday 5-2. The Russians also are unbeaten after four games in the eight-team round-robin schedule.

The Czechs take on last-place Norway and the Dynamos meet Switzerland in today's remaining contests.

For Canadian goalie Don Lockhart, who spent most of the season with a last-place club in Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A group, international competition has proved a welcome contrast.

Lockhart fished the puck out of the Niagara Falls net some 250-odd times this winter. Nobody kept count of his saves, which ran as high as 20 in a single period, But the 23-year-old netminder has been hailed by Swedish sports writers as the best ever to show his wares in the country.

SHOW GOOD DEFENCE

The Russians also have proved themselves defensively, allowing only five goals in their four starts. Their blanket coverage of attacking Czech forwards in the later stages of Tuesday's game proved a key factor in their victory.

East York lost two defencemen in the game against the Swedes and will be fortunate if one of them is back by Sunday. Harold Flikark's wrenched knee is expected to keep him out of action for the next two weeks while Doug Chapman may return for the final game against Russia Sunday with a protective mask protecting his broken jaw.

The Russians lost Bogrov, their best man in the Czech game, in the last minute of play. He was carried off on a stretcher and there was no indication whether he will be fit again before the series ends.

Training Camp Notes

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Trade rumors revolving around Mickey Vernon, holdout first baseman of Washington Senators, were heightened Tuesday by the arrival here of Joe Cronin, general manager of Boston Red Sox.

It was unofficially reported that Cronin and Calvin Griffith, Senator vice-president, talked about a possible Vernon-to-Boston deal.

The Senators' bargaining position is strengthened by the shoulder injury of Ted Williams. Mickey has played some outfield and could provide some of the batting punch that will be lost indefinitely to the Red Sox by Williams' injury.

Vernon apparently is sticking to his demand of $35,00 for 1954. He made about $19,000 last season.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — General manager Muddy Ruel came to terms with pitchers Ralph Branca and Steve Gromek Tuesday, cutting Detroit Tigers' holdouts to three.

Ruel held separate conferences with the two hurlers at this Detroit spring training base. Following the conferences he announced that both righthanders had agreed to salary terms for the 1954 season.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Centre-fielder Willie Mays came directly off an all-night plane ride to the ball park and donned a New York Giants uniform for the first time since May 29, 1952 Tuesday. He turned in a spectacular debut in an intra-squad game.

The 22-year-old star, released from the army Monday, hit a 400-foot homer with two runners on base in his initial trip to the plate, then made two amazing fielding plays.

First he ran into right centre to snare a ball off the wall and double up a runner who had lingered 4 bit too far off first base. Then, after losing a ball momentarily in the sun, he raced back to catch it over his shoulder in deep-est centrefield, some 400 feet away from home plate.

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Walt Linden, 22, reserve catcher for Milwaukee Braves, suffered a fractured and dislocated right thumb Tuesday in the first squad game of the spring training season here. The injury was the result of a foul tip from the bat of Braves No. 1 catcher and captain, Del Crandall.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Mantle, centre fielder and leading slugger of New York Yankees, will not be able to run for at least two weeks and will not play any exhibition games until late in the month.

"The doctors have told him to do nothing but jog until March 15," manager Casey Stengel said. "I have no idea on hurrying him. As long as he is ready to start the season, I'll be satisfied."

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Bill Terry, former New York Giant manager who once hated Brooklyn, was among the spectators as the Dodgers played their first intra-squad game here Tuesday.

Terry, who docked his yacht here Monday night and plans to spend a few days, held an impromptu and unofficial class for pitchers.

"I never ordered a pitcher to throw at a batter and certainly don't approve of the bean ball" said the Jacksonville automobile dealer. "But you must push them back or they will ruin you."

SIGNS WITH PANTHERS

KITCHENER (CP)—Joe Algoi, 23-year-old right handed pitcher from Oxford, Ala., has signed a contract with Kitchener Panthers of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League.

Angel, who has moved to Kitchener to work with a woodworking firm, had 38 victories and 20 defeats with Jacksonville Beach of the Class D Florida State League last year.

Hollywood Opens Full-Scale War Of Big Screens

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Paramount Tuesday night unveiled its new VistaVision process and opened a full-scale war of the big screens.

The Paramount process is a direct competitor with CinemaScope, used by 20th Century-Fox last year. The studio converted all its films to CinemaScope and most of the other studios have made films in that process.

The lone holdout was Paramount, but VistaVision is the reason why. The studio's technicians developed a process whereby the film was fed into the camera horizontally, instead of the normal up-and-down method. This produced a negative more than twice the normal size. This large negative is then compressed to the standard 35-millimetre frame for release.

Paramount said this process can be used for virtually any size of screen frame and is not limited to the "squeeze like effect" of CinemaScope. In other words, the picture can be higher and not as broad.

Sport in Brief

IT DOESN'T SHOW

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Every year Ted Kluszewski hears the same old story—"If they'd stick a fire-cracker under him he'd lead the league."

An easy-going big man with the wrists of a blacksmith, the Cincinnati first baseman takes it all in stride. When they figure up the batting averages he usually hits over .300 and rates among the leaders in home runs and runs batted in.

"I guess as hard as anybody, but it just doesn't show," he said as he sat in the stuffy clubhouse at Plant Field. "They all try to fire me up but I'm just not the type. If I tried, it would be a forced reaction. I just go along, trying to get my base hits."

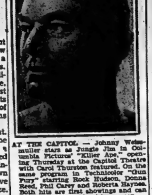
Big Ted, or "Klew" as they call him around the dugouts, his big slugging peak last season with 40 home runs, fourth best in the league, is July he was leading Eddie Mathews but a late season injury slowed him down.

OLD FAN DIES

VANCOUVER (CP)—John (Pop) Cowan, 84, died on the "greatest day of my life."

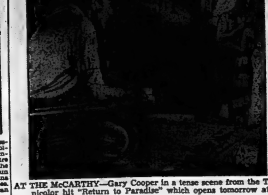
Grant, who was called hockey's oldest fan, collapsed Monday at a luncheon of old-time hockey stars, and died from a heart attack within a few minutes.

"Just before he passed away he murmured this is the greatest day of my life," said Jimmy Ward, a luncheon guest.



For years Pop Grant took in all hockey games at the Vancouver Forum, and last year he journeyed to Chicago where he was a guest of the Black Hawks of the National Hockey League.

CANADIANS QUALIFY



HOUSTON, Tex. (CP)—Four of the five Canadians entered in the $50,000 Texas open golf tournament qualified Tuesday.

Johnny Hendrick of Ottawa led the Canadians with a one-under-par 71. Bob Dean of Cornwall and Murray Tucker of Toronto carded par 72s while Al Balding of Toronto had 74. Johnny Kay of Montreal failed to qualify with an 80.

A score of 73 or better was necessary for 36 of the 110 golfers qualified for Thursday's first round.

AT THE CAPITOL — Johnny Weissmuller stars as Jungle Jim in Columbia Pictures' "Killer Ape," opening at the Capitol Theatre with David Thursday featured. On the same program in Technicolor "Gun Fury" starring Rock Hudson, Donna Reed, Phil Carey and Roberta Haynes. Both hits are first showings and will be seen on our wide vision screen.

AT THE McCARTHY—Gary Cooper in a tense scene from the Technicolor hit "Return to Paradise" which opens tomorrow at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

AT THE CAPITOL. — Nominated for 1953 academy Award best actress, Donna Reed stars with Rock Hudson, Phil Carey and Roberta Haynes in Columbia's new Technicolor "Gun Fury" at the Capitol Theatre in color by Technicolor, co-starring Rock Hudson. Donna Reed, Phil Carey and Roberta Haynes in "Gun Fury" starting Rock Hudson as Jungle Jim. Both hits are first showings.

AT THE BELLE

Dramatic Story of "Martin Luther" Told in Film

Fear of sin and God's judgment struck terror in Martin Luther's heart. So, like many others in the 16th century, the young law student in Erfurt, Germany, sought shelter in a monastery.

This is the dramatic opening of "Martin Luther," the half-million dollar feature film produced on location in Western Germany by Louis de Rochemont Associates, responsible for such provocative cinema achievements as "Lost Boundaries," and "Walk East on Beacon." The picture will be shown at the Belle Theatre, all this week. Matinee daily, and is the only engagement.

Based on the life of the 16th century monk who defied excommunication and the stake in his demand for religious reform, "Martin Luther" provides the first motion picture portrayal of the incindiary beginnings of the Protestant Reformation.

As an Augustinian monk, Luther tried to find peace of mind and soul through study, work, workship, and confession. But he soon came to the conclusion that, no matter what he did, he was not able to escape the fear of evil and punishment.

One day in his tower room in Wittenberg University, he found his answer and he says, "it was like the gates of heaven opened to me." Reading St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans 1:17, he came to this conclusion: "A man can't earn salvation by what he himself does. Man gains salvation through faith in Christ, through what God has done for man through this Saviour."

Performances start daily at 2.00, 7.00 and 9.00 p.m.

SOUTH
♠ K 10 6 4 2
♦ K
♣ 6 5 4 3

South was declarer at a game contract of four spades. It was doubled by west who had originally started the bidding in this deal. So, it looked as if the danger and strength must be there.

Sure enough, west started right out making trouble by cashing three club tricks. Then west led the queen of diamonds. Now stop to consider what declarer must think of what was left.

He must not lose another trick. It looks as if he should have no worry in trumps, he is concerned mostly with whether hearts will finesse safely. Or, so he thought for a moment.

He let the diamond come around to his own south king and took two trump tricks with ace and queen in that order. But when trumps were not followed by west on the second round it looked bad.

East now had left the Jack and another trump. They could only be picked up by leads at them. With no more trumps in dummy, there was no longer any hope of leading a trump for a finesse.

Declarer could not lose a trump trick. So, he took the only course left open to him. A heart by double finessed and the ten held. Dummy returned a diamond and south ruffed.

The heart queen was finessed. Another small dummy diamond was ruffed by south. A heart to the ace entered dummy. When this held, the contract was in the bag. No way to lose it now.

Of the two cards left in dummy it matters not which is led from there. East has nothing left but two trumps. Whichever he plays, south crosses over. And the last trump is good, too.

Brother, you have just looked at a smother.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Betty Grable, the girl with the gorgeous gams, is hard at work on her first picture since leaving her old home lot. But she says she's not going to knock herself out for her career.

"Look, I've had it," she says. "I've had the gravy for a good number of years, and I've enjoyed it. Now let the younger kids work their heads off. Not me. I've got other things in life to be interested in."

The other things include Harry James, her husband, their two daughters and their race horses.

"I've enjoyed just loafing after them for a 'change,' says Betty. "I feel like a lousy mother when I have to be away from the kids all day. Now that they're in school, they don't get home until four in the afternoon. But I still would like to be there when they arrive."

Right now she's getting a real workout in her new film short at Columbia. She has several spirited dances and a love scene in a comedy scene, gorgeously gowned in a five-piece-suit outfit with a mink-lined coat to match.

She also spoke about her "How to Marry a Millionaire" co-star and her successor as queen of the Fox lot, Marilyn Monroe. Mrs. Dimaggio has followed in Betty's footsteps, being currently on suspension at Fox.

"I don't blame her," sympathized Betty. "I can understand why she turned down 'Pink Tights.' It's the third time they've done the 'Coney Island' script. I did it twice—in the original picture and 'Wabash Avenue.'"

And the last trump is good, too.

Brother, you have just looked at a smother.

French Wipe Out Ambush Village

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—The French announced Tuesday that they've wiped the village of Long Khet, in the Red river delta, off the map because it was an ambush nest for the Communist Vietminh rebels.

French Union troops, using knives and hatchets, chopped up the hamlet's bambo and straw thatched huts, long deserted by 1,500 or so rice-growing Viet Namese who formerly lived there.

Army bulldozers flattened the wreckage.

The deserted huts had been used day and night by the Vietminh as their headquarters for attacks on French and Viet Nameso troops moving along the road to Nam Dinh.

Larry Meagher Tops CNR Scores

The public relations department of the Molson's Bowling Classics has not yet released any scoring statistics of the team tournament held in Kingston last Saturday. It is understood a Kingston team, the Hammer Shop won the shebang.

The only information regarding Belleville teams is that of the CNR singles—5 squad which rolled a ten-game total of 11,488 which plus a handicap of 1980 gave it a grand total of 13,468.

Larry Meagher topped the railroaders with a ten-game pinfall of 2,703 for an average of 270. His best single was a 418. Harold Bailey rolled a single of 385 and a total of 2177. Other scores were, Ila Bellis, 2271, Jack Fitzgerald, 1864 and Doll Poister 2373.

Meagher's scores were 418, 243, 226, 258, 254, 242 279, 224, 271 and 207.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Uniform planning, keen observation among today's top "musts". Think less of others' actions, and concentrate on your own. From there on in you can master better methods for greater success.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Sharpen up thoughts for today will present situations, problems that may be unusual. Remember, it's easier to get into trouble and entanglements than to get out. Be tactful.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — A somewhat monotonous outlook today but keep on working. Consider others' opinions as well as your own. Remember, we all depend on one another.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Look for new, different things. Direct those best suited to your principles and life Try them sincerely and you could find more happiness, a more contented way of life.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — If not satisfied with results, don't go on regardless. Make changes—perhaps even in your own attitude. Don't put the blame elsewhere. Time on your hands? Why not visit the sick or lonely?

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Look for smooth going after the early hours when there may be some irritating incidents. Success gives a fine exhilarating feeling and it can be gained by trying.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Liberal advantages for all who will devote time and study to their endeavors. Get to the root of your problems- be wisely determined and you will achieve. Watch diet.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Mastering complicated and intricate problems will be easier than solving little ones now. Use your best judgment, and they will all fade away.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Influences may be mixed. You can depend upon some help however. Don't confide yourself to one plan; seek better methods always.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Don't be discouraged if at first you don't succeed. Keep trying. Many a great idea has evolved from a simple one. Dare to try one of the other improvement.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Follow the creed you feel most honest and just, and chances are you will come out on top. In studying situations be sure to cover all vital angles. Act with confidence.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Controversial situations and pressure possible. Double your guard. Emphasize your better self in all matters. Put forth feelers to learn how you are progressing; don't shoot all your tricks at first.

YOU BORN TODAY are idealistic, lean toward scientific and philosophical knowledge; are fond of travel, good fun. Association with persons more aggressive than yourself could spur you on to the heights you are capable of attaining. Avoid occasional indifference, extremes or expecting too much from loved ones. You can work hard and long to accomplish, and can succeed to an unusual degree. Don't allow worry or restlessness to spoil fine efforts. Birthdate: Sir Henry Rasburn, Scottish portrait painter; Count Casimir Pulaski, Polish gen'l in U.S. Revolutionary War.

PICTON

4-H Club Rally Attracts 75 In P.E. County

PICTON—More than 75 of the rural young folk of Prince Edward County gathered in Bloomfield hall recently for the annual 4-H Club rally day. This meeting organized by the Prince Edward 4-H Club Leaders' Association and the local Department of Agriculture, helped to acquaint the young people present with the principles and the objectives behind 4-H club work, and the opportunities available to them through the 4-H clubs of this county.

Words of welcome were expressed by the chairman, Keith Walker, by Warden Donald Walker and by D. A. Taylor, agricultural representative.

"Something to work for in 4-H Club Work" was the title of the illustrated talk given by Barbara Redner. Using her trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago as an example, Barbara explained to those present that there was more to be gained from 4-H club work than the completion of each project. She was of the opinion that there is no better way of developing the rural youth of the country, and of this province than by encouraging 4-H club members to assume responsibility in their clubs and in their community. Barbara very ably illustrated her talk with slides taken on her trip to Chicago last fall.

Each of the various 4-H club projects to be carried on in the county this year were outlined by the respective club leads. Each club leader assists with the organization of his club, and guides and assists the club members in their project. Clifford Foster, the Picton district 4-H Calf Club leader, outlined the 4-H Calf Club project. The leaders of the H & A 4-H Calf Club are Donald Spencer and Lewis Wight, Hillier Walker. The Sophiasburg 4-H Calf Club leader and Curtis Doxsee is leader of the Ameliasburg 4-H Calf Club.

Grover Smith outlined the 4-H grain project, Bryan Cronk outlined the Rotary 4-H Poultry project; Thomas May the 4-H Tomato club; Jim Latchford the 4-H Swine club; John Jones the 4-H Swine club and Alfred Latchford the 4-H Tractor club.

PANEL DISCUSSION

A panel discussion on 4-H Club projects for older club members was chaired by Donald Spencer, and those taking part were Dorothy Denard, Bill Pettingill, John Barber and Robert Williams. This panel came up with some excellent ideas for 4-H club meetings and for making 4-H club meetings more interesting. Those who are in charge of club meetings appreciated these ideas very much.

A tape recording of a prize winning talk given at the Junior Farmer public speaking competition in Toronto, by Miss Margaret Janes of Orford county on "My 4-H Club Project" explained the 4-H Club Pledge to the younger members. Each 4-H Club member should learn the following pledge:

My head to clearer thinking
My heart to greater loyalty
My hands to larger services
My health to better living for
My club, my community and my country.

During the morning Bill Pettingill and Jean Anne Parks assisted with a sing-song and John Barber led in a short recreation period. Everyone present received a bottle of chocolate milk, courtesy of the Prince Edward Co-operative.

Following the program the club leaders took the names of those interested in each of the various 4-H club projects. For those who were not able to attend, it is still possible to join any of the 4-H clubs by contacting the Agricultural Office in Picton.

'It Could Happen Here'

OTTAWA (CP)—"It could happen here."

This was the reaction from the men who attend to the day-to-day operations of the Parliament buildings when asked to comment on Monday's shooting of President United States House of Representatives.

However, they were quick to add it is unlikely a shooting spree such as in Washington will happen in Canada. Security precautions were wounded in a quick outburst by four Puerto Rican terrorists sitting in a gallery of Congress.

One reason the same thing could happen in Canada is that there are no special security measures. And, as far as is known, none are to add planned.

Lt.-Col. W. J. Franklin, sergeant-at-arms of the Commons, said that if anyone should start shooting up the Commons, all his 44-man protective service could do is subdue the terrorists until the OPP arrives.

The blue - uniformed protective staff are unarmed.

Four armed RCMP constables, members of the Governor General's troop, always are stationed on Parliament hill.

Charge Reduced To Manslaughter, Given 2 Years

COCHRANE (CP)—Adelard Latarte, 65, was sentenced Tuesday to two years less one day when found guilty of manslaughter, a charge reduced from murder when defence counsel Roland Ollennier said a plea of guilty would be entered on the lesser count.

Latarte had pleaded not guilty to murdering his 6-year-old benefactor, Henri Deschene, here Jan. 18 in Deschene's two-room shack.

Mr. Justice H. A. Ayles ruled admissible a statement taken by police from Latarte. In the statement Latarte said he struck Deschene a number of times on the head with an ax and then took money from the victim's shirt pocket.

Mr. Justice Ayles and crown attorney S. A. Caldwick agreed to the plea of guilty on the manslaughter charge and the jury was directed to enter the verdict was possible.

Crown attorney Caldwick asked for the jail term.

Mr. Ollennier submitted a jail term was to pay a debt to society. He contended Latarte owed society very little. He said the accused is old, in poor health, has had no family life, has existed in squalor much of his life. He said society had done little for Latarte.

SKILLED POLICE

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Police Chief F. W. Davis aims to have every man on the force possess qualifications for a specialized job by the end of 1954. Current classes for 18 city police will bring the qualified total to about 80 per cent of all men in city police uniform.

LONG WAY ROUND

COURTENAY, B.C. (CP) — A pair of shoes purchased in Vancouver travelled a long way before reaching their owner, Mrs. Roy Embleton. They were addressed to "Courtenay, V.I." because V.I. is often used to denote Vancouver Island. They first landed however at the Virgin Islands near Puerto Rico.

Tito Believes War Further Away Then Ever

By ALEX SINGLETON

BELGRADE (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito says he believes war is further away than it was two years ago, and that the world should recognize Communist China.

He also hopes and believes Yugoslavia's relations with Russia will improve, but says they haven't gone far beyond routine diplomatic exchanges.

He set forth his views at a dinner given in his honor last Thursday by Belgrade's foreign press association. His remarks were released for publication Tuesday with direct quotation barred.

It was a 2½-hour session, Tito's longest non-stop meeting with the foreign correspondents since he took office. He was in a jovial mood and sidestepped none of the questions tossed at him.

TEN MAJOR POINTS

The Yugoslav chief made these major points:

1. His administration plans to avoid participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and proposed European Defence Community but has no objection to its partners in the "little three" defence alliance—Greece and Turkey, both already NATO members—participating in a common European security organization.

2. The West should recognize the Peiping government.

3. Yugoslavia still intends to pursue an independent policy and never permit any country to interfere with its internal affairs.

4. Normalization or relations between Yugoslavia and the Russian-led Cominform, which broke with Tito in 1948, is moving forward at a much slower pace than anticipated.

5. Neither Yugoslavia nor the Cominform countries have made a move to resume trade relations. But Yugoslavia still hopes to re-establish normal trade relations with its European neighbors.

6. Tito approves of such defence organizations as NATO as long as they do not take on aggressive policies.

7. He sees no settlement in the near future of the dispute between Yugoslavia and Italy over Trieste.

8. He termed West Germany's participation in EDC a ticklish question; its inclusion in EDC might delay unification of the country.

9. Yugoslavia's gravest and most immediate problem is food production after the drought last fall and a severe winter.

10. Yugoslavia appreciates the military aid the West has given it so far, but needs much more.

TUNGSTEN TRADE FREED

LONDON (Reuters)—The British government Monday completed the return of all metal buying from the government to private enterprise by freeing trade in Tungsten ores. ## Four-Day Storm Took Nine Lives In Southwest Ont.

Snow-Clogged Roads, Isolated Towns Left in Wake

TORONTO (CP) — A huge digging-out operation was under way throughout southern Ontario today as a four-day storm which took nine lives and crippled transportation blew itself out.

Only snowflurries were expected for most of the area where Wednesday of mile-a-minute winds whipped snow into eight-and 10-foot drifts, isolated communities, disrupted communications, and stranded hundreds of motorists.

Still of major concern was the situation in numerous small towns, villages and hamlets whose normal supplies of bread and milk have been chocked off for two and three days.

PLOWS SURGE AGAIN

The provincial highways department reported snow plows, many of which were operating during the storm because of heavy drifting and zero visibility, were back in operation.

Some plows were transferred by railway flatcars to areas cut off by snow-beleaguered districts.

Highways 98 and 11 now were open throughout their length.

Telegraph and telephone men reported some progress in repairing lines torn down by the blizzard. Many rural lines were out.

T. Joseph Hall of Ayr, near Kitchener, became the ninth storm victim when he suffered a heart attack Wednesday while pushing his automobile.

Three persons died Wednesday in traffic accidents when motorists skidded off slippery roads. Four other persons died of heart attacks shovelling snow and a woman was struck by a train during the storm.

Ice-sheeted streets in Toronto Wednesday night and today were cribbed in one of the worst traffic tangles in the city's history. Cars moved at five miles an hour.

ROADS HAZARDOUS

The highways department described driving conditions today as still "hazardous if not impossible" around Sarnia and London.

Both sides of Highway 2 throughout the embattled Chatham area were reported blocked with trucks and cars.

Tilbury, 25 miles southwest of Chatham, was bursting at the seams with one of the worst traffic jams in memory. Transport trucks and automobiles their drivers and passengers, were held up in every nook and cranny about the town.

Straggling cars stranded everywhere until the town all day long and into the night seeking accommodation.

An emergency amateur radio network was set up Wednesday to provide contact with storm-bound towns.

At Kincardine on Lake Huron, no grocery or meat trucks had been able to enter the town for two days. However a Canadian National train was expected there at 11:25 o'clock Wednesday night.

Other isolated villages depending on amateur radio communication were Seaforth, Exeter, Clinton, Wiarton, Elora, and Forest.

SCHOOLS EMPTY

It was impossible to estimate the number of school children unable to attend school because of the storm.

Sarnia milk distributor said fresh milk was on hand for today but a shortage will develop Friday unless farmers are able to bring milk to the highways. Supplies of canned milk were reported to be plentiful.

The storm was described by Chatham residents as the worst to hit the area since 1918. A two-mile line of stranded cars and trucks was reported outside of Merlin, 12 miles southwest of Chatham.

In Sarnia, separate, public and secondary schools were closed Wednesday. Public and high schools may open today but separate school pupils have been told to stay home until Friday.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Cold north winds in the wake of Wednesday's storm dropped temperatures 25 degrees in southern Ontario by this morning. The cold spell will persist Friday; snowflurries are expected in areas exposed to winds off the lakes. Northern Ontario remains in the cold, northerly circulation with cloudiness and snowflurries expected to continue today and Friday.

Existing Child Welfare Laws To Be Broadened

TORONTO (CP) — Greater protection for neglected children and infants available for adoption was proposed in a sweeping revision of existing child welfare legislation presented in the Ontario legislature Wednesday.

The new act, a consolidation of three outdated acts, proposed appointment of a director supervising all aspects of child welfare and the setting of prison terms and fines for parents who neglect their children for an unreasonable length of time and for persons who give or receive money in the adoption of a child.

The act, presented by Welfare Minister Goodfellow, would become effective Jan. 1, 1955.

Mr. Goodfellow will not sit today in respect for W. B. Harvey, Progressive Conservative member for Nipissing, who died Monday.

In reference to the child welfare legislation Mr. Goodfellow said that the province is "more or less dealing in human flesh and I think we should have protection for the children who may be victims."

NO BLACK MARKETING

The proposed legislation calls for a maximum $2,000 fine and/or a three-year prison term against persons involved in money transactions in the adoption of a child.

Mr. Goodfellow said: "In case there should be black marketing of babies—and we do not think that we have it—that's something is going on in Ontario—we are inserting this section in the act," Mr. Goodfellow said.

A maximum one-year jail term and/or a $500 fine is provided against persons leaving children under 10 years of age unattended for an unreasonable length of time.

Emotional neglect and the influence of parents were added as new grounds for neglect.

Rights and protection regarding religious faiths would be extended to religious faiths other than Roman Catholic and Protestant. An illegitimate child would be deemed to have the religious faith of his mother.

Temporary guardship would be limited to 24 months and the power to terminate permanent guardship would be given to the judicial level. The age of adoption would be reduced from 21 to 18, except in special circumstances.

ON-WAY TO DEATH

BROUGH, England (AP)—The coroner here decided Wednesday that 45-year-old Ronald Lacey died of heart failure while climbing a tree. The verdict of the inquest brought out that Lacey was climbing the tree to hang himself.

Man Without Country Tells Story As He Sails From U.S. Into Unknown

BALTIMORE (AP)—The freighter Trojan Seaman sailed today from Baltimore with Charles Slanina, 56-year-old Austrian-born seaman, still aboard after a last desperate attempt to re-enter the United States.

Slanina dejectedly told his story Wednesday night from the small messroom of the Trojan Seaman.

"I came over here in 1922 from Czechoslovakia and jumped ship. Now, I'm out of nothing, now look where I am."

Slanina, born in a part of Austria that has become a section of Czechoslovakia, fought with the Austrian army in the First World War. He deserted to join the anti-Bolshevik Czechoslovak Legion which was caught up in the Russian revolution, and ended up in Vladivostok.

In 1920 he returned to his home-land, got a Hungarian government official for a time and two years later shipped to the United States as a merchant seaman.

He returned to the sea in 1942, when merchant seamen were needed in the Second World War, because, "it was sort of a patriotic thing to do."

Later he got a temporary document, "in lieu of passport" and in early December, 1952, shipped out with the Trojan Seaman.

He thought that new immigration laws became effective, and Slanina, who married and has one child, port, was refused re-entry. He's been aboard the Trojan Seaman ever since.

"So, here I am," he said with a shrug.

"I don't want to go to Czechoslovakia. No place else will take me."

"I don't want to go to Czechoslovakia. No place else will take me."

Slanina says he probably will have to leave the vessel when it arrives in Spanish Morocco in a few weeks. From there he will probably go to Tangier, an international area, and then hope for a visa to somewhere—Nassau, where my wife is, Yugoslavia, anywhere."

PRICE INDEX UNCHANGED IN JANUARY

Coffee and Pork Prices Move Higher

OTTAWA (CP) — The consumer price index remained unchanged at 115.7 during January.

Food prices edged ahead slightly, but the shelter column, which includes rents, remained unchanged for the first time in many months, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The consumer price index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100. Before January, the yardstick had declined three months in a row, with successive drop smaller than the other.

PORK, COFFEE UP

Higher prices for coffee and pork products were offset by a few other scattered decreases to push the food column up one-tenth of a point to 113.7, first gain in five months.

Shelter remained at the peak of 118.4 established in December.

Another tenth-of-a-point rise showed in the column "other commodities and services" which increased to 116.5. Higher prices for hospital room rates, and lower bus fares offset lower prices for automobile tires.

The household operations column also remained fixed at the December 110.1 level. Price declines for appliances, furniture and textiles balanced off increases for rented advances.

The clothing column dropped by one-tenth of a point to 110 as prices eased for men's and women's wear.

Business Men Do Not Kick Often Enough

By FORBES HUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

MONTREAL (CP) — Business men kick but don't do enough about it, an executive of Montreal and president of the Canadian council of the International Chamber of Commerce, said today.

His two-year term of office, he told members of the council appeared for delivery to the council's annual meeting, had given him much pleasure, but it had not been strewn with roses all the way.

"I have learned a business man," he said, "is ever ready to complain about government restrictions and interference in the conduct of private economic activities, but is unwilling to give expression to his thinking and take action on behalf of himself and other private business men.

"The International Chamber of Commerce provides facilities and a mechanism to give expression to their joint view on economic and commercial problems, and to contribute work on the phase of the problems which may be closest to each."

Foundation Discloses Plans For Million-Pound Memorial

LONDON (AP) — Plans for a £200,000 statue of the late king George VI, to be erected in a "noble setting" in London, were disclosed today by trustees of the £1,830,000 King George VI Foundation.

Another £585,000 will be spent on training and rescuing for fulfilment of the aims of the late king, it was announced today.

Funds for the foundation were raised by public subscription after the king's death February, 1952.

A booklet giving details of the memorial will be issued said Queen Elizabeth has approved the appointment of William McMillan as sculptor of the statue. McMillan also created the statue of the late King's father, King George V, which stands in Calcutta.

The booklet said the statue of George VI's stature will not be disclosed until the Queen, now touring the Commonwealth, has approved it.

Architect of the statue's setting will be Louis de Soissons, who designed the new British foreign office.

FUND ALLOCATIONS

The largest allocation from the fund is £500,000 for the leadership training project for young people. Its purpose will be to enable voluntary organizations to "develop and extend leadership training for boys, girls and adult leaders."

Other allocations include:

For a national youth recreation centre, £250,000. It will be used to develop existing play centres and build new ones.

For youth hostels, to be open to young people from overseas as well as those of the United Kingdom, £85,000.

For a general adult recreational club scheme, £200,000.

For a social service scheme for old people, £40,000. It will assist the training of those engaged in their care and welfare.

St. Laurent Now in Indonesia After Farewell Party in Ceylon

DJAKARTA, Indonesia (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent arrived by freighter from Ceylon after a day-long flight in the Royal Canadian Air Force C-5 transport from his Commonwealth stop of his round-the-world tour.

The Canadian leader and his party were met at the airport by Prime Minister Ali Sastroamidjojo of this new southeast Asian state and a number of high Indonesian officials.

Mr. St. Laurent is Canada's first ambassador to Indonesia.

The Canadian leader left Ceylon after a six final-night party at which Ceylonese dancing girls in colorful native costume gave an open-air exhibit.

Ceylon's Premier Sir John Kotelawala gave the farewell reception-dinner-party at his private residence. During the party, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, Ottawa, daughter, presented bunches of ripe bananas to Kotelawala's four elephants.

The visit here will also contain a busy social schedule, but no official talks had expected in discuss any specific political or economic problem with Indonesian officials.

Melbourne Students Poke Fun At Tour and Duke Loves It

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Melbourne university students today poked fun at the royal tour in an irreverent reception for the Duke of Edinburgh and his wife.

It was all part of the good old British institution of "ragging," and the Australian students spent 15 minutes showing that they are as good at it as home-grown Britons.

They mocked the red-carpet treatment, stuck pins in official bouquet presentations offered to Queen Elizabeth and the duke since they left London on their six-month Commonwealth tour last November.

Outside the university Union House, they unfurled a huge red-mob-eaten carpet for the duke, presented him with a pair of corduroy trousers, a skeleton ticket and a huge silver key.

SPEECH "CONDENSED"

One student prepared to read a speech at the welcoming ceremony into a summary "which will not take longer than 10 hours to read." He threw it into the air instead and, as the pages showered around them, the duke said with a grin: "That was a good speech."

A bogus guard of honor, dressed in a weird array of garments and carrying floor mops, was on hand to receive the duke as he arrived for a tour of the university.

Later, the queen and the duke watched 17,000 children give a gymnastic display at the Melbourne cricket ground.

Britain Tightens Security Guard

LONDON (Reuters)—Police here have taken special security precautions to guard Buckingham Palace, the houses of Parliament and Prime Minister Churchill's residence at 10 Downing street from any intimidation, after the shooting in Washington Monday of five American congressmen.

The tightened security has been ordered over an area bounded by Trafalgar square, Piccadilly Circus and Hyde Park corner in central London, it was learned today. This area includes the foreign office and other main government offices.

A considerably stricter watch than usual will be kept on persons approaching Parliament. Scotland Yard officials said police experience has not showed that an unusual crime often attracts imitators.

GOVT. REFUSES TO MAKE PUBLIC SCREENING TESTS

How Will Not Answer Opposition Questions

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has refused to make public its security screening of government workers on the ground that such disclosure could lead to McCarthyism.

Acting Prime Minister Howe Wednesday declined to answer two Commons questions about government steps to weed out security risks.

It is not in the public interest to answer these questions," he said.

He all abhor McCarthyism, but so far we have been able to do a security job here without resorting to the kind of situation that arises in other countries."

The questions, by Dave Fulton (PC—Kamloops), asked for the names of members of the government's security panel, for details of its operations and the number of civil servants dismissed or transferred as security risks.

Mr. Howe's reference to McCarthyism was an obvious reference to the United States country's very over methods of Senator Joseph McCarthy's committee in investigating communism among United States federal employees.

Mr. Fulton asked whether the chairmen President Eisenhower's citizens committee on the state-ments of fair play" in congressional investigations.

ANONYMOUS PANEL

Mr. Howe said members of the security panel should remain anonymous.

I think it would be very difficult to get people to serve on the board if their names were to be published."

The board did no more than investigate facts and make recommendations to the deputy minister of the department concerned.

He suggested that the questions be withdrawn.

Mr. Fulton, however, asked Mr. Howe to consider his stand. The questions had been framed so that the answers would not indicate any employees involved or touch any security information that should not be disclosed.

Mr. Howe said that is a matter of opinion. If only one man had been fired, the answer would make his identity obvious. There was "no good purpose to be served" in answering the questions.

CCF Leader Coldwell said it was not democratic to have a board "suggesting certain sentences with no right of appeal after."

Mr. Howe said the board does not order dismissals.

Speaker Rene Beaudoin eventually ordered the questions to be dropped under House rules.

Michigan May Ban Liquor Advts. on TV

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Television advertisements which would promote the sale of alcoholic beverages would be forbidden under a bill introduced in the Michigan legislature this week.

The measure would prohibit the liquor licence of any liquor, beer or wine manufacturer or retailer who permitted TV ads showing drinking.

Stiletto-Wielding Toughs Wreck Britain's Showplace Youth Centre

By KEN BOTWRIGHT

LONDON (Reuters) — Young toughs armed with stilettos have wrecked a £100,000 youth centre—Britain's best—built specially for them, and then terrorized "teen-agers in the south London slums of Walworth.

The wanton destruction of Clubland came less than two months after it was officially reopened by comedian Bob Hope, who was born near there. Clubland has cost $37,800 in 1951 to restore the club, badly damaged by bombs during the war.

Kindly little Rev. Jimmy Butterworth, who is officially manager of the founder-director of Clubland, was in bed Wednesday after a visit despairingly at the ruins of his life's work.

"Now, could they have done it to me?" he asked. "I can hardly believe it."

In the last three weeks juvenile thugs have given vent to a grudge against the person who tried to be their benefactor—what kind of grudge he doesn't know. They have broken into the youth centre almost nightly.

They have slashed and broken expensive furnishings — counter-table easy chairs and couches, tiled floors and walls, even the chapel.

They have shattered hundreds of the stained glass windows, ripped ball and dartboard mount of the 500 lockers in the boys' and girls' rest rooms.

When they could wreck no more havoc at the centre, they terrorized a personal attack at Butterworth. Sunday they tossed bottles through the windows of the house he shares with his wife.

A policeman now stands guard to protect the two-storey brick building and the remaining loyal club members.

"I hate to admit it," said Butterworth, puffing anxiously on a pipe, "but some of the gang are boys from the club. That doesn't hurt. They've been for 30 years work among youth here."

Rooming House Fire in Toronto Deliberately Set

Policeman Kicks Down Door Arouses 20 Sleeping Men

TORONTO (CP) — A fire authority said today a fire which broke out in a building where 20 men were sleeping Wednesday night was set deliberately.

Platoon chief Percy Taylor said the blaze in the downtown Jarvis street house in which the men had paid 75 cents each for a place to sleep "could not possibly have started without someone setting it."

Constable Wilfred Death was credited with saving the men, bringing his life-saving total for the month to 13 persons.

He saw smoke curling from the building, kicked down the front door and shouted to wake the men. Then he went upstairs and helped out an elderly man with a heart condition.

Taylor said a fire a month ago in a dwelling across the street where 25 children and eight adults were sleeping was also set deliberately. Both buildings are owned by the same company, he said.

Constable Death was also credited with turning in the alarm on the first fire.

"Today's fire started in a partition behind a bathroom sink," Taylor said. "There was no wiring there and no heating equipment. It is impossible it could start a fire by spontaneous combustion."

Toronto fire department began an investigation.

Winter Storm Floods Homes Along Lake

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A Great Lakes storm struck with fury along the south shore of Lake Ontario today after flooding homes and cottages, downing down power lines and disrupting telephone service.

Southwesterly gales averaging 35 to 40 miles an hour whipped to 50 miles inland from lakes Erie and Ontario. Gusts reached higher.

About 100 homes were flooded in Hamburg, N.Y., as waves broke over bankments at Woodlawn Beach, N.Y., Wednesday night.

Many homes, although compassively light, cut visibility to zero. The visibility also hampered the slippery highways in the affected area.

Buffalo agencies emphasized this one piece of advice: "Keep cool in the garage."

The weather bureau said the storm probably would subside late in the day, but below-freezing temperatures were expected to remain.

PHONES OUT

The Buffalo gusts were reported in the Rochester, N. Y., area, where they cut down and about 1,000 phones were out of service for a while.

About 30 families flooded at Woodlawn Beach were moved overnight at the town of Hamburg's fire house.

Hotel in Winnipeg Is Gutted by Blaze

WINNIPEG (CP) — Firemen early today were still at the scene of a $10,000 blaze which gutted the Marlborough hotel, restaurant, a jewellery shop, barber shop and a store in the Manitoba Hotel building.

The three-storey Imperial Hotel next door was extensively damaged.

Below-zero weather and a stubborn wind fanned the fire of unknown origin, six firemen, including Dep. Chief Ed. Wood, were overcome by smoke. He was released from hospital shortly after admittance.

Guests of the 50-room Manitoba Hotel were roused by firemen and police.

REINDEER BY RAIL

OSLO (CP)—Five hundred domesticated reindeer from Sweden have been added to the reindeer herds in Norway's Finnmark district. The reindeer were transported in open railway cars.

Canadians Win Over Finland Twenty to One

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Toronto East Yorks took another giant step towards winning the world hockey championship when they pulverized Finland 20-1 at the championship-studded Stockholm ice rink Wednesday night before the biggest scoring spree of the tournament so far.

Canada's fifth straight victory gave them 10 points and kept them in a first-place tie with Russia's undefeated Moscow Dynamoe, idle today. But the Canadians' record of 52 for and only three goals against in the five days for the Finns dealt the Czechoslovakia, which lost to the Russians earlier, its next in scoring significance with 37 goals. The Russians, pre-tournament favorites, have 29.

GALLAND SCORES SEVEN

Moe Galland, former Stratford and Ottawa player, scored seven goals for the Canadians. John Petro was next with four. Both scored on three of the original East York team which went overseas a year later as a unit and goals Don Lockhart and three other players.

Other Canadian scorers were Bill Shill with three; and Bob Kennedy, Tommy Campbell, Vic Sloan, Normie Gray, John Scott and Eric Unger, one each.

A crowd of 7,305—8,000 of them school children—saw Canada wipe the floor with the Finns. Russia had beaten the Finns 7-1.

The Finns have a level exhibition of Canadian hockey. The Finns, despite their landslide defeat, played gamely to the end.

It was an unusually clean match. There were only two penalties, one to each side.

In the third period Lockhart was replaced by Gabby Lindsay, the team's original goalie. The team was expected to let him have some practice, too.

FIND URANIUM

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — Uranium has been discovered in the New England district of New South Wales, Prime Minister R. G. Buckley announced Wednesday. Geologists have identified the discovery as torbenite—phosphate of copper and uranium.

SCOUTS WILL HELP ADVERTISE CAMPAIGN

A group of Boy Scouts from the city troop will distribute advertising concerning the Red Cross campaign on Saturday to business establishments. The boys will be under the direction of Archie Lewis, District Commissioner for Boy Scouts.

William Morrison, campaign chairman of the Red Cross, has requested recipients of the advertising to keep it before the public for at least two weeks and especially until after "Bills Day", March 16.

MAYOR, E. FOLLWELL HONORED BY CLUB

Mayor Jack Scott and Edward Follwell, prominent city lawyer, last night were made honorary members of the newly formed Belle Haven Club for disabled and handicapped persons. The meeting was held at 19 Bellis Street and was well attended.

The mayor and Mr. Follwell were both warmly received. Then expressed their willingness to cooperate and assist the club in its undertakings.

Mrs. Allen Knox of Trenton was elected chairman of the refreshment committee during the business portion of the meeting.

WRONG NAME WAS GIVEN IN FASHION SHOW ADVT.

In the advertisement on the Women's Hospital Auxiliary fashion show, which appeared in Wednesday's edition of the Ontario Intelligencer, an unfortunate error appeared in the name of the beauty salon which will participate in the show. This should have read the Vogue Beauty Salon, instead of the Brenmore Beauty Salon.

AN EXPENSIVE GOOSE

Maple Syrup Sold on Market At $5.50 Gallon

Freshly made maple syrup made its initial appearance on the local farmers' market today with one vendor disposing up to 15 gallons made during the mild spell during the past week. Price of the syrup was $5.50 a gallon without containers, or $1.50 per quart.

Mrs. C. W. Kleinsteuber of West Lake in Prince Edward county who offered the spring delicacy, said they had tapped their sugar bush on February 25th, the same date as last year.

The tapping date was said to be considerably earlier than in the average year. This is the earliest date on which Mrs. Kleinsteuber has sold syrup on the Belleville market.

Re-Development Project Planned For Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — An international syndicate headed by Sir Robert MacAlpine of England is preparing a $1,500,000 re-development project in the heart of Toronto.

It was reported that the project will cover 65 acres and plans call for the construction of eight 16-storey apartment blocks providing 2,500 apartments.

The area affected is bounded by Bloor street on the north, Carlton Street on the south, Yonge street on the west and Jarvis on the east.

Sir Robert heads an international firm of contractors which recently organized Canadian Collins, will arrive in Toronto in 10 days to put the scheme before city officials. The syndicate will not cost the city anything but it would be required to expropriate the land. The syndicate would then buy it from the city at cost.

Sir Robert is largely the brainchild of Edwin Kay of Toronto, internationally known landscape architect.

It was reported that in addition to the British money behind the project the syndicate has the backing of Wilmore, N.Y. Germany and Swiss capital.

SECOND DEVELOPMENT

This is the second development project financed with private capital planned within the area this year.

In January a Swiss group disclosed plans to build an $8,000,000 apartment development between Wood and Alexander streets. Simultaneously a New York group announced plans to build a $3,500,000 hotel on the Yonge street frontage of the project.

The entire site would be landscaped to integrate the building with the area. Similar plans are also being considered in the Metro Zone of the Royal Architectural Journal, official publication of the Royal Institute of British Architects.

McTague Defends Price Fixing If Public Unharmed

TORONTO (CP)—Hon. Charles P. McTague, former justice of appeal of Ontario Supreme Court, said Wednesday agreements between big businesses to fix prices could be condoned where the public is unharmed.

Addressing the Progressive Conservative Businessmen's Club, he called on the party to stand firm on old established principles.

"Standing firm for policies and a way of life which worked in the past implies strong opposition to communism and everything connected with it," he said.

"It implies positive action to guard private business being hampered and hamstrung by taxes and unjust investigatory measures as under the present Combines Investigation Act. Amendments will be made so that a combination or agreement which does not clearly harm the public interest (unharmed) and not subject to prosecution or investigation."

Mr. McTague urged the party not to be ashamed of association with "big business."

"If we stand against the compulsory collectivism of labor legislation—then let us say so. That does not mean we are opposed to the labor movement."

He criticized the Progressive Conservatives for "clumsily trying to match subtlety with subtlety."

Shooting Deer Out of Season Costly to Two

Pleading guilty out of court on a charge of shooting deer out of season, two College Hill district residents, Albert Lowden and Clifford E. Taylor, were assessed $33.50 each fine and costs.

Charges against the two men were preferred by Conservation officers W. H. Ferguson and Fred MacDonald with provincial police assisting in the investigation.

According to the report the deer was shot at the fence, the men lost a valuable rifle as well as what remained of the venison. The confiscated venison was turned over to the Hastings county home.

Trenton Battles Wellington To Six-All Tie

In the second game of the semi-finals of the Southern section of the Trenton Valley played at the arena last night, the Wellington Dukes and the Trenton Golden Hawks battled to a 6-6 overtime tie in a close hard fought game. Trenton lead the series one game to none.

At the end of the regulation time the score was tied at 4-4 with Trenton coming from behind to bang home two goals in the third period and keep Wellington from tying the series.

The Dukes jumped out front with the first overtime goal only to have the Admirals slap in a pair within a few seconds to make it 6-5. At the 2.56 mark Hatfield took passes from Graham and Cousins to bury Bob Green who had taken over the netminding job from Hill to start the third period. That was the way it ended.

Wellington opened the first period scoring after 16 minutes of play and the Admirals bounced back with a tally for the 18.30 mark. With just 30 seconds left in the frame Ray Carey teamed up with Brien Mulvihill to knot the score at 2-2.

Trenton also did all the scoring in the middle stanza with first Ray Carey and then Keating Hill to take a 4-2 lead.

The Trenton crew came right back with their two goals in the third with Baker and Scott pulling the triggers to send it into overtime.

The lineups:

Wellington — Lelman, Hurst, Scott, Garrison, Bryant, Cousins, Graham, Hatfield, Mulvihill, Prettigill, Carey, Bone, Morral, Cousins, Parker.

Trenton — Hill, Schmidt, Watson, Johnson, Scott, Barr, Leeson, Stoliker, Graham, Campney, Turland, Green, Baker.

Tweed Residents, Madoc Police Team Up in Arrest of Two

Three Tweed residents and provincial police at Madoc teamed up early today to effect the arrest of two Smiths Falls men believed responsible for a break-in at Belch's Drug Store at Tweed where drugs and pen and pencil sets were stolen.

Daniel R. Thomas and Gordon Willoughby were arrested near Madoc following an 85-mile pursuit by provincial police on No. 7 highway.

The car which the two men were driving was said to have been stolen at Smiths Falls.

Tweed postmaster, Mr. C. R. Purritt noticed two men leaving the Belch drug store shortly after three o'clock this morning. He called Mr. Belch who in turn notified provincial police at Belleville.

In the meantime Ted Courneyer, Tweed road superintendent, saw the men. He called Provincial Constable Arthur Boulton and Constable Fred Bell who took up the chase, following the car north on No. 37 highway and west on No. 7 to Madoc.

Constable Bolyea met the two speeding cars east of Madoc, turning and joined the chase.

Mr. Courneya and Constable Bolyea in hot pursuit the car raced into Madoc, turned south towards Belleville at the four corners, then swung east and back to No. 7 highway.

As the car re-entered onto No. 7 highway the vehicle skidded on the slippery pavement and was cut off by the pursuing cars. The two men jumped out of the car and started to run but were apprehended as they attempted to climb a fence.

Police said the car used by the two men had been stolen in Smiths Falls on Wednesday. When the car was stopped at Madoc it was found the license plates had been switched but the serial number of the car matched the one stolen in Smiths Falls.

Touring World is Mixture Of Work, Relaxation for P. M.

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

COLOMBO, Ceylon (CP)—Travel aboard the big four-engined plane in which Prime Minister St. Laurent is touring the world is a mixture of work and relaxation.

A round-the-world airbase tournament with most of the 28 persons aboard taking part is in progress on three boards during long hours of flight in the pressurized grey-upholstered cabin. Members of the air crew of 15 whose watch is done when the plane is on the ground take part. Members of the prime minister's staff get into one of the games when there is no work to do.

On short hops between neighboring countries Prime Minister Nehru of India, one of all goes into conference with Charles Ritchie, roving ambassador to Egypt and with Ross Martin, assistant secretary to the cabinet. Details of the program for the next stop and details of speeches are gone over by D. M. Cornell, external affairs department officer, studies arrangements for the prime minister and at stops travels about quietly with local plainclothesmen guard to make sure nothing goes amiss.

Group Capt. Stephenson, Scottish-born pilot, who commands the aircrew acts as ADC to the prime minister and with guide and valet Jack Pickersgill a shoulder walks with him on the many arrival and departure guard inspections.

Dr. Eric Davey, assistant chief of the health division of the health department, keeps an eye on the prime minister's health and gets information about the health of Canadian correspondents abroad, particularly those working in tropical climates.

Inspector Philippe Vaucher of the RCMP in Toronto sees to security precautions for the prime minister and at stops travels about quietly with local plainclothesmen guard to make sure nothing goes amiss.

Storms Force End of Search For Prospector

GOGAMA (CP) — Snow storms have put northern Ontario this week to a brief forced abandonment of operations for the search for a man missing from his home since Feb. 21.

Members of the department of lands and forests, provincial police and civilian volunteers have been looking for Herb Watts since Friday, when he was reported missing from home by neighbors.

It is presumed the elderly bachelor left his home Feb. 22 to continue claim-staking during the spring-like weather.

THE RED CROSS HELPED

A new Canadian writes, in part:

"I would like to thank you very much for your help during the illness of my wife. I really appreciate that you sent a lady to look after my children while I was at work.

"As soon as it is possible, I will try to bring a thanks-gift for the Red Cross Society which is responsible for such splendid work."

That is a poignant story behind this (excerpt) letter. This is why—

The young man had fled his enemy-ridden home-land with his wife and four children—aged six, four, two and six months. His wife had been ordered by the court to remain in bed—the problem that entailed was how, together, are never even be fruitful five-and-children alone, together, are never too dependable a combination.

trust, he took the two eldest to put little bundles of wood which he had tied together, into the small stove at the appointed times. The hands of the clock touched a certain number on its face. He gave the children their breakfast before he left them in the care for the day alone.

Thus the home fires were kept burning.

The story has almost a story-book ending. For in the end, it was the Red Cross that came to the little family's rescue, successfully effected by an observant neighbor. She telephoned the Red Cross Homemaker Supervisor, Mrs. J. A. Buchanan. A Red Cross Homemaker, a veritable angel of mercy, immediately Red Cross Homemaker, a veritable angel of mercy, immediately came to the desolate household, where, needless to say, kindness, comfort and hope were kindled until the mother's return.

The Red Cross deems it not only an honor but a privilege to serve such valiant Canadians in their hour of urgent need.

KEEP YOUR RED CROSS READY!

CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends, neighbors and relatives for their generosity, expressions of sympathy, floral tributes, and many acts of kindness during the sudden death of a loving mother and grandmother, Mrs. Ethel and Mrs. Fred Mitchell and family. MS

February Was Warmest In Twenty Years

Despite the fact that the mercury did drop to ten below, February was not a bad month after all.

Statistics kept at the Bellevills Water Purification plant on the Trent Road show that the past month was the warmest February in 20 years with a mean temperature of 23.5 degrees. In fact the mercury soared to 53.8 degrees, also the highest for February in the decade.

Rainfall for the month was 1.32 inches with 13.2 inches of snow for a total precipitation of 2.71 inches.

But on the whole February can be a pretty tough baby. For instance in the last 20 years there has been only one February in which the temperature failed to drop below zero—and in some instances away below.

Back in February 1943 the mercury dropped to 28.3 below and in 1948 the low was 29.

But the daddy of all February spuarently was back in 1934. Old timers will remember it. It really was cold. The maximum temperature recorded that year one degree above freezing and the low was 39 below. That was on February 9th and it stayed below zero all day. On February 8th of that year the low recorded was 34 below and the high reading was still 34 below. Altogether that month zero temperatures were recorded.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were mixed in a narrow range in light forenoon stock market trading today.

Industrials slipped a little, while western oils were slightly ahead, and mining shares were steady.

First-hour volume was 571,000 shares.

Liquors, refining oils and steels were lower, papers and textiles steady, and manufactures added slightly. Price changes were small, except Imperial Life's which added $5 in a single sale.

Banff, up 20 cents, and Federated, up 15, led the western oils. Lower-priced issues drew more attention.

Uraniums were the most widely traded of the mining groups. New Richlaurent added 10 cents, while Algoma and Gunnar were down like amounts. Bathurst-area base metals were slightly lower.

Base metals were mixed with Manitouwadge-area issues down a little, seniors slightly ahead and golds quiet.

Golds were only slightly changed. Juniors and holding companies were quiet.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Govt. Requested To Share Cost on Getting Industry

TORONTO (CP) — Twenty-six representatives from 13 eastern Ontario communities met with Premier Frost and members of his cabinet Wednesday to urge the introduction of a greater number of industries to their area.

The delegation, headed by Omar G. Armstrong of Ottawa, president of the Eastern Ontario Associated Boards, asked the government to share on a 50-50 basis the cost of promoting industry for the district and urged the expansion of the trade and industry branch of the department of planning and development.

At a press conference following the meeting, Premier Frost said the province was "quite in agreement" with the delegation's call for a decentralization of industry. "A decentralization of industry is necessary and the more diversification the better," he said.

HELP PLEDGED

The premier said the province will do "everything possible" to meet the situation that has developed in the area's textile industry, hit recently by foreign markets.

Harry Callan, industrial commissioner for the associated boards, said the delegation pressed for financial assistance and a system of contact with industries interested in settling in the area.

"We received a very good reception," he said.

Mr. Callan said the appearance of the delegation was spurred by the depressed state of the textile industry.

He said the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway will not solve the problem. He favored the extension of a four-lane highway through the district and the introduction of air services.

The 12,000-mile area stretches from Kingston to Pembroke, Haliburton and Cornwall and has a population of 650,000.

The association takes in 36 communities. Representatives today came from Pembroke, Renfrew, Arnprior, Almonte, Carleton Place, Perth, Smiths Falls, Kingston, Brockville, Prescott, Cornwall, Hawkesbury and Ottawa.

DOGS TO HELP

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Police fighting to stamp out the marijuana trade on this island are going to get some help from specially trained police dogs. Police Commissioner Reginald Mitchell-Cox said the dogs are being taught in England to detect the presence of marijuana by its smell. Three Jamaican policemen have gone to England to learn how to handle the canine detectives.

HIGH RESEARCH

CANBERRA (CP) —Australian scientists plan to carry out rocket experiments at heights up to 200,000 feet, or about 38 miles. Supply Minister Howard Beale said a committee of the new academy of science would promote upper-air research.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged today.

The egg market was firm. Offerings were light and demand good. Quotations for graded eggs in fibre cases: A extra large 44; A large 43; A medium 41; A small 40; B 39-40; C 35-36. Wholesale to retail: A extra large 49; A large 48; A medium 46; A small 45; B 44-45; C 40-41.

Butter solids unchanged.

Accused Denies Any Knowledge Of Slaying

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Harry Reece, 48, charged with the Oct. 21 murder of Mrs. Florence Rickert in St. Catharines, Wednesday denied any knowledge of the events surrounding her death.

Reece, accused of stabbing Mrs. Rickert following a wine-drinking party, said that while drinking last Oct. 21 with three women, Mrs. Inez Martin, Mrs. Ricker and Mrs. Evalena Embury, his landlady, a hazy feeling came over him and the next thing he remembered was waking up in a police cell.

Reece said he had known Mrs. Ricker for six years and that he lived with her for two of those years. He denied ever threatening to stab the woman. He said he "liked her very much" and took her fishing and hunting.

Mrs. Embury, the last crown witness Wednesday, said that on the afternoon of Oct. 21 Mrs. Martin had gone to her room to lie down. Mrs. Embury said she was in the front door of the house watching Mrs. Martin's baby.

The landlady said she heard Reece ask Mrs. Ricker in the dining room "Up to mischief Carl or do you want me?" Mrs. Embury said she heard Mrs. Ricker reply "If I want Carl I will have him."

Later, Mrs. Embury said, Mrs. Ricker began to cry softly and leaned on the dining room table with her head in her hands. The witness added that Reece said "You'll never have him" and then jumped up and went into the kitchen.

A few moments later, Mrs. Embury said, Reece came back into the dining room "hastily" with a knife in his right hand. He said "You'll never have the Polack" and made a thrusting motion with his hand, the witness testified.

Last of Ansons Are To Be Sold

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCAF is retiring the last four of a venerable and honorable breed of aircraft—the Avro Anson.

They are to be flown to Trenton from Ottawa in the next few days and turned over to War Assets Corp. for disposal.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

CEDAR SPRINGS (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McKeough took their skis to northern Ontario last week-end but were disappointed to find little snow. Returning home they found a blizzard raging and their auto bogged down three miles from here. They unstrapped their skis and got home without difficulty.

SEEK LIQUOR ON TRAINS

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Pacific Railway Wednesday filed application with the British Columbia liquor commission for liquor licences for its trains and ships operating in the province. Granting of a licence will permit sale of liquor by the glass under B.C.'s new liquor laws. Canadian National Railways is expected to seek similar licences.

River Valley W.I. 'Old Time Dance' Successful Event

RAWDON. — River Valley Women's Institute sponsored an "Old Time Dance" at the school house on Friday evening.

The president, Mrs. Edward Heasman and Mr. Heasman convened the party, and provided music and prizes.

As it was the 35th wedding anniversary of the secretary, Mrs. J. L. Donohoe, and Mr. Donohoe, they were given a special welcome when they arrived. Mrs. Donohoe was presented with a corsage of pink carnations and her husband with a white boutonniere. A song was sung in their honor during the evening.

Music for dancing was supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner, Mr. Delbert Sine and Miss Patsy Sine of the Minto district. Round and square dancing was enjoyed.

Messrs. Tanner and James McDonnell called the squares. The teen-agers of the community, the school children and their parents had a delightful social evening. The spot dance prizes were awarded to Miss Janis Coombes and Mr. Glenn Bush and Mrs.

1954 Outlook For Farmers Said Bright

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, said Wednesday the 1954 outlook for farmers is bright.

Speaking at the official opening of the Middlesex seed fair he predicted a 25-cent rise in the price of sugar beets, good prospects of tobacco sales in Britain and possible sales of more cheese to Britain.

India will not buy wheat from Canada this year, he said, because of a bumper crop there, but the wheat surplus in Canada is "no cause for worry."

Mr. McCubbin said farmers are sending too many cattle to market now—30,000 head a week when consumption is 38,000 head a week. He said they should not be afraid to hold back cattle because the picture for the year is good.

Percy Utman and Gerald Richardson.

Refreshments were served.

The euchre parties will continue each Friday evening in March.

Pope's Progress Is Continuing

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Pope Wednesday night passed his eighth consecutive "fairly good" night and his slow progress toward recovery continues, Vatican sources said today.

The informants said the amount of solid food given the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church is slowly being increased. This consists of small portions of fruit and rice. However, most of the Pope's diet still is semi-liquid.

New Theatre Burns

ST. CHARLES, Ont. (CP)—Fire today destroyed a theatre-apartment block under construction in this village 55 miles southwest of North Bay.

Flames, believed to have spread from an overheated stove, broke out shortly after midnight. The fire was fanned by a strong wind and villagers sent calls to the nearby communities of Warren, Verner and Alban for additional fire-fighting equipment.

Thirty-eight days have passed since the first announcement Jan. 25 of the postiff's illness. . . tentatively diagnosed as gastritis.

HASTY PEES EX-COLONEL HONORED

Many residents of this district will be interested to learn that A. A. Kennedy of Owen Sound has been elected president of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association.

As commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in the Second Great War, Lt. Col. Kennedy made a host of friends among district residents. The Hasty Pees were proud of their colonel—and never proud-Hasty Pees were proud of their colonel—and never proudthan the day when he returned to allied lines after having been a captive of the Germans from whom he staged his own escape. Since the war he has renewed frequently friendships in military circles here. He also became well known to Hydro officials in this district when, as president of the Georgian Bay Municipal Electric Association, he joined with officials of the Eastern Ontario Municipal Electric Association in protesting the manner in which these 60 cycle areas were being required to assist in meeting the cost of the change-over of 25-cycle areas to 60-cycle power.

EXCISE TAX ON AUTOMOBILES

The Canadian Automobile Association has urged a major reduction in the present 15 per cent excise tax on automobiles and parts.

The Canadian Press reports that the Association made this plea "on grounds that owning a car is a basic right, not a luxury."

Half that assertion is half true. The other half is erroneous.

Nobody has a "basic right" to own anything. Everybody has a basic right to an opportunity to earn anything. There is a vast difference.

As for an automobile a luxury, that is true in many cases. It is not universally true. But to attempt to differentiate between those people to whom an automobile is a necessity, under the present economic system, and those to whom it is a luxury would be an impossibly difficult task.

Anyway, the whole theory that luxuries are the legitimate prey of finance ministers is open to question. Luxury is relative. What is luxurious living for one man would be poverty for another.

In wartime taxation luxuries is easy. Then a luxury is anything which does not assist the nation to win the war. But in times of peace this easy definition vanishes. Very many luxuries are necessities. The excise tax on automobiles would be a good place to start.

THE THIRD AGE OF MAN?

Is Man entering the Age of Imagination?

That may seem an absurd question. Imagination and Man have been chumming around together for thousands of years, ever since the day when a fish-wielding cave-man first eyed a sabre-tooth tiger and thought how charming those stripes would look on the little woman back in the home hole in the cliff.

But the cave-man's life did not depend on his imagination. It was more likely to get him into trouble than out of it. For extracting himself from such predicaments he depended on a strong right arm, fleet feet and a quick eye.

Later he discovered that he could make machines which, in effect, gave his arm stronger, his feet faster and his eye sharper. He had entered the second age of man, the Age of Machines. We like to think that this age is a great improvement but it is debatable to the first wheel. Today, when we have just recognized its existence, we may well be preparing to leave it.

These days are the result of reading about some of the latest and most ingenious machines man has produced, equipment known as "radio telemetry" as described by William Barrath writing in the current issue of "Jet Age." These instruments provide aerodynamists with 67 separate items of data per second while a test flight is in progress. They do a job which no human being could handle.

Of course, that is not a new development. Scientists have developed a variety of "thinking" machines which grind out the answers to complicated mathematical problems as rapidly as a meat grinder making minced steak out of brisket.

But all these machines are dependent upon man, for the answers can be no better than the accuracy—and selection—of the information which man gives them.

Today this information is the product of man's knowledge. But if tomorrow man is to go into outer space, to function in an environment which is completely new, this knowledge, of necessity, will be limited. Yet, because of the great speeds at which he will travel, he will have to depend on radio and electronic gear such as that used in radio telemetry will have to do much of his "thinking" for him. Because he cannot know what to expect he may have to feel these machines out, his life may well depend upon his ability to imagine what types of problems may confront him. Imagination, which he has always possessed, may become of vast importance to him and his future progress may depend increasingly on his ability to contrive in advance the possible, or even the seemingly impossible, problems which may confront him on his travels into the unknown.

"STAY FOR SUPPER"

We were a numerous family
In the good old days of yore,
But no matter how crowded the table seemed there was always room for more;
And Saturday was baking day for cookies and cake and pies,
When mother was loading the pantry shelf and tempting our greedy eyes.

For Sunday dinner was in a merry group and for supper they always stayed,
Till the table grew to a banquet board with places for twenty laid.

"Stay for supper!" is that phrase What food for an army, if one heard? So seldom I hear it now.
Can't the tables be stretched, as they were used to do, or have we forgotten how?

Don't the mothers cook as for mothers did? Don't they load up the pantry shelves

At the end of the week with a little more good food than they'll need themselves?
When Sunday comes don't the friends drop in, in that good old-fashioned way?
Just for a visit but, deep in their hearts, don't they know they'll be asked to stay?

Why, Sunday brought us the sisters' beaus and my brother's friends and mine.
'Twas a stormy day and a dull one, too, that we didn't feed eight or nine.

And I think of the mother we used to have and who looked to the day of rest.
Home was the merriest place of all, those days that think of the dad who looked

No matter how crowded the table grew we always had room for more.

The Rev. C. E. Scrimger, former pastor of Bridge Street Methodist Church here, and now of Napanee, has accepted a call to Brandon, Manitoba.

Rockwood has been very slack here for the past two weeks owing to the bad condition of the country roads. Merchants state they have never experienced such slow business.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON BEING ONESELF

The faults that are easiest to forgive, in a person, are those that are honestly displayed, but without pride. The most energetic person, as a rule, makes the most mistakes. He engages himself far and wide. People who never make mistakes never make anything.

Being one's genuine self is to mirror oneself to the world. The greater the personality the greater will all faults appear, but their background is usually one of rare achievement. Cromwell said: "Paint me as I am, warts and all!" I believe that we all wish most to be judged for what we are, faults and all! If we amount to anything it is because of the fact that we wish for no alibi. Borrowing a popular phrase from a noted comedian, we can say "I am what I am."

We excuse and overlook, more in a big man than a small one. Big in achievement, I mean. The late Henry Ford, for example, will always remain a controversial figure, but his thoughts all came out in the open. He was himself. We can't be anyone else, and why should we? Each of us is unique, as Emerson noted. We should be proud of the fact, that in a free land, we can show our selves and our personalities for what they are.

The father of the essay was Montaigne. In them he revealed himself. Arranged in autobiographical form they represent one of the frankest books about a man in all literature. He wrote in the preface of his book these words: "Gentle reader, myself am the groundwork of my book."

There is a familiar saying—"Be yourself." No matter rule to observe than this. There isn't a human being in this world who doesn't have interesting traits in him. Many of these traits have been smothered, buried with the failure. To be interesting you do not have to be what some call "successful." You are a success if you remain forever yourself.

Have Own Flag

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record).

Reports from Australia indicate that Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh are receiving a tumultuous welcome wherever they go. The Australians are giving a wonderful demonstration of loyalty at this first visit of a reigning sovereign to their country.

The fact that Australians have a distinctive national flag of their own isn't cooling their loyalty to the crown in the least. Queen Elizabeth's distinctive flag for Canada, in a free land, we can show our- please note.

A World 'Third Force'

(A broadcast by Prof. Arnold Toynbee in the BBC's Overseas Service)

In the East West Cold War

The majority of the human race is still today on the sidelines, watching and, wondering what line of their own to take. No doubt this mankind's great world is comparatively small, even if it, were pooled instead of being split up as it is. Yet, divided as it is, even though this non-Western and non-Russian majority of mankind may be, their weight may turn the scales in the end. They are the jury in which the issues are both the judges and the prize in the present competition for world power between the Soviet Union and the Atlantic Alliance.

In looking at this third force and trying to size it up, it may be a help if we can analyse it into its elements. This great mass of peoples, mostly living in Asia and Africa, but extending all over the face of the earth, can be classified into three groups: there are those who have come up against the West over this issue, those who come up against the Russians only, and those who have come up against both. Of these three groups it is obvious that the third alone is in a position to speak with the voice of experience, and it is therefore perhaps unfortunate for us in the West that it is the third that is the least in the goodness of our own Western cause and that this third is the small-let of the three.

It consists of Eastern Germany and other European countries on the Russian side of the Iron Curtain: Greece, Turkey and Persia; China and Korea. Most of these countries have been conquered for the one side or the other. We know that Turkey and Greece have chosen the Western side; we believe that the European countries behind the Iron Curtain would rejoin, if the choice if they had the power; we know that Yugo-slavia, after having been conquered by the Russians, has since changed her mind; and we know that Persia, after having first chosen the Western side, has since thrown in her lot with Russia.

Of course, these choices will not have been made without heart-searchings and reservations. Yugoslavia, for instance, being a country which was[illegible] said is, living under the Communist regime, does not have taken with a light heart her decision in favor of Com-munism; and therefore, perforce, is more closer towards the non-Communist West. Persia, too, must have taken with a light heart her decision to break off from the West and to side with Russia. We know that the Chinese people were disillusioned with the Communist regime; we do not know what their subsequent experience of Communism feels like by comparison. We do know, though, that what is at issue in China to be in power, at the moment, in either China or Russia, Communism is found to remain a skeleton in their cupboard. The Chinese, even if not Russians, are one, because its substance is geographical, and the hard facts of geography are the same for Churchills the lie of the land is such that the Chinese are compelled by nesting interests there which are of vital importance to them, and the present regime which they have set up in Manchuria would no doubt replace to be out of power. Poles, for example, would no doubt replace to be out of power, dependence, but this only on condition that in coming over into our Western camp they should be guaranteed the western frontier that the Russians have given them, Poland along the Oder-Neisse line. On the other hand, the East German Communists come over to the West in the expectation of receiving back their German fatherland. Germany had between the two wars, including the restitution of East Prussia.

The East German peasant, during the inter-war years, had been given an allotment out of some Junker's landed estate. Would agree with the Polish peasant, who has been given a similar allotment out of some Junker's landed estate, in demanding guarantees that he will not be thrown out again as a result of some fresh change in the political landscape. As for the Russians, Eastern Europe (and nearly all East Europeans, ex-landowners included, will agree with the peasants in demanding guarantees that the revised German minorities shall never recur.

What do the Germans themselves want—most of all? Well, before all things, the reunion of the Russian - occupied piece of Germany with the Western-occupied piece. In German minds, reunion takes precedence over rearmament—though, if and when reunion has been achieved, it may be taken for granted that it will be followed by a German demand for the recovery of at least some of the ex-German territory, east of the Oder-Nisse line, that since the war has been incorporated in Poland. De Gaulle's conception of redentist movement is something very natural in the present circumstances; but it will be a formidable problem for the West, because it will put the Germans in hands, it will alarm not only the Poles, but also all other East European peoples who, down to the end of the last war, had a German minority in their midst to serve German imperialism as a fifth column. All these recent victims of German aggression may well remember Munich, when the Western powers proved impotent to save one neighbour of Germany's from falling into Germany's clutches.

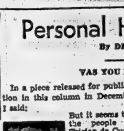
Russia is the only great power on the east side of Eastern Europe from which these East European peoples can be given effective help in case of German revanch. The East European peoples probably scribe under Russian domination; but if ever Germany threatens to overrun their way eastward again, they might even remember that Russia has a vital interest as they have in containing Germany within her present frontiers. That is an encouraging, you see, is the choice that the non-Communist peoples of Iron Curtain may not be so simple or so clear as it looks in western eyes at the present day.

As we look round the world we see a majority of mankind in the non-oily country today that has the grievous misfortune to be split down the middle by a world-wide dividing line between the Russian and the Western camps. Korea is Viet Nam—the country of the Annamese—is the same. We may consider that the Koreans and the Annamese are victims of a national reunion carry these two Asian countries? We in the West have always hoped that United Germany would gravitate towards us, but what would happen if Viet Nam and in Korea if all foreign troops were evacuated and all foreigners were sent home?

If the conflicting, indigenous elements in Korea and Viet Nam were left to fight it out among themselves, would the Communists or the non-Communists? Here we are quite in the dark. Yet what I think, take it, is certain that the Annamese and the Koreans, as well as the Germans, will manage by hook or by crook sooner or later to reunite their countries by themselves. I will go so far as to guess that whichever of the two unoccupied peoples succeeds in bringing about a national reunion will be the first nucleus of a decisive majority in both these Asian countries.

If we take a glance at the Arab countries and Africa we can see at once that they are in a similar case to the West, in its competition with Russia, in its relative disadvantage. The Africans have been up against us Westerners since the days of Vasco da Gama, and Columbus, and the Arabs since the Crusades, and they have come to see that Russians yet: so that Russians for them are still legendary figures. They are innocent, have created an early paradise, while we Westerners have got a bad conscience about whose shortcomings are obvious to Arabs and Africans, even before they see meeting some of us every day of their lives. By contrast, the Russians have a reputation for us.

Perhaps the only effective remedy would be for us to introduce the Arabs and Africans to the Russians. After all, the Czechs and the Yugoslavs used once to believe that Russians were brothers who would one day be their liberators; that has been their experience. Let us come the Yugoslavs and the Czechs have learned by bitter experience, to see the Russians with now, and very different eyes. Perhaps the Africans and the Arabs would undergo the same disillusionment. The experiment ought to let the Russians loose upon them. But of course this is the last thing that we want to do, and the Russians know it.



This has been a rather short and superficial survey of how things are in the present Russian and non-Western majority of mankind; but it is my impression that a lesson to be drawn from it. Neither the Russians nor we can be sure of our prospects in our future relations with the rest of the world. Russia is not the West's enemy democracy. The last word literally will turn out to be neither of the West nor Russia yet knows this last word is going to be. It may very well turn out to be something that is equally unpleasant for both of them. Both Communism and democracy have one thing in common. Both of them are Western institutions and the rest of the world may decide to reject them both, simply on this account.

VAS YOU DERE, CHARLIE?

In a piece released for publication in this column it Dentistry is said:

But it seems that the people on Tristan da Cunha have the finest teeth in the world and they don't even have to brushed their teeth.

Now comes a typical bit of sophistry from Dr. Brady, director of the "Dental Information Bureau," which is composed of several organizations affiliated with the American Dental Association.

"As we have pointed out on several occasions," says Mr. Brady, "the low incidence of tooth decay in Tristan da Cunha is due to two major factors: 1) a comparatively sugar-free diet, and 2) a beneficial fluoride content in the community water supply."

If the Dental Information Bureau or the American Dental Association or any component organization or affiliate thereof will kindly show me where they have ever published that one before I visited Tristan da Cunha, I'd fall I can be induced to eat my hat. I'm willing to enlighten the American people about it.

But it will take more than the "pointing out" of any such thing to sell me a toothbrush or dentifrice.

Mr. Milford, having explained away the good teeth of the Tristan people, proceeds to tell me the facts of life in language that even I should be able to understand.

"All dental authorities agree on the efficacy of toothbrushing in the control of tooth decay."

No, not all, Mr. Milford. I have heard from several excellent dental authorities who now believe tooth brushing does not prevent tooth decay.

Then the director of the Dental Information Bureau tells me what I can learn from the time the child has a full complement of foundations or "set teeth."

Topical applications of sodium fluoride, or the controlled fluoridation of community drinking water.

Dietary regulation to eliminate excessive sweets."

To No. 1, I say horsefeathers. Most of the cavities in the baby teeth should be filled by the people of Tristan da Cunha. Enough ment of primary teeth is present or not. To No. 3, I say O.K. I'll be glad to go as far as excessive sweets may be concerned, but that's only a minor part of the dietary regulation necessary to insure good teeth.

To the Dental Information Bureau concerning the teeth of the people of Tristan da Cunha, I say "Vas you dere, Charley?"

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

SUBMISSION CAN BE NOBLE

We live in an age which cries out stridently about freedom. We must have freedom and everybody else must have freedom.

In all this, of course, we are entirely right. Our rights should be recognized and the rights of every person and state be respected. The soul languishes and dies without it. But what about the great moral verities that are built into creation? What about our submission to these? Thomas Carlyle declared that great souls are always loyally submissive—reverent, what is above them. Only small, lean souls are otherwise.

Think of the best person you know, and undoubtedly it will be someone whose life is lived in conti-tinual and humble submission to great powers which he knows are over and above him. He is great, not in spite, because he knows that his life is in the hands of a sovereign God. God, in whom all life is characterized by purpose, for he knows that he was put here in the world to fulfill a definite end.

There are not many areas in life that are not under control. In most areas, things are already definitely ordered for us. We can do nothing to change some of these circumstances and very little to change others.

So let us always be mindful that humility is the proper mood of a creature who had had little to do with creating the conditions under which he must live.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Being long in the pockets and short in the seat, I have the habit of sitting on my eyeglasses. I sat on them again only last pair broke, I went to the oculist for a new pair. I was told that my eyes had been tested for reading glasses, so I sat for a new examination. The optometrist congratulated me on being two plus in each eye. Then three years ago I sat on and was highly interested in testing the long range vision of my blue eyes. He puffed me up beautifully by assuring me I had perfect vision for a few feet and perfect vision for a few feet and perfect for my age.

"What recreation do you follow?" he enquired with interest.

"Huntin'," I replied vaguely.

"Hunting?" he asked, walking in the fields, sitting on snake fences, or what sort of hunting?"

"Ah a farmer!" he presumed.

When I told him I was a writer, tickling a typewriter and reading, he made me get back in the chair and did me all over again, trying to make sure he had been right the first time.

"Most of us, in cities and towns," he said, "live our whole short years, unnaturally. We work eight hours a day in office, shop or factory, with a possible view of ten or twenty feet; and then we go home to read within twenty inches of our eyes. When we quit work we come out into the street, where again we employ our vision for short range views of the narrow street. If we have a car, our vision is focussed a few feet onto the road. If we have a train ride in bus or street car, everything is close up, and we bend our faces in front of our weeping hours, again confining our vision to a few feet. Almost always, the nerves sag.

"A couple of weeks vacation in summer isn't enough to correct the condition. Other people should get in, fishin', bird watching and fence sitting."

"That's a kind a' malingering," I explained.

The Borrowed Tomb

"... the body of Jesus was lowered into His mother's arms as she sat at the foot of the cross."

CHAPTER TWO.

Mary remembered that Joseph of Arimathea, this learned and wealthy Jew, an honored judge of the Temple court, the Sanhedrin, had long ago heard the call of faith, she knew that he had decided he could best serve the Master secretly, from the august heights of his own worldly power. But at the trial, he had spoken out valiantly for Jesus and voted for His acquittal, for the first time publicly admitting sympathy with the Nazarene. And now, Mary wondered, what did this elderly judge mean to do with the body of her Son?

I shall bury Him in the tomb I long ago prepared for myself," said Joseph of Arimathea. "It is only a little way on the other side of the hill—in the garden of my house. It will be very simple."

But it was not to be quite as simple as Joseph of Arimathea expected.

Complication arose from two factors: the persistent anxiety of the Temple aristocracy to make absolutely certain that Jesus was dead; and the preparations for what was both a Sabbath and a Feast.

It was now about five o'clock in the afternoon, the time of these preparations which the Jews called the paraceve. It was an intolerable thought that the dead bodies of three malefactors — a "blasphemer" and two thieves — should be left hanging on their crosses to sully this double holiday. Hence, others besides Joseph of Arimathea were busy on Calvary Hill in that early twilight. Pitiable Jews, who wanted to get the corpses down, had also been to Pilate; that was why the hill was crowded again with Roman soldiers bearing fresh orders. Climbing ladders and carrying the forked tongues of hammers to pull out the nails, they busied themselves at a gruesome task; not merely to release the hands and feet of the men on whom the sentence of death had been executed, but by law to break the bones, proving the victims dead beyond doubt.

Yet they made a strange decision, those Roman soldiers, in spite of their grim orders. They broke the legs of Dysmas, that poor, repentant robber who, while hanging in agony on the cross, had called out adoringly to Jesus and was forgiven and promised Paradise that same day. They broke the legs of the unrepentant thief who had died mouthing stubborn curses, all but for some reason they left the legs of Jesus unbroken.

Instead, the centurion named Longinus lifted a spear, gleaming in the harshness of the weird light, and plunged the spear into the side of Jesus, opening the pale flesh in a long gash through which blood began to flow — the one a symbol for ages to come of martyrdom, the other of redemption. With such a wound in His side, Jesus was surely dead, reasoned the Roman authorities and forthwith turned the body over to Joseph of Arimathea. And in that moment Longinus had helped fulfill another Scriptural prophecy.

And John stood by and watched; beloved John who was to write of himself: "And he that saw it hath given testimony and his testimony is true. And he knoweth that he saith true; that you also may believe. For these things were done that the Scripture might be fulfilled: 'You shall not break a bone of Him.' And again another Scripture says: 'They shall look on Him whom they pierced.'"

Joseph of Arimathea had everything ready: the fine linen; the servants from his nursery home in Jerusalem for many centuries have prayed in that cramped interior, with its slender shelf in the wall on which Joseph and his workmen now deposited the body of Jesus.

The mourning women from Galilee surrounded Mary at the door of the tomb, watching with her as Joseph, with the tenderness of a son, straightened the legs, smoothed the last wrinkle from the linen cloth that was wound all around Him, hiding the face as well as the form.

Then, while the women covered their eyes with their hands, praying softly, Joseph of Arimathea rolled down from a maze of ditch behind a round boulder as tall as himself.

"We must go home," the women were telling Mary, as if to keep her thoughts away from the great stone rolling toward them in the gloom. "We must go home and prepare spices and ointments."

There was a silence. Mary, looking at them somberly, made no reply, but they well understood what she could not bring herself to say. A few funeral spices and embalming ointments Joseph had brought with him and used, with his linen cloths. But these would hardly be enough to preserve unliving flesh against the forces of pollution. More spices, more ointments, would be needed in a few hours. Yet they could not be forthcoming, for the same ritualistic reason that had hurried the burial itself—the paraceve was here, and with it, rushing on the wings of night, was the Sabbath, when they must rest according to the Commandment; the Sabbath, which we call Saturday, and which would begin at sundown, any moment now.

So Mary Magdalene and Mary of Cleophas turned Mary's face away from the rolling stone closing the sepulcher of her Son,

And then another man came forward. He had been helping Joseph, but now for the first time, by the gleam of a lantern in his hand, the women could see that he was not a workman from Joseph's farm but another great judge from the Sanhedrin, Nicodemus. He was that rich man who once had come cautiously to Jesus after nightfall, so that he might not be recognized and gossiped about in his exalted position. To him Jesus had spoken what had seemed riddling words: "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God."

But Nicodemus came to understand that strange, enigmatic utterance in his soul, which had, indeed, been born again of water and of the Spirit, so that Nicodemus was of a new character, with a new love for God and for all his fellowmen. Because he had been born again, he had also fought beside Joseph of Arimathea to save the life of the accused Jesus in the trial of the seventy judges of Israel.

Here he was now, at the tomb, helping Joseph with the great stone rolled against the door of the tomb. It was Nicodemus who had brought the spices and the ointments: aloes, mixed with myrrh, that sweet perfume, not the kind obtained by puncturing the bark of the acacia tree, but the self-sending nardrus that had once been brought in a vase by one of the royal Wise Men, the Magi from the East who had seen Christ's star and had come to worship.

Weddings

RUSSAN—DANFORD

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. John's Anglican Church, Madoc, on Saturday, February 27th, when Marguerite Eva Danford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Danford, Madoc, was married to Lloyd Herbert Russan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Russan of Norwood. The church was beautifully decorated with spring flowers.

Rev. G. Harvey Good officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a winter white suit embroidered in pearls and sequins, pink hat and gloves and a matching corsage of carnations.

Mrs. Gerald Austin, Sarnia, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a grey-blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of deep pink carnations.

Glenford Cavanaugh of Norwood, was groomsman.

Mr. Ronald Robertson played the wedding music.

The reception was held at the bride's home. The bride's mother received the guests. She wore a gown of navy corded silk and a corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a gown of grey printed crepe and a corsage of pink roses.

For a wedding trip to Ottawa and Sarnia, the bride chose a blue suit with matching pink accessories.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Russan will reside in Norwood.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Toronto, Norwood, Sarnia and Oshawa.

FIRTH—BENN

A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday, February 27th at 21 o'clock, when Captain Brightwell of the Salvation, united in marriage Sarah Elizabeth Benn, Belleville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Colden, to Harry Firth, of Belleville, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Firth.

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Colden of Belleville.

After a quiet luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Firth left for Toronto and points west. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Firth will reside in Belleville.

TUGNETTE—FLUNDER

In the account of the wedding of Doris Betty Flunder and Thomas Gerald Tugnette published in Wednesday's issue of the Ontario Intelligencer it was stated that the wedding was solemnized on Saturday morning. It should have read that the wedding was solemnized on Friday evening.

Holloway WMS Holds Meeting

Of Tuesday afternoon the ladies of Holloway Street United Church W.M.S. met in the church parlors.

The president, Mrs. Grant Coulter opened the meeting with a prayer for guidance and light. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Hubbs.

Mrs. Wilson conducted the worship service. Mrs. Cordes read the Scripture and Mrs. Sisers led in prayer.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of Mrs. F. J. White, a recently deceased member.

Mrs. Daniels sang a solo "Nearer My Savior."

The topic "Our Own Back Yard," taken from the study book, "Where's the Sun", was discussed by Mrs. Soale and Mrs. Bunnett.

They stressed that "In turning to distant fields we must not forget the needy lying at our door."

It was announced that at the "Thank-offering" meeting in April, the guest speaker would be the Rev. Hicks Collins.

Mrs. Weese reported 53 calls on the sick and shut-ins during February.

A letter was read by Mrs. Jones from Mrs. Denton, Christian Stewardship secretary, regarding the increased allocation for 1954.

Mrs. Bunnett reported on quilts and layettes being made for the bale and suggested that each group be responsible for one project during the year. She made an appeal for articles of clothing for the bale to be sent in June.

The Presbyterial for March 24 in Napanee was announced as well as the World Day of Prayer in Bridge Street United Church on Friday, March 5.

Mrs. Coulter closed the meeting with the benediction after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilson and her group.

"HYMN LADY" DIES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Kathleen Blanchard of Winnipeg, known across Canada as "the hymn lady" died in hospital here after a short illness. Mrs. Blanchard devoted many years to writing biographies of the composers of hymns.

Jubilee Aux. Hears Talk On 3 Europes

The members of the Bridge Street United Church Jubilee Evening Auxiliary met recently in the church parlors for their monthly meeting. The splendid "St. Patrick's" suppers was served by Mrs. G. Maybee and her group.

The president, Mrs. L. Jones, welcomed members and conducted the business meeting.

The Explorer group under the leadership of Mrs. A. Marshall, was represented by Misses Patsy Wimmfield and Elizabeth Liscott. They presented their treasure chest of money and a baby blanket to the Auxiliary.

Miss Grace Houston, Christian Stewardship convener, read a poem. The temperance convener, Mrs. C. Calnan presented recommendations and contests concerning liquor advertisements.

Mrs. T. Coldan opened the worship service by reading a portion of Henry Drummond's "The Greatest Things of the World." Mrs. Locke and Mrs. Fraser assisted in this service.

Mrs. Holmboe gave a talk entitled "Europe." She stated that Christianity was at a low ebb in Europe. This seems unbelievable since Europe is the motherland of our religion.

Mrs. Holmboe spoke of the three "Zeds" of Eastern Europe which has lost its freedom; Western Europe which has lost its hope and Christian Europe which has not lost its resistance but is being reconstructed.

During severe persecution by the Nazis and Communists, the Christian church kept its steadfast faith.

The speaker compared religion to a nail, the harder it is hit the deeper it goes into the wood.

"The church is the conscience of the nation," stated Mrs. Holmboe.

"Where Customers Send Their Friends"

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HOW SHOULD A WIDOW BE ADDRESSED?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I lost my husband during the war, and since then many people write to me using my given name. I like to use my husband's name with the "Mrs."

Which is correct? I have discussed it a number of times with my friends; but no one seems to know what the proper method of address should be. — Mrs. J.R.M.

Dear Mrs. J.R.M.:

Conveniently a widow continues to use her husband's name, and you are quite correct in doing so.

Informally, many widows do choose to use their own name instead, and there is no reason why they should not do so if they wish. The other, however, conforms to the etiquette books.

MAKE FRIENDS WHERE YOU ARE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a boy of 17 who is not in the habit of asking advice. Generally, I keep my problems to myself and figure them out alone, but I need help with this one.

You see, two years ago I moved away from the town I had always lived in. There is a girl out there with whom I went to school, and who I think a great deal of. Since leaving that town, I have written her several times, but got no reply.

I hope to go back for a visit in another year, but in the meantime, I would like to know what I should do to get her interested in me, so that she will be as eager to see me again as I will be to see her.

— B.J.

Dear B. J.:

What I think would be more sensible for you to do than try to cultivate a friendship with this girl back home would be to look around the town in which you now live and see if there aren't some girls there you'd like to know. There are girls worth knowing everywhere, and it's far more sensible to make friends where you are than to pass up good times and interesting new friendships in favor of daydreams about the past.

That isn't the way you feel about it right now, I know, and it isn't the sort of advice you're looking for. But you'd be smart to take it. Drop the home town girl a letter now and then if you want to; send her a simple little present now and again, on her birthday, say, or on appropriate holidays, and see if anything comes of it. But don't be silly enough to cheat yourself out of present opportunities for new friends by trying to make something that perhaps isn't even there out of an old one.

CASUAL YOUTH

BARNSLEY, Eng. (CP) — Headmaster J. W. Roche told parents that if their sons choose wives in the same casual way as jobs, then some parents would "acquire perfectly horrible daughters-in-law."

Anna And The King Of Spaghetti

By Mary Moore

A project that started out to be me giving a lesson in English (as if I knew any) to an Italian husband and a French wife, turned out to be a delicious Italian supper cooked by the charming French girl.

They were invited with their two-year-old Tony to our house for dinner and Anna was going to bring some Parmesan cheese for Mario, who had brought from Italy. What actually happened was that they arrived early bringing Italian spaghetti, a large can of Italian peeled "plum" tomatoes, a package of ground beef and pork, and a big wedge of Parmesan cheese (from Italy).

Matt tells us that the Consul in Italy said he would not find any of his native foods in Canada so he came well stocked with four valises full of the food he loved. The Consul brought official must still be shaking his head in wonderment for when Matt came through the immigration at Halifax the official asked him how he had managed to feed in his family. "Me and Anna."

ANNA'S SPAGHETTI AND MEAT BALLS

First Anna finely chopped one-half onion and put it on in a large frying pan with about 1-3 cup corn oil to gently fry. Of course she would have preferred olive oil. When the onions were transparent she added salt and pepper and a 56-oz. tin of Italian peeled plum tomatoes. This can had a sprig of basil in it. She let that simmer while she made the

MEAT BALLS

One pound of a 50-50 mixture of ground pork and beef. I'd call very finely chopped parsley, 1 egg, pepper and salt and garlic salt, 1 tablespoon oil, 1-4 cup fine cracker crumbs.

This she shaped into 14 balls and rolled in very fine cracker crumbs.

Anna constantly returned to the stove to stir and mash the tomatoes in the sauce to make a smooth paste of it all while it gently simmered. Before she was finished our suave cooked 2 hours —but Anna said 3 hours would have made it better.

Right here I want to add that at the sauce cooked down twice Anna added 1-4 cup cold water. When the sauce had simmered down to her satisfaction she added the meat balls on and slides in another frying pan in about 1-2 cup oil. This browning and turning took long enough to cook them through. She transferred them to the sauce to keep hot.

Meanwhile she put on to boil 2 quarts water with 1 tablespoon salt and when it was boiling added a pound of very thin spaghetti and stirred it constantly with a wooden spoon for eight minutes. She drained it very well, through the big sieve.

The meat balls were served on a hot plate. About one quarter of the sauce was spread on a hot platter and about half of the spaghetti and some grated Parmesan added in alternate layers, then more spaghetti and sauce on the top. These she tossed with two forks until we had a platterful of spaghetti coated with rich sauce, flavored throughout with Parmesan. Everybody was standing and watching and drooling so there was nothing left to do but for everyone to carry something to the dining-room table and lay to. Matt carefully instructed me about twirling the spaghetti on our forks with a dessert spoon in our left hands for a guide and support.

The spaghetti was the first course. My greatest joy was watching little two-year-old Tony manage that spaghetti like an old-timer. If a couple of strands escaped from around his little rosebud lips he slurped them in with a quick flick. The meat balls were passed and with these Matt ate bread—so, so did I. Then a tossed salad, but that was made by me. So was dessert, which they were generous enough to praise even if it was only lemon snow with custard sauce.

Matt and Anna and Tony are coming back for a Canadian dinner, but I have no illusions about competing with her cooking finesse or her charm.

WHAT DO YOUR LIPS REVEAL?

If you have an observing eye you can be a lip reader. A woman may be at client at the spoken word expression of her mouth and does her character, often will reveal her character. # GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

A THOUGHTFUL PLAN FOR A WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A very dear friend of mine—we were roommates in college, and have kept in very close touch with each other ever since—is coming to town soon, and I'd like to make all plans to give a large tea in her honor at my home. However, I have definitely recall that the date I have chosen for the tea is the seventeenth Anniversary of her marriage to a very dear friend of ours, a West Point man who is now an officer of very high rank stationed in the East. Would you think it would be all proper for me to have a Wedding Anniversary cake made to surprise her at the tea—with 17 iced on it, and their first names also? If you approve, would she cut it or should I? And any other suggestions, Mrs. Beeckman?

It is a wonderful idea. . .do make her day by carrying out your plan. And she will need and appreciate your help and loving gestures on this day. Have the 17 iced on the cake, and the

Eggs and Cheese In March Meals

Whenever a group of women get together, you almost always hear someone asking, "What do you serve for supper, I find it the hardest meal of all to plan." The same is true of lunch. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture have some supper suggestions that could be used at lunch time as well.

A soup and sandwich combination is a good idea, but the sandwich need not be the usual two slices of bread with a filling between. The home economists suggest a cream soup served with a crispy salad on good size hot buttered tea biscuit halves, or a hearty chowder served with hot muffins and a tossed salad. Open-faced sandwiches would be welcome too. The next time you have some leftover baked ham, slice it on whole wheat bread, make a gravy, add mushroom slices and pour it over the bread and ham. Serve it with a fruit salad.

French Toast served with crisp bacon or topped with maple syrup is very good for lunch or supper. Eggs of course are one of the standbys, and since they are reasonable in price, you will be wanting to serve them often. Perhaps one of the biggest helps in planning lunch or supper is the basic cream sauce. Once you have mastered the cream sauce, you will have opened the door to almost endless possibilities. It is a very good way to give the family extra milk. It is also possible from the one basic recipe, simply by increasing or decreasing the amount of flour, to make sauces, chowders, casseroles and creamed dishes of all kinds.

MUSHROOM AND CHEESE RABBIT

You can usually count on cheese to lift a recipe out of the ordinary, and when cheese is combined with mushrooms, then you have a real treat. It is a rabbit and not a rarebit as it is often called. According to legend, it was named many years ago by a Welsh nobleman who was entertaining a number of English friends at his castle. It was the season for rabbits - and, knowing how the Englishmen enjoyed them, the Welshman was determined to have rabbit on his menu. However, try as they would his hunters could not trap a single rabbit. Finally the lord consulted his talented chef who melted some of their choicest cheese, added a few spices and served it over thick slices of bread. Then the lord proudly presented to his guests as Welsh Rabbit. So popular has it become that Welsh Rabbit is usually considered the national dish of Wales.

CHEESE AND MUSHROOM RABBIT

2 cups medium cream sauce
1-2 pound mushrooms
4 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1-2 pound medium or old Cheddar Cheese grated
1-2 teaspoon paprika
1-4 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon of Worcester sauce

Cut the mushrooms into lengthwise slices. Saute the mushrooms and the chopped onions in a small amount of butter until tender-about ten minutes. Add the grated cheese, mushrooms and onion to the cream sauce. Cook over a low heat until the cheese is melted. Season with salt and pepper to taste, add the paprika, dry mustard and Worcester sauce. This gives about six servings.

CREAM PUFFS

When eggs are as good a buy as they are just now, you will want to use them more often for lunch and supper and possibly for dinner too. At this time of the year, when your meals need to be perked up a bit, luscious cream puffs with a custard filling for dessert are a treat. Although many homemakers are almost afraid to try cream puffs, they are really very easy to make.

CREAM PUFFS

1-4 cup butter
1-2 cup water
1-2 cup flour
2 eggs

Add the butter to the water and heat to the boiling point. Stir in the flour and continue stirring until the mixture leaves the sides of the pan and forms a ball— about one minute. Cool. Beat in eggs one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Drop from a dessert spoon to a greased cookie sheet. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. until risen and golden brown, 20 to 30 minutes. The recipe makes seven or eight large cream puffs.

The same recipe will make about three dozen tiny bouchees which are very good served hot with a nicely seasoned meat or chicken filling. They should be dropped by teaspoon to a buttered cookie sheet and since they are small, they are baked about 20 minutes at 400 deg. Fahr.

Auxiliary Fashion Show Last Word In Style, Color

The colorful Fashion Show sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Belleville General Hospital, being staged at the collegiate auditorium on Monday, March 8, will serve two purposes.

Not only will it bring to Queensmine Belleville and district the last word in milady's styles and fashions for 1954 but the proceeds will be devoted exclusively to a very worthy cause.

During its 14 years of existence the auxiliary has accumulated 107 members. Its objective is "to further the care and well-being of the patient in the hospital." To this end it has raised funds through various media to donate many valuable pieces of equipment including an oxygen tent, incubator, autoclave, dry-heat dishes and many other items.

WORTHY PROJECTS

It operates an Opportunity Shop in the Market Building and the Doll's Closet, its newest project, in the hospital. A sewing group makes articles for the hospital. Fashion shows, tag days and spring teas are other fundraising endeavors. A Good Samaritan cupboard presented to will stocked helps needy babies when they leave the hospital.

The Alpha Lambda Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority, members of which will act as ushers at the forthcoming Fashion Show, is responsible for the upkeep of the "cupboard". It also has taken complete charge of the mobile library at the hospital.

The auxiliary gives four bursaries annually to nurses-in-training. A pledge of $10,000 was made to the Hospital Building Fund which the auxiliary expects to fulfil during the next three years.

MOST COLORFUL

The 1954 Fashion Show is said by auxiliary officials to be the most colorful and entertaining since the inception of the project.

Seven attractive models will parade in feminine elegance and color that will delight ladies of the city and district with the last word in modern stylings of evening wear, sports wear, afternoon wear, beach wear and other kinds of apparel.

Accessories accentuating and complementing the various styles and modes of feminine garb will be exhibited. Luxurious jewellery, the last word in shoes, footwear, gloves, and furs, not to mention, the absolute latest in hair stylings will be seen. And all this against a luxuriant background of pretty spring flowers.

There will be entertainment and many gifts will be available for winners of door tickets. Heading these is a lady's exquisite wrist watch, a thing of real beauty in itself. Nine other handsome prizes round out the list.

The Fashion Show starts at 8:15 p.m., Monday, March 8.

Black Marketeers Doing Big Business in Moscow, Kiev, Riga

BY RICHARD E. KASISCHKE

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet newspapers complain that speculators and black marketeers are making a lush and easy living off the shortage-plagued people while Premier Georgi Malenkov's government is attempting to increase the supply of consumer goods.

Black marketeers do a big business in such cities as Moscow, Kiev and Riga, and even reach into the small towns. But drives are under way, newspaper say, against these "leeches, parasites and monsters" who would rather live on speculation than do honest work.

The press scolds police for being too lenient with the black marketeers. It claims many of them have been let off with warnings rather than being handed over to the courts for punishment.

PRIVATE SALES

The Moscow trade union newspaper Trud and the Zarya Vostoka of Tiflis told their readers how these speculators work:

When Soviet citizens crowd a store counter they may find a slick, well-barbered character coming up to them. Flashing a pleasant smile, the new-found friend will say: "Do you want a fur coat?" If the answer is yes, the young man in the slick haircut and the well-lied necktie knows just where to get one. He leads his quarry off to an apartment where the sale is made.

"The appearance of speculators and speculation in our time is caused by the shortage of certain goods," Trud commented.

Trud told of one theatre ticket scalper named Litvak who was caught three times and each time released.

"One might have expected that the militia would take stricter measures," the trade union organ said. "But the militia officers soon completely lost track of this Litvak . . . Other cases show that the organs of the militia are at times manifestly easy-going with speculators."

The newspaper also scolded citizens who patronize the black marketeers, saying "any person having recourse to the services of speculators is committing an act opposed to the spirit of Soviet ethics, and should be ostracized."

Armistice Rules Complicate Korea Reinforcement Picture

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Japan (CP)—The Korean reinforcement picture for Canada's Far East forces.

Jack Brayley

The rules prohibit either side from increasing the numbers of combatants or weapons in the area. Replacements are on a man-for-man and weapon for weapon basis, and even small-arms even small-arms have to be inspected by authorized check teams.

The Canadians ran against this problem for the first time when they were replacing a 200-man Army Service Corps unit. They were all set to make the switch at the dockside at Inchon when someone noticed that the relief company knew neither the vehicles nor the roads. The problem was solved by switching half the unit at a time.

LARGER UNITS

The rules have forced Col. John A. Allan, chief of the Canadian reinforcement group here, to replace large units at the Inchon dockside with troops direct from the American port of embarkation. Normally, units stopped at Kure for final medical check, battle preparation and personnel sorting.

Now the organization at the Kure rear base is kept functioning for any future emergency by handling smaller units brought by air from Canada and the Korean front. Lt.-Col. N. M. Gemmell of Peterborough, Ont., commanding the reinforcement depot at nearby Hiro, is responsible for seeing that the machinery is ready to handle as many as 1,400 men at once if need be.

Through his hands also pass the men recovering from wounds or illness, getting ready to rejoin their units in Korea.

GOOD MEALS HELP

Part of Gemmell's formula for getting casualties back on their feet is displayed at one luncheon where the menu was rice and tomato soup, a choice of roast beef or leg of lamb with brown gravy, creamed whipped potatoes, mashed turnips, buttered julienne carrots, pickled onions, and for dessert, a choice of cottage pudding with orange sauce or fruit.

There is good-natured camaraderie between the Canadians and Allied troops at the rear bases. The Canadians at Hiro recently beat an American team in a softball tournament among the Allied forces. The Canadians presented the Americans with a trophy—the metal arm of an old chair with an inscription. To read the inscription, the trophy had to be held in such a way that the reader got a whack on the head.

The Americans retaliated by presenting the Canadians with a trophy called the "early bird." It was a novel arrangement of oil cans which spurted water in your eye if held in a certain way.

POPULAR CENTRE

A recreation centre supervised by Gladys Dunn of Toronto, a Red Cross worker, is a popular part of the Hiro operation. It offers a hobby shop with courses in leather work, mat-weaving, model airplane building and photography. It also sports wide murals around the walls. They appear to be in the Japanese tradition but actually are the work of a transient soldier with a yen to paint—Spr. Howie Boyce of Ottawa.

Meanwhile at Kure, Maj. Bob Labelle of St. Boniface, Man., and Montreal has just handed over command of the Canadian Army's most unique unit to Maj. Jack Pullen of Ottawa. It's the 36th General Transport Company of the Service Corps, serving all components of the Commonwealth forces in this area. Its the first time the army has hired local labor to assume such a role.

"Labelle's own Japanese borderers" are clothed in makeshift uniforms and happily serve as drivers at $25 a month. There are 210 Japanese in the outfit and they are supervised by 38 Canadians. The operation is not only economical and manpower-saving for Canada but it also has certain obvious advantages now that Japanese civilian police regulate the high-way traffic of all foreign elements in the country.

The prosecution of a Canadian driver might conceivably lead to complications. The pardoning of a Japanese driver by his own nationals presents no international situation.

"Fortunately, however," said Maj. Labelle, "the operation is working smoothly and we've had no misunderstanding or trouble."

Britain's Watch Industry Making Modest Come-Back

By EDWIN SHANKE

LONDON (AP)—Britain's watch industry, once predominant in the world, is making a modest comeback with government encouragement as a result of the last war.

Watch - making had virtually ceased here before 1914, although clockmakers struggled along on a limited scale. To help fill what it described as a "gap in our industrial armory," the government announced a plan in 1945 to revive the industry and set aside £1,000,000 for development purposes.

Starting almost from scratch, Britain today is producing a monthly average of 4,500 high-grade jewelled lever watches. In addition, it produces approximately 200,000 cheap non-jewelled watches monthly.

"Our output of fine watches is as yet small but we have laid out a four-year program of development," said Dennis W. Barrett, general manager of Smiths English Clocks Ltd., Britain's largest clock and watch producers and the only British makers of 15-jewel lever timepieces.

HARD LARGEST INDUSTRY

Describing the decline of the once flourishing industry, F. B. Cowen, secretary of the British Clock and Watch Manufacturers' Association, said in an interview:

"Two hundred years ago, Britain had the world's largest clock and watch industry. It employed scores of thousands of craftsmen and their hand-finished watches were sold throughout the world. Possession of a watch then, of course, was the mark of a wealthy man.

"From 1870 onwards, however, the picture changed with the advance of the industrial revolution and the opening of the market as money began to spread. Mass production methods were introduced abroad. But our craftsmen wouldn't agree that watches, requiring such high precision work, could be produced by machine. They refused to adopt the machine."

As a result, Cowen said, Britain's watch industry declined virtually by default to countries such as Switzerland and Germany.

12 FACTORIES IN '39

Between the wars, Britain produced virtually no watches, Mr. Cowen said. In 1939, the industry really consisted of 12 clock factories with a force of 4,000 to 5,000 men producing 1,250,000 clocks of all kinds with the exception of the alarm clock.

Cowen said that "Dunkerque and our subsequent isolation from Switzerland awoke us to our need."

"Practically everything that goes off with a bang has some part of a watch or clock in it. The time bomb, the time fuse and, of course, aircraft instruments, all have a bit of a watch or clock mechanism in them.

"But we lacked the craftsmen and the delicate precision machine tools. The clock factories pulled together bits and pieces of machine and we had some lucky windfalls in contraband German cars goes. And we had to draw on the skilled employees in the scientific instrument field."

The government began a post-war scheme to develop the industry and a ministry of supply spokesman said financial assistance was given to four firms which wished to begin making watches.

The government bought machine tools, mainly from Switzerland, he said, and then loaned them on a rental basis to the firms with the option of purchase after five years at an agreed price. The government also helped in selecting sites for the special dust-free factories and aided in the allocation of special steels and other raw materials during the post-war shortages.

FOUR MAKE WATCHES

The ministry of supply said there now are 47 firms in the clock and watch industry, but only four make wrist and pocket watches.

The entire industry employs approximately 16,600 men and women with average weekly earnings roughly £7 10s., the ministry of labor said.

During 1953, the British Clock and Watch Manufacturers' Association said, approximately 2,450,000 watches were produced, but of these only 54,000 were high-grade jewelled lever watches.

Priests Take to Scooters, Cars To Fight Communism In Red Stronghold in Italy

By FRANK BRUTTO

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP)—A score of priests have taken to motor scooters and automobiles to fight communism in this Red stronghold of northern Italy.

They are selected for broad shoulders as well as their knowledge of theology and social science. Their official name is Fraternitas, but they have become known as flying friars.

They criticize "materialistic capitalism" as well, but their job essentially is to fight Communists on their own ground.

"They don't search for us in the churches," said one of the friars, "so we go after them in the piazzas."

Their most common tactic is to take one of their automobiles, equipped with loud speakers, into a small-town square or a crossroads meeting—to confound some Red orators.

STARTED WITH SPEECH

The immediate leader is Rev. Tommaso Cairoli, a husky Franciscan who was a parish priest of Monte Cairoso, near here. One day last November, while he was speaking in the town square, a passing prelate paused to listen. The prelate was Bologna's two-fisted 63-year-old archbishop, Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro. His archdiocese is in the center of the Emilia region's Red belt. Bologna itself is known as "the Red." Its mayor is a Communist.

"Fraternitas" grew out of Cardinal Lercaro's talk with Father Toschi. The flying friars began their work with an ancient borrowed automobile. Their work still is a shoe-string operation, although they have acquired three station wagons and several motor scooters, said by private contributions and church funds.

Their headquarters are in Bologna's outskirt monastery and Church of the Most Holy Annunciation. There, in sparsely furnished rooms, the monks live and plan their moves.

They are mostly in their 30s. Energetic and aggressive, they have been chosen from the Franciscan Minor, Capuchin, Dominican, Servants of Mary, Salesian, Sacred Heart and Latern Canons religious orders. Highly educated, they also can speak in the dialect of the area.

They have no regular assignments. At a moment's notice they may be sent to intervene in a political gathering to answer Red accusations or promises. Or they may be dispatched to say mass in some distant hamlet, where the priest is old or sick, or where there may be none. Also, they organize shows and present educational movies.

NO POLITICAL TIES

"We have nothing to do with any political party—not even the Christian Democrat," they say.

"We are not hunting votes, but lost, strayed souls. We want to restore respect for religion. If necessary, we are ready to begin at the beginning . . . as in a mission land of infidels. We are fighting for heaven, not for parliament."

A simple catechism is used in their work. Questions are answered by sayings of the saints, popes and prelates. For example:

Q. Is it permissible to eat and not work?

A. If someone does not wish to work, neither should he eat. (From St. Paul to the Thessalonians).

Q. Must the chain of wicked, egoistic capital be broken?

A. The wickedness of capital that exploits the worker and uses him as a machine until his strength is exhausted must be broken. It is a crime against the working class.

This thought has many times been expressed by the Pope.

CONCERNED WITH WORKERS

Cardinal Lercaro learned at first hand the troubles of the poor. He was the son of a Genoa working man.

A major aspect of the flying friars' task is to move the priesthood against "abusive capitalism," described in their catechism as "the true despot."

At San Giovanni, Father Toschi helped rice workers win a pay increase. The Communists later tried to take credit. At Copparo, in the Ferrara zone—another Communist stronghold—a friar appeared to speak on the theme, "Who betrays God who serves the working class." Women in the crowd jeered, "Go say your rosary."

Fighting spirit up, the friar retorted: "Al rusari al dig 'quand am per me."

Italians of Rome would not have known what he meant. But at Copparo it meant, roughly, "Don't tell me when to say my rosary; I say it when I wish."

The people cheered, then listened.

Army to Replace Present Outmoded 303-Calibre Rifle

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department will decide by next month whether to adopt the Belgian .30-calibre FN rifle Nationals rifle for the Canadian Army.

Defence Minister Claxton Wednesday told a reporter the decision will not be made until after the rifle has undergone cold-weather tests at Fort Churchill, Man.

The army has purchased 2,000 of the rifles for extensive testing. It was believed almost certain that the army will replace the present outmoded .303-calibre Lee-Enfield with the Belgian FN. Britain already has adopted the FN in preference to the .280-calibre British EM2. That leaves Canada more or less in the position of adopting the FN or waiting for some country to come up with a new, suitable rifle.

If the Canadian Army adopts the FN, production of the rifle in Canada would begin immediately.

SHORT HOLIDAY

PRINCETOWN, England (CP)—"Trusty" convict Thomas Schofield, working as a waiter in a Devonshire hotel used by prison warders, donned jacket and flannels and just walked out. He was caught a few hours later.

Accused Said He Participated In The Beating

SUDBURY (CP) — Robert Desjauriers of Montreal, charged with the murder of Frank Asselin, deceased, Wednesday that he participated in the beating that led to the bushworker's death.

Deslauriers, 28, took the stand in court and accused Jean Guy Henaire and Emelle Bedard, also of Montreal, of beating Asselin. They were convicted last week on the murder charge and were sentenced to be hanged. Deslauriers was also charged with murder but chose to be tried separately.

Deslauriers said he didn't know Asselin, whose body was found on a sideroad four miles north of here Oct. 3, was being robbed until the three men, accompanied by Blanche Deschabeaux, started to drive back to Sudbury.

Much of his evidence was the same he submitted to provincial police as a statement Dec. 5, the day he was brought to Sudbury from Kingston. He was one of nine witnesses called by defence counsel Fernand Gratton.

The case is expected to go to the jury today.

Quebec Government Admits Children on Highway Payroll During Election in 1952

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Liberal opposition in the Quebec legislative assembly Wednesday raised the question of child labor hired by the Union Nationale government and drew from it an admission that children were on the payroll of the roads department during the 1952 election.

The government said the practice was stopped as soon as it was brought to its attention. Liberal leader Georges Lapalme charged the department had hired children between seven and 12 years of age.

Mr. Lapalme presented a list of 15 names of children in Bonaventure riding of the roads department had received cheques ranging from $5 to $20 for road work. Roads Minister Talbot said that when the irregularities were brought to his attention, he immediately ordered all payments stopped. He said the minimum age now for road work is 17.

Provincial treasurer C. H. Fines presented the 1954-55 budget to the Saskatchewan legislature and estimated spending of $78,119,000—the largest in the province's history. The surplus for 1953-55 was $14,890,700.

ACCURACY BOX-SCORE

The British Columbia legislature heard a Social Credit member urge that newspapers be asked to publish an accuracy box-score. Mrs. Lydia Arsens, who said she had been misquoted recently in a newspaper in her home riding of Victoria, proposed that newspapers carry a front page box-score, which would begin with the paper showing a 100 per cent accuracy figure.

However, one percentage point would be deducted each time a citizen could prove the newspaper had made a mistake, deliberate or otherwise.

The Manitoba legislature was told that a 5,000,000-acre hay belt sprawling across the Hudson bay railway may become Manitoba's most northerly agricultural region. Agriculture Minister R. D. Robertson said the clay belt is in the Thicket Portage-Wawbowden area on the railway to Churchill.

Provincial Treasurer Fielding, tabling the public accounts in the Nova Scotia legislature, reported the province had a $2,753,000 surplus in the fiscal year ending last March 31. Premier Macdonald's Liberal government had estimated it would end the fiscal year with a $918,000 surplus, an increase of $400,000 over the previous year.

GARDEN NECESSITY

With few exceptions, garden plants thrive best where there is adequate calcium, or lime, in the soil.

Textile Depression

A sharp drop in employment in Canada's textile industry is illustrated by Edward C. Cluney, assistant Canadian director of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL). The graph to which Mr. Cluney is pointing shows that the number of workers in the industry dropped from a high of nearly 98,000 in mid-1951 to about 81,999 at the end of last year. — (CP Photo.)

Looms Stilled

Machines like these looms have been shutting down across Canada in the last six months as the textile industry runs into hard times. In the last half of 1953 a total of 17 mills out of 729 between Nova Scotia and Alberta have closed. Industry and union spokesmen blame the situation on increased imports. — (CP Photo.)

Hated Word 'Depression' Being Used More in Canada's Sorely Beset Textile Industry

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — The hated word "depression" is being used more and more in Canada's sorely beset textile industry.

Closed factories, lay-offs and widespread short time tell the story of an industry battling hardship. While Canada as a whole was gaining world attention in the drive to boom conditions, her textile business was going the other way, although it produces anything from nylons to canvas bags.

"We are hard put to scrape enough work to carry on present production, which is far from what we'd like to see," said Blair Gordon, president of Dominion Textiles Company Limited.

GETTING WORSE

"Things are getting progressively worse," said Edward C. Cluney, assistant Canadian director, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL).

Seventeen mills have been closed in the last six months out of 729 from Nova Scotia to Alberta. Many others are on short time. Meanwhile, imports pour in a steady flow into Canada, which produces only slightly more than half her own textiles, a much smaller proportion than she did before the Second World War.

Five hundred persons lost their jobs when Canadian Cottons Limited closed its mill at Marysville, N.B., last month. At the other end of the size range, only 30 persons were employed at a mill at Chicoutimi, Que., when it closed.

At Hespeler, Ont., more than 400 Dominion Woollen and Worsted Limited employees were asked to take a "depression" cut in wages. They voted against it by a small majority.

Two mills closed at both Renfrew and Cornwall, Ont. Single closures occurred at Toronto, Alexbraebridge and St. Catharines, Ont., Montreal, St. Malo, Valleyfield and Athelstan, Que., Oxford, N.S., Moose Jaw, Sask., and Magrath, Alta.

INCREASED IMPORTS

Industry and union spokesmen blame the situation on burgeoning imports, mainly from the United States in cottons and various synthetics, such as rayon. British competition is mostly in woollens, and is felt heaviest in Ottawa valley plants.

Foreign producers place on the Canadian market nearly 50 per cent of this country's total fabric production. A primary textile institute statistician calculated that this costs Canada 1,500,000-man hours a week.

Records show that in the 1935-39 period, Canada produced 73 per cent of her own textiles, compared with slightly more than 50 per cent last year.

In the first half of last year, some 200 companies from Newfoundland to British Columbia supplied 184,000,000 yards of cotton, nylon, rayon and wool to the civilian market and 172,000,000 were imported.

Although complete figures for the year were not available here, industry sources said total fabric production was estimated slightly above 1952, and below that of 1950 and 1951.

Calculated in quarterly averages of millions of yards, the domestic and import ratio for 1952 and the previous two years was 80-67, 105-56 and 118-56. In 1945-49 the average was 82-43 and in 1935-39, it was 75-28.

EMPLOYMENT DROPPING

Figures compiled from Dominion bureau of statistics reports show an average of 100,237 persons were employed in textiles in 1951, 94,776 in 1952 and 87,000 last year. But employment was dropping toward the end of 1953, standing at 81,000 in December.

The Korean war production boom turned into a boomerang when other countries turned their attention to the Canadian market to dispose of goods they could not move at home. A relatively small change in U.S. exporting habits could be disastrous for Canadian industry which is only one-tenth as big.

The federal government stepped into the picture last September, for tariff and sales tax purposes, of imported goods sold at set prices at the end of the season.

Industry and union spokesmen have criticized the measure as insufficient.

TARIFF PROBLEM

Mr. Gordon, head of Canada's biggest textile firm, said in an interview it is "too early to decide whether the law will be a deterrent" but he fears it will be "limited" in application.

"Some of our competition is from U.S. goods being sold lower than the costs of production both here and in the U.S.," he said. This now occurs. The basic need was to "reinforce" that part of the customs law dealing with the cost of production — "Then we would have something to start from."

"A tariff sufficiently high to operate without any foundation of values would be an artificially high tariff," said Mr. Gordon.

Mr. Cluney said he believes the anti-dumping law "won't take care of the trouble. Since it passed, the situation has become worse."

He noted his union had asked for quotas and also had suggested a government-labor-industry committee to study the problem as "no individual group has the research facilities to come up with the correct answers."

The Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor in turn record as asking for a royal commission to study textiles.

PRODUCTION COSTS

Both the company president and the union official noted Canada's high costs of production, stating that the U.S. enjoys lower costs, although paying higher wages, because of its tremendously greater market and mass production.

Other competitors—such as British, Belgium, West Germany and India—pay far lower wages, thus enabling a smaller cost per article sold. Canada's "big" dollar also works to the benefit of foreign exporters in currency exchange cases.

Mr. Gordon said that when U.S. markets are good, there is less attempt on the Canadian market. At present, newly established American firms, especially in Montreal and Toronto, are aggressively seeking orders.

"We are very much worried about the American situation on their own market—apprehensive that the position down there may get worse if there is a general let-up," he said.

Canadian firms, had greatly expanded their sales and advertising campaigns, but American producers had many advantages. Large stores in Canada often "play up" imported goods to attract customers away from competitors' U.S. manufactured goods, but be more discriminating in their selection of customers. With a surplus of a particular line, for instance cotton dresses, they could offer it exclusively to one buyer here.

Canadian firms, on the other hand, seldom could do this since they must aim at 80 or 90 per cent of the available market to make a profit.

An exception would be the case where a boutique manufacturer produces a pattern and succeeds in making a satisfactory deal with a Canadian manufacturer.

LIMITED MARKET

"In normal times, our company turns out about 2,000,000 yardage a week compared to five times that much by a comparable but bigger American firm," said Mr. Gordon.

"American mills may have a single purpose—making one particular article on a three-shifts-a-day basis at a tremendously saving.

"Our methods are patterned along the same mass-production lines of other countries, but there are grave limitations as to how far we can go.

"The American market is 25 times greater than hours. They use as much raw cotton in one day as we do in a month."

The local producers had to show a customer a distinct price advantage to be successful "but where it is only something like a quarter-cent a yard, it won't be enough considering the other factors," said Mr. Gordon. "Sometimes we have to sell below cost based on full-time operation."

"If we didn't a vicious spiral would begin," he added.

Canada herself did some trade on the export market, but it however has exceeded five per cent of total production. The West Indies has been a customer, also Australia, before exchange difficulties.

"Any substantial cut in textile tariffs have been lowered 33 1-3 per cent since 1947 and now stand at 15 per cent of value which is brought down to an "effective rate" of 10 per cent with exchange situation. He said this is the lowest of any important textile-producing country.

A return to the old rate "would leave us considerably better off but there would still be imports" since there are some items it is not feasible to produce in a country of comparatively small population."

An example of this would be expensive drapery, which would be within the reach of a small number of buyers.

CHARGES POLICEMAN

TORONTO (CP)—A mother of two children Tuesday laid a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm against a sergeant in Toronto's police force, Mrs. Dianne Phillips, 29, accused morality sergeant Sam Priestly of sweating at her, tearing her coat, and slapping her across the face while she was on a street corner Monday night. The woman said that after she convinced the officer that he had mistaken her for someone else, he apologized and asked her to forget the incident.

Broadening of Vocational Training Facilities Advocated

OTTAWA (CP) — Broadening of vocational training facilities for Canada's youth was advocated Wednesday by members of all parties in the Commons.

In the short Wednesday sitting of the House, they took up almost the whole session in urging the extension of the training of young Canadians for jobs and of fitting them for life generally.

The discussion came as Labor Minister Gregg brought in a bill to amend the Vocational Training Co-Ordination Act to provide chiefly for vocational training of disabled civilians. The House approved a resolution preliminary to the bill and later gave first reading to the bill itself.

Mr. Gregg said "very special arrangements" are to be made for the disabled in training, now carried out under provincial jurisdiction with the federal government giving financial help under a measure passed in 1945.

He noted that the government here gives grants to the provinces for vocational schools, and he said the need for such schools has been "pretty well filled."

Julian Ferguson (PC — Simcoe North) said more emphasis should be placed on the moral training of youngsters.

"Canada does not recognize the benefits to be gained from the proper guidance of our youth," he said.

Mr. Ferguson said action in this direction would serve, also, the practical purpose of cutting down the country's expenses on prisons and institutions for the insane.

He said the federal government should lose no time in getting together with provincial and municipal authorities on this kind of action.

Canada's youth, he said, will "go to the dogs" unless something is done to develop physical and mental abilities.

C. W. Hodgson (PC — Victoria, Ont.) said the government should help overcome the shortage of nurses by paying $10 to nurses in training. Money problems kept many girls out of the nursing profession.

NEPTUNES FOR RCAF—The RCAF is buying Neptune medium bombers from the United States for its maritime reconnaissance squadrons. Purchase of the twin-engine piston-driven aircraft is part of a plan to supplement Second World War Lancaster bombers now being used as coastal patrol and anti-submarine planes. Delivery is expected near the end of this year or early in 1955. The Neptune has a cruising speed of about 225 miles an hour. It has a range of 4,700 miles and its armament includes two pairs of 20-millimetre cannon, two 50-calibre machine guns and 48 five-inch rockets. It can carry a bomb load of 4,000 pounds. ## Canada's Exports Dropped Sharply During January

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's exports, one of the economy's major props, dropped sharply during January as the United States and other countries curtailed purchases of Canadian goods.

Exports to all countries declined by $53,900,000 to $265,400,000 from $319,300,000 in January, 1953, the Bureau of statistics reported Wednesday in a preliminary statement.

Imports, still a little ahead of exports, slid by $45,900,000 to $281,900,000 from $327,800,000. The deficit in Canadian trade was widened to $16,500,000 from $6,500,000 in January last year.

HOWE OPTIMISTIC

Some economists have predicted that 1954 will be a year of recession, but Trade Minister Howe, in his annual statement last December, estimated 1954 will be another good year for Canadian trade, accompanied possibly by stiffer competition among the world's major exporters.

Canada's exports to the United States during January plunged to $180,100,000, down $31,800,000 from $191,700,000 in January, 1953.

Imports from the U.S. slumped to $204,500,000 from $249,200,000 last year. But even with this drop, Canada continued to show a deficit in American trade. The adverse balance, however, declined to $44,400,000 from $57,500,000.

Britain, Canada's second biggest customer, also cut buying of Canadian goods.

Canada's usual surplus in British trade was squeezed to $9,300,000 from last year's $19,000,000.

STIRLING

Outstanding Address on Missions Delivered at Centennial Service

BY MRS. PEROY MACMULLEN

STIRLING—On Sunday morning one of the most vital and worthwhile messages of centennial year was given at St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, when the Rev. Floyd Honey associate secretary of Overseas Missions, presented an overall picture of this vast work.

The Rev. Mr. Honey was born in Stirling and lived with his parents, Rev. Ernest Honey and the late Mrs. Honey, in this area.

He has a host of relatives and friends in Rawdon, who followed with interest his journeys to China with his wife and baby, as a missionary and his return home in 1950, when it became necessary to vacate that country.

He told the children a story about his days in China and urged them to welcome all little boys and girls who come to Canada from other lands and attend school here.

PAYS TRIBUTES

Rev. Honey paid tribute to all who have witnessed for Christ and His kingdom," in St. Paul's church during the past 100 years, and congratulated Rev. A. E. Baker and his committee on their outstanding celebration.

He chose as his theme "The problem of the Overseas Mission fields in the world of today," and said "the past year has been one of opportunity for Christian service on the world front."

He briefly sketched the new mission field opened up in Northern Rhodesia for the first time in 1953 when Rev. and Mrs. G. G. Smith were sent to that area. This is a co-operative effort with other churches and it is hoped to have more workers sent in this year.

In the world of today it is emphasized that human rights and human well-being must be based upon Christian principles.

GREAT COMMISSION

The cause of Overseas Missions is the concern of the whole church. The great commission was not delivered to a special body but to the church as a whole, he said.

This department has had a glorious yesterday but the question now is "Will it be as glorious tomorrow?" The missionary enterprise to be successful must have a church membership which will support this work by prayer and sacrificial giving.

Rev. Honey spoke briefly on the nations that have become independent just recently such as Ceylon, the Philippines and Pakistan. Then he spoke of the trouble spots in the world like Kenya where backward peoples are struggling for better living conditions and said there is not a doubt that the colored people of the world are coming into their own.

NO DIFFERENCES

He also reminded his audience that while people do not enjoy racial superiority for in Christ there is no difference between the races—all are brothers. In today's world the black people do not fear the white folk and many of them realize that Canadians have much more than they and there is a continuing demand for a higher standard of living.

Rev. Mr. Honey stressed that two-thirds of the world's population don't have enough to eat and this is hard for Canadians to realize as they are such a well-fed nation. He told of undeveloped countries where it is a luxury to have a bit of meat to put on their rice. Poverty exists side by side with extravagant waste and luxury and the speaker cited many problems which face the Overseas Mission Board.

He also stated that only fifty per cent of Canadians attend church regularly and that one-third of the population never attends church which shows that Canada is also a mission field.

NEED 100 MISSIONARIES

In pointing out the need for more recruits, the speaker said, "there is a great need for 100 missionaries in the next five years and if they are forthcoming we will still be very much behind the 1927 figures." In closing the speaker pointed out that the United Church of Canada must continue to pray and work for the cause of Christ throughout the world.

Rev. A. E. Baker presided over the service and thanked the Rev. Mr. Honey for his message.

Mrs. A. E. Baker played the organ and the senior choir and junior choir each rendered a selection. Little Miss Elaine Vandervoort sang a festival number. The service closed on the theme "Fling out the banner that heathen lands may see the glorious light of Christianity."

Following the service Mr. Cecil Macklin, secretary or missions at St. Paul's, introduced several persons who wished to speak with the Rev. Mr. Honey.

The centennial committee convened for a few minutes to complete plans for the last quarter of the year's celebrations.

Wallbridge

WALLBRIDGE — The death of Mrs. E. W. Honey of Lindsay, brought much sorrow to many persons on the Sidney charge. She died at her home.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Honey and family were on the Sidney charge for five years and during the past few years have resided in Lindsay. Much sympathy is extended to the Rev. Mr. Honey and family in the loss of a loving wife and mother.

Mrs. Frank Harris spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. Harry Pound, Thurlow.

Mr. Barton Hinchcliffe attended Good Roads convention held in Toronto during the past week.

There was a good attendance at Sunday morning service. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Dovey was in charge. The choir was under the leadership of Mrs. Blake Johnston.

Mrs. F. Phillips spent a few days with her father, Mr. Barlow, Rawdon.

Mrs. Elmer Smith and son, called on her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Wannamaker, on Sunday.

Challenging, Rewarding

RSM OWEN GARDNER, PPCLI

"To young men who want to serve Canada and at the same time ensure themselves an excellent and secure future, there is no better life than the Army. The Army is an honourable, noble profession."

These are the words of RSM Owen Gardner, a man who knows just about everything there is to know about life in the Canadian Army. He joined the Canadian Army 31 years ago as a drummer boy. His experience includes years of service before the outbreak of war in 1939 and a fine record from 1939 to 1945. In achieving the rank of Regimental Sergeant Major in the famed Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, he has become a famous figure in the Canadian Army, respected and admired by the thousands he has served with and helped to train.

A well read and interesting individual, he owns one of the finest classical record collections in Calgary. But RSM Gardner's first and greatest interest is the Army, a figure of awe and respect for all young soldiers who meet him.

Rotary Club Hears Talk On History of Drugs

CAMPBELLFORD — "The Romance of Drugs" was the subject of the chemistry speech given by Roy McLagan at the Campbellford Rotary club meeting on Monday.

A native of Renfrew, Mr. McLaren graduated from the College of Pharmacy in 1950. Shortly afterwards he came to Campbellford and after a while purchased what was formerly Birks Drug store.

There are various applications applied to the dispenser of drugs in different countries. He may be termed a druggist, pharmacist, chemist or apothecary.

In early times, said the speaker, drugs were associated with superstition. In the 13th century there were schools teaching the preparation and effects of the then-known poisons. A graduate was designated by the letters M.P. (meaning Master Poisoner). Louis XIV of France passed a law that only an apothecary could sell poison and then only if the purchaser signed for the particular item involved. This was the nucleus of the articles of the pharmacist.

Until the First Great War, the drug store proprietor kept the windows and front stop for the display of his wares, which consisted for the most part of bottles labelled in Latin containing mysterious substances. The practice was discontinued as these goods were removed to the dispensary and more attractive items moved to shelves and window space.

HISTORY OF DYES.

The history of dyes is an interesting study. The British chemist, Perkin, investigated the residue of the coal tar, piles searching for quinine which in 1856 was scarce and expensive. He did not find it, but did discover a number of new colors.

He was unable to find capital to develop the business of isolating these dyes or colors and turning out on the discovery. His work later became the basis of the great German dye trust. The coal-tar chemist soon put natural sources of dye out of business.

The coal tar chemist likewise put the perfume makers who depended on flowers in an untenable position. The action of chemicals produced the fragrance of various natural flowers or herbs which could not be distinguished from their natural odors.

Coal tar forms an amazing reservoir from the production of the majority of all our drugs, perfumes and dyes.

DRUGS FROM COAL TAR

Sulfanilimide was discovered in Germany. It was discovered that a red dye from coal tar had the property of protecting certain mice sore throat. There are now 15 or 20 different sulfa drugs in use.

The drug store is the natural outlet for some 9,000 items about two-thirds of which are made from coal tar, said the speaker. Many nevertheless are of natural origin. From Japan and Formosa comes camphor, from Brazil, cocaine, from the white poppy of Turkey, Persia and India, are derived opium, morphine, codeine and heroin; from Ceylon, cinnamon and from the slaughter houses of the world, thyroid for the treatment of goitre.

With so many dangerous and poisonous drugs for sale, the druggist must always be "on his toes" as mistakes could prove fatal. He must remember the ancient "eternal vigilance is the price of safety."

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Paul O'Sullivan and thanked by president-elect, Bill McComb.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVEN, Sports Editor

NO LIARS HERE!

If you think a lot of those big tales that have been emanating did not leave some bigger ones behind, take a look at the fish-winners of the Fish and Stream Magazine Contest published in this month's edition.

Some whoppers tell of the lures of the lads' Waltons all both Canada and the United States. Canadian fishing grounds seem in for a lot of tribute from the F. and S. editors.

Outstanding catches of brook trout were caught in our Lake Nipissing. Commencing on 8, the F. and S. writer says, "for my honor were awarded to lunkers while hundred and more anglers were in weekend Ontario would certainly walk off with the trout crown."

The first three brookies caught are big enough to move into the all-time top ten. The biggest weighed 9 pounds 8 ounces, measured one second, three quarters, and the third 8 pounds 13 ounces. The biggest caught by fly-casting weighed seven pounds two ounces hauled in from the Nipissing River.

The champ of the brown trout caught by fly-casting weighed 18 pounds one ounce. In the open contest the big one was a 19-pound nine beauty. A 13-pound 7-ounce topped the rainbow trout fly-casting division. Open logs weighed 19 pounds seven ounces.

Heavyweight champion of the lazy mouth black bass division was a piscatorial Joe Louis weighing 13 pounds six ounces caught in Arkansas. Second there boys leave the south for the remainder-up weighed 13 pounds three ounces. said the editor in Ga'ja'.

Kentucky claimed the daddy of the small mouth bass with a beauty that tipped the scales at nine pounds eight ounces. Second was a 6-3 beauty also from Kaintuck.

North Twin Lake, Wisconsin, gave up the daddy of the muskies. The lucky angling giant weighed 35 pounds twelve ounces. Second spot went a Canadian beauty caught in the Lake-of-the-Woods weighing 31 pounds four ounces. Pickerel River, Ont., yielded a 46-pound eight ounce skinhead.

Lac Seul, Ont., gave up the king of the northern pike which weighed 36 pounds two ounces. Other lakes and the Matawa River of Ontario yielded big fellas which rocked the scales at 30 pounds seven ounces, and 30 pounds even, respectively.

Topping the well-eyed pike as pickerel as we know them, division was a 16-pound three ounce beauty caught in Lake Nemakin, Wisconsin. Another weighing 14 pounds two ounces was hauled from the waters of the Lake-of-the-Woods.

Some lake trout monstery fell to the lure of the international anglers. Topping this division was a 51-pounder caught in Priest Lake, Idaho. From the same waters came a 46-pounder and a 37-pounder. Lake Superior gave up two weighing 40 pounds each. Other big beauties caught were a 36 pound 8 ounce caught at Rossport, Ont., and a 35-pounder caught in Whitefish Bay.

Incidentally 'M Ady of you angling-minded chaps want entry forms for the Field and Stream 1954 Contest, we have a couple of spares on hand. And don't forget, this year you can measure 'em from the jip of the snout to the end of the tail, not the fork as heretofore.

LINE WITH BELLEVILLE.

With the eyes of the hockey world focused on Stockholm where the nations are battling for the world title, Belleville should have more than a passing interest in the Canadian team.

Don Lockhart, goalkeeper of the Toronto Lyndfords, Canadian representatives, and who is rated by European sports writers as being the best goalie to show his paces in world competition, is the son of a former Belleville girl.

Don's mother, new Mrs. Harold Lockhart of Toronto, is the former Ella McKee of this city. Mrs. Lockhart was formerly associated with the staff of the old Intelligencer and has been a member of the staff of McIntosh Brothers store. She is a sister of Mr. David McKee, 27 Cedar street, retired CNR engineer.

Lockhart was the goalie for the Niagara Falls senior "A" team prior to joining the Lyndies. He had some 250 goals scored on him while with the Cataracts. We presume the Falls team had defencemen.

"CLAUDE SEZ."

It is even-stephen in the best of seven series between Kingston Goodies and the Oshawa Truckmen with each team having a win under their belts. On Wednesday night in Kingston the Truckers managed to eke out a 4-3 win in ten minutes of overtime in one of the best played games seen in the Collegiate Centre in some time. Oshawa were full value for their win. They outskated, outbumped and out-generalled the Goodies and had them down flat-footed at the end. The Truckmen got a bad break early in the second period, when Sinden talked too much to Bill Holway, the referee and went away for the remainder of the partime. Kingston had the best of the argument in the first frame when they went to the bern with a 3-0 lead but in the second Oshawa scored two and kept the Goodies off the score sheet. In the third frame they squelch a pair and a 6-4 overtime, Scott backhanded one past Johnson from 15 feet out and that was the ball game.

The line of McGregor, Murray and McKeown got all the points for Kingston, each scoring a goal and the trio each having one assist. Oshawa marksmen were Sinden, Ticher, Salamendo and Scott. The teams will meet in Kingston on Saturday and Wednesday and will be in Belleville on Friday, March 12th.

NEED SINKING FUND

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Mexican capital, sinking at the rate of about a foot a year, must spend $1,000,000,000 in the next six years if the damaging situation is to be corrected, Mayor Ernesto P. Uruchurtu said Tuesday. The mayor said figures show the city built on a former lake bed sank four feet between 1940 and 1953 and is continuing to do so at about the same rate.

SAVED BY SNOW

VICTORIA HARBOR (CP)—A heavy snowfall acted as a cushion Tuesday for two schoolgirls run over by a bus and police said it saved them from severe injury. Police said Mary Deschenes, 11, and her nine-year-old sister, Cathrine, darted into the path of a bus while on their way to school in this village 20 miles northwest of Orillia. They were treated for shock, bruises and abrasions.

Blues Tie Maple Leafs 3-3 To Grab Tie For 4th Place; Bruins Meet Habs Tonight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thursday could be a night of decision in the season's battle for playoff positions in the National Hockey League.

Four of the five teams still in the running for post-season berths see action tonight. The first-place Detroit Red Wings entertain second-place Toronto and the third-place Montreal Canadiens visit the Boston Bruins, currently tied with New York for the fourth and last playoff spot.

Detroit needs only a tie to be certain of being in the hunt for the Stanley Cup. Toronto and Montreal also are very conscious that their tests are for second place and the right to meet the fourth-place team in the semi-final round.

The real battle is between New York and Boston. The New Yorkers moved into a tie for fourth place Wednesday night by tying Toronto 3-3 on captain Don Raleigh's hat trick. Boston will be out to break the deadlock tonight with a win over Montreal.

FAVORED FOR PLAYOFFS

The Bruins still are favored to take fourth spot. They have played two fewer games than the Rangers. Their record of four wins, one draw and one loss against Montreal in December and January makes their layoffs to wind up tonight's game.

The Red Leafs, who took a one-point lead over Montreal in the battle for second place by tying New York Wednesday night, will be aiming for their first goal on a visit into Boston when they go against the Red Wings.

The Detroit-Toronto battle also will highlight the Detroit-Toronto meeting. Harry Lumley of Toronto will try to stage drop to 1.77 Wednesday night as the Rangers beat him for seven goals. Terry Sawchuk of Detroit will go into the game with a 1.73 average.

In addition to the Detroit line on scoring, Lumley will be hampered by four men suffered in last night's game. He was bruised badly on the knee in the first period, and after returning to the net, was struck over the left eye by a shot from Doug Bentley in the third period. He needed 10 stitches to close the gash.

Bowling Notes

FRANKFORD

Frankford's rolled bowling league has four nights of scheduled bowling left, and two postponed games may or may not be played, according to their effect on the final standings of league leadership.

The league presentation banquets this year will take place in two separate places. "A" division being held in Community Hall and "B" division in Rose Lowery hall. The dance, following the banquets will be held in the Community hall and will be attended by both divisions. Presentations of the trophy for league supremacy, and also the "Dube-Sharp" will of necessity be held at the dance. More information on this subject will be issued at a later date.

Team standings in both divisions to date are: Division "A"— Walnwright's 97; Ed's Sharkies 87; Blankey Blanks 84; Claud's Clippers 83; Farley's Fanatics 81; Hooker's Harpoons 74; Whipporwills 70; Murph's Mutts 68. Division "B"—Greenfield's Gremlins 91; Octettes 85; Bob' Kidds 85; Battlers 81; Boosers 74; Black Cats 66; Fireflies 52.

Landy Fails Again To Nip 4 Minute Mile

MELBOURNE (AP)

Landy, Australia's premier miler, failed again today in an attempt at the four-minute mile. He was timed in 4:04.6 over a special two-lap twilight meeting at Olympic Park.

What was promised to be ideal weather conditions for Landy's attempt to reach the magic mark—or at least to break Gunder Haegg's current world record of 4:01.4—developed into a bleak evening with winds up to 30 miles an hour.

Landy's sectional times were 57.2 for the first quarter, 1:52.2 for the half-mile and 3:08 for the three-quarters.

He was subtly assisted over the first half-mile by Len McKee and John Douglas. McKee went with him for the half, while Douglas helped for another furlong.

Landy won the race by 76 yards.

Harper Wins Over Flake

CALGARY (CP)—Doug Harper of Calgary, Canadian lightheavyweight boxing champion, was awarded Wednesday night to gain a unanimous 10-round decision over ex-Olympic Benny Flake of Salt Lake City, Utah. It was a non-title bout. Harper weighed 174½ and Flake 161.

The decision was greeted by a roar of boos from most of the crowd of 1,500. Flake made a game battle of it all the way as he preserved his record of never having been knocked out or having a bout stopped because of a cut.

One judge voted six rounds for Harper, two for Flake and two even, the second gave seven rounds to Harper, three for Flake, and the other voted five for Harper, two for Flake and three even.

Wren Betty GREEN, of Belleville, a member of the ROYAL CANADIAN NAVY (RESERVE) is training to be an electrician's mate. In addition to her specialist training she receives instruction on general naval subjects to become acquainted with activities within other branches. In the photo above, she learns about the operation of a naval gun from a gunnery expert, Petty Officer K. H. BAKER, 8 Turnbull Street, Belleville, during a drill sight at HMCS CATARAQUI in Kingston. PO. BAKER and Wren GREEN, like other naval reservists, attend one night a week and take full-time training at the coasts for two weeks once a year.

There are openings NOW in the naval reserve at HMCS CATARAQUI for young men and women of Belleville. Transportation to and from Kingston will be provided on training nights.

Alberta Rink Looms As Canadian Curl Champions

By JACK SNOWDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's rink in the Canadian curling championships has passed its stiffest competition without a defeat and appears on the road to bringing Alberta its fifth national curling crown.

In the six throws since the championships opened last Monday, the home-town team, skipped by 34-year-old Matt Baldwin, has knocked over such rinks as Jimmy Welsh's Manitoba foursome, Saskatchewan's Campbell brothers from Avonlea, the Reg. Piercy rink from Halifax, the Dr. W. L. MacDonald four from Charlottetown, northern Ontario led by Don Groom of Sudbury, and British Columbia, skipped by E. C. (Bugs) Cartmell of Vancouver.

If Alberta takes the crown, it will mark the 20th time in the 35 years that the championships have been played that the title has gone to western Canada, and the fifth time Alberta has won it.

Manitoba has won the champion-ship 14 times, the last was in 1952, when Ab Gowanlock took it with a rink from Dauphin, Man.

Baldwin got through two of his most crucial games against previously undefeated northern Ontario 6-5 in the afternoon draw and getting British Columbia 11-8 in night contest.

More than 12,000 persons, a record for the bonspiel, took in the two draws.

PERFECT DRAW SHOT

Baldwin's toughest match was against Groom's Sudbury crew and he won it with a perfect draw shot with the last rock of the game. With the score tied 5-5 going into the last end, Groom has two rocks nestled in one side and about six inches from the button, with a guard sitting just outside the 12-foot ring.

Baldwin's last rock raced around the guard and curled across the button and up against Groom's two stones, nudging them back to leave Alberta counting one.

In the night draw, Baldwin and Cartmell teamed in a fine drawing duel, Alberta got the 2nd on B.C. when they counted three on the first end and three on the eighth. With Alberta leading 6-4 on the ninth end, Cartmell had a chance to tie when his rink placed four rocks in the rings, Baldwin drew to the button with his last rock. But Cartmell's runner missed taking out the Alberta stone by a good four inches and Alberta counted one.

EAST COMPETITION

Baldwin now faces what the experts and observers consider relatively easy competition.

He has yet to meet Newfoundland, which still needs its first victory in five starts; Ontario's Ross Tarbino and Ken Hamilton, which has won three and lost two; Quebec's W. R. (Tracy) Donovan from Arvida which has won two and lost four, and New Brunswick, skipped by R. J. McCully of Moncton, which won two and lost three.

Northern Ontario, Baldwin's closest competition with five victories and one loss, has yet to meet Saskatchewan which has won three and, lost two; Nova Scotia's Reg Piercy rink from Halifax which has won two and lost three; Manitoba's Welsh rink has won two and one, and Prince Edward Island, which has a 3-3 record.

'Y' Basketball

The first game of the Y.M.C.A. Basketball League playoffs between the Nationals and the Hoopstars last night at the Y.M.C.A., was a closely contested one from beginning till the end. At the dying seconds of the game, the Hoopstars started a rally that gave them the extra points to win with a score of 66-57.

The Hoopsters and the Nationals clash again next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. for the second and last game of the semi-finals.

LINE-UP

Hoopstars — Jack Matthews 32 pts; J. Geyer 21 pts; Pete Amabile, Walmsley N. Galway, Rogers.

Nationals — Ted Batchelor 23 pts; Don Smith D. Farnsworth 12; S. Robertson 2; Gatland 1, J. Fuke.

CALL UP DEFENCEMAN

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Red Wings Wednesday brought up defenceman Marcel Pronovost from their Sherbrooke farm club in the Quebec League.

A replacement was needed when it was learned that Marcel Pronovost, Detroit veteran defenceman was suffering from a back injury as a result of being checked in the Wings' game last week against Chicago in Omaha, Neb.

Allen is getting his first crack at big time hockey at the age of 30. He's been playing minor league hockey for 12 years.

PETROLIA MAN DIED

EDMONTON (CP) — J. Arthur Harley, a veteran of the Boer war, died in hospital Tuesday. Born in Petrolia, he came to Edmonton in 1902 after service with the Canadian army in South Africa. He opened a plumbing business in Edmonton and in 1908 entered the real estate field. He later worked with the post office until his retirement in 1936.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

TAMPA (AP)—Among the busiest men you see in any baseball training camp are those in charge of spring exercises are the equipment people, the peddlers of bats and gloves and shoes and anything else a player might need. It's a big business.

Among the more successful individuals in this field is Hal Schumacher, who was a great pitcher for the New York Giants back in the thirties, when that team also sported a couple of other workmen named Carl Hubbell and Freddie Fitzsimmons. Hal is an official of a new and thriving bat-making concern located at Dodgeville, N.Y.

Each player is free to order the make and weight of bat he likes, so it is Schumacher's job to convince the athlete that it is his bat, and his alone, that has a .350 average built into it. His bats are made of ash, incidentally, as are most of those turned out merely by other manufacturers. It is more resilient than the once-standard hickory.

NO TWO ALIKE

"Each player has to be practically hand-fitted with a bat," Schumacher said. "It isn't likely that you'll ever find two bats sent to club using bats of the same specifications. That's the thing that are most particular about. They're really nutty about it.

"Some are bat breakers and some are not. There are some that will use up two or three dozen in a season. I don't believe that Bill Terry ever got more than three a season, he met the ball so squarely. The ones who break the most of them do not get a firm grip as they connect. A pitcher with a sharp sinker ball also will break a lot of them.

At this stage, when a team has 40 or more athletes in camp, each of them is equipped with about a half-dozen bats. Later on, when the squad is reduced about to the opening game, has a dozen with his name embossed on the fat of the wood.

SOMETHING NEW

Through long established custom, the ball team buys the bats—they cost about $3 each—but finds it profitable to feed the bills for gloves and shoes. As fitted shoes run into money, and a player will wear out several pairs during a season, this can be an important item in the budget. Here, too, is a lucrative income bracket. The team pays for uniforms but sold for advertisements and accessories.

The big noise this spring is the aluminum bat, which was made legal since last season. No one quite knows what it is going to do to the industry, but suspicion is that it might put a kink.

The process of lamination has made it possible to load the bat so with several dozen pounds, adding to its potency. Players are trying the weapons, but results so far are inconclusive.

Training Camp Notes

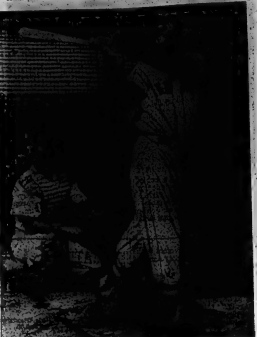
YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Don Larsen, one of the brighter young pitching prospects with last year's St. Louis Browns, checked in late at Baltimore Orioles training camp Wednesday and found himself in trouble with his new bosses.

"Larsen's made the team yet," snapped general manager Arthur Ehlers.

Larsen, who had a 7-12 record with the tailend Browns last season, was not listed on the Baltimore starting roster.

ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — Phil Rizzuto, veteran shortstop and home baldcover from the pre-war championship teams, reported for work Wednesday with the New York Yankees.

The small infielder said that he felt better at the start of this season than at any previous time in the last few years. "For the first time since 1949 I haven't got an ache or a pain," he declared.



VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Bill Terry picked up a bat Wednesday and showed Brooklyn Dodgers how he used to hit. The former Giant manager, recently elected to the hall of fame, spent most time with George Shuba and Bill Antonello, spare outfielder who did appointed at the plate last season.

After a long drill, manager Walter Alston said that two more pitchers, Ben Wade, Jim Hughes, Don Bessent and Ed Roebuck, are ready to work regularly.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—A preliminary agreement between Boston and Washington, in a trade involving Mickey Vernon, the Senators' holdout first baseman, was reported jelled.

Apparently silence in their vow to get rid of Vernon unless he signs quickly, Clark and Calvin Griffith, the Washington high-command, said the Red Sox were mulling over a deal for Vernon. "Some sort of answer" is expected today from Joe Cronin, Boston general manager, they said.

Boston's much-photographed slugging star, Ted Williams, is facing a barrage of x-ray photos these days. Ted is pictured during training duties at Sarasota, Fla. The big outfielder, who escaped unharmed from two plane crashes in Korea, broke his collarbone while making a routine throw to first baseman Dick Gernert during Red Sox lineup for about six weeks. Williams, baseball's highest-paid player, batted .407 in 37 games at the end of the season. A comeback after flying 39 missions in Korea as a marine fighter pilot.—Central Press Canadian.

'Bring On Your Russians' Battle Cry of Lyndhursts

STOCKHOLM (CP) — The odds shifted heavily in Canada's favor today as the Toronto Maple Leafs club faced Finland in a bid to the Russia for the lead in the world championships.

Winners of their four starts while Moscow Dynamos are unbeaten in five, the Canadian team moved to an 8-1 victory over Germany Wednesday while the Russians barely managed a 4-2 victory over winless Switzerland. Czechoslovakia, beaten by the Dynamos Tuesday, were tied with Canada for second place after a 7-1 victory over Norway, their fourth win of the tournament.

The Russians and Czechs were idle today while Switzerland opposed Norway and the Germans were drawn against Sweden.

The Swiss, easy prey for Canada and Czechoslovakia earlier in the tournament, gave the Dynamos a bad time Wednesday. They disrupted the Russians' patient-passing attack and forced them to resort to individual rushes.

After two unassisted tallies by Dynamo Ivan Vatvolod Bobrov put Russia in front, the fighting Swiss bemused in their opponents with a sustained drive that left the leaders rattled and uncertain.

HAD LITTLE DIFFICULTY

By contrast, the Canadians had little difficulty handling the equally aggressive Germans. Bill of the Toronto Ads scored the first 14 minutes, East York hero scored twice before the intermission, added two more goals without a reply in the second period two with in the finals to match the eight-goal output they have managed in every game thus far.

The only minor flaw came in the third frame when Rudolf Weide managed a tally for the losers, the second shot to elude goalie Jim Foster during the tournament began.

Right-winger Moe Galand, a consistent East York marksman, scored three goals Wednesday, Johnny Petro added two and Bob Kennedy, Russ Robertson and Bill Shill completed the total.

Providence Reds Whip Buffalo; Bears Nip Barons

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The league's Providence Reds have assumed the role of spoilers in the American Hockey League.

Wednesday, the Reds trounced the championship-headed Buffalo Bisons 5-2, a week after they humiliated the same team 13-3.

The Bisons are 15 points ahead of second-place Pittsburgh Hornets so the win put Providence a great deal of satisfaction.

Paul Larivee counted twice for the Reds in the final period.

Pittsburgh scorers at Syracuse were Willie Marshall, Dan Lewicki, Chuck Lumsden, Andy Barbe, Bob Hassard, Bob Sabourin and Ray Timgren. Hal Tarala registered the only Syracuse tally.

Middlecoff Is Favored In Houston Open

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Cary Middlecoff, back in action after a 18-day illness, today began defense of his $50,000 Houston open golf title.

The Memphis dentist is a top favorite despite having been out of tournament competition since he lost the Phoenix open playoff Feb. 8 to Ed Furgol.

The only two-time winner here, Middlecoff had a 68 Wednesday for his final practice round on the 7,125-yard, par-70 Memorial Park course.

Most frequently mentioned as the men Middlecoff may have to beat for the $6,000 top prize are two other long hitters, Johnny Palmer and Roberto de Vicenzo, Palmer, the 1948 winner here, was the Mexican national open last Monday, one stroke in front of Argentina's de Vicenzo.

The starting field of 120 will be cut Friday to 90 players and ties. Sunday's race to divide the $30,000 kitchen of ways will be limited to the low 60 and ties.

Canadians who qualified for the opening are Johnny Headrick of Ottawa, who shot a 71 in the qualifying round, and Ray Corcoran of Wall, Ont., and Murray Tucker of Toronto, both 75, and Al Balding of Toronto, 74.

Quebec Aces Trim Saints

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In the Quebec Hockey League Wednesday, Quebec Aces moved within one point of fifth-place Shawinigan Falls by downing them 3-1. Last-place Springfield beat Ottawa Senators, 6-4.

At Quebec, Milo Labadie scored twice and Hugo Ragian once for Quebec. Gerry Ehman and Jim Hay tallied for Sherbrooke.

Ed Leier picked up a pair of goals at Smithfield to help the Indians to their first win in seven outings. Teammates Del Fraches, Graham Hastings, Brent McNall and Bronco Horvath got the others. Dusty Blair sank two for the visitors.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Detroit—Billy Mims, 135, Washington, outpointed Moses Ward, 140, Detroit, 10; Tony Spano, 132, Detroit, knocked out George Allen, 134, Toronto, 2.
Paris, Mines, Italy — Franco Testuzi, 161½, Italy, outpointed Michel Ardigiani, 160, France, 10.
Calgary — Doug Jones, 174½, Calgary, outpointed Benny Blake, 174½, Salt Lake City, 10.

CURLERS ELECT OFFICERS

EDMONTON (CP)—W. C. Boyd of Regina was elected president of the Canadian Curling Association at its annual meeting Wednesday.

It was decided to hold the 1955 Canadian curling finals at the day after the Canadian championships open there.

Emmett Smith of Bourlamaque, Que., was elected honorary president of the association.

R. A. Donohue of Halifax was named first vice-president, succeeding Mr. Boyd.

Colin Dutton of Winnipeg was elected second vice-president. Honorary secretary-treasurer is W. B. Cowan of Toronto.

Union Sets Grid Deadline

KINGSTON (CP)—The Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union is reported to have set Saturday as a deadline for a decision on whether McMaster University will be permitted to participate in the intercollegiate senior football leagues this season.

Several plans were considered by representatives from Toronto, McMaster, McGill, Western and Queen's universities at a meeting here Tuesday but no decision was reached. Discussion centered on ways of meeting the objections made by the Ontario Rugby Football Union to McMaster's participation in the league.

McGill, however, supported McMaster.

The three colleges that voted in favor of dropping the Marauders said they are ready to operate as a three-team league next fall if McGill insists on supporting McMaster.

'Geez' Get This, Those Guys Tell Us About Hockey

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (Reuters) "Outstanding" Canadian players in the world hockey championships here is overcoming differences in Canadian and European interpretation of rules, W. B. (Baldy) George, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Wednesday.

However, he said, Toronto East York, representing Canada at the title games, have had to learn to stop checking their opponents into the boards.

"While the Europeans permit considerable interference," they allow no boarding," George, who is accompanying the team, explained.

Every team has its own style, he added, based upon the rules interpretation followed in its own country.

Despite the different interpretations, the CAHA chief said, "play has been aggressive, and the Canadians have been able to make good scores because of their finesse of play, speed, and outstanding goal keeping and defence."

AT THE BELLE—Niall MacGinnis, distinguished British actor, has the title role in "Martin Luther", the most widely discussed film of the year. The dramatic feature film, based on the life of the 16th Century Protestant leader, is continuing today, Friday and Saturday at the Belle Theatre, Belleville. The only engagement in Belleville.

AT THE CAPITOL — An act of violence precipitates "Gun Fury", now in color by Technicolor at the Capitol Theatre. Artist shows Rock Hudson, right, Donna Reed and Phil Carey in a scene from the Columbia picture. On the same program, "Killer Ape," starring Johnny Weismuller as Jungle Jim. Both hits are first showings and can be seen on our wide curved giant screen.

Top Three Junior Teams Defeated, Leading Teeps Lose To Three Rivers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Maybe road games had something to do with it but the top three teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series had a rough time last night—they all lost.

St. Catharines TeePees, league-leaders of the OHA, were defeated 9-6 by the Reds in Trois-Rivières, Que., during the only interlocking game. It was the first loss for the TeePees during their current tour against teams of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Junior League.

In Ontario second-place Toronto Marlboros dropped a 5-2 decision to the Greenshirts in Kitchener while the third-place Toronto St. Michael's College Majors were being beaten 5-3 by the Cubs in Hamilton. Barrie Flyers took a 5-1 home-ice victory from Guelph Biltmores.

The TeePees were never ahead. The Reds, in fourth place in the IAHA League were led by Jean Guy Gendron who fired three goals.

Herve Lalonde added two and singles went to Leo Fournier, Yvan Houle, Jean-Marie Cossette and Gilles Matieau, Brian Cullen and Hank Ciesla led the TeePee marksmen with two each. Others were scored by Bert Cullen and Hugh Barlow.

STORM TROUBLE

The Kitchener-Marlboro contest was delayed an hour because the Toronto team ran into rough travelling conditions en route to Kitchener. Marlboros arrived with only 14 men after a three-hour trip over ice-glazed roads. Wally Maxwell, Sonny Larose and Bob Pulford were marooned on the outskirts of Toronto and didn't get to the arena until the game was ready to start.

The victory made a successful debut for new coach Kenny Reardon, who is replacing Stan Long. Long was suspended for a year for punching Bill Ezinicki during a recent game.

John Bolender, making his first appearance in Junior A competition, was a standout in the Greenshirts' nets, replacing Claude Pronovost who is out with injuries.

Del. Topoll, Gord Cwotsky, Bud Horne, Fred Glover and Graham Joyce were the Kitchener snipers. Mike Elik and Wally Maxwell scored for the Marlboros.

KILSEA STARS

In Hamilton the Majors kept pace with the Cubs for two periods but Brian Kilrea scored twice in the final period to give Hamilton the victory. Joe Zorica, Cummy Dalton and Martin McAlendin were the other scorers for the Cubs. Dick Duff, Jim Logan and Brian Anderson were the Toronto scorers.

Barrie's victory over the Biltmores enabled the Flyers to keep their playoff chances alive. The victory left Barrie in sixth and last playoff spot, three points in front of Guelph. The Flyers have five games left in the schedule.

John Martyn led the victory with two goals, the other Barrie counter going to Don Cherry. Ron Attersley notched Guelph's marker.

Galt Black Hawks are at Guelph, St. Marlboros go to Barrie and St. Michael's plays at Kitchener in junior action Friday.

Norwegian Wins Slalom Crown

ARE, Sweden (CP) — A dash down the ice and snow of Areskutan mountain Wednesday brought the world's glag slalom title and the second ski championship in a week to Stein Eriksen of Norway, the darling of Norwegian bobbysoxers.

The Oslo fireball crossed the finish line in one minute, 32.5 seconds for the 2,000-metre course which drops 810 metres and has 51 gates. He won the slalom title last Sunday.

Second was Francois Bonlieu, 16-year-old French skier, whose 1:33.7 was considered remarkable for one so young.

Top Canadian was Ernie McCulloch of Three Rivers, Que., who finished in a tie for 12th place with Brooks Dodge of Pinkham Notch, N.H. Their times were 1:37.7.

Art Tommy of Ottawa was 22nd in 2:00.3.

Kenora Team Off to Japan On Hockey Tour

VANCOUVER (CP) — Kenora Thistles sailed from here Wednesday on a 15-day voyage to Japan for a hockey barnstorming tour.

Representing the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, the 16-man group will play nine games in a 16-day tour of Japan.

Thirties captured the Canadian intermediate title last year by defeating Dunlops, Alta., to qualify for the tour.

They took with them some 12-dozen National Hockey League sweaters and 12-dozen miniature hockey sticks to give to Japanese children. The souvenirs were bought with part of the proceeds from the sale of programs and badges in Kenora to raise $9,500 to get the team to Vancouver and back. The CAHA takes care of the rest, through an arrangement with the host Japanese Skating Association.

The trip, said CAHA vice-president Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg, accompanying the team, may be extended to include Australia.

"That is," said Dunn, "if the Aussies can put up a $15,000 guarantee for loss of wages and $20 a man a week for spending money."

Thirties arrive in Tokyo March 20 and are scheduled to return April 3.

Thirties average about 170 pounds and won't do any rough stuff.

"We don't want an international incident on our hands," said playing-coach Don Robertson.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — This can be a prosperous day for wholesome, legal activities, for manufacturing, building, study, teaching, research, scientific interests. But be warned against unwise speculation. Think!

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Original ideas, inventions, improved ways and means to help lessen human burdens and advance living conditions generally are especially favored now. Good influences for study, bettering your status.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Your affairs, private and general, under helpful aspects. An encouraging day for the whole. But be sure undertaking new tasks, give attention to unfinished matters. A day for achievement.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Be careful not to become involved in scandalous rumors or use unwise tactics. Stick to essential duties and goals.

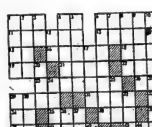
July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Influences similar to Gemini today. Good for you who are usually alert to advantages and opportunities whereby you can improve your product, advance yourself and your work. Shun questionable schemes, extravagances.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Some pleasant news, happenings likely. Do maintain a cheerful, hopeful outlook and attend to duties—and added responsibilities with faith and with your natural fortitude. Good vibrations.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Trust the right period to gain by your inventiveness and craftsmanship. Be firm in convictions but not stubborn. Listen to sound advice and wise suggestions.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—This is a day to advertise, promote good products, sell useful items. Skilled work and unskilled labor can both profit.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Generally propitious for home, social, school and civic affairs. What you now, how well you plan and manage will greatly affect results later. Don't rush but keep busy.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Concentrate on your specific interests; plan how they are to be managed now and in the future. Today encourages best efforts and promises reward for results.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Uranus' position cautions against drastic changes in matters which are running profitably, smoothly. Day, on the whole, should benefit all worthwhile work, new ideas and methods.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Mostly favorable — particularly if you pay close attention to immediate and urgent matters. You can try new projects, advertise your wares to advantage. A good day.

YOU BORN TODAY: A beneficial year ahead is indicated if you regularly use your fine God-given talents and ability with a firm faith that you can achieve with them. Correct a tendency to go in two different directions. Plan wisely, then consistently follow the course you select. Many ambitious plans may materialize this year. Pray for guidance and also offer prayers of thanksgiving for your many blessings. You have fine attributes, can assist others in a quiet manner.

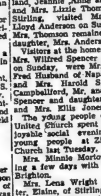
Felt Nervous, Tired Rundown - Praises Syntona



Tells For Benefit of Others How This Herbal Medicine Brought Relief From Long-standing Health Disorders. "Wouldn't Be Without It."

If you are disturbed night after night by kidney disorders it is time you began taking Syntona (limit 2) Special Compound. This medicine which is derived entirely from herbs and roots, acts effectively, not only on the kidneys, but also the stomach, liver and bowels. It is a general tonic medicine which helps to tone up the entire system. That is why thousands of people who suffered this way say they "can rely on Syntona for best results."

Here for instance is the experience of Mrs. Jacob Stover, R.R. 2, Thornburg, Ontario, who said recently:

"I suffered from kidney disorders, pains in my back, nights and mornings, up about 5 times, rheumatic pains at times right up into my shoulders and through legs to my feet. I felt nervous and tired run down and felt tired out.

"I had been advised me to try Syntona and in no time at all I could see that it was helping the condition. As I kept on taking it, the trouble cleared up and now I feel the best I have for years. I would recommend a bottle of Syntona to the house and I want to let others know that I would not be without it now wonderful it is."

Why not let this Pure Herbal Medicine help you as it has so many others? Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan The Druggist.

Republican Chairman Tries To Patch Up Rift Between Eisenhower and McCarthy

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leonard Hall, Republican national chairman, sought today to step into the breach between President Eisenhower and Senator McCarthy by discounting the party's "family differences."

McCarthy himself, soon after he rejected Wednesday's presidential criticism in a crackling statement of his own, said in an interview: "I have no fight with Eisenhower at all. . . . I hope the fanning of statements back and forth will drop here."

Eisenhower, without naming McCarthy, in a long statement clearly aimed at him spoke out Wednesday against "disregard of fair play." Wisconsin Republican senator fired back that the president and he "apparently disagree only on how we should handle those who protect Communists."

Hall, who had anticipated that president in publicly taking issue with McCarthy's investigative methods, said in a speech prepared for a New York luncheon today of the National Republican Club that "we are not a divided party."

"Our opposition, naturally, has made much of the party's 'family differences' during the past weeks. They would have you believe that we Republicans have split irrevocably over a problem involving personalities.

IN EARNEST ACCORD

"That's nonsense, of course. On many issues there are degrees of opinion, emphasis and approach. . . . In a vital matter like combating the endless dangers of communism, both on the home front and at the council tables abroad, we are in earnest accord."

Despite Hall's prediction that the Republicans are going to display "team spirit," there isn't too much evidence of unity in party reaction to the exchange of statements by the president and McCarthy.

The Senate Republican policy committee gave no evidence, after a closed meeting Wednesday, of any material progress toward agreement on a code of ethics for conducting congressional hearings.

Some of those present made it clear that he intends to proceed as he has in the past despite anything Eisenhower or the president's friends might say about his methods.

"I'd hate to think the day would come when a president is expected to agree with every senator, and every senator to agree with the president on everything," McCarthy said.

NO REASON TO ARGUE

"There is no reason on earth why any Republican and I should be arguing on this Communist issue. I think Eisenhower feels as strongly about fulfilling his campaign promises to get the Communists out of government as I do."

Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson Wednesday wrote chairman Leverett Saltonstall (Rep., Mass.) of the Senate armed services committee that there is "an immediate and pressing need" to clarify laws which have permitted Communists and other undesirables to enter the U.S. armed services.

Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, head of the Republican policy group, told reporters he thought the president's statement "indicated he was not entirely satisfied with the methods" used by McCarthy.

Ferguson said he wouldn't have handled in the same way McCarthy did the questioning of Brig.-Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, who said he carried out orders to give an honorable discharge to Maj. Irving Peress. Peress had refused to answer questions about possible Communist connections. McCarthy, conducting a Senate investigations sub - committee hearing, told Zwicker among other things that he should be removed from command.

BACKS ARMY

Eisenhower Wednesday backed up Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens, who had accused McCarthy of abusing Zwicker. The president said in a statement read to a White House press conference that no subordinate of the executive branch was going to be called upon to "submit to any kind of personal humiliation when testifying before congressional committees or elsewhere."

The president didn't name McCarthy, but the senator didn't mince words in answering back.

"When the 'abouting and the tumult dies,'" he said, "the American people and the president will realize that this unprecedented mud-slinging against the committee by left-wing elements of press and radio was caused because another fifth-amendment Communist in government was finally dug out of the dark recesses and exposed to public view."

Eisenhower acknowledged that the army had made "serious errors" in promoting and giving an honorable discharge to Peress, but he termed the military services "completely loyal," and put in a special tribute to Zwicker.

Pet Lion Gets in His Licks

Albert Kuchta, 72-year-old Chicago butcher, wanted an unusual pet. So he bought a four-month-old African lion from a pet shop. It was quiet as a kitty-cat at the shop, but when Mr. Kuchta brought it home six hours later and began to play with it, "the lion became the lamb," as the saying goes. The lamb in this case was Mr. Kuchta's face. The lion also became the lamb's dinner. The jungle cat then proceeded to wreck the Kuchta home, scattering furniture, and finally, after cleaning more "playful" as he went on, he ripped the nylons from Kuchta's daughter and scratched his new owner to a fare-thee-well. The cub is seen above showing the "boss" who is boss before he was taken to the pet shop in exchange for a cocker spaniel. — Central Press Canadian.

3,000 Federal Civil Servants Undergo Security Checks

By DAVE MORTOON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Some 2,000 federal civil servants have undergone routine security checks in the last year.

The number approximates the intake in the civil service during that time plus transfers involving security within government departments.

However, there is no indication how many—if any—persons might have been fired as security risks, refused job in the first place with the civil service or denied transfers on security grounds.

The subject of security was brought up in the Commons Wednesday when Davie Fulton, PC member for Kamloops, asked that the names of members of the government's security panel be made public, for details of the panel's operations and for figures on the number of civil servants dismissed or transferred as poor security risks.

Acting Prime Minister Howe said: "It is not in the public interest to answer these questions." He added: "We all abhor McCarthyism."

Mr. Fulton, in an interview, said that he intends to pursue the subject and that he is drafting new questions to ask the government.

NOT ACCORDING

He made it clear he has no intention of accusing the civil service of harboring Communists.

His purpose was to determine whether the security panel is doing an efficient job and to make sure that the panel is "absolutely fair."

Security checks are given to all new civil servants and on civil service transfers to new posts in "sensitive" branches of government, such as the defence department, and to the board, steamship and national defence.

Security is the responsibility chiefly of the deputy ministers of government departments. They are the persons who ask the RCMP to make investigations.

The RCMP merely places the results of its investigation before the deputy minister concerned. If the deputy minister requires advice, he seeks it from the security panel, comprising some half-dozen members.

ALSO BLUEBEARMOUTHS

Communists or crypto-Communists are not the only security risks. Also considered are those whose habits are alcoholics or just plain blabbermouths.

The government's view is that public hearings on security checks would defeat the purpose of information.

The government set up the security system in 1946 after Igor Gouzenko, cipher clerk in the Russian embassy here, disclosed operations of a Soviet spy ring in Canada.

Peroxide Beats Atom As Power For Submarines

BARROW-IN-FURNESS, Eng. (Reuters)—Hydrogen peroxide, the bleaching chemical, will power Britain's latest top-secret underwater weapon, which was launched here today.

The submarine Explorer came from a yard which has built subs for 52 years and each 10 to see the Second World War. Everything about her except her steel is 225 by 15 feet—is secret, but she is said to be able to cross the Atlantic under water at between 20 and 30 knots.

She is also said to be faster than the American atom-powered Nautilus.

Lady Reid-Young, wife of the chairman of Vickers Armstrongs (Shipbuilders), Limited, launched the Explorer in the first British sub launched in six years.

"... In the development stage of defence production some methods and processes are of enormous importance and their betrayal could do injury to the whole nation.

The question at issue (dismissal of an employee of A. V. Roe Aircraft Company on the security risk) is not guilt or innocence of some particular charge. The essential question is how certain persons can or cannot be entrusted with knowledge affecting the . . . Assessment of character is the only consideration in some instances. That is not a matter of charges, or of trial or of proof. It is a matter of judgment."

'You Are Lucky Man,' Says Justice Treleaven

SUDBURY (CP)—An Ontario Supreme Court jury Thursday acquitted Robert Deslauriers of Mooretval on a charge of murdering Frank Asselin Oct. 3.

The verdict was delivered after four hours and two minutes of deliberation by the jury.

"You are a lucky man," said Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven. "You alone know whether the verdict of this jury is the right one."

Two companions of Deslauriers—Jean Guy Trudel and Emile Bedard—also of Montreal—last week in a separate trial were convicted of conspiracy to murder and were sentenced to be hanged May 18.

When the verdict was announced he buried his face in his hands for a few moments. He was still pale and trembling when he left the courtroom.

Deslauriers will be taken to penitentiary to serve a two-year term for car theft.

Big Betting Ring Thought Broken By Two Arrests

TORONTO (CP)—Two men who police allege took between $1,000 and $2,000 a day in bets on horses from east-end factory workers were arrested Thursday night.

Inspector Thomas Greenwood said investigations disclosed that more than $250,000 a year was bet by workers in the east-end.

Held on charges of registering and recording bets and keeping a common gaming house are Henry Albano, 30, and Joseph Vaudry, 39. They were remanded a week when they appeared today in court.

Korean Captive Goes On Trial For Aiding Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Army today ordered Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor held for a pre-trial investigation of a reported conduct and charges of aiding the enemy while a prisoner of war in Korea.

The 22-year-old Kermit, Tex., soldier was placed under arrest at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., Wednesday, Feb. 24.

On Feb. 18, the army ordered a court-martial trial for Dickenson on charges he gave "information of military value about fellow prisoners in order to gain better treatment from the enemy." He is said to begin sometime late this month or the date has not been set.

The formal charge against Dickenson is unlawfully collaborating with the enemy.

Over-Matched

FALMOUTH, England (Reuters) — A British ship with two holds full of coal has been matched radioed today that she is on fire in the Atlantic.

The 7,000-ton Norman Monarch said she is heading for Falmouth, about 100 miles to the northeast.

'Floated' Gyroscope So Sensitive Could Measure Block on Moon

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A newtyp' "floated" gyroscope, capable of such minute jobs as measuring the drift of the vernal equinox on the moon, is being mass-produced here.

The ultra-precision instrument, cylindrical and weighing less than three pounds, is claimed by engineers to be the most sensitive attitude-measuring device ever made.

Officially called the hermetic integrating gyro, the device is capable of detecting motion 3,000 times slower than the movement of the hour hand on a watch.

"It was designed for the United States Air Force for use in inertial guidance systems for supersonic and pilotless aircraft, and for bombing and weapon-firing controls.

Engineers said today that the near-miracle performance is due to the fact that friction among moving parts has been cut almost to zero. This was accomplished by floating the gyro's delicate, precision spin mechanism in a special oily fluid.

If a gyro on a sled could reduce friction comparably, these experts said it would be possible for him to coast about 1,000 miles from a hill only one foot high.

So sensitive is the mechanism that one speck of dust weighing 1/1,000 of a grain would have the same effect as the dropping of a handful of gravel into an automobile transmission.

A spokesman for the producing firm, Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., said "fantastic" might be the only way to describe the small gyro's capabilities. For example:

If a man standing in Los Angeles could read a newspaper held up in New York, the instrument could detect the angle of change of his eyes as they shifted from the first column to the eighth.

Heavy Snow Again Clogs Some Western Ontario Roads

TORONTO (CP) — Heavy snow dicted highs for today were five above at Kitchener, 15 above at Toronto, London, Windsor, and 20 above at Windsor, St. Thomas, Toronto and Hamilton.

All main roads were reported passable Thursday night but snow-plow crews continued the clean-up job left after four days of wild weather. Most telephone communications also were restored.

But wide sections of the province still counted the cost of the storm, that high 10 lines, strangled countless buses and cars, blocked many roads with drifts up to 15 feet deep, isolated scores of small towns, knocked down telephone and telegraph wires and closed rural schools.

Trucks carried telegrams into districts Thursday because stormclogged telegraph wires still were down. Rural mail piled up in the post office because carriers could not get through snow-blocked country roads.

HORSE COMES THROUGH

Cars and trucks were unable to move between Watford, 20 miles west of London, but Clare Aubert's horse braved the drifts and delivered food to snowed-in residents.

Areas worst hit by the storm were Windsor, Chatham and Sarnia. Many highways and highways were blocked, schools closed, travelers stranded and communications disrupted. Seventeen inches of snow fell at Windsor and Sarnia, 16 at Chatham.

Trains, trucks and jeeps carried food to communities where supplies had run short. In many cases, the supplies were flown in.

An ambulance that reached Chatham from Ridgetown with an expectant mother made the return trip with a load of bread and drugged supplies for isolated settlements. There were no reports of serious hardship from any community.

Sultan of Morocco Hurt As Bomb Explodes In Mosque

RABRAKESH, Morocco (Reuters) — The Sultan of Morocco was injured by a bomb explosion in a mosque today.

The sultan, Sidi Mohammed ben Moulay Arfa, 65, was installed last August after French authorities deposed and exiled his relative, Sidi Mohammed ben Youssef, who was leading the nationalists' independence demands.

The sultan suffered head injuries from the bomb which exploded inside Marrakesh mosque, where he was taking part in Friday prayers.

A nationalist attempt to assassinate the sultan as he was going to prayers in a Rabat mosque failed last September.

Marrakesh, hilltop city of southern Morocco, an unsuccessful attempt was made last year on the life of one of the sultan's principal followers, El Glaoui, pasha of Marrakesh.

Geneva Talks to Determine Berlin Results Says Molotov

BES RICHARD KASISCHKE

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister Molotov today said results of the Berlin conference can be measured only by what happens when the Big Four meet again at the conference table in China and other powers at Geneva to discuss peace in Asia.

In a 7,500-word report on the Berlin talks, which ended 10 days ago, Molotov reiterated Soviet charges that Western defence preparations point to an early third war. He insisted that the United States, Britain and France for East-West disagreements that remain unresolved.

The statement, played up in all Moscow newspapers and broadcast by Moscow radio, criticized State Secretary Dulles of the U. S. in making speeches about the conference "representing himself as a zealous champion of the freedom of peoples and the champion of free elections."

Molotov added: "Certain defenders of freedom like such freedom as gives exploiters and militarists a free hand and a life of plenty, while the toiling masses of the people are left to vegetate in poverty and ruin."

Molotov said the Berlin conference was useful within these limited various world questions and cleared the road to the Geneva parley—"of definite international significance"—on Korea and Indo-China.

On this first anniversary of Stalin's death, the Soviet foreign boss said there also took occasion to say in his statement:

1. U.S. claims to world leadership "are nationally groundless." American bases abroad are directed against the Soviet Union and the America position-of-strength policy means preparing for another war.

2. The idea of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be no lim-

Army Court Finds Winnipeg Soldier Guilty of Murder

ISERLOHN, Germany (AP) — George Mihalik, 26-year-old Canadian soldier from Winnipeg, today was convicted of the fatal shooting a German widow Dec. 15, 1953.

He was found guilty by a Canadian general court martial of stabbing Mrs. Gertrud Hinz, 56, to death during a robbery.

Mihalik, who lives in Elmwood, a suburb of Winnipeg, netted 31 marks ($7.44) from the robbery, which was committed for the money.

Shortly after the killing, he was arrested in an army movie house.

The death sentence is subject to review by higher authorities, and an army spokesman said it can be changed only to life imprisonment.

better than the fate of the well-to-do Germans who were executed or included in 1937 by Hitler Germany, militarist Japan or Soviet Russia in many years. It is not a defensive measure, but a step toward the aggravation of the international situation.

3. The projected European Defence Community (EDC) would line up West German troops with those of other West European countries, blocks German unity, "revives the spirit of German militarism" and "to follow this path means to embark on preparation of another war in Europe, which leads to a third world war."

4. France, a prospective EDC country, is grossly undermining the very foundations of the French-Soviet treaty of 1944, which is intended to prevent fresh aggression on the part of German militarism.

DIEFENBAKER CALLS COMMONS DOCILE: STAGNANT

Just Sounding Board For Cabinet, He Says

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons has been told it has become "docile and stagnant" through the growth of cabinet powers.

John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) said Thursday that Parliament has become "a sounding board to put through what the government decides is good for the country."

He was criticizing a government proposal to give the cabinet power to fix salaries of members of the Canadian Pension Commission. That has been done since 1919 by parliamentary statute.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the pensions commission would become a pawn of the government.

"Parliament with its authority has become nothing more than a rubber stamp of fiction, with no more than the right to fulminate in government echoes." It had become "docile and stagnant."

Mr. Diefenbaker was asked week after week, to surrender his supremacy. The salary proposal was "the most obnoxious ever" by Parliament to the all-knowing, all-powerful Government.

The proposal he opposed was one of several amendments to veterans' general legislation contained in a bill introduced by Veterans Minister Lapointe. It was debated Thursday during the closing hours of the session, met with general approval.

MOTION DEFEATED

However, Col. A. J. Brooks (PC—Royal) moved to strike the salary plan from a resolution preliminary to the pension bill. The motion was defeated 65 to 41 in a standing vote.

Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton Nova Scotia) sided with the Liberals in voting against the motion. He said he opposes the salary plan, but argued that it should be handled in the veterans affairs committee which will consider the measures.

Other opposition members supported the amendment.

Gets Six Years For Manslaughter

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—William Jacobs, 31-year-old father of six children, was sentenced today to 14 years in penitentiary for the killing of Alfred Hindrea, 39.

Jacobs was convicted of manslaughter by a Supreme Court jury here last week.

Hindrea's death occurred last Christmas eve in the kitchen of the home in which Jacobs lived at Weiler Park, near here. Jacobs, in his own defence, testified he had no knowledge of the events surrounding Hindrea's death.

Ground Godfrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board decided today to suspend Arthur Godfrey's pilot certificate for 30 days, effective March 16, as a penalty for careless flying at Teterboro, N.J., airport January 7.

Bulletin

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Canada scored seven goals in a 7-4 victory over Czechoslovakia today to remain unbeaten in the world hockey tournament.

Mencken's Friend Closes Bookshop, Saying Age of The Boob Is Upon Us

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Siegfried Weistergen, once called "the friend of Mencken," said today "the age of the boob is upon us," is closing his Peabody bookshop still stocked with 100,000 volumes nobody wants to read.

"I lived for the dark days for America," said the old friend of H. L. Mencken.

Customers in the cities used to look up to the doctor, the lawyer, the professor. But were that continued.

Today they all look up to the business man."

He gestures with ferocious eloquence and brushes a bit of cigar ash from his tweed vest.

This is the kind of talk one used to hear in this basement book store founded by Mencken, the writer. . . the scholar. . . the critic of the 20s.

But now Siegfried, his shaggy hair gone bristling and his bright blue eyes seeming to spark, is heading for the country, a farm in New Windsor, Md.

"The people don't want books and ideals and culture. They only want dollars. They sold 15,000 pairs of nylons last year, and this year they want to sell 750,000 pairs—progress."

Siegfried believes in the Magna Carta, the bill of rights, H. Mencken, German music and philosophy.

He despises all forms of censorship and official meddling. He was once fined for serving beer to a 20-year-old Yale man, incredulous enough in Siegfried's eyes, but the final profanation was his—for detectives checking his place didn't even remove their hats.

Vietminh Raid Hanoi Airport, Destroy Planes

Daring Attack Is Staged In Big Indo-China City

HANOI, Indo-China (Delayed)—(AP)—Army headquarters announced that Communist-led Vietminh commandos raided Hanoi's big civil airport, five miles away at Gialam, and blew up an undisclosed number of airplanes today.

Exact losses were not disclosed, but army spokesmen said "several planes" had either been destroyed or damaged in explosions.

(French censorship of dispatches from Indo-China has grown increasingly strict in recent months. Presumably this accounted for the delay in this dispatch.)

The Vietminh raiders attacked at about 2:30 a. m., going from plane to plane on the main airport runways and placing high explosives in plastic containers under the engines.

The airport guard opened fire on the raiders as big explosions rocked the area, but they got clearly in Hanoi, across the Red river.

One Vietminh raider was killed. (A later dispatch from Hanoi said more than that number of them were rounded up following the raid.)

PRIVATELY OWNED

Most of the aircraft at Gialam are privately owned companies and were used in transporting men and war material to the big French garrison at Dien Bien Phu, in northwest Indo-China. The Vietminh objective obviously was to destroy as many as possible of the planes being used for this important airlift.

There was no announcement of any casualties among French and Viet Namese personnel.

Naguib States British Forces Moved on Cairo

CAIRO (Reuters) — President Mohamad Naguib said today Britain from the Suez canal zone had "advanced within six miles (nine miles) of Cairo" the day after he resigned late last night.

He added: "British troops in battledress were ready to crush any force that do not promptly settled . our differences."

Speaking to a delegation of students, a British military spokesman said British national servicemen's brigade strength were actually engaged in modern desert warfare manoeuvres in the desert on the Suez-Cairo road south of Suez.

Egyptian authorities were notified of the exercises which began on Feb. 24 and ended Feb. 27, he said.

Dogs Kill Deer In District, Officials Say

Conservation officers in the Tweed district are having their annual difficulties with dogs killing deer, according to Lands and Forests Department officials. Several hundred deer already been investigated and a charge is being laid against a Rednersville resident whose collie dog recently destroyed a doe later found to be carrying two fawns.

Investigation of complaints indicate that collies and part collies are most frequent offenders. In recent years sportsmen have been more careful in restraining dogs from running at large but unfortunately, officials say, there has been a general impression that the Game and Fish Act refers to only hounds. Anyone in doubt on this point should read the definition at the beginning of the act which reads "A dog means any dog, male or female."

City's Building and Zoning By-Law Receives Approval Of Ontario Municipal Board

Belleville's building and zoning by-law passed by city council last year, together with amendments written in since that time, was given final approval by the Ontario Municipal Board at a special hearing held in the city hall council chamber Thursday afternoon.

There were only two objectors to the amendment by-law, both of whom were concerned with lots on Hastings drive, while a number of residents owning homes in the same area spoke to the board in support of the by-law.

At the conclusion of the hearing municipal board chambers , W. Greenwood, B. Sc. and C. W. Yates, Q.C., said nothing had been advanced which would justify any specific changes to the by-law and noted the board would approve the by-law as it was now amended.

J. T. Ransom, and William Argue who appeared for John Patrick, objected to the amendment to the zoning by-law which put lots immediately to the east of the former county home property in "A" zone, allowing only one and two family dwellings.

Mr. Argue took much the same attitude on behalf of his client. He pointed to the fact that lot was to the west of the entrance of Hastings Drive onto Dundas street and the same zoning was in effect further east in the subdivision. He asked that the area be made a "C" area allowing motels or apartment buildings.

William Wright, representing several residential property owners in the area in question, approved of the amended by-law which classed the area as "A" allowing only one and two family dwelling units. Other residents speaking for the amended by-law included George Maybee and George Meades. All felt that construction other than residential would decrease the value of their properties.

Main amendment to the zoning by-law approved yesterday by the municipal board was the changing of A-1 area in Bayview and Hastings drive, Belleville and Thurlow, from "A" zone to "A-1" area. Under "A-1" classification apartment buildings would be allowed.

Other amendments to the zoning by-law were the minimum width of side yards in residential areas increased from three to five feet, and "home occupations" deleted from the list of uses in which a permit for a home occupation may be granted by special hearing to deal with a specific objection.

City solicitor R. A. Pringle, building inspector Dave Barker, and Alderman Arthur Keeps as chairman of planning represented the city at the hearing.

Corbyville Scouts Hold Father, Son Banquet

The first annual Father and Son banquet of the 1st Corbyville Boy Scout Troop was held recently in the recreation room of the Corby Distillery.

Following a very delicious supper Mr. George McDonald introduced the distinguished guests including Deputy Reeve Lloyd Hoesang, District Commissioner Archie Jarvis, and Assistant District Commissioner Don Allaire.

A toast to the late Lord Baden-Powell founder of the Boy Scout Movement was proposed by Don Allen, followed by a sing song led by Keith Gordon. A toast to the fathers was proposed by Assistant Scout Leader Floyd Minton. Mr. Ralph Plumpton replied. Then came the presentation of the Follwell Trophy by Commissioner Lewis. The Follwell trophy was won by the 1st Corbyville Troop last spring at the Moira Campground. Scouter George MacDonald Jr., received the trophy on behalf of the troop.

Another feature of the evening was the presentation of badges. The following scouts received Tenderfoot badges. Alex McLeod, Floyd Clapp, Jimmy Cole, John Meak, Dale Archibald, Donny Morrison, Eric Bell, Bill Cole, Ian McDonald, Art McCaffery, Bud Plumpton and Barry Walsh. Second class badges: Patrol leaders Fred Furmidge, Bill McDonald and Paul Plumpton.

A vote of thanks was tendered by the chairman, Mr. George MacDonald, to the mothers of the Scouts. They had worked and planned an effective table for this Father-and-Son Banquet the success that it was.

Webb Wannamaker introduced the guest speaker, Queen Scout George Hoesang. Scout Hoesang gave a very colorful resume of his trip to London, England, to see the Coronation. This was followed by the showing of some very colorful slides taken by Queen's Scout Hoesang while at the Coronation. They were enjoyed immensely by all present. Thanks were extended by Don Milton to the guest speaker on behalf of those assembled. A very enjoyable evening was concluded by the singing of the Scout Vesper hymn.

Collegiate's Kampus Kapers Delight First Nighters

Kampus Kapers, a fast-paced two hour variety show presented by the Collegiate Boys' and Girls' Athletic Society (B.C.I.A.A.) and Vocational School, was enthusiastically received by a near capacity audience Thursday evening. It will be presented tonight.

The lively show, built around some outstanding gymnastic displays, featured singing, dancing, and instrumental numbers as well. The whole show was admirably backed up by the school band under the direction of Mr. Cooper.

Bright costumes and smart sets added to the enjoyment of the show.

The first number, a gymnastic feature by the band and a grand opening song by the entire cast introduced Queen Sovereignty and Darlene Dalrymple sang two solos accompanied by Miss Elaine Davis.

An outstanding exhibition of skill on the parallel bars was put on by Neil Judge, Dean Smith, Bill Mason, Ron Donaldson and Gary Walker. Margaret Slavin mystified the audience with a magic act that included conversation of confetti into candy.

The Collegiate Vocal Ethel Boy got a brisk workout with Josephine Avery, Phil Bennett, Rosna Fordyce and Harry Morris in featured roles. The last two sang "Sweetheart" in a high voice exhibition of jitter-bugging. This number also featured the acrobatic dancing of Gwen Steward, Lorna Bulford, Carol Jean McCaskett, Vivian McWilliams, Rosna Fordyce, Ann Pearce, Margaret Avery, Carol Vermilyea and Ruth Watson.

Jim Phillips and Davy Brancombe were a highly competent corset duet in "The Pair" and "When I Dance" with Mr.

Paula Freeman and Doug McIlraith put no curb on laughter in a humorous skit, "Mr. and Mrs." directed by Mr. C. Sloan.

"OLD WOMAN" NUMBER.

After the intermission "The Old Woman in the Shoe," hardly knew what to do with a number, featured singing, dancing, and instrumental numbers as well. The whole show was admirably backed up by the school band under the direction of Mr. Cooper.

The "Rockettes" quintet had a tumbling presentation was directed by Dave Lalbe and included Ann Lott, Mary Ann Cowles, Annette Dzecta, Pauline Gibson, Carolyn Hollis, Doris Hannah, Brigid Hughes, Carolyn Hull, Shirley LaRue, Deanne Mansfield, Kathleen Payne, Sandyra Randle, Carol Rowland and Diane Slade in the "Rockettes" quintet had enough rocking rhythm to be encored until they finally had to cast themselves away and let the show go on. The boys with the mallow notes were Don Cherry, Jack Doig, Phil Bennett, Bruce Varcoe and Doug McBrairn.

Peter Smith played brilliantly in two piano solos.

Slide Easletine did a pantomime to a Spike Jones recording just before the pyramid builders did a giant episode.

The show wound up in a grand finale with the entire cast taking a goodbye to a cheering audience.

The organization back of the production was headed by Homer Townsend, Jr. as director of scenery, and D. Martinson, director of girls. The skits were directed by Charles Sloan, Mr. Cooper directed the band and Mr. C Fowler and Mr. Chas. Neal assisted with the music.

Other department heads were Bill Deacon, business manager; Leighton Long, stage crew; Ross Hirst, property manager; Kay Cole, dance and refreshment committee Don Cherry, president; George Hoesng, secretary-treasurer, and Keyette Club members, ushereites.

PUC Will Study Proposal It Take Over Sewer System

The Public Utilities Commission has decided to make a "comprehensive study" of city council's request that the Commission take over sanitary sewers, debentures and all. The Commission met yesterday in the board room of the Front Street office of the public utilities to discuss this and other business. Yesterday's session was the monthly meeting of the Commission.

Secretary Oswald Scott read a letter setting forth council's proposal. Mayor Jack Bush enlarged on the city's letter. He said he believed sanitary sewers would be run more efficiently if the Utilities Commission accepted responsibility. He also said that it was only a matter of time before the Ontario Department of Health would require Belleville to build a sewage disposal unit. He added such a unit to cost in the neighborhood of 3 million dollars.

Commissioner W. Harry Rollins agreed with the mayor that the sewers would be efficiently operated under public utility management, but he felt much consideration must be given such an important step. Commissioner Urias Lemmins said: "I think like Mr. Rollins; we have our eye on the right thing, but I also agree that considerable study and deliberation should be given before such a move takes place."

Commissioner Rollins moved in favor of the proposal. The secretary had already received letters from other municipalities whose sewage systems are under the management of the public commissions. Mr. Scott read a number of these letters where in the good and bad points of such a plan were described.

TO CONSULT ENGINEERS.

The Commission also decided it would like technical information. The matter was then referred to the city engineers and it was decided to completely investigate the matter from all angles before making any decision.

A request from the Belleville

Senior Citizens Hear SPEBSQSA

The March meeting of the Senior Citizens Club of Belleville held in the Kiwanis Centre, was an enjoyable evening of cards, games and entertainment.

After a short business session, under the chairman, L. H. Field, entertainment was provided by the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc. The singers demonstrated their versatility by giving several numbers in chorus, and they also performed as a "tag" quartet, in which the original members are relieved of their parts by other singers as the composition is sung. Their program was well received, and the "tag" quartet was much enjoyed. J. G. Todds was a welcome birthday cake to all March, and Wesley Gray was welcomed back after some time in hospital.

Prizes for euchre were won by Mrs. J. Milne, Mrs. W. Grey, Mr. J. Thompson and Mrs. Barnhard Refreshments were enjoyed at the close of evening.

Chamber of Commerce that the Victoria street lighting bill submitted by the Commission be reviewed by council. The Commissioners reviewed the statement and decided the adjustment could be made. It was found that by decreasing the amount of the bill the necessary work would be carried out.

A letter from the city requesting 8 copies of the Commission's minutes was read. Under the public utilities act, it was said, this cannot be done, and commissioners recommended a letter be sent to the city informing of this fact. However, it was noted that the minutes will be available. for an appointed city official to peruse at the office. The request will also be carried in the letter.

Lay Plans For Golf Season

Plans for the coming golfing season were laid at the March meeting of the board of directors of the Bay of Quinte Country Club. The directors plan to stress the maintenance of the course in its present excellent condition.

Work on the new and enlarged tees will be continued. A greater effort will be made to increase the social activities of the club and a bowling section of the club house is contemplated. A survey of the membership indicated that there would be accommodation for additional new members from the city and district.

Truck Hits Pole, Power Cut Off

Residents of the North Front street area were without power for a brief period early Thursday afternoon when a coal delivery truck broke off a hydro pole and caused damage to the transformer.

Hiram Lindell, North James street, driver for Conger Lehigh Fuels swung out to avoid an approaching auto on North Front street. His right wheels caught in the snow at the curbside and the vehicle crashed into the hydro pole breaking it off at base and allowing the transformer to fall. Power in the area was shut-off until repairs could be effected.

Wes Baker, Acting Assessor, Has Resigned

TRENTON (Special)—Wes Baker, acting town assessor since assessor Charles Rogerson was dismissed February 1st, has tendered his resignation, effective March 13th, and is returning to the Metropolitan Board of Assessors in Toronto, Mr. Baker's resignation leaves Trenton without an assessor.

Town clerk, O. W. Larry, has been advised by councillor Reg Armstrong chairman of the court of revision, to advertise in local and city papers for an assessor.

Mr. Baker, who came to Trenton to help assessor Rogerson with the 1953 reassessment under the provincial government's system of assessment, has sold his home in anticipation of his return to Toronto.

Rondeaunettes Win Applause With Third Annual Musical

TRENTON (Special)—"People of Trenton should be proud of Bill Long and the Rondeaunettes," declared ex-mayor Kenneth J. Couch introducing the choral singing group on the last performance of a three-night engagement under the sponsorship of the Air Force Teenaires at A/C/M Breadner School in Middleton Park last night. Mr. Cough acted as the genial master-of-ceremonies for the Trenton singing group's third annual musical, entitled "Can't Help Singing." The delightful show was well received, drawing some 1,200 on three nights when driving conditions were bad.

Mr. Couch gave full credit to the producer and director, William G. Long. He praised the work of the cast who designed and built their own scenery, designed and fashioned their own costumes, installed their own lighting effects and shouldered every other job connected with staging the breezy musical. Miss Julia Rowe, who sketched the scenery deserved an extra pat on the back.

The show is headed Belleville way this coming week for a two-night stand at the Belleville Collegiate Institute.

In commenting on the production it would be amiss to not make special mention of the good taste Mr. Long showed in selecting and arranging the music for the singing and dancing numbers. Organ and piano solos blended effectively in the vocal renditions. However it would not be fair to say that any one part of the two and a half hour program was any better than another part. In plain words the whole show was good.

The opening choir number, "Elizabeth of England" kindled much interest in the mixed audience. A special arrangement of Schubert's "Ave Maria" added religious dignity to the production. The finale featured the Belleville dancing team of Diment and Thrasher against an unique backdrop, including the entire singing and musical cast.

The cast included: Shirley Fox, Helen Hayes, Shirley Stokes, Reginald Frauts, Barbara Burley, Betty Lou Tice, Donna Lee Patrick, Glenna Stickle, Cec Uptoff, Mary T. Long, Cecilia Remmer, Miriam Leatherland, Ronald Reynvatts, Ray Dube, Carma Fuller, Margaret Ann Allore, Peter Howell, Shirley LaMorre, Joanne Hopkins, Patricia Woods, Barbara Taylor, Bill Allore, Elaine Martin, Elsie Herron and Wilma Love.

Dance artists from Belleville Barbara Diment and Barbara Thrasher; assisted the cast with tap and ballet numbers.

Accompanists were: organist Mrs. Lenna Baker; pianists, Miss Marie MacDonald, Miss Sandra Forrester, Miss Marlene Baker and Harold Adams.

Mrs. Al Sternburg advised a committee producing the costumes.

AN ADMIRABLE SPIRIT.

The Ontario Intelligencer has received a letter from His Excellency A. H. J. Lovink, Netherlands Ambassador to the Netherlands, which merits attention not only for the information it contains but for the spirit which prompted it.

The ambassador states that a misunderstanding has arisen in connection with the care given the graves of many thousands of Canadian soldiers "who gave their lives in 1944 and 1945 for the cause of freedom and for the liberation of my country."

"During the war," he writes, "the Netherlands people considered it an honor to look after allied war graves but on the liberation of our country the Imperial War Graves Commission took over the task. Since that time they have exercised the greatest devotion and care in the extensive work of building cemeteries, of tending the graves and of erecting the tombstones for the 10,000 members of the Commonwealth who gave their lives for the liberation of our country."

The contribution of the Imperial War Graves Commission, the letter points out, is not always realized in Canada. "The Netherlands people foster the memory of Canadian war dead and, on Remembrance Days, our children often lay flowers on the graves," the letter says. "However, I wish to emphasize that the outstanding work in the field of maintenance and care of the cemeteries has been performed by the Imperial War Graves Commission. The Commission deserves, in all fairness, the appreciation and gratitude which is so often wrongly withheld from them."

With that information before us, we shall not deny the Commission its due. But the Netherlands ambassador, too, deserves the appreciation and gratitude of the Canadian people for his reluctance to see his country receive credit for work carried out by the Commission and for his desire to see this credit go to the body which has earned it.

TRAFFIC INCIDENT.

An unusual incident occurred in Belleville this week. In one sense this incident was of such a trivial nature that no reporter would consider it worth writing and if he wrote it no editor would give it space. And yet we believe we should write it because, though the incident was trivial, the inferences which can be drawn from it are important.

Here are the facts.

Traffic was heavy. A large group of children, on their way to school, was waiting to cross the street. A young man driving a late one child dart across the street. Although the rest of the children hung back, he immediately brought his car to a halt, though it was on a hill. He sounded his horn and motioned to the children to cross. Another car disregarding the hill also stopped. Traffic was held up for a moment, while the children scurried across to the opposite sidewalk. Then cars and children hurried safely on their way.

The inferences? Well, as we mentioned at the start of this editorial, the incident was unusual. This is regrettable. The young motorist who halted his car was showing something more than courtesy to the group of waiting children. He was providing proof that he possessed a quality of mind which enabled him to size up the situation, to act in an alert and wholly unselfish manner, to show a willingness to inconvenience himself for the sake of the safety of others and the courage to act in an unconventional manner. If there were more men and women like him, there would be fewer accidents.

TWENTIETH CENTURY SATIRE.

Almost everybody reads the comic strips.

But many of us wait until we reach our own homes. Then we lock the door against intruders, pull the shades and settle in a corner, where members of the family cannot discover that we are not immersed in the editorials or juggling quotations found on the financial page.

We are afraid to reveal that the comics interest us—for it is universally agreed amongst the intellectuals that the comic-strip devotee must be moronic.

Lately, though, we have detected an encouraging development. Some of the comic strips—we will not name them but they are easy to identify—appear to have entered the field of satire.

And that, of course, makes them art.

Funny, too.

HAMILTONIAN AT HEART?

Mazo de la Roche, author of the Jalna books, who lives in Toronto's Forest Hill Village, stated recently that "starlings have a truly pleasant song which I have heard many times, even in mid-winter." Anyone who has ever heard a starling will realize that this comment is for the birds. If starlings are such sweet singers it is surprising that Miss de la Roche has not moved to Hamilton where two million of them have been warbling so sweetly that armed posses have been shooting as many as 4,000 songsters at a time. Perhaps she does not like the drum beats of shotgun fire, however, and that explains her staying on in Toronto.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

30 YEARS AGO
MARCH 5, 1924:

Miss Marjorie Sharpe of this city spent the week end with Miss Marion Bailey in Stirling.

Miss Mildred Stewart has returned to Toronto after visiting her parents here.

The members of the "Hi-Y" Club in connection with the Y.M.C.A. held their regular supper meeting after the Gym and swim period last evening. Gerry McMurray, the president of the club, presided, Russ Wotherspoon rendered a piano and James Andrews was the song leader. An interesting and informative address was given on astronomy by Mr. D. B. Detweiler of the Collegiate Institute teaching staff. He was introduced by Glenn Morris. The address was highly enjoyed by the boys.

Billie Bush, Victoria Avenue, entertained a number of his young friends at his home last evening. The boys report a grand time.

Mr. Kenneth R. Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham, Pine Street, has been appointed organist and choir director of St. James' United Church, Montreal.

30 YEARS AGO
MARCH 5, 1924.

There is apparently no danger of a flood this spring the river is breaking up gradually and there is a wide channel from the bridge and the ice above the foot bridge is all rotten.

Ostrom's drug store, which is conducted by Mr. Charles A. Ostrom, is now celebrating its seventh anniversary and a sterling sale is in progress.

Mr. Geo. O. Tice conducted a successful sale at the Mr. Roy Parliament in Ameliasburg township, Prince Edward County. Pure bred cattle sold up to $123, with grade cattle averaging $80 and horses sold up to $125.

The Rev. C. C. Mitchell, rector of the Roslin Presbyterian Church, has received a call to the Bloomfield Church in Tilsonburg.

The Rev. Forbes Stillman of Cobourg occupied the pulpit at the services in the Tabernacle on Sunday. During his stay here he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stillman, Dundas Street east.

Mr. Arthur McCue, who is a valued member of the Board of Education, was elected a member of the executive committee of the Urban Trustees' Association at a meeting in Kingston recently.

40 YEARS AGO
MARCH 5, 1914.

Mr. Harry J. Clarke, B.A., public school inspector for Belleville and South Hastings, has been appointed by the Ontario Department of Education to be the literary examiner at the Ontario School for the Mar. this year. This is the seventh time Mr. Clarke has been entrusted with this important work.

Dr. George Clinton went to Toronto today.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McDonald of Campbellford are visiting friends here.

Mr. William Hazel went to Picton today.

Miss Emma Greene of Kingston is the guest of Mrs. J. G. Meagher, Octavia Street.

50 YEARS AGO
MARCH 5, 1904.

The city council has made the annual grant of $500 to the Pellevville Hospital.

This is the 47th time we have called attention to the fact that it is about time something was done about arranging for the proposed Old Boy's Re-Union while coming events and still there is nothing doing.

The Kingston Presbytery has accepted the resignation of the Rev. M. W. Maclean as a minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here owing to ill health. He has been minister of the church for many years.

This winter has been the largest and strongest backbone of any we have ever experienced.

Belleville Market Prices: butter 22 cents to 24 cents per pound; eggs 22 cents to 26 cents per dozen; chickens 70 cents to $1 per pair; ducks $1.30 per pair; potatoes 60 cents per bag.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The healthiest character I know horrified me yesterday, when we were having lunch. He ate a lemon, ter, by eating two bags dill pickles the size of bananas, by consuming the flesh of deer apple pie, which he then topped off with a milk-shake and a dried prune sandwich to which he shook both salt and pepper.

To my desperate protests he replied:

"This is what I feel like eating, at the moment. I happen to crave something wild and weird. All my life, I have obeyed the commands of my stomach. I think we would be a lot healthier if we cooperated with our insides, instead of treating them like a wayward child and giving them what we imagine is good for them. I am convinced that nature has some means of communicating to us what we need, by way of food. And those needs are expressed by appetite. When appetite goes a little hay-wire, and craves something goofy, like these things I'm eating now, it is my belief my system is calling, the best way it knows how, to get these particular things."

The great John Wesley published a medical book of household remedies around about 1760. Among its hundreds of items is one described as a cure for consumption, as T.B. was called in those days. "Go out into the meadows," directs, "at break of day, while the mists are still on the ground, and cut a turf, about a foot square, revealing the rich earth under it. Then lie down and place the face over the hole and inhale deeply the vapors and odors rising from the new-cut ground."

This, said Wesley, was a very sure cure for consumption. Some down from olden times in the country places.

It was a century and a half ahead of the discovery of penicillin and the other antibiotics made of cures from moulds and fungi. But if it worked, and it may have some sort of penicillin treatment were they getting their primitive babies? That weird craving inspired the first sufferer to try so strange a remedy as breathing in the healthful vapors from under a fresh-cut sod?

Maybe we ought to pay more attention to the formless cries of our insides.

Let Them Eat Bread

(Fort William Times-Journal)

Officers of the law seized a cake from the express car of a transcontinental train when it was stopped at Ottawa. It is described as a "large cake covered by rather thick icing with raspberry jam filling."

One of the officers cut open the cake and found what he expected to find. A cavity had been carved in the centre, which was then filled a bundle of 200 lottery tickets, en route to—well, maybe to Fort William.

That leaves a question which is open—will the consignor bread, or the consignee?

Plans Space Tour

(Edinburgh Scotsman).

Journey in stages.

Development in rocket propulsion, he believes, at last promises to turn the dream of interplanetary travel into reality.

Mr. Roy, lecturing to the Astronomical Society of Edinburgh a few days ago, said that three types of spaceship would be used:

(1) Earth-to-orbit, three-stage rockets, to convey fuel, materials and men to an orbit about the Earth.

(2) Orbit-to-orbit spaceships (true spaceships which would begin and end their lives in interplanetary space, being left in an orbit round a planet at each end of the journey).

(3) Landing craft, being another version of the first ship.

Mr. Roy described the plan of Dr. Wernher von Braun, the German rocket expert, as a contribution to the planet Mars — a plan using the three types of spaceship referred to.

The expedition would consist of 70 men, carried in 10 spaceships from a satellite orbit around the earth to a satellite orbit around Mars. The expedition would be prepared in the satellite orbit and then a fleet of 46 three-stage satellite vehicles. In 900 flights these rockets would lift spaceship parts and fuel, and carry men to join the orbit from which the Mars expedition would take off.

Three types of spacecraft were proposed to reach the Martian surface.

Seven of the original ten spaceships, with the whole personnel, would return to the earth's orbit.

The total duration of the expedition would be two years, 320 days; travelling time, earth to Mars, would be 259 days, and return time 260 days. The stay or the landing party would be about 400 days.

* * *

The amount of fuel required, considering processes at present possible, would be over 8,000,000 tons. This seemed a tremendous amount, but von Braun had declared: "The Earth's orbit contained one-tenth of this amount — in high octane gasoline — just because of a little misunderstanding between diplomats!"

In Mr. Roy's opinion, the development of astronautics is likely to go through the following stages:

First, unmanned, automatic rockets would be sent into stable orbits about the Earth; later one of these would be sent to the moon and nearer planets to record the results by television; then unmanned space-stations and eventually manned expeditions would go to, and to Mars.

"And it may be expected," he says, "that the first unmanned rockets will have taken place before the end of the century."

Atomic Plant Life Is Quiet

(Stratford Beacon—Herald)

What is it like to work in an atomic research plant? Probably many minds have conjured up in many ways the answer to this question. Some have pictured scientists, twirling knobs on fantastically complicated machines as they watched and nerve-wracked, for catastrophic explosions to shatter their peaceful and unemotional prospects, the plant, themselves and everything else.

Still more imaginative laymen, while conceding that the danger of explosion was present, might also draw attention to deadly rays and weaponry in addition as further threats to research workers' longevity. Like old soldiers, one can imagine them simply fading away, victims of ruinous radioactivity.

But an impressive correspondent to the true state of affairs? Dr. Lloyd V. Jungk, assistant director of the Atomic Energy Research Establishment at Harwell, England, has to say: "Some of you have read . . . a number of articles in the newspapers about the Atom Factory' by an author named Lloyd Jungk. Dr. Jungk writes. These articles are designed to give the impression that this leader of an establishment or factory is exceedingly dangerous. Actually he is one of the most charming and kindly men, with a nervous tension stimulated by an army of whole-hearted workers for the cause. . . . The facts of the matter are exactly opposite."

Dr. Jungk goes on to admit that there are a number of these inspections in the U.K. and elsewhere, but they are employed chiefly on radiation survey work, and generally to encourage good medical care and regular medical examination. These inspections are, he says, a special, well above average.

With regard to the matter of radiation, he says, but from falling down holes and getting splinters in the eyes and bruises, these are the main road outside the establishment.

The Edmonton Journal sums up the subject in this way: "Those who fear atomic energy exclusively to research workers. We are all subject to the risk of radiation. It seem that imaginative conceptions of work on an atom pile are largely the product of the author mentioned" Sir John, a pile of junk."

Wife Worth $5,000 A Year

(Canadian Doctor)

A husband in Canada is permitted a $1,000 exemption in income tax for the maintenance of a wife, which in a way would seem to fix the value of a wife at that amount.

But insurance men, who have access to extraordinary sources of information, place her value much higher. In a recent article in Liveliv. Sort of parlor trick but it is exciting demonstration.

Simple, too. The glass tone and the violin tone synchronized. Sympathetic vibrations.

Someone still is puzzled a bit by the tremendous potential power of a violin. Why does a violin string's vibration can break a glass what might happen if some colossal vibrating machine could be tuned in on the earth's tone? Just a thought.

Iron Curtain Kissing Rules

(Hamilton Spectator)

Orthodox members of the Hungarian Communist Party may in future only kiss a lady's hand if she is elderly, according to the Hungarian press agency Magyar Nepszabadsag.

Comrade Istvan Hiussang. The Communist handkiss, says the newspaper, is otherwise superfluous.

The new rule appears in the edict. Who is to decide when a lady has reached an age that entitles her to a handkiss? No man should be expected to trust his judgment in such an important matter. He might bow his head preparatory to planting the lips of a gracious smile, a ringing box on the ears, and, worst embarrassment of all, curious lack of gallantry, for, as it should know, there are no individual rules for ladies. The expression is an euphemism, a mere relative. Thus, in the case of the royal blood, handkissing may seem too much a privilege. The county boy, the lady's hand raised and gravely brushed with the lips and the gallant bow, the curtsey, are the leisured survivals of the Continental age. Those of this polite school of manners have sadly watched the passing of the old ways in recent years. In some Continental countries, the men that it is little more than a bob of the head, a perfunctory touch of the hand," without even touching it. This seems to be a form of cheating.

Until a few years ago, the Spanish Ambassador to Washington, Cardo, added the initials Q.B.S.M. ("Que besa su mano") to his signature in letters. This pleasant flattery, meaning "Who kisses your hand," has now been largely entirely replaced by a more workaday closing, meaning "Who estrecha su mano") meaning "Who shakes your hand." As we have said, it still exists, the great deal of difference between a kiss and a shake.

The Latin languages—particularly French—have the reputation of being the languages of diplomacy and flattery. With them went the graces, courtesies and arts of old cultures that spread across the Continent, and the courtesies of the age of chivalry dies with them. There are many who feel that the courtly social nuttiness of other days were superior to the often harsh manners of this modern age.

Earth-Shaking Suggestion

(Windsor Star)

Most people know that all music is based on vibrations.

A Detroit man has said recently in Detroit when a friend of ours broke a tune by striking glass by playing a certain note on his violin. Sort of parlor trick but it's an exciting demonstration.

Simple, too. The glass tone and the violin tone synchronized. Sympathetic vibrations.

Someone still is puzzled a bit by the tremendous potential power of a violin. Why does a violin string's vibration can break a glass what might happen if some colossal vibrating machine could be tuned in on the earth's tone? Just a thought.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. READY

HOW ARE YOUR JOINTS WORKING?

Chronic rheumatism is in one respect like the common cold: any fool knows what it is but it is hard to persuade a doctor to define it. There are considerable, respectable, people who might make this harangue sound scientific to any research. Dr. Ready, in the field this definition:

"Chronic rheumatism is a condition characterized by a chronic low-grade inflammatory process in the synovial membranes and fibrous tissues about the larger joints which results even in stiffness, soreness and disability . . . The cause is unknown."

Practice of Medicine, by Hobart A. Hare, M.D., B.Sc., 1905.

In the traditional view of medical authorities, Dr. Hare rounded out, embellished, not to say polished his treatise by adding fifty or sixty words to the simple admission that the nature of chronic rheumatism is unknown. In many cases, however, he published author opined, "it seems to be part of the general disease which occurs in other parts of the body due to old age." (Prof. Hare was still alive in 1915). "Exposure to cold and wet" (plain English: "catching cold") "as in the case of soldiers in trenches, and policemen, seems to hasten the onset of the disease. The malady is very common among old persons, but is rare in great crippling."

While Dr. Hare was writing this, in Paris Dr. Landouzy, another eminent medical authority, hundred miles away, was exercising his imagination. In the 1906 edition of The Principles and Practice of Medicine William Osler, M.D., of Oxford, gladly acknowledges that the cause of chronic rheumatism was "well known at John-Hopkins, but insisted told how it "comes on insidiously in persons who have passed the middle period of life" and in common among the poor, particularly washerwomen, day-laborers, and those whose occupation exposes them to cold and damp."

Probably gone of you old geezers in your thirties and forties will join me, but I get a good chuckle out of these quaint fancies of nineteenth century medicine. And a fat file of letters from arctic explorers, hunters, fishermen, soldiers, sailors, forest rangers and others who know what exposure to cold and wet means, assures me that the notion is ridiculous.

It is also desirable at these quaint ideas of Dr. Hare and Dr. Osler, my reverence for both of these eminent men is undiminished by the lapse of years. Even in the late 1920's I myself was taught by men from which physicians and patients would do well to pay more heed to the insidious onset of chronic rheumatism. And my understanding is as much today, both of these great doctors were getting warm, if I may be bold.

Right here, in order to make clear this matter of the definition of chronic rheumatism which we make bold to offer, is the newer knowledge: Chronic rheumatism is physical degeneration of joint or joints. This degeneration process is not "low-grade inflammation" although "low-grade inflammation" was probably the best term Hare, Osler and the nineteenth century authorities could devise to indicate physical degeneration.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

THE END-TRIUMPH

Two world travelers with whom I conversed last evening were talking about the degraded living conditions in certain parts of the world. I reflected upon the fact that this is nothing new. Think of what it was like when men lived in caves, hunted by savage monsters more ferocious than those we know about today. Think of the centuries during which men were enslaved and sometimes tens of thousands of people cruelly tortured to satisfy the egocentric degeneracy of some tyrant. Right now, although the earth is groaning with abundance, more people in the world are hungry than are fed. The 12,000,000 political prisoners of Soviet Russia are but the lingering into modern life of the barbarism that has always existed in East and West alike.

Sometimes we wonder what God had in mind when He made it all in the beginning, or what His purpose is in allowing it to continue. Yet there is purpose, for it is written in the Word, "For God Himself came down to the earth and suffered with us in our pain and misery, and we are told that He will some day lift humanity up in a chariot of triumph and love.

The unknown writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews put it perfectly when he said: "Now we see not yet all things put under Him. But we see Jesus. . . ."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

GOOD TALK

I was summing him up for a "touch" or some evil. He said he wanted to get my ideas. Evidently he had already talked to one another and were friendly, whether they had ever met before or not.

Many a long travel journey has been happily spent with a fellow with whom never-before-met person. One of the best friends that I have ever had was met on the way to Hawaii. Another one I met on a train in Switzerland, a delightful Englishman. Good talk is always good medicine.

The sparkling charm of Boswell's Johnson lies in the conversation and good talk that were shared all through the book. This daily brief column is just a bit of honest talk each day from one human being to thousands of others. Often I am tempted to stop writing—and quit. I think of those who may read the column, and I decide to keep another day. I get less lonely. I'm happier when I have someone to whom to talk!

Story of The Resurrection

By Fulton Oursler And April Oursler Armstrong

That Upper Room

"John the Beloved was beside her as she talked to them, in her sorrow . . ."

CHAPTER 2.

That night Mary, mother of Jesus, spent in the Cenacle, that upper room where Jesus and His disciples had partaken of the Last Supper, less than twenty-four hours before. That coenaculum, or dining room, was soon to become the recognized headquarters of the new faith.

From the earliest times its site on a Zion hill has been reverenced by Christians. Church after church has been raised on that spot, and a building is there now, with a large and authentic-seeming Upper Room, which no pious traveler to Jerusalem would fail to visit. The present structure is largely the result of restoration work done by the Franciscans in 1342. In 1551 it came into the hands of the Moslems, who turned it into a mosque, declaring that under the Upper Room lies the veritable tomb of David, psalmist and king. Only at certain hours could Christians ascend to the Cenacle when I was there in the 1930's, and then only by grudging permission of the Moslems.

Mary, the mother of Jesus, with her friends the other women of Galilee, for most of the night remained in the hall where the Last Supper had been served. John the Beloved was beside her as she talked to them, in her sorrow, of the boyhood of Jesus back in Nazareth when His foster father had his carpenter shop of now from a dead Man, if they had no belief in Him as one with supernatural power? What were they so excited about; what did they fear?

Or was it possible they half believed? Pilate could not guess the agony of agitation consuming Caiphas and his even more distinguished father-in-law, Annas. He did not know that in the last words of Jesus on the cross these two Jewish priests had recognized with horror the possible fulfillment of certain Scriptural prophecies, and that they were indeed terrified that by miracle or ruse the prophecy of resurrection might also be fulfilled.

That dread was cloaked in their unctuous voices as they spoke now, Annas and Caiphas to Pilate explaining that they were concerned, "lest perhaps His disciples come,' and steal Him away, and say to the people, 'He is risen from the dead'; and the last error shall be worse than the first."

With a shrug of weary shoulders, Pilate again gave the high priests and the Pharisees what they wanted: "You have a guard; go, guard it as you know."

A sign to a waiting lieutenant confirmed the orders. But the Pharisees, led by Caiphas, took no chances. They went with the company of Roman soldiers now assigned to the tomb. With their own hands they tried the stone, made sure that the sepulcher where Jesus lay was indeed sealed, its inert remains safe from kidnapping.

These high priests and Pharisees, the ceaseless enemies of Jesus, thereby made themselves the chief witnesses for Him in all the centuries to come. They made sure there could be no deception on that first holy Saturday, reckoned now as the eighth day of April, A.D. 30, which in the Jewish calendar would be the fifteenth day of Nisan. They made conspiracy and deception by friends of Jesus impossible. To guard the tomb of Christ they set up soldiers of the empire — not one of whom could be bribed, or dragged, or bewildered, because their lives depended on fulfilling their instructions. The priests and the scribes had sealed up the body of Jesus Christ against all possibility of being removed.

These same men had already unwittingly fulfilled the Scriptures when they engineered the crucifixion of our Lord. Now without suspecting it, they had made the perfect setting for the miracle of the Resurrection, the hope of the world.

Communist Press in Moscow Develops New Line on Canada

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP)—The Communist press, if an article in Izvestia is any criterion, is developing a new line on Canada.

Until now, the old theme recurring in articles every two or three months has had a shyster Canadian government linked with Canadian big business and selling Canada down the river to American monopolists.

The new approach has Canada defending her national interests against "the embezzlement of the country's wealth by the American monopolies and the strategic designs of the Pentagon."

Izvestia's writer, A. Miletkovsky, says the United States, under the guise of "continental strategy" has gripped Canada's economy.

The Soviet paper refers to the Alaska highway and U.S. defence bases in Canada. American influence in Canada's north and mentions the joint defence agreement of 1947 between Canada and the U.S.

Izvestia does not mention that the Alaska highway was a joint project and that most of Canada's "American bases" were inherited when Newfoundland joined the Dominion. It also does not mention the role of federal and provincial governments as watchdogs over Canada's resources.

The newspaper says the projected St. Lawrence seaway is another step in U.S. "continental strategy" threatening Canada's resources with increased exploitation. It does not mention Canada's extended efforts to get U.S. co-operation in the seaway project.

Izvestia makes much of alleged U.S. attempts to export an economic "crisis" to Canada and says Canada's trade position is "very vulnerable" to U.S. economic conditions. It speaks of Canada's "economic dependence" on the U.S. reducing her "to the position of a raw-material appendage."

"Wide public circles of Canada are becoming more and more convinced that the so-called continental strategy of the U.S.A. . . . serves as a smoke-screen concealing the embezzlement of the country's wealth by the American monopolits," Izvestia concludes.

ASK FAIR TREATMENT

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Joseph W. Martin told the White House News Photographers Association Wednesday that he will see its members are given fair treatment in the future by the capitol police force. The speaker heard a formal protest from the group's spokesman, Thomas J. Craven, that news photographers were "roughed up" by police while covering the Monday shooting affair in Congress.

We hope the new Kitchener TV station won't have the same worries they had in Sudbury. CKSO-TV in Sudbury was the first privately owned station in Canada to go on the air. When it opened, the current fell and their just cross their fingers and hoped. No one knew why it would and it would happen. The station was facing a problem no had faced before.

All around their transmitting tower were Sudbury's famous hills of copper and nickle. There was fear that these deposits would affect would affect the signal on the screen.

But Sudbury's mountains turned out to be a blessing in disguise. The copper-nickle ore deposits are located about fifteen miles away in North Bay, and at Parry Sound and Manitoulin Island.

The Sudbury station was on the air months before Canada's first TV programs were transmitted from Montreal. Eventually 16 private stations are preparing to broadcast. London is broadcasting, Hamilton is just about ready. The CBC is on the air in Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal and Vancouver.

With all the bigger and better things in the air, it's there are more reasons than ever, why you should own a television set that will give you all the advantages 1954 features. Perhaps here are some reasons why you should buy Hitchon and all the other TV jargon meaning poor reception. If you have any questions about TV do give us a shot and see us. ## Pupils Present Program For 250 Parents, Friends

Teachers and pupils of grades four, five and six at Prince of Wales School were in charge of the program at the March meeting of the Prince of Wales Home and School Association in the school auditorium on Tuesday evening with 250 persons present. Mrs. D. Watson, program convenor, directed the proceedings.

Mrs. Hodgins' pupils presented a play called "The Story of March 17th." Those taking part in the production were: Brian McBride, Rodney Begble, David Rose, Wayne Christopher, Bill Burley, Arthur Bartlett, Gerald Fraser Jocelin Vandervoort and Wilfred Hood. Director of the skit was Lynda Ovary. Claudie Durrant, Judith Oliver, Mary Reid, Rosemary Sabourin and Laurelie Simpson produced the sound effects.

As a second attraction, the pupils of Mrs. Gilmour's class presented a colourful exhibition of drill. These pupils performed in costumes made by themselves.

A second drill exercise was presented by the members of Miss Lois Bailey's class. Miss Bailey accompanied the students at the piano throughout the exercise.

Included in this cast were the following students: Mildred Belch, Marina Bongard, Lynne Brown, Sharon Burley, Marlene Clapp, Gary Davis, Sharon Dickens, Patsy Drake, Barton Durant Eugene Flunder, Gerald Jones, Joyce Ketchesen, Carl Luttrell, Alan Martin, Billy McConnel, Gary McKinnon, Michelle Miller, Robert Mosquan, Sharon Murray, Edith Rikley, John Rivett, Douglas Rose, Gloria Royle, Judy Royle, Frank Sharpe Laurie Simpson, Robert Smith, Lynda Sprcule, Gary Thompson, Robert Townsend, Marilyn Vandercoot, Judith Watson, Betty Ann Weagant, Elizabeth Weeks, Richard Wilson, Judith Yorke. The class also delivered a choral rendition of "My Wild Irish Rose" at the conclusion of the drill.

ANOTHER SKIT

Patricia Baker, Beverly Burch, Lois Conley, Jane Gray, Betty Miller and Charlene West, combined to sing "An Irish Lullaby."

Another skit presented by the students of Mrs. Burtt's class included in the cast the following: Stephen Thompson, Olav Foster, John Oliver, Barry Simpson. An impersonation of the late Al Jolson was given by Billy Stewart. Billy is a student of Mrs. Phillips' class.

The final skit of the evening was presented by the girls of Mrs. Phillips' class. The play was entitled "Bridget Takes a Job," and included in the cast were, Sandra Adams, Gail Easton, Patricia Galpin, Beatrice Haggerty, Sandra Royle, Constance Spencer and Joanna Twining. Nadine Flunder directed the play and she was assisted by Marilyn Watson.

The guests and parents present were welcomed by Mrs. J. Sproule and Mrs. A. Dickens expressed the association's appreciation to the teachers and pupils for the program.

Quinte Field Naturalists Hear Talk on Fly Control

The monthly meeting of the Quinte Field Naturalists was held at the Queen Elizabeth School Monday evening, with the president, Miss Lillian Hart, presiding.

The secretary read an invitation from the Peterborough Nature Club to join with them for a nature hike at Crowe Lake, on Saturday, May 8th.

They were reminded that the last lecture of the Audubon series, "Canada West", by Bert Harwell, would be on March 29th.

The president introduced Mr. H. G. James of the Dominion Parasite Laboratory who spoke of his experiments in the Churchill, Manitoba area, while experimenting on biting-fly control.

Mr. James flew to Churchill in May, 1949, to work under the auspices of the Defence Research Board. By means of slides he showed Churchill and the surrounding area—where the tree line ended and tundra began and open wind-laned which lies only a few feet above sea level.

In spring pools form many breeding places for biting flies, mosquitoes, black flies, horse flies and tiny sand flies, or "no see ums" as the Indians call them.

BUSY CENTRE

Churchill is a busy centre for experimental work for both Canadian and U.S. army personnel. Pictures showed the research laboratories, the Hudson Bay Company store, homes of army men and other buildings. The townsite is on the east side of the Churchill river—the most important buildings being the railroad station and the grain elevator, from which, in one year $40,000,000 worth of grain was loaded into ships for Europe.

He showed a Cree encampment by the river. The Indians work on the railroad, the roads and at fishing.

A white whale was seen sporting in the bay. There are many of there when the tide comes in. Harbor, or bearded seals are very common and are shot by Indians. There are many husky dogs but these must be kept tied up in the summer, by order of the police.

MOOSE SEEN.

South of Churchill moose and caribou can be seen as well as porcupine, ptarmigan and lemmings.

Some Alpine flowers and Lapland rhododendrons were very pretty.

Graves in cemeteries are shallow due to frost and are protected by picket fences. One picture showed the corner posts topped by cannon balls from old Fort Churchill.

Pictures of the remains of Fort Prince of Wales, built in 1727, were very interesting.

BITING-FLY CONTROL

Most of the experimental work on biting-fly control was done along the Hudson Bay railroad. Effects of climatic factors on mosquito and black fly development were studied. Mechanical fly traps were set up for catching insects.

Caribou, or horse flies were common throughout the whole district, but samples were hard to obtain as the flies are unbelittle.

One slide showed a milestone 498 miles north of La Pas. Rocks in a shallow river bed were teaming with black fly larva.

Malo mosquitoes fly in thick clouds at night. These flies were also being studied.

Mosquitoes breed in three types of area—tundra, open woods and forest pools.

Enemies of mosquitoes are are —the phantom larva which seizes and devours mosquito larvae; a worm which destroys 12 per cent of certain type of mosquito; a fish called the ninespine stickleback eats a large quantity of larvae; a water bug which pierces the larva and eats the contents and the water-tiger beetle which is a very important enemy.

Miss Hart thanked the speaker.

Mr. James is to speak in Atlantic City on biting-fly control on March 8th.

Q.A.H.S Assoc. Hears Talk On Dental Care

The Queen Alexandra Home and School Association had as its guest speaker at its regular meeting on March 2, Dr. John Clarke, who is in charge of the dental care of the public schools of Belleville. In his address he said:

The plan for dental care, approved by the Ontario Department of Health, includes education on dental care rather than prevention. The kindergarten and school children are being interviewed and told the principles of preventing tooth decay, the most prevalent disease in the world.

"Diet, exercise and plenty of rest are necessary in the building of good teeth.

"Sugar is most detrimental to teeth and should be kept to a minimum in the diet. Sugar forms an acid which within 20 minutes of entering the mouth attacks the tooth enamel. It is essential to brush the teeth immediately after meals and before going to bed. Fresh fruits and vegetables should be eaten instead of cookies, candy, cake, gum and soft drinks.

"Fluorine in the water, and fluorine treatments help prevent tooth decay by helping to harden the enamel and making it less subject to attack. Treatment must be given before the child is eight years old to have any effect."

Mr. Ed. Buchanan thanked the speaker on behalf of the Association.

The shield for the most parents in attendance was won by Mr. Nichols' room.

An invitation was received from the Madoc Home and School Association to attend its meeting on April 7, when they will hate as speaker, Dr. S. R. Laycock, retired dean of the faculty of education of the University of Saskatchewan.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the mothers of Mr. Nichols' and Miss Thompson's rooms.

Cubs, Fathers, Hear Red Doran At Banquet

The first father and son banquet of the 10th Belleville Cub Pack was held Saturday evening, Feb. 27, at Holloway Street United Church.

Dinner was prepared and served by the ladies mothers auxiliary with the president, Mrs. Harold Outridyke in charge. The tables were decorated in the pack colors of red and yellow.

A sing song was led by Akela Townsend of the 5th Belleville Pack. Cub commissioner, Mr. A. S. Lewis, spoke briefly and complimented the Cubs on their excellent showing. He also presented first stars to Cubs Larry Outridyke, Teddy Butcher, Garry Thibault and Nelson Kinrade.

L. Townsend, president of Energetic club, the sponsoring group made a few appropriate remarks on behalf of the Energetic Club.

Jim Pearce and Donald Akela Townsend of the 5th Belleville pack and Rover Roger Wilkins for their assistance in Akela Legora in getting the 10th Belleville Cub Pack organized.

"RED" DORAN, SPEAKER

Mr. Harold Outridyke, chairman of the evening, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. "Red" Doran, who spoken on "Confidence or Self Assurance", Mr. Doran pointed out that each boy is different and when he finds out his weak points he should practice to overcome them. If he is unable to do this, the best person he could turn to for help is his own father.

No one is born with ability. Each person is born only with capacity to learn and what you learn depends entirely upon yourself. Some boys are always making mistakes never learning from the mistakes which they have made, the speaker said.

If you find that you have a handicap face it and try to overcome it. Genius is largely a matter of how much you want a thing and how long and hard you will work to get it.

Senior Sixer Harry Hilchor thanked Mr. Doran on behalf of the Cubs and Mr. Art Poste expressed his thanks on behalf of the fathers.

Mr. Harry Thibault moved a vote of thanks to the Cub mothers' auxiliary.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WHY BE A GOOD DANCER NOT ASKED TO DANCE?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Why is it that at dances, some girls are asked to dance by boys and others aren't?

Could you please tell me how I can be asked also? I am not bragging, but they say I am a very good dancer. —Kay

Dear Kay:

Yours is a question that, in one form or another, has been asked by members of the female sex since the beginning of time. For what it really means is: Why are some girls attractive to men while others aren't? What is set appeal, and why do some girls have it while others don't? And those are questions that are very difficult, if not impossible, to answer.

There's one cheerful thing about this subject, however, and that is that all of us can make ourselves more interesting and attractive to others than we are if we want to take the trouble. It's a combination of a lot of things, such as making the most of ourselves in appearance, in manners, in personality, in disposition and in genuine interest in other people, so that they find us pleasant to be with. Many a homely girl has great charm simply because she's a good sport, has a lot of healthy interests so that she can talk about and do with all normal teen-agers enjoy, is always good-natured, doesn't get hurt feelings and has a happy sense of humor.

Check yourself up on all these things, and see if you can't improve your standing in some of them so that you'll be more popular. The fact that you're a good dancer is a fine start.

IF HE WANTS REFORMING, LET HIM ALONE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I used to like a boy, but then I found out he did not have a good reputation. I think he likes me, and he keeps asking me to go to the movies with him but I'm afraid to.

Do you think I should try to make him good? Or should I tell him I don't want anything to do with him? — L.B.

Dear L.B.:

Trying to make anybody else good is not only foolish but generally quite unfair. Robert Louis Stevenson once said, "There is just one person I have to make good—myself." And I think you would be right to follow that precept. If you keep your mind on making yourself good, you will not be likely to run into any trouble. Also, any influence that you are going to have on anybody else will be through the way you act and not through anything you have to say.

If I were you, however, I would keep away from any boy you feel needs reforming.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DECLINING A DRINK

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

At a meeting of our Sewing Group the other day, we were all discussing your recent column about the gracious ways for a teetotaler to "decline" an alcoholic drink at a party. We all approved of the polite ways to decline a drink you suggested, for we had all had experience with the non-drinker who, as one said, seemed so self-righteous, so "ostentatiously" disapproving of the host's idea of hospitality. But in your column of that day your advice had to do with drinks being served not at table; that is, at cocktail parties and such. One of our Group added, "And it makes me furious too when a guest turns down a wine glass at the table, also 'orientally' registering disapproval. There are nicer ways to decline a drink of wine." Is she right about this? If so, what is the "nicer" way to show you don't wish any wine? — Isabelle M.

Yes, your friend is right, that the wine glass should not be turned down, and exactly for the reason she gave. The most courteous way to decline wine at table is to make a negative gesture toward the glass, when the wine is about to be poured. This can be a gracious gesture. . . never need be "ostentatious." Thanks for your Group for telling me of your and their approval of my suggestions.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please let me know is it right or wrong to send out engraved (or printed) announcements of an engagement? —Phyllis

It is wrong.

TO TILT OR NOT TO TILT THE SOUP PLATE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

"A" says that it is absolutely incorrect to tilt one's soup plate to get a last mouthful of soup in the soup spoon. "B" says this is an old-fashioned idea, no longer necessary to observe. Who's right?

A and B

B is right. Most of the rules that had to do with "saving" food are not observed today. . . and this certainly makes sense. (The only part of this rule about tilting the soup plate is that it should be tilted away from the edge of the table, not toward the edge.)

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

May I have your instructions for party sandwiches such as chicken-cut, ribbon etc., also open-face sandwiches. — Mrs. Stanley W.

ANSWER:

I have mailed you the recipes on cream and one with raisin-bow sandwiches.

CHECKERBOARD SANDWICHES

1. Trim crusts from thinly sliced white and whole wheat bread (or use unsliced bread and slice it thin lengthwise). Put four square slices together, alternating white and whole wheat having spread them with (2) Tartar butter—Mix 1-2 cup butter with 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley and a dash of red pepper. Wrap the 4-slice square in wax paper then in slightly damp cloth and refrigerate until cold. Now slice in 1-4 inch slices and spread sides of slices with the same spread. Put 4 slices together again, alternating white edges and whole wheat edges. (3) Wrap in wax paper, damp cloth, and refrigerate again. Chill well. Slice in 1-4 inch slices. Serve with tea or an assorted sandwich plate.

QUESTION:

I am a faithful reader and as my husband is a cook, we both enjoy reading your recipes and discussing them—my problem really isn't in the cooking line but still I thought you might help me. Do you know any good methods for bleaching the letters out of those "Gold Seal" bags? I can never get them to suit me. I washed several very red ones and boiled them with both Javex and detergent in the water and although the rest of the color was white the letters didn't came out to suit me. — Mrs. Helen S.

ANSWER:

Because the contents of sugar and flour bags are edible the Food and Drug Act sometimes that can "strip" the dye out of the bags and sometimes it is so fast it never comes out. When a garment is to be re-dyed another color they use ultrams chloride, but this is imported from New York and is expensive. Keep on washing and boiling the bags, but don't use too much bleach or you will weaken the cloth.

QUESTION:

My problem I think is unusual. A friend of ours had a prize sheep killed by dogs, and although the animal was badly mauled, the front quarters were untouched. As it is a large animal, the carcass was frozen solid it was easy to see the damaged area. So our friend dragged the carcass to the garage and with saw used for cutting wood, cut off the front quarter. He brought the meat to us, skin and all, to freeze. We have skinned and butchered it into chops and roasts, but they are 2-4 fat and very large portions. I have cooked the pieces slowly and rendered out the fat and the meat has been of an exceptionally sweet, tender quality—I have it in 10 cans of fat varying from 8 to 15 oz. and don't know what I can use it for. It doesn't make good gravy—I have already scooped, stirred, washed and cleaned, beaten and oiled the skin and expect to make a pair or two pocket-out the fat and the meat has been of an exceptionally sweet, tender quality—I have it in 10 cans of fat varying from 8 to 15 oz. and don't know what I can use it for. It doesn't make good gravy—I have already scooped, stirred, washed and cleaned, beaten and oiled the skin and expect to make a pair or two pocket-books, but they are a bit leather soles. Let me inform anyone who doesn't know this that it is a messy, smelly, tedious job and not worth the effort. I've tried in vain to process it for a chamois to wash the car, which is much prettier than trying to retain the wool on the skin.—I have one many of your recipes. —Irene L.

ANSWER:

Your description was so graphic I could just see you struggling with that sheepskin. Make soap, my friend. I have sent you a very detailed recipe.

QUESTION:

Would you spare me a moment to tell me what happened to this recipe—I have had off for shortening and rather than experiment leaving it out I risked adding 1-2 cup margarine. The finished product held together but the cookies had a bit his fell.—Virginia.

ANSWER:

The recipe is fine—it was the additional margarine that made the cookies sink. But do beat the eggs longer than two minutes—more like four. This is much like a sponge cake. The nuts in it do make it a delicate party cookie as you say.

Canadian Textile Firms Pin Hopes on Style Show

By CHRISTINE SIROIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian textile producers, beset by rugged competition from foreign producers, are pinning their hopes on Montreal's Canadian fashion festival to boost lagging demand for their products.

Fifty leading textile and fashion firms are taking part in the festival organized by the Canadian Textile Association in this fashion-conscious city.

The six-day festival was officially opened Tuesday night by Mayor Camillien Houde.

Organizers say they hope 100,000 persons will view the displays.

Most impressive items so far has been the excellence of Canadian designs in swim suits, rain-coats and children's clothing.

For April showers coats with raglan sleeves are back in vogue, whether they be in rayon, leather-ette or cotton.

NYLON RAINCOAT

Star attraction in the first of the seven fashion parades put on in connection with the festival was a raincoat created from grey nylon. Straight cut in distinctive material, it achieves flair with collar and buttons fashioned from black leather.

For swimming, blue and rose are the choice colors. One suit in royal blue with a long scalloped torso fringed with pearls, aroused great interest. Others relied for pleats, depending for impact on the brilliant colors of the fabrics in which they are fashioned.

In tailoring Canadian designers favour straight-cut jackets and narrow skirts. One of the country's top designers, Gervaud David Nasler, is showing a two-piece worsted suit in golden yellow, its simplicity relieved by a half-belt across the rear of the coat and luxuriously large cuffs.

Also seen: a severely-cut costume in strawberry hue and a grey flannel creation with collar and plunging pockets in grey off-shade.

In children's wear nylon is immensely popular, although denim is largely used for boys' clothing.

COTTON HOLDING OWN

The new symbolic materials really come into their own in milady's lingerie. One expert, however, C. Field, chief textile manager of one of the country's leading lingerie firms, says cotton is holding its own especially in underwear for use with synthetic clothes.

Nylon gloves, made in clear fabric or in opaque grades, also are on view.

In this festival even the fashion-conscious man is taken care of. He has two stalls of his own, one exclusively for shoes.

The well-dressed man this Easter will be stepping out in black or brown shoes. "Black colors blend better with the light shades of spring clothing," one fashion expert said.

Of course if it's color he wants, there's a sea-blue suede trimmed in lizard skin of the same shade.

EXCESSIVE PERSPIRATION

Excessive perspiration is not just a summer problem; it may continue into one any time of the year, and sweater girls are especially subject to it. Many a job has been lost because of it, and the victim can become a social outcast since odor wants to be near her.

You would think that if the human nose is functioning, the sufferer from excessive perspiration would be aware of her plight. Maybe she is and doesn't know what to do about it. Maybe she isn't on daily terms with the tub or shower, as she should be. At every one follows a hush-hush policy on the subject, even a member of the family hesitates to mention it. That's wrong. It is a mother's duty to urge her daughter to daintiness and attractive. The possibility of hurt feelings should not make a mother hesitate.

As the chemicals produced by the sweat glands cling to the skin, it is imperative that the daily bath be something more than a jump in the tub, a casual laving with the washcloth and a leap out again. It is imperative that soap be used freely and the flesh frictioned. That calls for a brush with firm bristles.

A deodorant should be used in the armpits, but not immediately after the bath when the flesh is inclined to be moist. These preparations come in various forms—liquids, creams, powders and sticks. If one does not correct the condition another one will. Needless to say, underwear should be changed frequently, fresh hosiery put on every day. A hot powder should be sprinkled in the shoes.

Extreme nervousness is a common cause of excessive perspiration in which event these measures are necessary: a well-balanced diet, longer hours of sleep, more exercise and outdoor life—and a serious effort to overcome anxiety and worry.

Technicians of Post Office Working on Electronic Sorter

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's post office Department is entering the electronics field to keep up with the growing use of the mails and to take a big load off memory-burdened sorters.

Technicians are working on an electronic sorter which will be capable of handling the work of between 200 and 500 men and doing it faster than anywhere else in the world.

The first actual test of the device is expected to start in about nine months. By 1957, it is hoped that electronic machines will be installed and operating in three or four of Canada's largest cities.

STARTED TWO YEARS AGO

Research started about two years ago after Walter J. Turnbull, deputy postmaster-general, was in Europe and looked over sorting equipment that speeded the routing of incoming and outgoing mail. He then put it up to experts to build a machine that would go even further.

Mr. Turnbull said that with the volume of the mail growing approximately six per cent a year, a breakdown is approaching in the capacity of sorters to memorize the names and locations of all of Canada's post offices, the routes to get to them, and the names of the smaller communities serviced by them.

"The electronic brain shows promise of solving the memory problem," he said.

The device is capable of storing as many as 13,000 names and their proper routing on a drum that functions somewhat like the cylinder in a dictating machine. It can handle between 30 and 40 letters a second as compared with manual sorting which requires at least two successive operations at the approximate speed of 30 letters a minute.

STAFF OF EXPERTS

Dr. Maurice Levy, 48, a South African who came to Canada three years ago, and a staff of eight experts have set up a working model of the machine in the post office laboratory.

Before the letters are fed into the machine, operators change written or typed letter addresses into a code of dots on an electronic keyboard. The code is stamped on the back of the envelopes.

Batches of letters are then fed into the "letter demand feeder" of the machine which kicks the letters off separately on a conveyor belt to the electronic "reader."

The "reader" halts the letter and "feathers" the code it has picked up from the back of the envelope and questions the electronic device on its routing. The answer is given in 1-36th of a second. The letter then continues and on the advice of a brain drops through an automatically opened gate into the correct slot for delivery.

SPEEDY JOB

For example, a letter going from Ottawa to Toronto will travel through the electronic machine and will drop into the Toronto box. At Toronto, another electronic machine will sort the letters to the box corresponding to the letter carrier's route.

If a letter is going from Ottawa to a small village in Quebec, for example, the brain would select the proper routing, sending it to the nearest town. The town would send it on to the village.

Eventually, major cities in Canada will have two machines, one to handle city mail and the other for outgoing mail.

Post office officials say the electronic machine will not put any workers out of jobs, although as their jobs become vacant through retirement they probably will not be re-filled.

Oliver May Seek To Head Liberals

WELLAND (CP)—Farquhar Oliver, opposition leader in the Ontario legislature, said Thursday night he has been persuaded "in the party interest" to seek the provincial leadership of the party in Toronto in April.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Welland Riding Liberal Association, he said he hopes that for the sake of the party the leadership contest will be a keen one.

Elevators Handled Record Flow of Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—More grain than ever before poured into western Canadian elevators during the 1953-54 marketing season.

Revised statistics put the total of primary western deliveries at 844,400,000 bushels to establish the season as the greatest in Canadian grain history.

A special bulletin issued by E. E. Baxter, board of grain commissioners chief statistician, added about 39,000,000 bushels to previously published figures.

Individual peaks were set for wheat at 325,900,000 bushels and barley at 154,800,000 compared to the previous high of 432,300,000 for wheat and 130,300,000 for barley, both set in 1951-52.

Cabinet Pay Inceases To Be Effective April

OTTAWA (CP) — Increases of $5,000 for the cabinet and $10,000 for the prime minister are law but they won't be paid until April 1.

A bill to increase cabinet salaries to $15,000 from $10,000 and the prime minister's salary to $25,000 from $15,000 was given royal assent Thursday by the Senate by Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret, deputy governor-general.

The increase, plus previously-approved boosts in pay for members of the Commons and Senate, gives the prime minister a total of $37,000 a year and his cabinet ministers $27,000 a year each.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

HOT ONE EH!

Just as was expected this senior "B" semi-finals series is starting off like Rome burning, and nobody is standing around fiddling. The Kingston Goodyears and Oshawa Truckmen are neck-deep in the throes of their series with the Peterborough Petes and Orillia Pontiacs also showing signs of bitter rivalry and topflight puck-chasing.

The Goodyears astounded the circuit with that sensational 5-0 shutout of the Truckmen in Bowmanville in the opener, and just to show the tussle was no flash in the pan battled the desperate Oshawans to an overtime session before bowing 4-3 in the time-and-a-half debate.

The Petes edged the flashy Pontiacs three-one in the Limestone City to start their series quite auspiciously but tonight is another night in Orillia. The Pontiacs are tough —very tough—nuts to crack on the Lake Couchiching ice and you can bet grandpappy's store molars the Griggsters will go all out this evenide in an effort to square the set-up. The third game is scheduled for Peterborough tomorrow night.

Meanwhile we have been informed that the Oshawa Truckmen will play their third game, — and their second home fixture in Kingston tomorrow night. Walt Gerow, Memorial Arena manager has announced that the Truck-men have secured the Belleville ice for their third home game next Friday night. Seems as how the Truckies believe they can get a better financial deal here after a game in Belleville will draw a lot of Kingston fans who otherwise would not make the trip to Bowmanville.

With the series a best-of-five one now neither camp in the Kingston-Oshawa show is selling the other short. Both managers and coaches claim to be delighted with the opposition—can rise and are not letting complacency enter the ranks. The Oshawans remember too well what happened last year when to all appearances they had the series in the well-known refrigerator with a game each of three to one. They were rocked back on their heels when a desperate driving Kingston team threw everything they had in an outstanding effort, won the next two tilts to tie the series and went on to win group honors. Not only that they eliminated the Toronto Lyndhurst's, now representing Canada in the "world series" in Stockholm, by a convincing 6-3 margin and thus took the Woodstock team in their stride to cop the provincial crown.

Yup, the Truckmen haven't forgotten these trivial matters and Coach Ernie Dickens realizes too well the potentials of the Kingston club.

Nor are Goodies selling their starry opponents short. Theo Oshawany a potent punch when aroused and as Michael J. Redden opines, "The Oshawans have and can be doughty opponents when performing on foreign ice." They showed that in the second game of the series, and as this department mentioned before we would pot bet 5 plugged nickel on either series on a game-to-game basis.

THIS FROM PETERBOROUGH

"Not todo much action here yet in re-organizing for a senior baseball club, but we expect Peterborough will be represented at a COBL meeting this week-end in Belleville. At two in Queen's Hotel. It is to place entries for the Central League, and loop' moguls hope to rwand out the circuit with Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa and the Petes. Smiths Falls, Watertown and Ogdensburg have all expressed interest in this senior diamond circuit, but we feel that a compact central loop would do better. However, the Petes must enter to make this possible. Some chaps have been talking it up here, and we look for early action. It's a real break having Oshawa back from the Inter-county League, as the Merchants will be strong, though not the minor pro club of 1953.

SHOULD BE GOOD

Note here says the laddybucks of the Industrial Fiance corporation have accepted a challenge from their Kingston counterparts to a hockey battle over the week-end. Liniment, bandages and crutches will be supplied by the home team, and all fountain pens, cheque books will be collected at the box office. Anyone trying to wrangle a loan during the game will be given a match penalty, and deprived of the water-cooler privileges for a month. It should be a rousing battle, since, we are informed, none of the lads has been on skates for five years &or more.

Morrison Ends Lengthy Famine In Three-All Tie With Wings; Bruins, Habs Battle to Draw

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs scored in Detroit Thursday night. It was an event.

Defenceman Jim Morrison, who has scored only seven goals all season, ended one of the Leafs' longest goal famines when he scored against Detroit Red Wings in a game that ended in a 3-3 National Hockey League tie.

The Leafs moved into sole possession of second place in the league standings but that wasn't the feature. When Morrison beat goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk at 18:30 of the first period, it was Toronto's first goal in six games in Detroit this season and the shutout streak, which dated back to last season, had run 323 minutes, 31 seconds.

Not since Tod Sloan beat the Red Wings in the final Leaf-Detroit game of the 1952-53 season had Toronto scored at Olympia.

In Thursday night's only other game, Montreal Canadiens and and Boston Bruins battled to a 1-1 deadlock.

The deadlock left the Leafs one point ahead of Canadiens in the run for the second playoff berth.

Sid Smith and Fleming Mackenzie scored the other Leaf goals. Gordie Howe, the league's leading scorer, tallied his 28th of the season when he beat Toronto goalie Harry Gi Sawchuk. Metro Shov and Ted Lindsay scored the others.

LINDSAY LOSES TOUCH

It was Lindsay's goal with less than five minutes left in the game that gave the Red Wings the tie.

Bruins jumped into fourth place in the last played ahead of New York Rangers with their deadlock in Boston. The Rangers were idle and trail the Bruins by one point with eight games to go.

Woody Dumart put the Bruins ahead in the 4th minute of the second period when he slammed a 15-foot backhander through the open side of the Montreal net. However, Canadiens tied it up later in the period on defenceman Tom Johnson's hard slap shot deflected off a Bruin player past goaltender Sugar Jim Henry. Jean Beliveau and Ken Mosdell got assists.

One game is scheduled for tonight. The Rangers get another crack at the head of the Bruins when they meet the last place Black Hawks in Chicago.

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Charlie Conacher scored four of Toronto's 10 goals against Montreal Canadiens in a Leaf victory at Montreal 19 years ago tonight. Charlie finished as scoring champion of the 1934-35 season with 36 goals, 21 assists for 57 points. Syd Howe, who played some games with St. Louis Eagles this season, with Detroit, was second with 47 points.

Junior Moguls Announce Loop Playoff Plans

TORONTO (CP)—Playoff plans were discussed Thursday at a meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A council.

It was announced that the teams finishing in first place will meet the fourth-place team in a best-of-seven semi-final. Two other series, both best-of-five sets, will be played as quarter-finals.

The second-place team will meet the fifth-place team in one quarter-final while the third-placers will play the sixth-place team in the other one. Winner of each quarter-final will clash in a best-of-five semi-final.

The OHA final will be a best-of-seven series.

Neutral goal judges and linesmen will be appointed for all playoff games. Goal judges will be paid $7.50 and linesmen will receive $10 a game. Referees will get $30 a game and mileage.

OHA business manager Bill Hanley was told to advise the defunct Oshawa General to submit "immediately" a list of their 25 protected players. The General were allowed the list when their arena was destroyed by fire last year.

Th teams may not to tamper with Oshawa's list of 25 selected players but some of them are starting plans for next season and said they want to know where they stand.

GOALIE RETURN

Toronto Marlboro manager Stafford Smythe asked the meeting if Barrie would agree to what he would return to Weston Dukes. Marlboro Junior A farm team for regular netminder Jack Spencer returns to the Flyers.

Spencer was injured and the Flyers obtained Hardy from the Marlboros.

Before this season an injured player who was replaced was not allowed to return to the line-up until the following season. A new rule, this year allows a player to rejoin his team if he recovers from injuries.

Smythe said he wasn't aware such a rule existed and said he wouldn't have allowed Hardy to go to Barrie if he had known Spencer would be allowed to return to the team.

Dutchies Take 2-1 Lead In Series With 4-0 Defeat of Hamilton Tigers

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen advanced into a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five Ontario Hockey Association Senior A quarter-finals with Hamilton by downing the Tigers 4-0 Thursday night.

Fourth game will be played in Hamilton tonight.

Dutchmen got a lucky goal to take a 1-0 edge in the first period during which they held a wide edge on play. Bost Hurley played sensational goal of the opening tally, but miscued on the opening tally.

It was credited to Don Rope who shot the puck in from left wing. Hurley tobbled it and when the Tigers rushed to clear several of them knocked it into the goal.

Dutchmen punched home their last three goals in the second period when Ken Laufman, Don Bauer and Doug Verity scored in that order.

Bill Harrington stopped 11 Tiger shots in this period but coasted home to his shutout win when he handled only five in the final period, for a total of 22.

Dutchies fired 44 shots at Hurley, minutes.

Galt Cl Beaten But Wins Round

GALT (CP) — Galt collegiate were shaded 61-60 by Kitchener-Waterloo Collegiate Thursday but had enough points to win the Western Ontario Secondary Schools Association district basketball league championship.

Galt defeated Kitchener 50-41 in the first game and took the two-game, total-points series 110-102. They are in advance into a sudden-death semi-final against Owen Sound and the winner will meet Windsor in the final for the WOSSA championship.

Swedish Newspapers Blast Canadians' 'Rough' Tactics; Battle Strong Czechs Today

STOCKHOLM (CP)—The atmosphere on the ice was friendly but at the rinkside blue sparks were flying as Canada prepared for a pivital game with Czechoslovakia today in the world hockey tournament.

Germany and Finland, both eliminated from contention in the eight-team round-robin championships, were slated to clash in a curtain-raiser and Russia and Sweden were scheduled to meet in another knockout battle tonight.

Canada and Russia are unbeaten in their five starts to date. The Czechs and Swedes, with identical 4-1 scores, both need victories to stay in the race. All four have one game remaining after today with Canada and Czech and Moscow Dynamos expected to decide the championship in their closing-day meeting on Sunday.

The Canadians overwhelmed Finland 20-1 Thursday in one of the cleanest-played games of the tournament. Only two penalties were called, one to each side.

"NOT WELCOMED"

But of the ice it was a different story. Incensed by new attacks on his team in the Swedish press charging rough play, East York manager Don Preston said that Canada should not send any more future world tournaments in Europe because "we are not welcome here."

Newspaper criticism, which had died down after the Canadians' impressive 8-0 victory over Sweden's defending champions Monday, was fanned by an injury to German centre Marcus Egen, who had five teeth smashed as his team boweed to East York 8-1 Wednesday.

Despite Egen's statement that the Canadians were not responsible for his injury, Dagens-Nyheter Sweden's biggest newspaper called the incident the Canadians' "worst crime, which has increased their deep-seated unpopularity here."

Morgon - Tidningen commented that the Canadians could take lessons from the Russians in sportsmanship.

TWO NOW OUT

Preston, a former East York player, said his club has suffered more injuries since coming to Europe than in an entire season at home.

Two East York defencemen currently are out with injuries. Harold Fitzkarl is through for the series with a torn knee ligament and Doug Chapman suffered a broken jaw in a collision with a Swedish defencemant Chapman may return wearing a protective mask, for the game against Russia.

Thursday the Finns scored on goalie Don Lockhart early in the second frame, marking the third time in five games that a goalie has eluded the East York netminder.

Alberta's Curling Champions Game From Canadian Crown; Meet Ontario In Finals Today

By JACK KIEFER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Matt Baldwin's machine-like Alberta champions will try themselves today and only one game away from giving Alberta its fifth Canadian curling championship.

Only the mathematical possibility of a tie with Saskatchewan prevented officials from declaring the powerful Baldwin crew the winners.

The 32-year-old Baldwin, young but sharp competing in the 16-game round-robin, has played nine games and won eight of them.

Saskatchewan, made up of the Campbell brothers from Avonlea, skipped by Gerald (Mac) Campbell has played eight games and won six.

They were scheduled to meet Ontario next Saturday at 9.30 a.m. if Alberta could force a sudden-death playoff.

If Alberta loses the title today it will be the 20th time the honors have gone west. The 1953 championship was won by Ab Gowan-Lock of Dauphin.

Alberta was tripped up Thursday in the eighth round by Ontario, led by Gushue Tarlton of Fenelon, a 31-year-old white-haired master of the draw.

Had Alberta won, it would have been all over. But Tarlton, playing just as coolly under pressure as the Baldwin crew, notched them at almost every turn to win 8-6.

In the ninth, round Thursday night, Baldwin got back on the winning root, thumping the W. H. Tracy rink from Nova Scotia 14-3. Baldwin didn't play his last rock. He slid out over the ice for a big 4-ender to put the game away.

Saskatchewan went after Newfoundland's R. J. Kent tonsome from St. John's, entering 10-8. It was Newfoundland's eighth loss in as many starts.

E. T. McNally of Moncton, N.B., led his rink to a 13-9 victory over Manitoba's Jimmy Carruthers. Ontario had scored one on the 11th end to trail 10-4. With last rock coming home, McCully took out a Tarlton counter and scored two.

It was McCully's fifth victory in eight games and Tarlton's third loss in nine starts.

Reg Piercy of Halifax, trailing 11-10 against E. Hung Carlstein of Vancouver on the last end, scooled in for a three with a shot rock. Carlstein was stopped on more than 5,000 fans at the Edmonton Granite Club.

It was Nova Scotia's fifth victory in eight games and Carlstein's sixth fourth loss against four victories.

Training Camp Notes

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Center (Minnie) Minoso, last remaining unsigned Chicago White Sox player, came to terms Thursday.

It's reported Minoso received a sizable increase, probably more than from $25,000 and $30,000 on his new contract.

Minoso, 30, hit .313 for the White Sox last season. He slammed 15 home runs and led the American League in stolen bases with 25.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Big Jim Hughes and rookie Ed Roebuck each pitched three scoreless innings as the Brunnet beat the Pitters 3-0 in a five-inning tilt in the wind-swept Brooklyn Dodger camp Thursday.

Doubles by George Shuba and Pee Wee Reese, outfielder Fred Kipp, both featured the two-run rally at the 5th expense of Jerry Beuscher, journeyball righthander. Marasco batted out of turn but it was too cold for anybody to care.

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Ernie Banks, 23-year-old rookie shortstop of Chicago Cubs, was back in the lineup with a bang-up performance at the plate Thursday.

Doctors gave the pitch thrown by rookie righthander Don Elston, Banks was semi-conscious when he was taken to hospital.

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Ted Kazanski, Philadelphia Athletics' shortstop, was spiked in a training camp game Thursday.

Coach Jim Turner stepped on Kazabak's foot rounding second and cut the foot enough that it required several stitches.

Manager Steve O'Neill said Kazanski may not be available for the Phillies' first grapefruit league tangle, a meeting with Detroit Tigers Saturday.

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Billy Martin bade goodbye to his New York Yankee teammates Thursday and then left by plane for San Francisco, where he'll be inducted into the army Monday.

Canada Puckists 'Not Welcome' Says Lyndes Boss

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Canadian team manager Don Preston angrily declared Thursday that Canada would not enter any future world ice hockey championships in Europe, because "we do not feel we are welcome here."

Preston, managing Toronto East York in the world championships here, added: "If I had my way, it would be the last time Canada will send a team over to Europe."

Referring to Swedish newspaper complaints about Canadian roughplay, the former East York player said his team has had more injuries since coming to Europe than during a whole season at home.

"Sticks are used for anything but sticks in Europe. That is one thing we have learned here," he added.

Canada's worst injuries came during her 8-0 victory against Switzerland when Sweden Canadian player Harold Fiakari tore a ligament in his right knee and another Canadian, Doug Chapman, suffered a broken jaw.

Middlecoff Leads Houston Open

HOUSTON (AP)—Cary Middlecoff used a hot putter to 45-degree weather Thursday while carving out a two-stroke lead in the first round of the $30,000 Houston Open.

Cary, recent champion from Memphis, Tenn., sank a 35-foot putt on the first green for a two-under three and then methodically beat or matched par on the remaining 17 holes.

He posted his 68 early but it left him one stroke ahead of Freddie Haas, New Orleans, and two in front of Bob Toski of Cornwall, both 36-36-72. Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener shot 36-39—75; Murray Tuten of Toronto 37-38—75 and Al Balding of Toronto shot 43-38—81.

Twenty Stars Enter Ski Meet

SUDBURY (CP)—More than 20 of Canada's top skiers are expected to take part Sunday in the Canadian senior cross-country ski championship meet, to be held on a course two miles south of here. Snowfalls during the last week have provided a good skiing base for the course meet. It is expected that cold weather will continue over Sunday to keep the 10 kilometre course in shape.

The Sammon Gift Athletic Club of Canada's ski club here which is sponsoring the meet, says Paull Wahlsta, 1954 Canadian cross country champion, has arrived from overseas to take part.

Some of the Canadian skiers who will take part are Jim Georgis of Sudbury, Canada's only world champion; Carl Martlach of Sudbury, nine miles of the Sevenmile area were mapped in 1852 and this year's work is expected to cover 90,000 square miles.

Mantle's Trick Knee, Blackwell's Arm Yogi's Knock-Knees Trouble 'Casey'

By GAYLE TALBOT

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)— The only major problem Casey Stengel has to fret at the moment is that of trying to tell a young outfielder to which league all of them which underwent a couple of operations during the winter.

Mickey Mantle showed up at the Yankee camp the other day, Casey learned from that he was to do practically nothing except take it easy for a few days. Batting practice was out until much more was known about the condition of his knee. Mantle will have a visible bearing on the American League race.

"So the next thing I see," Casey growled, "is Mickey Mantle in the batting cage. The first one he hit bounced over that centrefield fence out there. At least he was kind enough to limit himself to hitting them righthanded. And of course I find out later that he slipped on one swing. He's a hard fellow to get anything."

Stengel turned his attention to another noted jinxball in his camp. Lefty pitcher Twell Blackwell has been voluntarily retired with arm trouble during early last season, and is trying hard to get back on the unemployed payroll.

TIME WILL TELL

"Watching him warm up there, he looks like all right," Casey commented hopefully. "He's throwing pretty hard and he says the arm doesn't have any pain. I hope he's all right, but he can't tell and neither can me until he pitches in a regular game. Just throwing a ball doesn't mean anything. He's going to let him go a few innings against the Cardinals this week-end and maybe we'll know something."

Another pitching anywhere near his old form would take up the slack caused by Vic Raschi's departure and possibly clinch a sixth flag for Stengel. The sad truth is, though, that when an arm goes it's usually gone forever.

Another afflictee with an arm contained was that of his catcher, Yogi Berra. Yogi grinned and moved on when the telling began.

"Believe it or not," Casey said, "Berra has a couple of very sore knees from running. Those knock knees of his keep hitting together. I've got to have special shin guards made for him so that when he runs for fouls they wouldn't hit together and get turned clear around on his legs. Now, there's something to have—a sore-kneed catcher."

Riders Sign 'Sooner' Stars

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders have signed two University of South Carolina players to 1954 football contracts, Smith Clem announced Thursday.

They are Clyde Bennett, six-foot-two, 200-pound end who may fill the gap left by Bernie Flowers, grabbed off this year by Baltimore Colts of the National League, and his teammate, Johnny Gramling, a halfback.

Gramling, 22, is six-one and weighs 175 and reportedly has a sharp passing record with his university. Last fall he was named All-state and All-Atlantic conference players.

Maroons Say Were Gypped Of Home Game

TORONTO (CP)—Chatham Maroons of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league complained Thursday they only played 27 home games during the 1953-54 schedule instead of the 28 to which they were entitled.

The complaint was made at a senior OHA council meeting, at which only three of the seven league teams were represented. Means of hazarding driving conditions only delegates to attend the meeting were from Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Owen Sound Mercurys and Chatham.

Maroons may attempt to get some remuneration for the game that was not played in Chatham. The game was to have been with Sarnia Sailors but was lost when Sailors dropped out of the league.

Most of the other teams adjusted their schedules to compensate for loss of the Sailors.

It was also announced that Hamilton Tigers only played 26 home games. The game, however, were reimbursed $300.

The teams will be advised that a Senior B league and an OHA Senior A winner by March 27. The winner will meet the Northern Ontario Hockey Association champions for the all-Ontario title. The first game of the best-of-seven final for the all-Ontario championship is scheduled to start in the rink of the NOHA winner March 29.

Dufferin Track

TORONTO (CP)—Driver-trainer Albert Boucher Thursday was suspended for the rest of the harness race meeting at Dufferin Park for "inconsistent performance and for changing equipment without permission."

The suspension was announced after stewards investigated the running of Peter Quo, to a supertise win in the opening heat of the race. He finished fourth in the second heat.

Drummondville Stables are reported to have acquired the four-year-old Louise Widower in Chatham yesterday. She had 12 good record, including a 2:08 mile accidents.

The best it had been able to do at Dufferin previously was finish fifth.

Jackie Robinson May Call It Quits At The Finish of The 1954 Season

By JOE REICHLER

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Jackie Robinson, negro ball-player in organized baseball, hopes to make this his last year in the game.

The brilliant Brooklyn infielder-who broke himself baiting for a regular position for the first time since he's been with the Dodgers-has several business deals pending next winter which could make him independent of baseball for the rest of his life.

"I'm not saying that this definitely will be my last year," Robinson said today. "I'm really undecided. I hope I can quit after this season. That depends on whether the things I have in mind will materialize.

"I'm not at liberty right now to say what these things are except that they are vitally connected with the promotion of better under-the-standing between peoples of all races. While my prime concern is to earn a living in support of my family, it's not just security I'm after.

"I could be financially set as of now if I wanted to accept any of several good offers I've had. Some of them would pay very well. I was recently offered a job that would pay $50,000 a year. My wife and I both turned it down because it was not the kind of business conducive to our way of living."

The former all-around college athlete carved out a brilliant professional baseball career after dividing the Negro barrier with Montreal in 1946. He joined the Dodgers the next year and through the next seven built up a remarkable record. Experts have hailed Robinson as the is the highest-paid player on the Dodgers with a 1954 contract calling for $42,000.

Jimmy Carter Favored Over Paddy Demarco

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK (AP)—Paddy DeMarco has never fought 15 rounds before. Odds say he won't go that far tonight when he challenges Jimmy Carter for the lightweight boxing title in Madison Square Garden.

But the same odds give Paddy as good a chance as Carter had when he won the title from Ike Williams three years ago.

In what little warring there has been on this fight—which hasn't stirred up much interest here—about Carter has been favored at odds ranging from 1 to 3 to 1 to 4 to 1. Carter is figured to wear out the rugged, charging scrapper in 10 rounds. Jimmy was the 3-to-1 underdog when he stopped Williams in 14 rounds to become champion.

Since then Carter has fought for the title eight times, lost it to Laure Salas and won it back again, and has become a vastly improved fighter. But he still can't drive a big crowd to his home town.

ROWING TEAM RESTRICTED

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Australia's hopes to hold the Empire Games rowing titles except the fours, will include only five oarsmen in its team for the Empire Games at Vancouver next July.

The rowers are Peter Evatt, Merryl Wood, Murray Riley, Geoff Williamson and David Anderson.

The Australian Rowing Council said that lack of funds restricted the size of the rowing team.

Dogs Held in High Respect For Work in Canadian Brigade

By JACK BRADLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Dean barks and wags his tail like any other dog, but he can also detect mines.

He's a big liver and white mongrel-terrier — he looks like a springer spaniel with a tail — and he's one of the wisest members of the Commonwealth 25th Division's war dog troop where a couple of Canadian handlers are being trained. The Canadians will be the nucleus of a troop in the Canadian Army where the dogs are held in high respect because of their sharp work with the 25th Brigade in the Korean war.

Jack Brayley

In fact, one of the most famous war dogs, Sheba, lost his life in a patrol with the Royal Canadian Regiment in the first days of the war. A neat white cross at the entrance to the war dog school marks his grave and records his 50 successful missions.

CAREFUL TRAINING

Australian Lieut. P. L. Goss of Hobart, Tasmania, is the administrative head of the school conducted by Capt. Glen Shaw of Borth, Wales, a member of the Royal Army Veterinary Corps. The two Canadians at the school are L. Cpl. John Ness, 27, of Toronto, a member of the Royal Canadian Regiment, and Pte. Leo Dinelle, 22, of Ottawa, a member of the Royal 22nd.

Neither had ever handled a dog in a show but they volunteered for the service because they like dogs. They've been at it five months and they both say its "No. 1." They have to be careful not to get too close on infantry patrols. Ness has a brown and white cocker named Bruce and Dinelle has a white one named Bigue. Both dogs have records of successful patrols against bandits in Malaya.

Each is handled by the patrol, guard, tracker and Red Cross dogs in the troop in simple sight, smell and hearing, but even veteran Sgt. Shaw doesn't know for sure how his mine-detecting dogs operate.

"The best I can do is figure they must be equipped with some kind of radar," he said, watching Dean point to dummy buried mines with his fat forepaws.

EFFICIENT WORKERS

The problem used to worry the British Army and they made several tests to try to figure it out. Thinking it was a matter of smell, they removed the olfactory nerves in one old dog but he continued to find mines.

Another theory was that the dog noticed the disturbed earth where the mine had been planted. So instead of digging straight down to get the mine, he'd handle a long trail from a bank and the dogs, working on log or log, found them as well as before. The dog can't be fooled by plastic or wooden mines which by the undetectable mechanical mine-locaters. Recently the war dog school entered a test record in competition with American mine-detection equipment.

"It's all in this way," said Sgt. Shaw confidently. "I'd rather go by the dog. He's schooling he's shown all sorts of mines and he watches them buried so he knows what the game is. After he's put on his own and his instinct goes into action."

The handler takes him to a practice field, first in a safe area "to get his nose down to work" then into the danger area. He quarters the ground and when he finds a mine he sits down and delicately plants a forepaw about two inches from where the mine is buried. The handler prods where the paw points, locates the mine, marks it, and sappers remove it. The dog is given a chunk of meat as a reward.

Ordinarily the dog wears a collar but when he's going to work a mine field he's equipped with a harness. The harness is thus associated with his work and he knows immediately it goes on what is expected of him.

The other day a skeptical colonel gave his word to be buried. Dean walked right to the spot and in the excitement the colonel forgot to mark the spot. The dog had to be brought back to find it again.

PATROL WORKERS

The troop also has some experienced patrol dogs like the ones the two Canadians are training.

The trouble with Dinelle's dog Bruce is his white coat which would show up on night patrols. But Sgt. Shaw devised a combination of mud and iodine camouflage which leaves Bruce rather dirty for a week or so.

The role of the patrol dog is to hear and smell the enemy and give his handler with the infantry patrol a silent indication. He does this by pricking his ears on his head. The guard dog is trained to sense the presence of the enemy near vulnerable points like bridges and stores. He warns his handler like the patrol dog, but he is set free to attack and trained to overpower and hold.

Finally there are Red Cross dogs, trained to find casualties lying in spots where they've been overlooked by search parties. These war dogs work off the leash and when they find a casualty run back to the handler and sit at his feet. The handler then gives them the word and they lead him to the wounded.

The troop also has a pet dog that merely wags his tail and is friendly to everybody. His name is Butch and the men call him a "Korean spaniel" though he looks as if one of his parents had been a chow.

BCI Juniors Win, Seniors Lose In Hoop Twin Bill

By BOB GALWAY.

In a doubleheader Basketball game played in the Napanee gym Wednesday evening the BCI junior and senior basketball squads won and lost. The juniors chalked up a 50-27 victory to take some of the sting out of a 63-51 senior loss.

The BCI juniors led by the high scoring effort of Ted Batchelor outplayed the Napanee team by a great margin. They outscored the opposition in the first half and they went on to take the game by a 41 point margin. Ted Batchelor led in a fine effort with 23 points, Stan Jackson and Jim Allaire had 9 and 7 respectively. Shaw was high man for Napanee with 11 while Bovay had 6.

There was a total of 20 fouls called in the game, 11 on BCI and 9 on NDCI with Shaw fouling out of the game with five against him.

The senior game was a little closer, but the Napanee lads never in play over the BCI boys right from the opening whistle. At half time the Napanee team was leading by 16 points and nevertheless backers still believed they had a few tight minutes in the last half when BCI cut their lead to a narrow four basket margin, but they rallied and took the game by 14 points. Diamant was high scorer for Napanee with 18 points, with McAllister and Allison followed with 14 and 11. Bovay was high man for BCI with 21. Mathews scored 8 and Bennet 8.

Referees Edwards and Leonard called 37 fouls in the senior game with against NDCI, and 17 against BCI.

Junior—BCI—(66) Batchelor 22, Jackson 9, Allarde 7, Smith 5, Buck 4, Jones 4, Kingston 4, Wintermute 4, Hall 4, Varcoe 3, Deacon 1, Bovay 1.

NDCI (23) Shaw 11, Church 9, French 4, Savage 1, Moore, Daley, Carter, Cleary, Lesty, Phelps, Creighton.

Senior NDCI — (63)—Diamant 18, McAllister 14, Allison 11, Moffat 6, French 6, Shaw 4, Brethour 2, Nicolle 2, Mitchell 2, Howitt Harrington, McCracken.

BCI (51) — Bovay 12 Mathews 9, Bennet 8, Parkhurst 6, Gault 6, Farmer 2, Farnsworth 3, Kane, Ewing, Harris, Wager.

Minor Hockey

Three midget one Juvenile-Junior and one squirt game were played at the arena last night in the city league. The Aluminum Stars scored a 13-8 win over Quinte Blasters in the first game of the game for the J-J title while the midget games were 5-0 for Big "A" over Bata Motors, Moose Lodge edging Stewart Warner 1-0 and the last game was a 4-4 deadlock between Bobb Royals and Reid's Regents. The Hawks beat the Leafs 5-0 in the squirt fixture.

Gerry Goyer was top man in the J-J game, leading the Stars to victory with four goals and two assists. Vesterfelt had two goals and an assist, while the other goals went to Little and Galway with two each and Adkins scoring once as did McKenna. The latter had two helpers with Atkins getting three and singles going to Murray, Little, Brooks and Walbridge.

Ron Belnap had three of the losers markers with Buskard, Fox and Brant getting one each. Assists went to White, Buskard, Adamson, Day and Meagher.

MIDGET

The Big "A" scoring was split up among six players with Bob Wintermaker scoring once and helping on two more, Fowler getting a trio and assist, Le St. Denis notching two goals while the other two went to Latchford and Duval. Lucas had one assist.

The only scoring play in the second game came in the first minute of play with Ab Wright covering Jack Gill's pass into a goal for the Lodge team. Both teams went all-out during the rest of the game but both reminders failed in good efforts to prevent further scoring.

Robb Royals were out-front on four occasions in their game but each time the Regents would come

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The story of Charles A. Lindbergh's flight from New York to Paris will finally reach the movie screens late this year.

Ever since his history-making journey, he has resisted Hollywood offers to dramatize the story on film. When he published his own version of the flight last year, studios began bidding for rights to the book. "The Spirit of St. Louis." Lindbergh turned down their bids for one from a man who has never produced a movie before, Broadway showman Leland Hayward.

"When the book first came out I didn't even read it; I had always been so tied up with aviation myself," said Hayward, who is a pilot, and founder of Southwest Airways.

"Then I got around to reading it. I was fascinated. When I came to part where his wheels touched the ground at le Bourget, in Paris, the tears came to my eyes. I didn't think he could make it!"

Right now Hayward is seeking an actor to play the flier, and he's getting plenty of help.

MOTHER'S WORD

"Of course, every actor wants to play the part," he sighed. "And I have a great pile of photographs from unknowns who say, 'My mother always said that I looked just like Lindbergh.'

"I would like to find an actor who is at least famous. I think the public is jarred when it sees someone like Clark Gable playing a well-known figure. You don't know whether you're watching Gable or the person portrayed.

"The locations are a problem too. I will be hard to find any place that looks like Roosevelt Field in 1927. And it would be impossible to reproduce the coastal New England town as it was then. Nearly every town on a large body of water today has TV aerials on the houses!"

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sandy Saddler, 130, New York, stopped Charlie Slaughter, 130, Elizabeth, N.J., 4, non-title.

West Palm Beach, Fla.—Irwin Schultz, 183, New York, outpointed Jimmy Jewell, 169, Birmingham, Ala., 10.

Fall River, Mass.—Roy Andrews, 139¾, Lowell, Mass., stopped Bob English, 141¾, Fall River, Mass., 1.

Holmes, 134, Manchester, N.H., outpointed Tommy Collins, 132, Boston, 10.

Tacoma, Wash.—Pat McMurtry 185, Tacoma, knocked out Al Kelly, 192, Harrisburg, Pa., 1.

COSTLY SNOW

MONTREAL (CP)—The original civic snow removal budget of $3,700,000 was expended by Feb. 20, and an additional $1,500,000 has been approved. The executive committee was told the entire winter cost might reach $4,200,000.

fight back with a goal. Art Culhoden sparked Reid's with two goals and one assist while Keegan sunk the other. Goalie Gene Goslgeltzer for Robb's were Ferguson, Hull, Sinclair and Bowerman with assists for Thomas and Walmsley.

SQUINT

The Black Hawks won the game and the championship as they took the round 7-6. The goal scorers were Ron Blaker, Don Boyle, Billy Boulter, Allan Mott and John Cuppinitis. Boyle also had one assist.

Royals Keep Pace With Chicoutimi In Quebec Loop

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Giants for game, almost goal for goal, Chicoutimi Sagueenens and Montreal Royals are keeping pace in the last lap of the Quebec Hockey League race.

Chicoutimi has a two point edge over the Royals in the standings but the Montrealers have two games in hand. That two point margin of Chicoutimi's has stood good for more than a week as the two teams matched victory for victory.

Thursday, both clubs tried to outdo each other in the matter of goal-scoring. Montreal lambasted Springfild Indians 16-1 while the Saguenens defeated Sherbrooke Saints a 9-0 shellacking.

In another game, Quebec Aces defeated Valleyfield Braves 2-1.

Cockell Offered $28,000 To Fight Matthews

LONDON (CP) — Don Cockell's manager said Thursday the British heavyweight boxing champion has received an offer of $28,000 for a return fight with Harry Matthews of Seattle, Wash.

Cockell outpointed Matthews in a 20-round split decision fight in Seattle last Aug. 8. Matthews' manager Jack Hurley wants Cockell to fight a return in Seattle next June.

Cockell's next fight is against Roland La Starza of New York on March 31 in London.

"If told Hurley that win or lose against La Starza, Cockell would be ready to go to Seattle if the terms are acceptable," manager John Simpson said.

"If Cockell loses, Hurley may reduce his offer. If my man wins then I shall probably want more money."

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Broadly speaking, today should be one of benefit to you. Activities being greatly improved situations and health if you co-operate. Expect a day lively for you born before noon. Improvement in vocational activities stressed.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — You should experience pleasant hours with loved ones, friends, and in making new and valuable contacts. You may benefit substantially through past deeds which you have forgotten.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — A failure to reckon with facts and evaluating situations properly could cause setbacks, uncalled for troubles. Cautious effort always pays.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Stars indicate the possibility of unusual trends that may benefit your work, business or profession in an extraordinary way. Be true to your Sign; don't scatter energies or vacillate.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — The aspects are not entirely favorable for you who will not study or take a deeper interest in what is going on around you. Some restrictions and anxiety in the early hours should be taken in stride.

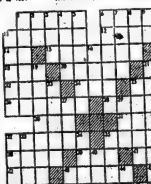
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—A calm, understanding attitude toward world events and the lives of others will serve best today. Don't allow little things to snowball beyond control. Avoid strain, tension.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Be careful in accepting propositions presented quickly or in a hush-hush manner. Friendship, romance, marriage, family happiness is mostly a matter of co-operation.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—A colorful outlook. Emotions may be calmer than usual today because of this fact, your judgment will be clearer and you can make better decisions. Less fun but financial gains likely.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—New friends, a better status in your position if you deliberate before acting. Be ready to participate in those things that could prove soundly remunerative.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—You may be attracted to certain persons now. Some could mean much to your future affairs; others should be out of favor. Be discriminating. New, happier foundations for the future can be built when, loved ones.



January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Success is more sodure ing when we strive a little harder, analyze more carefully. Today can be productive as well as personally satisfying, if you work at it.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—This day could be one of sudden gains and equally sudden setbacks. It is possible to safeguard against loss or reversal if you take precautions, heed warnings, and have confidence.

YOU BORN TODAY are genial, sympathetic to humans and animals; are confiding, amiable, will be a helpful neighbor or friend when one really needs assistance. But you are not meddlesome. You are idealistic and imaginative, with an intuitiveness that should be used to advantage in business and everyday life. You like orderliness; have integrity, and rarely exaggerate. You never do things to the detriment of others. Failings are usually lack of confidence, anticipating trouble and overcautiousness. These can retard your success, so overcome them.

CRASH KILLS AIRMEN

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—Two airmen were killed Thursday night when an F-89 Scorpion Star Jet crashed and burned shortly after taking off from Griffiss air force base in a snow storm. Griffiss spokesmen said the plane was believed to have been stationed at Presque Isle, Me.

FISHING SEASON OPENS

PORT DOVER (CP)—Commercial fishermen Thursday returned with their first catches of the season that opened March 1. They took about 1,000 pounds of fish, mainly blue pickerel. Strong winds raking Lake Erie kept the Port Stanley fishing fleet in harbor.

Suggest NATO Could Promote Freer Trade

OTTAWA (CP)—A Senate committee investigating closer economic co-operation within NATO Thursday heard a suggestion that the North Atlantic Alliance can help promote freer international trade.

Bruno Foa, consulting economist in the New York office of an Italian banking house, said he does not think the 14-member North Atlantic Treaty Organization should usurp the functions of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, negotiated among some 35 countries to lower trade barriers.

The wider the group participating in trade liberalization, the better were the results, he said in reply to questions from Senator W. D. Euler, former Liberal trade minister. However, NATO could do a lot towards creating a favorable public opinion for closer economic co-operation.

Mr. Foa and Ettore Lolli, manager of the Banca Nazionale del Lavoro of Rome, appeared as witnesses before the Senate trade relations committee which last year launched a probe of ways to make greater use of economic clauses in the NATO treaty.

Big U.S. Plane Is Missing

NEW YORK (AP) — Wildcat strikers tied up New York's huge port today, defying federal court order in a battle for union control of the waterfront.

Resentful members of the independent International Longshoremen's Association refused to work luxury-liner and other piers in Manhattan, and stayed off the job at piers in Brooklyn and Staten Island.

Returned police reported that the rival AFL union of the same name would also refuse to cross work at strikebound piers, apparently in sympathy with the brawling.

The two unions are fighting for control of the dock workers.

JEWS RAP GIRLS' SERVICE

JERUSALEM (AP)—Ultra-orthodox Jews held protest meetings in synagogues Thursday night against the national service law for women. Later, demonstrators marched in the streets and seven persons were arrested after a scuffle with police. The law requires girls for service in the army, hospitals, and immigrant camps. It has been bitterly opposed by some groups as contrary to Jewish religious tradition.

FAMILY QUARREL

Evidence was that a love affair between Rose and Mrs. Rickor wore thin and that at a wine-drinking party the couple quarrelled over another man.

Mrs. Rickor, who left Moncton, N.B., and lived in Montreal and Niagara Falls, Ont., before coming here 16 years ago, was found dead in a pool of blood in the living room of her apartment home in the north-central part of the city. Medical men said she died from a single stroke of a knife in the middle of her back.

Rose made no reply when asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed.

New Bank Laws Regulate Loans To Oil Industry

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's new banking law defines, for the first time, the powers of the 11 chartered banks to make loans to the country's booming oil industry.

A bill revising the Bank Act, a redrafting which takes place every 10 years, was introduced Thursday in the Commons.

It permits banks to lend money on the security of oil and gas in the ground or in storage, on petroleum mineral rights and production and storage equipment.

The measure also doubles the minimum amount of capital which new banks must have before going into business. Finance Minister Abbott said the provision has not been changed since 1890.

The minimum requirement of subscribed capital stock would be increased to $1,000,000 from $500,000 and the requirement of paid-up capital to $500,000 from $250,000.

STOCK ISSUES

Mr. Abbott outlined these other proposed changes in the Bank Act:

1. Provisions governing the issue of additional capital stock "intended to remove some of the obstacles which now exist."

2. Each bank would be allowed to determine the way in which ownership in its stock shares may be transferred. At present this can be done only by registration on the books of the bank.

3. Prohibition of the issue of bank notes intended for circulation outside Canada, and termination of banks' rights to issue currency. In practice, the Bank of Canada for some years has issued all of Canada's currency.

4. Changes in the law on bank amalgamations "to conform with current legislation and business practice."

There are two other major changes, which have been forecast in legislation already before Parliament.

One parallels an amendment to the National Housing Act, permitting banks to lend money on home mortgages under a government-administered insurance plan.

The second parallels an amendment in the Bank of Canada Act to give the central bank more control over cash reserves of the chartered banks.

Sunday School Lesson:

With Jesus at a Funeral

By ROY L. SMITH

The author of the Fourth Gospel was a preacher. The scholars say he was the leader of the great Christian Church at the ancient city of Ephesus, and throughout his book he seems to be preaching at his reader. But in today's scripture he has assumed another role and tells an extremely human and moving story of Jesus when he attended a funeral.

It seems that the Master had, for some reason never quite revealed, developed a profound friendship with a little family living not far from the city of Jerusalem in a small village known as Bethany. The family consisted of an older sister named Martha who was the actual head of the house, and a young brother named Lazarus and a sister, also younger, named Mary. All being unmarried, they were bound together by exceptionally strong bonds of love. The family feeling among them was profound.

IMPLICIT FAITH IN JESUS

When Jesus came to visit the family one day, in the course of one of his visits to the city of Jerusalem, he arrived when the sisters were in mourning. Their brother had died and had been buried just four days previously. According to Jewish law the period of mourning was seven days, last for a week, with a daily visit made to the grave for purposes of mourning.

Almost precisely at the moment of the Master's arrival the two sisters were preparing to go to the cemetery. Martha, the older of the two, having made ready first. She left Mary and went to meet Jesus, informed him of the tragic events of the last few days, and said, "If you had been here the brother would have died." Such was her implicit faith in him as a friend.

When Mary, the younger sister discovered he had come, she threw herself at his feet in a violent fit of weeping and repeated her sister's words, and the impact of the

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for March 7: "The Raising Of Lazarus," John 11:1-54, whole situation was such that Jesus burst into tears.

The theologians have spent much time debating the logical dilemma this statement raises. If Jesus was divine, why should he weep? If he had the power to restore the young man to life (as he did a little later) why should he be overcome with grief? Profound doctors of theology have had a field day with these and similar questions that arise easily to the mind as we read the scripture.

GOD CARES

But concerning the major fact of the story there need be no confusion. Jesus represented a God who, in the presence of sorrow, cares!

Let mankind be assured that the Creator of all the universe is one who is not beyond the reach of our needs, and who is not deaf to our cries, and hope returns to displace despair. Men will go on praying, trying, hoping, trusting. They only want to know that there is a kind heart at the center of the universe.

Here then is the essential message of the Christian faith to a tortured and terrified world. The God who created it has not gone off and left it. Indeed, he stands beside every open tomb, and in every home where there is sorrow and grief, his heart touched by the burdens and sufferings of his children.

The sight of Jesus weeping with his friends is one of the most heartening stories in the New Testament. It gives us the confidence that we are not fighting against the evils of this world alone and unaided. Someone stands alongside us.

Melrose W.I. Hears Address On Wills

The February meeting of the Melrose Women's Institute was held in the township hall in the evening in order that the men of the community might attend.

The president, Mrs. Arthur English, presided.

Mrs. Gardiner led a sing-song assisted by Mrs. L. Weese at the piano.

Mr. Brooks Allen gave a talk on the Quinte Secondary School under construction in Belleville. He described courses now being taught at the B.C.I.V.S. and those which the new school proposes to follow for agriculture students. He spoke of the Belleville Industrial Educational Council and the Quinte Agricultural Educational Council.

Mrs. Gardiner sang two solos accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Bates.

Mr. G. H. Cameron, Belleville lawyer, was invited to speak on "Wills". Mr. Cameron read the "Wills Act" and explained the same in a less technical way. He stressed the necessity of having a will and having it prepared properly by a competent person. He explained the manner of drafting and executing a will, the duties of an executor or trustee and administrator, and provisions of a trust fund.

Probation of a will and payment of succession duties were well covered. Mr. Cameron then opened the discussion to questions of a general nature.

A vote of appreciation was tendered Mr. Cameron by Mrs. G. McLaren.

The meeting was closed with piano selections by Mrs. L. Weese.

Refreshments were served.

MARMORA

Campbellford Beats Havelock In TVL Series

MARMORA (Special) — In a closely fought Trent Valley League playoff game in Marmora on Wednesday evening, the Campbellford team kept its hopes of reaching the finals alive by edging Havelock 4-3.

Campbellford won the game in the last minute of play when Wilson picked up a loose puck and raced in to beat the Havelock goalie with little trouble.

Havelock took the lead with two goals by Slater and Kane only to have Free and Fields knot the score before the period ended.

Havelock once more jumped out front with Kane getting his second goal early in the middle stanza but they could not hold their lead as the determined Campbellford crew, fighting with their backs to the wall, tied it up on a beautiful goal by Blake Scott banged in the next goal for the Havelock gang with Free sending the winners out front by a 5-4 score before the bell sounded the end of the period.

Once more it was Scott who tied the score half way through the final period but then came Wilson's breakaway and a win for Campbellford.

NEW PROOF

THAT MILLIONS CAN END THE NEED FOR LAXATIVES

—find relief from constipation this safe, natural way—without the injurious effects of repeated laxative use.

With all the progress of medical science over the past 30 years, authorities say there is no longer any reason why irregularity should be our most widespread human malady.

Nor is there any reason for developing the habit-use of harsh laxatives—of dosing with one preparation after another in the vain hope of finding a new potion or pill, the "secret" of lasting relief.

Long-continued study of the problem has shown that one of the most common causes of irregularity is lack of bulk in the diet. And when this is the case, the common-sense correction is to be found in the drug store but in your food items!

IT HAS LONG BEEN A MEDICALLY RECOGNIZED FACT THAT NATURE HAS PROVIDED, IN THE NATURAL FOODS MEN WERE INTENDED TO EAT, ALL THE ELEMENTS NECESSARY FOR THE LIFE-LONG AVOIDANCE OF COMMON CONSTIPATION.

One of these elements is natural fibrous bulk, or vegetable cellulose, which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

In no natural food is this natural bulk so ideally found as in the outer layers, or bran, of the whole wheat kernel which, as you know, is lost in modern milling.

Because of the known value of bran in promoting regularity the Kellogg Company has produced a complete, whole bran—with nothing taken away to lessen its efficiency—and sold under the name of Kellogg's All-Bran, the natural laxative cereal. How effective is All-Bran? This has been demonstrated in a series of systematic clinical studies reported in leading medical journals.

In one study, 135 people with known delayed bowel functions were given one ounce of All-Bran daily for one week. They were studied clinically and with X-ray with tests made before, during and after they ate the All-Bran.

OF THE 135 PEOPLE, 107 SHOWED DEFINITE CLINICAL IMPROVEMENT IN JUST 7 DAYS.

IN A FOLLOW-UP STUDY, BETTER THAN 6 OUT OF EVERY 7 PATIENTS WHO WERE GIVEN ALL-BRAN IMPROVED.

The greatest advantage of All-Bran is that it corrects the cause of irregularity due to lack-of-bulk in the diet, instead of drug-type laxatives, on the other hand, are intended only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage.

What people use these products habitually—in a way that laxative makers never intended—proves conclusively that the system in a way that nature never intended. Instead of correcting the cause, they often actually main their condition worse.

If you think you must take a laxative to get regular occasionally, do so. But do it wisely. Read the instructions completely. AVOID EXCESS SIVE USAGE. But for natural and lasting relief put your trust in nature. Just eat daily a one-ounce serving of All-Bran (Kellogg's) Breakfast and drink plenty of water.

This All-Bran plan has helped millions to be wonderfully comfortable healthful regularity. Why not you?

Puerto Rico Police Seize Nationalist Party's Chieftain

Apartment Is Set On Fire After Shots Are Exchanged

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Police captured Pedro Albizu Campos, 63-year-old head of the Nationalist party, after gun play at his San Juan apartment early today during an island-wide roundup aimed at the three dozen persons within the fanatical independence group.

Tear gas finally routed Campos, who gasped: "I am asphyxiated." He was removed by ambulance.

The apartment, set afire during the action, also yielded Doris Torresola, one of five women named in police warrants. The raid was officially described as having no connection with the Washington shooting which wounded five United States Congressmen March 1.

Firemen got the fire quickly under control.

Miss Torresola is a party secretary and sister of Griselio Torresola, who was killed in Washington in another attempt on the life of President Truman in 1950. He BOUGHT

Police raids were launched today to arrest Campos and 37 other nationalists.

Police chief Salvador Roig said several shots were fired from Campos' apartment as the police closed in.

Asked by reporters whether there had been a plot here, Roig refused to say. He said Governor Luis Munoz Marin has revoked a pardon that freed Campos from jail last September. He had been given prison terms totaling 54 years following a revolt he led in 1950. Fifty persons were killed in that outbreak.

Association Will Choose New PC President

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Progressive Conservative Association will choose a new president at its annual meeting here this month to succeed George Nowlan of Wolfville, N.S.

Mr. Nowlan, member of Parliament for Digby-Annapolis-Kings, has said he will retire after four years in office.

It is understood that two other members of Parliament will be nominated for the presidency. George Hees, member for Toronto Broadview, and Hon. Earl Rowe, from Dufferin-Simcoe. Others may be nominated at the annual meeting of the two-day annual meeting March 15-16.

The preceding day, March 15, will be taken up with the annual meetings of the party's national women's organization and the Young Progressive Conservative Association.

Contempt Charge In Dock Strike Being Studied

NEW YORK (AP) — National Labor Relations Board officials today studied a possible contempt action against indicted longshore strikers, defying a federal no-walkout order.

The strikers, members of the now expelled International Longshoremen's Association, (ILA) quit work Friday and Canadian ports were tied up and Canadian operations to a halt at about half of the ports of the U.S.

ILA president William B. Bradley and other union officials said they will try to get the strikers back to work.

The walkout is the latest phase in the continuing struggle between the ILA and the AFL, a struggle that has brought a number of brief work stoppages to the port of New York.

Some waterfront observers sensed in the walkout the long awaited showdown between the ILA and the federation.

First Vacancy In Sacred College Since Year Ago

ROME (Reuters)—Massimo Cardinal Massimi, 76, died here today, after a prolonged heart ailment.

His death created the first vacancy in the College of Cardinals since the Pope brought it up to its full strength of 70 a year ago.

The Italian-born cardinal was one of the 19 cardinals of the Roman curia (the central government of the Roman Catholic church) and prefect of the apostolic signatura, the supreme tribunal of the Roman Catholic church. He was also a member of the Vatican congregations for the eastern church, sacraments, religious orders, and propagation of the faith.

Born in Rome, he was ordained a priest at the age of 22. Pope Pius XI, predecessor of the present Pontiff, made him a prince of the church in 1933.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis — The prairies will be somewhat warmer and are expected to end by noon today and the temperatures to climb to the mid-30s. The flow of mild air from the West gives promises of considerably mild sunny weather. The north country will have generally sunny skies and moderating temperatures but cool to mild air sweeping down from the north will drop temperatures 10 degrees Sunday evening.

FEAR THAT MONEY MAY BE LACKING FOR HOUSING

Opposition Members Critical of Legislation

OTTAWA (CP) — The opposition suggested money may be lacking to finance home construction under the government's new housing bill.

The suggestion was advanced Friday by Donald Fleming (PC—Eglinton) during clause-by-clause study of the government's new housing bill. He noted that the government will withdraw from the field of lending to chartered banks take over. But, he said, the banks aren't enthusiastic about it.

Criticism also was offered by CCF and Social Credit spokesmen as the bill faced its first test in the Commons since detailed examination by the banking and commerce committee. The committee, heard witnesses from industry, mortgage lending and housing fields.

Mr. Fleming said the expected raise in the new bill has been exaggerated. It was cruel to raise the hopes of citizens unable to get a home.

Alistair Stewart (CCF—Winnipeg North) described the bill as "a shabby piece of work" pulled over the eyes of Canadians by the government.

C. D. Johnston (SC—Bow River) agreed with Mr. Stewart's charge that half the population of Canada, those under 24,000 a year, will get no benefit from the bill. He said it "bristles with loopholes" for investments and laughed the time in which a mortgage must be paid off.

TWO-FOLD PURPOSE

Mr. Fleming said the bill's purpose is two-fold: to maintain and possibly increase home construction and to make it possible for Canadians to own homes.

However, the head of the government's housing agency, D. B. Mansur, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, told the Commons committee that the housing bill probably will be increased between 15,000 and 15,000 more persons seeking to build homes. That will mean about 15,000 more to increase over the present rate of construction of 100,000 homes a year.

"In the light of that evidence, some banks immediately apparent that the bill is not going to work as it is supposed to work," he said.

The first result of the bill would be withdrawal of mortgage money now available. That was the amount CMHC which no longer would engage in the high-risk commercial lending institutions.

This money was expected to be used to provide for the chartered banks whose mortgage loans would be insured by the government. But the banks hadn't asked for the power to make such loans, he said, were not consulted by the government before the new housing bill was introduced.

The part the banks were to play in the housing program, he said, but "there was no enthusiasm on the part of the banks which recently gave a pledge for the scheme of the bill."

RADIO PIONEER

Canadians' Drug Bill Almost As High As Hospitalization and Dental Costs

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Canadians spend almost as much on drugs to cure their ills as they do on visits to doctors and dentists. And about one-quarter of the average family's budget is believed to be for protection under public and private medical care plans, a survey of Barrie and Health Minister Martin said today those figures are some of preliminary findings of a country-wide sickness survey made in 1951. Results of bulk of the survey have been analyzed.

Canada's total health bill in 1951 was $675,000,000, and only one in five Canadians went through the year without an illness, Mr. Martin said in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening of a new addition to the Barrie General Hospital.

Despite the statistics, he said, Canadians are among the world's healthiest people. Comparing the death rate has been cut by a third in 50 years, putting her fourth among the countries of the world. The present death rate among older persons is lowest of any of the health services.

Mr. Martin said improvements in medical care during the last half century have been paced by a corresponding increase in the cost of health services.

In the survey year, Canadian families paid $374,000,000, or one-third of $1,000,000,000.

A breakdown of the health dollar showed the largest share, 24 cents, spent to buy protection under public and private medical and hospital care schemes. Direct payments to doctors took 22.5 cents, to hospitals 12.4 cents, and to dentists 8.8 cents. The 18.5 cents of each dollar spent on drugs almost equalled the total going to hospitals and dentists. Eye services, nursing care and other costs took the other 12.3 cents of the dollar.

Mixed-Up Week Sees Weather Across Canada Alternating Between Spring and Winter

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians have just come through a week of topsy-turvy weather that forecasters say is a sure forerunner of spring.

A cross-Canada check today by The Canadian Press showed that during the week several cities had mild spells that broke long-standing records and also had storms and cold before or after the balmy periods. Several provinces reported temperatures in rapid succession. "It means spring is coming," said a weather man at Malton, near Toronto. "Make no mistake about that.

"We're getting sudden changes in the weather. Mild spells are becoming more frequent. The pattern of the weather map is steadily shifting from a wintry one to the kind typical of spring."

SPRING SOON

Officially, spring starts two weeks from today. Some parts of the country have already had a taste of it; the Ontario cities of Welland and Niagara Falls reported crocus in bloom a few days ago.

Vancouver had cold-and-icy conditions earlier this week. Sunshine pushed the daytime temperature up to the high sixties and Victoria basked without overcoats.

Alberta started the week with below-zero temperatures but finished pleasantly. It was 57 in Medicine Hat Friday, September 52 in Calgary, 50 in Edmonton, west from 34 below Monday to 39 above late in the week.

A week in Manitoba got off to a cold start with gusty winds and later a warm air mass pushed in. There was only a trace of snow, Winnipeg reported a temperature swing from 15 below March 3 to 36 above March 5.

STORMS ONTARIO

Mild weather in Ontario early in the week beat a hasty retreat as a four-day storm that howled northeastward across the province brought freezing rain and heavy snow. Ten deaths were blamed on the weather. The week ended cold and snowy, many communities still digging themselves out of the drifts and some telephone and power lines still out of order.

After three mild days, temperatures dropped in Quebec, which experienced the tail-end of the Ontario storm. Montreal's high for the week was 53 degrees above zero March 3, but it was 10 below zero and the low was above zero Thursday night.

The Toronto reports of 53 in Halifax, 48 at Fredericton and 43 in Charlottetown March 3 were record records for the day. Then a blast of cold air Thursday and Friday moved southward across the Atlantic provinces. Halifax Friday recorded a low of 10 above zero—20 degrees. Little snow fell all week. In parts of northern New Brunswick where the snow has not melted since the last storm, the ground was covered by about seven inches.

Police Seize Huge Supply Of American-Made Weapons

NEW YORK (AP)—Police seized an arsenal in a deserted-looking Manhattan store Friday and placed two Cubans, alleged opponents of the Batista regime, under arrest.

Detectives carried into the store, on West 89th street, and came up with crates of mortar shells, anti-tank guns, Garand rifles, grenades and shells.

Later Mario Cruz, 34, and Roberto Oscar Acevedo, 36, were booked on charges of violating the weapons law.

Police commissioner Francis W. H. Adams described them as members of a Cuban organization opposed to the regime of Fulgencio Batista, president of Cuba.

Eight other persons were questioned by police and released. Among them, Adams said, were a man and a woman known as members of anti-Batista organizations.

The arsenal is the second discovered in Cuban organizations since Carlos Prio Socarras was ousted as president of Cuba by Batista last March, 1952.

Adams and other police officials gave these details of the alleged arms seizure:

UNLOAD CASES

Cruz, a taxi boy ordered by immigration officials to leave the United States by March 15, and Acevedo, a garment cutter resident here since 1949, rented the store on a month to month last November. They said it was to be used to manufacture concrete truck slanted unloading platforms. Inside were found the heavy cases outside of which the Cuban wording of which had been painted black.

The police contacted an employee of a stevedoring firm several days ago and he gave a description of the two men. Police said it was possible shipment out of the country. The stevedoring employer tipped police.

Friday about a dozen detectives raided the store, while some of others fanned out over the neighborhood and covered the building's front from nearby rooftops and windows.

A check showed the arms were U.S. made and packed professionally for shipment. Adams said the count revealed 27 large-calibre anti-tank guns, 34 cases of mortar shells, 100 rounds of Garand rifles with four cases of bullets and 250 hand grenades.

Adams said he saw no link between the shipment and the recent Puerto Rican shooting in Congress.

WATERFRONT FIRES

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Police are investigating the possibility that a firebug is at work after the fifth big waterfront fire in as many weeks caused an estimated $80,000 damage Wednesday night. The blaze destroyed a three-storey wooden lumber storage building at the Gloucester Marine Railway and damaged a fishing boat docked there for repairs.

Japanese Make Annual Trip To Tenjin Shrine

TOKYO (Reuters)—On a bitterly cold day thousands of devout Japanese crowded Dazaifu shrine in their annual pilgrimage to the Kameido Tenjin shrine near Tokyo to exchange old talismans for new.

This is the one of countless Shinto rites which play an important part in Japanese life.

The pilgrims who exchanged their little wooden talismans at the Kameido Tenjin shrine sought good luck and happiness for their families.

The bullfinches are believed to have the power of absorbing bad luck.

CHANGED EVERY YEAR

At the end of 12 months, the wooden image is supposed to be saturated and is exchanged for a new one. Priests proceed to do the same job for the next 12 months.

At another shrine in Dazaifu, Kyushu, the custom is to release the birds are exchanged in the dark and during the exchange the chief priest slips in a gold bullfinch.

The pilgrim who ends up with the gold bullfinch considers himself the luckiest person in Japan.

Group of Cricket Lovers Plan To Speed Game

LONDON (CP)— The leisurely game of cricket tends to be too slow for modern tastes.

In an effort to rid the game of slow-motion play, scoring and crippling fielding, a group of cricket lovers plans to present cricket with a new look and new monetary prizes this season.

The plan, which has been given by the Marylebone Cricket Club, the "governments" of the game, R. Aird Wolfe, secretary, says the ruling body does not recognize prizes for individuals. But it does exempt from entertainment tax despite numbers of professionals.

"But personally, I imagine that anything which will liven up the game at the present time must be a good thing," says Aird.

QUEER THEFT

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—A thief who may have been stocking up for next Christmas stole all the red bulbs from the warning lamps on the city end of the Welland Canal bridge bridge. Police theorized that they would likely be used for decorative purposes.

EGYPTIAN RULERS PLAN ASSEMBLY ELECTION IN JULY

Will Restore Nation's Parliamentary Life

By ROBERT B. HEWETT

CAIRO (AP)—Egyptians are to elect a constituent assembly in July. This step toward restoring the Nile nation's parliamentary life was announced by the ruling military regime Friday night.

It promised also to end local press censorship immediately, except for defence matters, and to wipe out the martial law institution which King Farouk used and deposed and exiled in 1952.

The 200-member constituent assembly, to draft a constitution and approve a new election system, will be inaugurated July 23, the second anniversary of the start of Revolutionary Command Council Farouk.

These decisions were reached by the 13-man Revolutionary Council in consultation with two of Egypt's former premiers, elder statesmen were ex-premier Aly Maher, who was summoned to the palace by Farouk, and Mustafa El Nahas, who came down the railway line before the train could be stopped.

Ambulance crews, police and railwaymen worked for more than an hour to free Nahas, 84, and his aides and cutting torches before all the victims were removed from the wreckage.

Have Not Decided On Delegation On Gas Imports

TORONTO (CP) — The provincial government has made no decision on the sending of a delegation to Ottawa next week to support the application of the Consumers' Gas Company for permission to import natural gas into Ontario from the United States, Attorney-General Porter said Friday.

"There has been no decision made on the matter," he said in reply to a query put by J. H. Lindberg (LP—Port Arthur).

"If an appointment was desirable we would discuss it further."

STUDY ELDERLY PERSONS

During the throne speech debate (PC—Leeds—London) urged the formation of a select committee to examine the problems of older persons in industry. He said his own research indicated "a misconception on the part of industry" regarding the older worker.

The older worker wishes to continue working if feel that he should be given the right.

F. P. Fishleigh (PC—Toronto-Woodbine) called for the formation of Ontario's winter resorts, claiming too many persons were spending thousands of dollars on winter vacations in Florida.

Dr. Andrew Brebner (PC—Renfrew South) criticized newspapers for their publicity given alleged irregularities in the highways department and to the persons involved.

Mr. Brebner said the select committee on reform institutions is scheduled to meet March 16 and the committee has made more than 120 recommendations in the two sessions of its existence.

The throne speech debate will continue.

Former RAF Pilot, Father of Two, Reported Transformed Into Woman

LONDON (CP)—Hormone treatment and surgery have transformed the father of two former RAF pilot into a woman, doctors say it "may well be the most complete change of sex ever recorded in medical history."

Peter Cowell, 33, son of Maj.-Gen. Sir Ernest Cowell and a former RAF fighter pilot, now is legally Miss Elizabeth Cowell, a sophisticated woman completely removed from the male sex although she cannot bear children.

Doctors said Cowell, divorced by his wife in 1953 on a charge of desertion, now is living "somewhere on the continent." Relatives were reported caring for their daughters, 10 and 12.

Cowell came from a prominent family. His father, a brain surgeon to the late king George VI, was director of medical services in the African campaign of the Second World War.

Young Cowell went in for rugby football and auto and motorcycle racing. As a Spitfire pilot, he chalked up a good record in the RAF. Then he spent six months as a war prisoner after being shot down in Germany.

In 1948, however, he started hormone treatment to help him undergo a change in his physical condition and mental outlook and hearing from a physician that his body showed prominent feminine sex characteristics.

The next step was plastic surgery. Undergoing operations in a London hospital, one of Britain's most eminent surgeons, he grew breasts and developed as a female.

Doctors verified to registry officials that she was a woman.

A substitute birth certificate was issued May 25, 1951, for Peter Elizabeth Marshall Cowell.

Neither of Cowell's daughters has been told about the sex change. Their mother has married again and it was not known where she is living.

Four Persons Die As Car Hits Train Near Brantford

Fifth Victim Is In Hospital With His Condition Only Fair

BRANTFORD (CP) — Four persons were killed and a fifth was severely injured early today when their car collided with a Canadian National Railways passenger train at a level crossing a mile west of here.

Police named the dead as Walter Uzyk, 26, of Toronto; Miss Olga Chamulak, 19, of Vancouver; William G. Jackson, Toronto and Vancouver, and Rudy Takash, of Toronto and Edmonton.

Jackson and Takash died after being admitted to hospital.

Severely injured was Andrew Lucyk of Edmonton. Nurses said his condition is only fair.

The train was the 7:30 Toronto-to-Chicago flier which left Toronto at midnight. The accident occurred either 3 a.m. on the railway's double-track main line.

The car was carried 200 yards down the railway line before the train could be stopped.

Ambulance crews, police and railwaymen worked for more than an hour with flares, crowbars and cutting torches before all the victims were removed from the wreckage.

Papal Delegate Wants Nuns To Set Up College

OTTAWA (CP)—The Vatican's new apostolic delegate to Canada says one of his first jobs will be to try to convince the Ursuline Nuns of Chatham to set up a college in Peru.

Most Rev. Giovanni Panico, 52-year-old Italian Catholic Church diplomat, said he will attempt to press the case for Emilie Vaillancourt, Canadian ambassador in Lima. Miss Vaillancourt is working very hard to bring the Ursulines.

The Ursulines operate the Brescia Hall Convent, which is affiliated to the University of Western Ontario, London. There are 31 nuns at the convent.

Msgr. Panico, who holds the church rank of archbishop, said he has been told by the Canadian ambassador while serving as papal nuncio in Lima before coming here to succeed Most Rev. Ildebrando Antoniutti, now nuncio in Madrid. Miss Vaillancourt declared:

"I hope the sisters will go soon," she said at his first press conference since arriving here last Tuesday. "They would do well."

Msgr. Panico said some 20 Canadian Franciscan missionaries now are in Peru and will open a new parish by the end of the year. The hospital sisters of St. Joseph, a Canadian order, also operate a maternity house in Lima.

Msgr. Panico, who will be 39 next month, said his appointment as apostolic delegate is a change from his former post as papal nuncio. He explained a delegate is not officially recognized by the country to which he is appointed. A nuncio is the official envoy from the government which, in turn, appoints an ambassador or minister to the Vatican.

Young PC President Thinks Ottawa Meet Will Be 'Packed'

SUDBURY (CP)—Ralph Connor, president of Sudbury's Young Progressive Conservative Association, Friday night made public a letter in which he said he does not plan to attend the annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada in Ottawa March 15 because he considers the meeting will be "nothing more than a formality."

Mr. Connor told his association Thursday night the party's policy and resolution committees have been "packed." He and secretary-treasurer Simone Lalonde of the Sudbury group said they have decided not to attend and the group backed their stand.

Mr. Connor's letter to Donald Huston of Ottawa, executive secretary of the Young Conservative Association of Canada, said in part:

"I can see now constructiveness will be more necessary for a rebirth of enthusiasm among our party supporters forthcoming from this meeting.

"I have learned from authoritative sources that representation at the meeting will be more or less 'stacked' to accommodate those from the party officials in Ottawa feel will be 'neutrals' in any attempt to call a nonleadership convention for the leadership of the party.

"It seems that representation from our own province of Ontario does not include many of the ablest and most capable officials of the Progressive Conservative Association of Ontario, one of the two governing PC associations in all of Canada.

"It is true that delegates may be chosen by constituency associations and other larger regional and provincial associations. No doubt, many delegates who feel it is time for a change not only in the federal government but also in the hierarchy of our own party will attend the annual meeting.

"However, it must be remembered that these people will not have a position of activity at the meeting where they may effectively present their views. They must first be appointed to the limited resolutions and policy committee. This is an appointment which is not announced by officials from until the day of the meeting.

"It is unlikely that these views could be acceptable to the small number of officials who are allowed to vote on the resolutions. It is obvious that any attempt to reorganize the party can be stopped at any level of committee by the very person who might be objectionable to our party associations. This 'officialdom fear' within our party is the one deterrent to the reorganization of a strong national party which will win the next federal election.

"The Hon. George Drew (the party's national leader) is the one man available to our party who can win for us if we are willing to sacrifice our personal ambitions and join a wholehearted, spirited effort to build his supporting party into a national conservative movement. However, I do feel that Mr. Drew and the national Conservative party officials need, more than anyone else right now, a vote of confidence by officials representing delegations from Canada.

"This confidence vote could have come through the annual meeting but it was obviously 'stacked' into a session designed to accomplish just the opposite of a real movement. However, I do feel that Mr. Drew and the national Conservative party officials need, more than anyone else right now, a vote of confidence by officials representing delegations from Canada.

Film Festival Draws Fine Crowd On Opening Night

The first night of the Belleville and District Film Council's Film Festival, held yesterday evening at Queen Alexandra school, featured a busy of documentary films from various countries of the world. Ex-Alderman Charles Hyde, vice-president, acted as chairman in the absence of the president, Mrs. Wanda Sine. There was a good-sized audience in attendance.

Mr. Hyde opened the festival with a welcome to the guests. He commented on the success of the local chapter and spoke of the work done by the Film Council. Ron Ward of Peterborough, National Film Board representative for this area, was present and in charge of showing the eight films.

The first film was "The Story of C-1 Million," internationally known contemporary sculptor of Sweden. It was followed by "Bridge Over the Years," "Pakistan" and "Cook Islands." During the intermission, Mr. Hyde commented on the films already seen by the group and introduced Mrs. Ward for the evening.

Shown following intermission were the following: "World at Your Door," a Norwegian picture and scells of the earth and erosion: "Roland Y. Farmer Becomes Canadian," a study of The Netherlands Farmers co-operative bank; "Friendly Finland," and "The Heart is Highland," a J. Arthur Rank release portraying the rugged delights and beauty of Scotland.

The Film Festival re-convenes this afternoon at 2:00 p.m. Today is the final day of the festival.

Commission Takes Montreal Trip For Interviews

A number of important contacts were made by members of the Industrial Commission at Montreal on their visit Thursday, during the trip were Ald. William Argue, chairman of the Commission, Ald. Claude D. Tice, Robert A. Pringle, City Solicitor and Freeman Bourchier, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

In a room in the modern were entertained to luncheon by C. K. Connor, assistant general manager of the Bank of Montreal and Pat Shea, commissioner for industrial development for the bank at the St. James' Club.

A Swedish firm was interviewed and other contacts, that the Commission has been working on were called upon. Although industry is not moving at the present time, the Commission feels that prospects for the settling of at least one new industry in this city this year is exceedingly bright.

Stirling Trims Bracebridge 4-2

Stirling's young hockey club took a stranglehold on the OMHA juvenile "C" semi-finals series in Bracebridge last night, defeating the Muskoka District champions by a 4-2 score in the first game of the goals-to-count series. The second game will be played in Memorial Arena on Monday night.

The game was fast and clean throughout with Bracebridge scoring both their goals in the first half of the first period. The Stirling defence led by Hermiston and backed by the fine goalkeeping of Brady kept the Bracebridge forwards off the score sheet for the rest of the game.

The Stirling youngsters roared from behind to narrow the margin to 3-1 in the first period, and scored the only goal of the second half.

They kept on their fine offensive play in the third period, while home two goals without a return to grab the honors.

Claremont scored for the home-sters after minute of play and Saunders made it two unassisted halfway through the period. McMurray whittled the margin to a goal with a fine solo effort at the 15-minute mark.

McMurray tied the count after eight minutes of play in the second period taking Hadley's pass to beat the Bracebridge goalie. Early in the third period Stirling went one up when Knapton slammed home Parks' pass to score and Hadley fired the insurance goal after eleven minutes on a neat unassisted effort.

Nine penalties were handed out by the officials, four to Stirling.

McMurray and Hadley stood out for the winners with Hermiston doing a fine job on the defence. The whole Stirling team played good hockey and are confident they can take the round here Monday.

IN MEMORIAM

TURNER. — In loving memory of my dear husband, Samuel Turner, who passed away March 6th, 1952.
Sweetheart, memory recalls you still
Of a husband whose worth can never be told
Alone, unseen, he stands by my side,
And whispers, dear wife
Don't worry, don't grieve
I'll help you believe
In sorrow and pain I shared our pains and happiness
With love and devotion
And death shall never end our love.
Our children in my heart I hold
Sadly missed by wife Ethel. Mr

A Lift for Living

What Does It Mean to Win?

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

If I were to ask you how many of you desire to be successful, you would think it a silly, stupid question! . . .

Of course, we all want to succeed. The urge to succeed is something like a born instinct. If players were not eager to win, there would be no zest in our games. But what does it mean to succeed?

In the King James version of the Bible, the word "success" occurs only once. But that one reference holds a key position. It is in the first chapter of the Book of Joshua.

Moses is dead, and Joshua has taken leadership of the children of Israel. He is bidden to lead them across the Jordan into the Promised Land of Canaan. The Lord promises to be with Joshua as he was with Moses, provided the new leader keeps the laws of Moses.

The record has God giving to Joshua this message: "Then shall you make your way prosperous and then you shall have good success."

SUCCESS IN GOD'S SIGHT

But what is good success in God's sight?

Certainly we can say, first of all, that good success must be inspired by a good motive. Ambition —which, as we have said, is essential to useful living—can be devilish as well as Godly.

When the desire to succeed is only the urge to self-advancement, it does play the devil. Healthy self-assertiveness loses heart in the welfare of larger groups.

If a boy trains for the football team, it makes a great difference whether he is out to be a star performer attracting glory to himself or whether he is a team player. The fellow who plays by the grandstand, however brilliant, may not become popular with those "in the know."

The chief value of school and college athletics, in fact of all school loyalties, is to expand the success patterns of youth to include interests beyond themselves.

The decisive question in our desire to win is: for whose sake? Do we wish the success for the sake of ourselves? That is bad. Or do we wish to succeed for the sake of our family, our church, our work?

That is good, so far as it goes. We do all these loyalties badly if to some sovereign loyalty which gives plan and purpose to our lives?

ALBERTS CONTENDING

Saint Paul frankly admitted that he was contending for a prize like a runner in a race or a contestant in the Grecian games. But he prefaced his remark by saying: "I do it all for the sake of the Gospel."

Observe this contrast. Love rules ambition in the case of a man nearer our own time.

A Scottish lad began to work in a cotton factory at the age of 10 and toiled there for 20 years. He was eager to improve himself and at the end of eighteen years he had mastered Latin and Greek. He was then ready to go (again like our barrier) on the last lap of the university journey.

LONG FLIGHTS

Therefore birds that cross the gulf of Mexico must make the 200 to 700 mile flight in one leap, as it were. Even the tiny hummingbird does this. The sora rail, though having small, short wings, has opportunity to go quite reluctant to fly more than a few yards, crosses the Caribbean Sea.

Many small birds, like the indigo bunting, fly rapidly over a swamp or desert. Such birds cannot obtain food there any more than can fish from a large body of water. Naturally, arid land, being less as a stop-over to feed, is quickly crossed.

Night migrants apparently go farther in one flight than day migrants. The gray-cheeked thrush sometimes flies more than 12 miles in a single night as it comes up from Peru. Another night traveller, the Nashville warbler, is an excellent example of a bird that accelerates its speed for the last part of its trip. From April 23d to 30th it flies about 30 miles a day; then until May 10th goes at 100 miles a day; after that it speeds up to about 300 miles. Such a difference is, of course, unusual.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

EN ROUTE

The Canada Goose flies north keeping time with the advance of spring. However, it does not wait in their southern homes until all signs of Old Man Winter have left, and then move somewhat faster than does the spring, arriving sufficiently early at their breeding grounds.

The rate of migration flight varies greatly, but certainly is never the bird's fastest speed. It would be as foolish for a bird to rush on the trip as for a barrier to sprint. Rest and food, as necessary to them as to us, must also be arranged for. And so the average rate is about 23 miles a day. Only occasionally do they hurry at all. There can be no dawdling over a wide expanse where food is not to be found, and there is a great inclination to speed up (again like our barrier) on the last lap of the

Peace, Perfect Peace

Peace, perfect peace,
In this dark world of sin?
The blood of Jesus whispers
Peace within.

Peace, perfect peace,
By throngs elate pressed?
To do the will of Jesus—
This is rest.

Peace, perfect peace,
With sorrows surging round?
On Jesus' bosom
Naught but calm is found.

Peace, perfect peace,
With loved ones far away?
In Jesus' keeping
We are safe, and they.

Peace, perfect peace,
Our future all unknown?
Jesus we know,
And He is on the throne.

Peace, perfect peace,
Death shadowing us and ours?
Jesus has vanquished death
And all its powers.

It is enough;
Earth's struggles soon shall cease,
And Jesus calls us
To heaven's perfect peace.

"PEACE, PERFECT PEACE"

Here is another Bible-inspired hymn. Its theme stems back to the third verse of the twenty-sixth chapter of Isaiah:

"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee: because he trusteth in Thee".

When the Rev. Edward Bickersteth, an English clergyman, brought out a little volume entitled "Songs In The House of Pilgrimage" more than half a century ago, this hymn was one of the choicest gems in the collection, spending a summer outing at Harrogate, England. Canon Gibbon, then serving as vicar of Harrogate, preached on Sunday on the Bible text cited above.

"In the Hebrew text", the preacher explained, "the scripture contains the words 'peace, peace'. But in 1825, and after gracious blessing from Cambridge University he became a pastor of the Church of England in 1846. His active ministry continued for more than 30 years and apart from his church death and who wished spiritual both prose and poetry.

"Peace, Perfect Peace" was written while the pastor-poet was confined to his room as we have it today.

It was written in 1875 and is still to be found in most church song books.

Ten years after he wrote "Peace, Perfect Peace", Dr. Bickersteth was named Bishop of Exeter. He was born at Islington, England, in 1825, and after graduation from Cambridge University comfort. The churchman took out pad and pencil to compose some peace-giving verses. The stanzas which he penned are those of the

THE SHY SATELLITE.

One of the most intriguing bargains announced in recent weeks is the economy flight to the moon. Romanticists, unable to enjoy life at a distance of 243,000 miles from the moon, have been expounding loudly in the last three or four years about practical methods of a flight from the earth to the moon. Of course, such a project would cost billions and billions of dollars (four to be exact if you want to be exact at all). However, a moon flight must be preceded by the construction of a space station—an artificial earth satellite—some one thousand miles out in space, before the week-end excursion blasts off for Luna.

Now the bridgers who pile one brick upon another until carpenters nail on the roof might be surprised that it is possible to build a space station in space with no bricks built upon other bricks. And then again he may not be surprised. In any case the space experts say such a thing can be done and must be done before moon flight is possible.

However, there is another alternative. Suppose there is an unknown earth satellite already in position that could be used instead. Think of the saving! All that would be needed would be a hydrazine filling station and a delicatessen to provide corned beef on rye sandwiches, and the expedition would be off with a roar.

Scoffers will kindly leave the room. For that is exactly what the U.S. armed forces are looking for—an unknown natural earth satellite. And to locate one, if one is there, they have commissioned two of America's best known astronomers.

And how are these gentlemen going to start looking for such a satellite? They are going to train their cameras at the sky and try, if possible, to track them with cameras moving at the same speed as the satellite and in the same direction. Such a lucky combination would mean how the satellite as a dark dot against the background of star streaks.

After that, of course, the job is easy. It is only necessary to haul out the necessary men and materials before the Russians get to it. Why South? Up? Down? Oh well, at least they will be heading somewhere, won't they?

Another happy thought is that once the lucky fellows establish a beachhead on this satellite they will be able to launch atomic missiles at any point on earth with complete impunity and thereby dominate any nation or country completely. This dominance it is felt will establish peace throughout the world because no one would want to fight.

However, it would seem like a good idea this March, and for a few more years to come, to buy an umbrella for protection against showers from space.

WAR AMPUTATIONS KEY TAG SERVICE.

Have you received your motor licence key tag yet?

During the next three months 2,100,000 of these miniature licence tags will be mailed to Canadian motorists by the War Amputations of Canada Key Tag Service. Over half the recipients will be Ontario residents.

The Canadian service was started in 1946, copying a similar scheme instituted in 1940 by the United States Veterans. The idea is that motorists will place the miniature licence tag, corresponding to the licence number of their automobile, on the chain with their car keys. If these keys are lost, the tag instructs the finder to mail the keys to the War Amputations Key Tag Service at Toronto. The Service records are consulted and the keys are returned to their owner.

Motorists are asked to mail 35 cents as payment for their key tags. By doing so they will be helping a worthy cause and will get the tags mailed to them promptly.

Motorists are asked to be receiving good value for their money. The war amputees deserve high praise for their desire to provide this service to those who assist them. Really, the tags could be sold to cost only 25 cents. But the cost of producing these tags, like the cost of everything else, has increased. Last year the War Amputations Key Tag Service, in the words of a letter to this newspaper, "successfully averted financial disaster." The association deserves a better fate than having to face such a threat. So, when you receive your key tag, mail your contribution promptly.

AN ENCOURAGING DEVELOPMENT.

Most encouraging is a report from Nairobi, Kenya, that some Mau Mau terrorist leaders favor proposals for ending the bloody strife in that land.

The apparent willingness to effect a settlement may conceivably have been influenced by a recent report by a group of members of the British House of Commons who visited Kenya. The members, representing all parties, were critical of instances of police brutality in the campaign against the terrorists. In view of the extreme cruelty of the Mau Mau members in their raids on white settlers, this criticism may have surprised some of the Mau Mau chieftains.

It ought not to be beyond the bounds of possibility, if the Mau Mau will adopt a reasonable attitude, to devise a settlement which will make it possible for white man and black man to live and work together in peace.

LIFE.

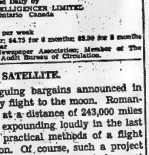
I did not ask into this world to come,
Nor do I know how long shall be my stay
I've heard the music of the stirring drum
I've seen the children romping at their play,
I've seen red tulips springing from the soil
And shared with men and women much of toil.



Some things of life I've missed, as all men must,
But pain and hurt and happiness and song,
[illegible] just

I have encountered as I've trudged along.
I've seen the countless stars that light the sky
And the white clouds of summer drifting by.

The pain of living is the price I've paid
For all the days of gladness I have known,
For the devoted friendships I have made
And all the blessons in my garden grown.
And I would live again, again to die,
So rich a life as mine has been

LOOKING BACKWARDS
GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO
March 6, 1934

Mrs. Robert Kitchen and young son, Bobby, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Edwards, in this city.

Considerable improvement in the demand for farm help is noted at the office of the Employment Service of Canada according to Mr. Lorne F. Green, the local superintendent.

Miss Cora Thurston has returned to her home in Trenton after spending three weeks here with Miss Helen Celgher.

With only 80 homes in the city connected by the water works department without water today as a result of frozen pipes, contrasted with a small number of between four and five hundred out of action two weeks or more ago and with immediate threat of further severe frost now over, the manager of the waterworks department, E. T. Austin and his staff drew a deep breath of relief today for the first time since Feb. 1st. and took stock of the situation. Work will be pushed as fast as possible to get the water running from the frozen taps in the 80 houses now on the list.

30 YEARS AGO
March 8, 1924

Mr. J. J. Gibson, M.L.A. of Saskatchewan and at present mayor of Unity, Sask., has left for his home accompanied by his wife, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Faulkner, Cedar Street.

Mrs. Seward Modeland, Charles Street, is visiting friends in Toronto.

The new X-ray machine at the local hospital is proving to be of great service.

The Rev. Walter Cox of Lakefield was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson, Catherine Street.

Mrs. J. F. Scheuerman of New York City is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Pepple, John Street.

40 YEARS AGO
March 6, 1914

The Belleville Lodge No. 123 A.F. & A.M., celebrated the installation of two of the officers of the 15th. Regiment Argyll Light Infantry last evening by holding a military night, all the brother officers of the regiment appearing in full uniform and regalia. The chairs were taken by Bt. Lt. Col. Bro. C. S. Lazier and Bt. Wor. Bro. Col. W. H. Ponton; Wor. Bros. Col. Thomas Stewart and Lieut. Colonel W. Marsh; Bro. Col. W. G. Ketcheson of the 49th regiment and by the following officers, Capt. Wilson of the 15th. Regiment, the Master of Hoics Lodge; Capt. Wilson of the 49th Regiment. Major Ketcheson, Lieut. Bleecker, Capt. Tuttest, Capt. Wallbridge, Lieut. O'Flynn, Capt Slater, Capt. Allen and several other regrents of the 3th Battery, under the direction of Capt. Hudson, the Master of the Belleville Lodge and Major Barragar, the secretary of The Belleville Lodge. During the session of the lodge, birthday honors were accorded Wor. Bro. Walter Alford.

50 YEARS AGO
March 6, 1904

Mr. E. D. O'Flynn of Madoc was in town today.

Mrs. C. Reginald of McIrose is visiting friends here.

Mr. M. Moon and family left today for Port Arthur, Ontario, where they will in future reside.

Miss May Easton has returned home from Toronto.

Dr. Macaulay of Brockville spent yesterday in town.

Mrs. James Brooker, who resides with her son-in-law Mr. James Woodley, Murney Street, will observe tomorrow the 85th anniversary of her birth. Many friends will be pleased to extend congratulations and good wishes to her.

Mr. W. R. Graham of Guelph spent the week-end here with relatives.

THE PACKSACK.
By GREGORY CLARK

The two once noble rivers that flow through the rapidly expanding city of Toronto are now tragic vessels for the refuse of modern life. The other, the Humber, rages like a lion in the spring flood with its burden of once polluted, junk-strewn runnel, trickling over its pebble stones.

On the bumber banks I encountered a bermish named Pierce who lived in a shanty hidden amidst the wild grapes and willow tangles of the valley. He was poor river's margins. A bearded old nature-boy, knew every bird and plant that still survives there, and remembered those that are gone.

"They would hardly believe," he told me, "how beautiful, this river was in the eighties and the nineties. In late April and very early May, the trailing arbutus was so thick on these riverbanks that, on windless early mornings and just before sunset of a quiet day, the perfume would float down onto the river as though it were a mist of it. And the delicious scent. On weekends, at that season of year, the people would come out the three or four miles from Toronto and rent boats at the mouth of the Humber to come up and picnic here, a sort of arbutus festival.

"When they went home, they took their pickings with them, the arbutus with them. What harm could that do? The banks would be carpeted with the flower.

"Today, you can walk three miles here on the banks to the source, and never find a single blossom of arbutus. Or worse, the city has grown out far past the Humber now. In June when the city was full of a certain smudge on the horizon, we had all the orchids here to ourselves. Orchids like a shoey lady's slipper, both the yellow lady's slippers, the marvellous little showy orchis like a tiny man walking under the beeches. They and the arbutus all went together, to a single one of towns that have grown still, might like to know about this.

They might like to watch for that signal. It might be like a tune, maybe the one the Pied Piper played.

Letter to the Editor

Senator W. A. Fraser Replies To Criticism

P.O. Box 306,
Trenton, Ontario,
March 4, 1954.

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

There appeared in your issue of February 27th a letter signed by a person, Kenneth G. M. Ross, with reference to the members of the Canadian Senate.

This facetious person referred to members of the Senate, some by the twilight of their careers, "the blind, the lame and the halt."

Let me tell this undignified person that the members of the Canadian Senate include some of the most youthful, keen and experienced minds in Canada from business, commerce, industry, the legal profession, the art of Government and mature Canadian citizenship — intellects in comparison that would make certain people I know look like juvenile school boys.

When your correspondent, Kenneth G. M. Ross, has contributed as much to the development of our country and to Canadian citizenship as Senator Donald Smith, it will be time for his criticism and uncalled-for references.

I challenge Mr. Ross to publish his 1953 Income Tax Returns showing the amount of his "hard-earned savings." Just as a matter of curiosity, to whom provided for services rendered.

Relative to the reference to anatomy, let me tell him it is his head that gives him trouble

Yours very truly,
W. A. FRASER.

Snorkel Old Invention

(New York Times)

The principles of the frogman and the snorkel, World War II development, are, 400 years old.

Historians and scholars learned this when they saw previously unknown sketches by Leonardo Da Vinci, Renaissance genius.

In a 150 manuscript, are the frogman and his snorkel, models of rockets, an air-filled mattress, a diving bell and breathing and free drawings on how to simplify the printing press.

The inventor whose ideas did not materialize for nearly four centuries was Italian Raphael. Rabbards describes his snorkel theory in his text and shows a frogman swimming under water with a heavy sword upraised as he nears an enemy diver.

Mr. Osborn, who described Rabbards as a versatile inventor, Italian adventurer and scientist, assembled his private collection during many travels.

New Name
(Vancouver Province)

The centre of gravity in Canada is changing. The old "department of the north" is to become the "Department of Northern Affairs and Natural Resources." Not a very euphonious clumsy but more accurately descriptive.

Diesels for Cars
(Fort. William Times-Journal)

Now the diesel engine is being adapted for the motor car in England. One model travels 45 miles on a gallon of fuel oil. The top speed of the car is reduced from 70 to 60 miles an hour; but can that be considered a disadvantage?

'Pump Logs' Of Other Days

(Ottawa Journal)

The younger generation cannot be expected to understand what is meant by "pump logs," but those who can remember the turn of the century will recall that it was often offered brought to farm homes and barns through bored-out logs. Just how the term "pump log" became common is a mystery. There is nothing to do with pumps so far as we can discover, for the water ran by gravity from spring on a hillside through the logs to the farmstead.

As a lad of 13 or so the countryman helped dig up a long line of pump logs from a spring on the farm. The logs were eight or ten inches in diameter, bored straight through in from a tube of the running water. If memory serves, the logs were about eight feet long and had a round hole about an inch in diameter. Grandfather said that certain men made wide reputations as skilled log-borers. The end of two logs end to end of the log with a long bit. Sometimes when a log-borer broke through the side line was needed the first section of boring was made by a red hot iron.

Common woods were spruce and balsam. They are soft and easy to bore, and easy to ream out when a log has tapered and fits tightly into the roomed end of the next log. If the logs were to be used for any length of time, they were soaked in brine and laid in the trench, running through all the farm buildings and the joints water tight. Pump logs served farms efficiently for decades.

Probable no pump logs are in use today; they have joined the museum company of bootjacks and surreys. But they have their place in the lore and honors those who made do with what was at hand the pump log is a delightful story of the time when men uncomplainingly made the good fight to win home and security for their families.

Mad Moose Of Nova Scotia

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

The moose in Nova Scotia are believed mad or, at least, neurotic, and scientists are on hand to study the cause. Some of the wild beasts, indeed, obviously suffering from malnutrition, have been seen to leave the countryside with motor and sensory nerves in a riot of disorder. At times they are said to have run, crash into fences, and often get so entangled in barbed wire fences and swamps that they perish from starvation.

Scientists have discovered that the moose are suffering from a brain disease which is similar to the mad cow disease of dietary deficiencies of certain minerals and vitamins. One of the theories put upon which the moose fed and which was essentially a mainland animal, has suddenly died, leaving the moose confused and bewildered. Normally the animals would have moved further north to find the cooler temperatures and the necessary vitamins. But this forced them to remain with the only connecting point to the north being the narrow tidal land strip at the Bay of Fundy. The moose were thus hemmed within the area of the province unless they stumbled upon this isthmus to New Brunswick.

The Nova Scotia Land of Forests is to prove a connection between moose maladies and pulpwood cutting. The Nova Scotia Lands and Forests Department is sponsoring the research in the hope of learning something about human madness from the moose.

SPELLED OUT IN THE BIBLE

What do you worship? Most people worship a vague idea.

What is the meaning of the word God? Most people God is a higher power. Little children regard him as a great Man up in the skies, causing the rain and snow to fall and punishing people when they are bad. This is childish and highly anthropomorphic, but it is nearer the truth than the God of vague ideas.

"No man has seen God at any time." But the Bible has made the nature of God and his purpose so clear that we can understand all that the human mind is able to grasp about such a Being. He is an unseen, all-powerful, personal God. Every branch of the Christian Church teaches the same about the nature and sovereignty of God. The teachings of these Holy scriptures and the teachings of the New Testament fit perfectly. Further in giving us a picture of a personal God who is all-wise, loving, compassionate and whose purpose is to turn the hearts of his children toward himself in love and fellowship.

Our Lord declared that it was not the will of the Heavenly Father that a single person should be lost (Matt. 18:14). Men are lost because of their own willfulness and sin. God would have all men come to a saving knowledge of the truth.

Stop worshiping a vague idea. Saving truth is spelled out in the Word of God and interpreted in the creeds of the Church.

HOW TO WANGLE A SABBATICAL

Ever since Tony was a pup I have been trying to gain recognition as a teacher. Teachers get a leave of absence every seven years or so, for they need research and rest. Pretty soft, eh?

Too late I realized I should take a leave when anyone called on "Doc" might have maintained enough dignity to wangle a sabbatical. But not after it became "Ol' Doc."

Dr. Brady

So four years ago I decided to take a leave and the heck with it. Well, maybe I didn't decide all by myself. There can't be an arbitrary about such things. To tell the truth Micky, my first wife made up my mind for me, with three little words, magic words, she used to me. "Let's go somewhere." Let's go somewhere for a change." I cried—"Let me see, you're kidding!" But there it was—the very first time Mrs. Capetown the ship would "approach" and, weather permitting, stand a few miles off . . . "Never mind the rest of it," I said. "Start packing."

Many lovely days that winter I had to slave away here to pile up copy while the loafers were enjoying life on the boundless ocean. Sailing time in January I managed to grind out enough stuff to cover six weeks, but I had to buy a dozen pieces by medical contributors to fill up the column going until I got back in April.

A few readers detected a difference in style and wanted to know what had happened. But I offered a prize to any reader who would tell me which articles in a month were written by me. There were no takers.

Some of the contributions received from medical colleagues seemed so good that I hated to pay for them — and found later that the language was so technical that most readers didn't know what the good doctors were trying to tell them. Second, I discovered after I had bought them, were copied from medical texts with little or no modification for the newspaper reader. But some of the articles received from real doctors were so good that I began to think I might solicit contributions from physicians, dentists and osteopaths; article to be published each week without the author's name as he or she might prefer, and paid for on publication.

Then after I had bought them, were copied from medical texts with little or no modification for the newspaper reader. But some of the articles received from real doctors were so good that I began to think I might solicit contributions from physicians, dentists and osteopaths; article to be published each week without the author's name as he or she might prefer, and paid for on publication.

TODAY'S TALK
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON WALKING

Walking is an essential. That is why we were endowed with two legs. But many have taken to walking as an adventure and a joy. History has noted the names of those who were very fond of and delighted in their daily strolls. The late John L. Sullivan, in the New York Times, was a famous walker. So was Vachel Lindsay, who tramped thousands of miles, selling his poems for bread. So was Thoreau, whose walks immortalized the road.

I once visited the famous athletic field and football coach, Alonzo Stagg, and he invited me to take a morning walk with him. We went then in his advanced seventies. Thoreau, Whitman, Charles Lamb, Leigh Hunt, George Gissing, W. H. Davis, the "supper tramp" and especially Robert Louis Stevenson, famous walkers. So was W. H. Hudson, as are many thousands of others, all tramp the woods for months at a time. On my way to work I have

RAF Club Infiltrated

(Manchester Guardian)

The news that a lady pilot has been mistakenly granted membership of a Royal Air Force officers' club for men, merely by giving her initials on the application form instead of full Christian names and qualifying by virtue of being a lady, recalls a similar case of female infiltration.

It happened in 1880 when only male students were admitted to the Royal Painting and Sculpture School of the Royal Academy. An enterprising painting Cornford—took her place among the young men. She cut her hair short, dressed as artfully planned invasion. Two or three more girls soon followed, and a small number of female students kept on increasing until by 1914 it considerably exceeded that old the males!

Except an episode which the members of the Royal Air Force club in question should bear in mind.

Mystery At Dawn

"The entrance of the tomb gaped at her, black and forbidding."

CHAPTER 4.

The first Christian to reach the tomb when the darkness was over was Mary Magdalene. She came by herself in the dark just before dawn on Sunday, the ninth of April.

She had sat with the others in the stillness of the Cenacle through hour after hour of night. Mary, the mother of Jesus, had gone apart to pray in another room, without rest, hearing and seeing nothing that was of the earth. None dared intrude upon her.

Eleven men from Galilee, spouting herself in their Master, and four faithful women prayed and wondered and wept through the dark watches of that holy Saturday night. They could not sleep. The silence of grief lay on them like a spell.

And in the deepest shadow of a corner near the door, a woman sat huddled away from the others and in her soul was a turmoil she could not understand.

She had stayed on to go with the other women in the dawn to purchase the extra spices needed to complete His burial arrangements. Now dawn was close, and she could not wait.

Unseen in the gloom, driven by seething emotion, she wrapped her veil and mantle close about her and stepped noiselessly out the door into the black-shadowed streets. The skies far overhead hinted at the first lightening of day, as Mary Magdalene sped on alone through the city.

In her memory's eye she saw only a night that now seemed so long ago, the night in the house of a Pharisee when she had knelt and washed with her tears the feet of Christ. She saw again those warm deep eyes of His looking at her, and knowing her for the adulteress she was, and she heard Him say:

"Her sins, which are many, are forgiven; for she loved much."

That love drove her now through the streets, flaging in the first faint chill before dawn. Her alabaster box was long since emptied of ointment Her tears could not touch Him now. But she longed to be close to Him, as near His tomb as soldiers and stone would allow.

Breathless she entered Joseph of Arimathea's garden. And what she saw there in the dimmish light filled her with anguish and dread.

The stone had been rolled away!

The great boulder of gneiss and spar and quartz and granite, sealing the door of the sepulcher, had been moved. In spite of Roman guards, in spite of its weight in spite of all probability, the stone had been taken away The entrance of the tomb gaped at her, bleak and forbidding.

Mary Magdalene saw no more. She turned on her heels and ran back to the Cenacle, back to tell Peter the incredible fantastic fact.

The other three women were already on their way to the tomb. Mary Cleophas, and Mary Salomey—and—Joanna, carrying their own precious store of money, had gone to bang on the doors of sleeping merchants, demanding to buy sweet spices and precious ointments for burial. Nicodemus had brought a hundredweight of spices on that sad Friday afternoon, but still more were needed to fulfill the ritual of burial.

These women had believed with sweet-faced obstinacy that they could wake a man from his bed to open shop in the half-dark, just to make a small sale for three strange women. And they were right. In less than half an hour they had the newly purchased jars of ointment, the boxes of herbs and spices triumphantly in their hands. The grumbles of the shopkeepers faded in their ears as they scurried through Jerusalem toward the garden tomb.

But what good would their ointments be, they murmured to each other, if they could not enter the tomb? What real hope had these three good wives that the Roman soldiers would let them in? The tomb was sealed, they knew. They could not have told how they expected to gain entrance. Theirs was an errand of blind faith.

In whispers they asked each other as they hastened on: "Who shall roll us back the stone from the sepulchre?"

Inside the garden their whispers ceased as they stared at the tomb that seemed so mysteriously broken in the pink and gray light of dawn. Their problem was vanished.

They saw the stone rolled back, and the door wide open.

Who was to tell them that in the dark watches of the Sabbath night there had been another earthquake — and that an angel of the Lord, descended from heaven, had walked in this garden and, with the supernatural touch of one finger, rolled back the stone and even now sat upon it?

The women stared at this strange being upon the stone. His countenance radiated as if lightning played over it and never left it, and his raiment was shining as snow, and they wondered and were afraid.

Where were the guards? In the light of the rising sun the women saw them cowering in a paralyzed and most unwarlike posture. A cataleptic group, kneeling frozen with terror, they were as dead men at this tomb of the One who had already overcome death.

And while all this was held in uncanny silence as the tomb Mary Magdalene was running fast as the morning sunlight down the narrow Jerusalem streets, until she reached the Cenacle.

"Peter! Peter!" cried Mary Magdalene. And she looked at the huge man from the Galilee fishing fleet and beside him, John the Beloved, and she blurted out her news:

"They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre and we know not where they have laid Him."

Urges Dairy Industry Give Cheese Producers More Aid

TORONTO (CP)—Increased aid to Ontario cheese producers by the dairy industry as a whole was called for Friday by Gordon Greer, past-president of the Ontario Whole Milk Producers' League.

Mr. Greer, in supporting the proposed stabilization fund contained in the new dairy act now before the legislature, told members of the legislature's agriculture committee that it was the "concern of every dairy farmer" that cheese producers should not be made to carry the brunt of falling export markets of their product.

"If we don't keep the cheese producers in a prosperous condition they'll be out of business when we need them," he said.

C. V. Millburn, secretary-manager of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture said his organization had been faced with the problem for several years.

"The solution will definitely affect farm income this year. I don't think anyone here wants to impose on cheese producers the same hardship as last year. All we want is some machinery that would give a fair share for all."

Furthermore, it would have a radical and as yet undetermined impact on the interest of milk and cream patrons, manufacturers and processors, and consumers."

The brief signed by O. E. Sinclair, vice president of the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association, W. R. Fetterly, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, Stan Thurston, secretary-manager of the Ontario Milk Powder Association, and J. F. Cox, president of the Evaporated Milk Manufacturers, said no official conditions on the provisions of the act had been held between representatives of the producing and operating divisions of the industry "and because the best interests of consumers are our best interests also, we feel you will agree that it is most desirable that an opportunity be afforded for this purpose."

"We recommend . . . that in the public interest the bill be not presented for second reading prior to the next session of the legislature."

Acting agriculture minister Goodfellow said the committee planned to hear the bill again on March 17 and suggested the manufacturers and processors study the bill and then discuss their arguments with the committee on that date. Mr. Chapple agreed to the suggestion.

NO PRICE CONSULTATION

T. L. Kennedy (PC—Peel) said it was "too bad" that the manufacturers and processors hadn't been consulted before the bill was presented.

"It doesn't look good . . . It looks like the organizations are fighting the farmers all the time. It looks very bad to see a fight coming on between two groups who should be partners."

Mr. Chapple said there was nothing in the bill "at the moment that we are opposed to in principle."

"But it has far-reaching power. It will be used by operators and it is impossible for us to know just how the operators feel about it."

He said the 'bet was "much broader" than just a consolidation and invited the dairy farmers to suggested by Mr. Goodfellow.

The bill proposes the formation of a milk industry commission to co-ordinate all phases of the industry under one head.

Prior to the manufacturers' delegation, representatives of the producers voiced their support of the bill.

Four Dairy Groups Request Delay in Stabilization Act

TORONTO (CP) — Four dairy manufacturing and processing associations Friday appealed to the Ontario legislature's agriculture committee to postpone passage of the new dairy stabilization Act until the next session.

Earl Drope, a member of the legislative committee of the Ontario Creameries' Association which made a separate appeal, said the legislation "just might legislate us out of business."

"We find the more we look at the bill the more we find out about it."

In presenting the manufacturer's brief, Lyle Chapple, vice-president of the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association, appealed for more time to study the legislation.

The brief said copies of the bill, given first reading in the House Feb. 26, were not available to the four groups until last Wednesday.

RADICAL IMPACT

"Such a brief perusal, however, convinces us that the proposed legislation is of very great importance and that enactment thereof would have far reaching consequences of a provincial, national and international character.

"We recommend . . . that in the public interest the bill be not presented for second reading prior to the next session of the legislature."

Acting agriculture minister Goodfellow said the committee planned to hear the bill again on March 17 and suggested the manufacturers and processors study the bill and then discuss their arguments with the committee on that date. Mr. Chapple agreed to the suggestion.

Student Personalities At Albert College

A weekly feature of interesting facts revealed in interviews with those young undergraduat s who hail from countries beyond the seas.

By GEORGE H. CARVER

At twelve years of age most children are beginning to wonder what the outside world looks like. They learn about the seven seas, the continents and other geographical data from schoolbooks.

Not so Elizabeth Brown, who has seen a dozen summers flit by and who for the first time in her life is enjoying some educational continuity.

ELIZABETH BROWN

Elizabeth is a pretty blue-eyed blonde youngster, who has more world travel to her credit than any modern Marco Polo of her age.

There were times when Elizabeth could be reached in Windsor, Ont., Singapore, New York City, San Francisco, and Kuala Lumpur in the Federation of Malaya.

These days you can find her paying strict attention to her studies at Albert College.

Elizabeth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brown at present residing at 125 Western Road, Penang, Malaya. Mr. Brown is associated with the Standard Vacuum Oil Company there.

Unlike her counterparts who study the three R's in the comfortable seclusion of a class room, Elizabeth has been forced, more or less to take her education "on the fly". The Brown family was on the move so much at one time that Mrs. Brown taught Elizabeth via the Calvert system.

STARTED AT FIVE

Elizabeth started her travels when she was five years of age. Born in Windsor she lived for a while in the United States, then was whisked off to historic Singapore where the family remained for three years.

Then away to far-off New York for a sojourn of three months then across the United States to San Francisco. After a brief stay there Elizabeth again journeyed to the East Asian sphere living in Singapore for another year before moving to Kuala Lumpur, which is fast lately been in the news because of native Communist activities.

The Browns then moved to Penang, a small island of the Straits Settlements lying at the north entrance to the Straits of Malacca, where they now reside.

Elizabeth likes life in East Asia, especially Singapore with its beautiful residences and modern architecture. She also likes colorful Penang with its Chinese-Malayan atmosphere, its rubber plantations, and healthful, bracing sea-breezes.

The island is small being only 14 miles long, eight miles wide with an area of 106 square miles. With Singapore and Malacca it forms a crown colony with a common governor. Penang and Malacca each have a resident councillor.

Penang raises sugar, rubber and cocoanuts in abundance (with peppers, cloves, ginger, coffee, pineapples, sweet potatoes, etc.

In its jungle fastnesses roam monkeys, civets, wildcats, wild oxen buffalo, hogs, pelicans and numerous species of brilliantly plumaged birds, and at the present time a fast-diminishing band of guerrilla Communists.

BARBED WIRE ENCLOSURES

Elizabeth used to make trips with her father into the jungle to visit the villages. But unfortunately to the Communists were 'sneakers' due to them when they crept in by night from the jungle. By giving the families food sufficient for their own needs for a day at a time, the Communists are temporarily bought off.

"Families are allowed to move from one village to another but they must get official permission. If granted the government moves them with armored vehicles and armed guards," she said.

Barricaded-made houses and radio sets are not much good in Penang, Elizabeth said. It seems that Penang is still after a short sojourn there. Programs are mostly British from Singapore and American from Manila. There is no television set there and that is owned by the governor.

The European population of Penang numbers around 11,300 with Malayans, Chinese etc., making up a native population of some 200,000 inclusive of that of Wellesley a province that is part of the settlement and is a long strip of the Malay peninsula opposite the island some 45 miles long and nine miles in breadth.

Elizabeth reached the eighth grade in School in Singapore some fourteen miles south of Penang. From her educational venue jumped across the broad Pacific to Albert College where she is spending her first year.

Athletically inclined, this attractive young miss likes badminton, tennis, and is an excellent swimmer. She is too young to think of a career. "I am just getting an education right now."

Would she like to live in Canada?. Well, no. She loves the beauty of Kuala Lumpur of South East Asia and would like to spend her life down there.

Incidentally, Elizabeth will not be seeing her beloved Malaya this year. Father and mother are arriving in Canada in April and will spend the next six months in the summer warmth of their native country.

The date of the meeting will be held on March 21st.

St. Laurent's Daughter Runs Prime Minister Close Second In Spreading Canadian Goodwill

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

COLOMBO, Ceylon (CP) — Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, daughter of Prime Minister St. Laurent's three daughters, is running her father a close second in spreading Canadian goodwill around the world.

The attractive, 38-year-old wife of a Montreal lawyer has been her father's close companion, family counsellor and sometimes his personal representative during the dozens of functions in seven countries visited so far on the Canadian leader's goodwill tour.

She has made friends for Canada wherever she has gone.

At Bonn, West Germany's capital, while the prime minister was occupied with state matters, Mrs. O'Donnell was guest of honor at a dinner given by Mrs. T. C. Davis, wife of Canada's ambassador there, for the wives of other diplomats and of members of the Canadian embassy staff.

At Cairo, Egypt, France, she was the luncheon guest of Mrs. W. Welzey, wife of the group captain who commands the RCAF station near the German border.

Mrs. O'Donnell chatted with the large group of wives of RCAF officers and their families, trailer wherever Mrs. Welzey is raising three children, and talked about the problem of children's muddy feet.

HAS TWO CHILDREN

The prime minister's daughter has two adopted children of her own.

Whether she mixes with Canadians abroad or the people with whom Canada wants friendly relations, Mrs. O'Donnell has been in the limelight.

Though world-touring on a tight air schedule means living out of suitcases, Mrs. O'Donnell has had to be turned out tastefully for half a dozen different daily occasions.

She mounted a camel without qualm in Karachi, Pakistan's capital, and took up on an elephant at Botale, a village 40 miles from the capital of Ceylon.

At New Delhi, it was life in a luxurious presidential palace.

answer without thinking 'prayer is asking God for things.' But when we pray it should be like a child speaking to his father and we should speak in a child's way to one whom we know and trust, pouring out everything that is in the mind. A child doesn't go to his father simply to ask him for things. There are dozens of reasons why a child wants to go to his father—happiness, failures and disappointments — and sometimes for no reason at all except that he just loves to be near his father and to know him about. We too should go to God to confess our sins and thank Him for His good gifts, for lots of reasons but above all simply because it pleases us happy to be near Him and talk to Him. We ought to go to God with everything that is in our hearts, our joys and our failures, all our troubles so He can comfort us. With all our joys so He can sober us a little. We ought to go to Him with all our secret difficulties so he can help us conquer temptations, so He can shield us from the wounds in our hearts that only He and we know about.

"Prayer is not the work of a moment but it must be still and listen for God's voice. Prayer is a dialogue. We pour out our soul to God and wait, then we'll hear Him speaking to us in our heart and it is distinctly and infinitely His.

"The present day with all its noisiness doesn't seem to give a real place to prayer in our lives and community, said Mrs. Middleton. The things that mattered so much to our fathers and mothers just seem to be elbowed out. Our devotion and love is a pretty meagre affair.

Mrs. Middleton asked "How many prayed for this meeting when we got up this morning' How many prayed for the speaker; she needed our prayers."

"How much time do we give to God in our homes? "Unless the Lord build the house they labour in vain, we build it." So many things have to be done. Do you insist the children say "Thank You" to God before they eat their meal? Do you remember to take time for family worship? These are the most wonderful things in the lives of your children. Just after supper gather these little lambs together and sing with them a familiar song, tell them a Bible story with the same and then find in Roy Rogers or the comics, then kneel down and say a prayer with them and off to bed they go. When they grow older, when they're away from the old home these are the things that will go with them, the things they learned at Mother's knee.

"And so dear friends, all over the world starting early this morning and going right on to the end of the day there will be women with the ourselves in large and small churches, in hamlets, where two or three are gathered together, maybe in the kitchen only one woman praying — and joining in that golden chain winding itself around the world until at night it unwinds itself at the feet of God. May this meeting bring a rich and lasting experience and may we be a strong link in that chain of prayer."

The offering was taken by members of the Baptist Church who also acted as ushers: Mrs. J. Carr, Mrs. W. Hales, Mrs. E. Demorest, Mrs. F. Cook, Mrs. W. Neal and Mrs. G. Reynolds. Mrs. John Craig of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church gave thanks for the offering.

Mrs. C. Hyde of Bridge Street United Church led the "Act of Dedication." The closing hymn was "The Day Thou Gavest, Lord, is Ended." Miss Nurse repeated the Benediction.

The appreciation of the women of the city churches is being expressed in the circles who from year to year has taken charge of the arrangements in the city for the Women's Day of World Prayer.

Day of World Prayer Service Held on Friday

"That they may have life" was the theme of the Women's Day of World Prayer Service held in Wellman's United Church on the first Friday of Lent. The service this year was prepared by Dr. Sarah Chakko, President of Isabella Thoburn College, Lucknow, India, and President of the World Council of Churches. The significance of the wording of the service was move reverent and beautiful owing to the fact that this was one of Miss Chakko's last places of work before being called by her Master to Higher Service a only two months ago.

Mr. Wm. Connor presided at the organ and members of the various churches in the city combined their voices with Mrs. St. Capt. Brightwell contributing the very lovely solo "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

Miss E. Nurse of Victoria Avenue United Church led the call to worship followed by the hymn "Praise, My Soul, the King of Heaven." Mrs. E. E. Frost of Tabernacle United Church led the "Act of Praise." Mrs. C. Walters of Holloway St. United led the "Act of Penitence" then the hymn "O Lord and Master of Us All" was sung. Mrs. E. Mollison of the Salvation Army, repeated the "Words of Assurance" which was followed by the unisonal "Act of Thanksgiving for Jesus Christ" with Mrs. H. R. Gibson of St. Thomas' Anglican Church leading.

PRAYERS OF INTERCESSION

The prayers of intercession were taken by Mrs. D. Stewart and Mrs. A. Hemming of Bridge Church (Anglican) for Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth and Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, and for all counsellors and advisers of the Crown; for all leaders of our great Commonwealth; for the leaders of the nations of the world; and for the members of the United Nations — that their minds may be lighted with God's wisdom and their wills guided by His will. Mrs. W. A. Watson of Bethel Hall prayed for the citizens of the nations, of our dominion, of our communities, and for those among them who labor and employ others — that they may understand and assume their responsibilities, have concern for each other, and be glad to sacrifice self-interest for the public good. Mrs. L. E. Greatrix and Mrs. Albert Smith of the Standard Church prayed for true peace; for homeless and despondent refugees; for those in areas of strife and racial tension; for those who are suffering because of their faith; for those who suffer and who must be purged for resentment and be given Divine comfort.

Mrs. J. S. Sparman of the Wesleyan Methodist Church prayed for homes and families all around the world, that home shall be the shelter where there is love and reverence, where children are nourished in the knowledge of God, and each member through love to his fullest development. Mrs. R. T. Rutridge and Mrs. C. R. LaRue of St. Margaret's Church prayed for missionary societies that they may be consecrated in their study and planning for the spiritual needs of the world; for missionaries as they go out carrying the Gospel message; and for those who minister in other ways, caring for the sick, the young, the underprivileged — that they may be made strong in courage and faith. Mrs. Eric Strain of Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle prayed for the Church Universal, that she may be unblemished by controversy and failure to put first things first; for those who are being persecuted for the faith that they may be enabled to stand firm in their witness; and for the World Council of Churches that the member Churches may be conscious of their oneness in God and that they may speak a word of healing to this troubled world. These intercessory prayers were followed with the hymn "Lift up our hearts, O King of Kings."

WHAT IS PRAYER?

Mrs. R. W. T. Middleton of Bayside was the special speaker. She said: If the average person were suddenly asked 'what is prayer' quite likely she would

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

Whenever higher prices come in for luxury foods or those with cheaper substitutes, you can always beat the price rise, you know, by cutting down on their use. With coffee prices up, try to get the family used to drinking one cup, instead of two. Rather than warming up left-over coffee and drinking it during the morning, don't make so much for breakfast and use the powdered coffee for a single cup in the middle of the morning.

Session Holds Theatre Party For Choir

The members of the session and their wives of Bridge Street United Church entertained the choir at a theatre party on Thursday evening.

Many favorable comments were expressed concerning the film "Martin Luther". The guests and their hosts assembled at the church for a delicious supper, "Aunt Jemima". The Rev. Miss Miriam Collins received the guests at the door ushering them to the dining room. The auditorium where golden brown pancakes were served from the skillet of Mr. Taylor Franklin, the chef.

Following a sing song, Mr. J. Demeyo welcomed the guests and expressed an appreciation of thanks to the choir on behalf of the session and church members for their cooperation and assistance in the church activities.

On behalf of the choir, Miss Margaret Hillis, past president thanked the members of the session for the delightful evening and the thought which prompted it.

More frequent use of tea during the day or for dinner at night, will cut coffee costs too. Brewing more homemade soups with soup bones will provide you with liquid at meals and lessen the desire for hot beverages.

To reduce dessert costs, try serving half a fresh grapefruit rather than the big season is on. Prepare them with a knife, so that they are attractive to eat. Treat them up sometimes with a little brown sugar and then under the broiler for a few minutes.

Grapefruit are now selling at 2 for 25c at most stores. That means, at 12½c for an individual dessert. Besides, it's about the most healthful dessert you can eat.

PERFUME, ICE COLD

Why not instead of putting nylon hose into the refrigerator for a few days to make them more delicate? Why not put a few of the home refrigeration of perfumes and waters. They will keep their heat and light tend to evaporate the alcohol base. So if you want to keep your perfume really fresh and fragrant, girls, tuck it into the ice box.

Imagine father, when he pokes around looking for a midnight snack, found among his milady's perfumes all sleek and frosty. With that alcohol base, maybe those perfumes would be so safe in the frig after all.

NO BURNT CUSHION

At last some man has invented an electric frying pan with controls at both ends. Now that electric coffee toasters, coffee pots, griddles, kettles and the like can be had, the idea of an electric stove is almost disappearing.

Many of the pans have a knob on the handle which controls temperature from 200 to 400 degrees. You can go into the dishpan up to the control knob, so it is possible to wash it without difficulty.

Now there should be no excuse for burned-on either the bacon or the pancakes.

ALCOHOLISM

An article in a recent Financial Post compares the amount of alcohol drunk in Canada with that drunk in the U.S. and Europe. Interesting paragraph in this piece reads:

"Canadians are prone, in fits of self-deprecation, to point out that Americans and Europeans know how to drink properly." The implication is, it seems, the five highest alcoholism rates are on record in the U.S., and Europe.

Dodie Frontenac says with Spring in the air, there's nothing to compare with the feeling owning a new dress — that is, if you've won it outright in a soup contest.

THE RED CROSS HELPED

"God Bless the Red Cross! I don't know what would have become of us!" declared the young father of three little daughters, the youngest a week old, born of a polio-stricken mother.

"We were getting along just fine. Last July, we started work on this house together, my wife and I," continued this veteran Canadian infantryman of 14 years service in dozens countries during the World War II, and who had returned to his home city with his English wife and family. "She drew the plans and I tried to follow and carry out suggestions. In fact, I took pecting our third child, I was half out of my mind with fear and courage. I didn't care if we lost the house and everything we had put into it. I didn't care if I died.

"When the baby came and my wife returned from the hospital and no one to help her—well, it was just as if a bit of heaven fell right down in our midst when Mrs. Buchanan, the Red Cross Supervisor heard about our plight and sent us a Homemaker.

"What a comfort and a pillar of strength this homemaker has been! What meals! What a blessing!" The young husband's eyes shone with appreciation as he watched the Red Cross Homemaker busily prepared the day's meal.

She looked like a steady blue flame that gave light and warmth to his shattered world that was slowly mending. For the baby was thriving and the little mother, though frail and delicate, was responding admirably to polio treatment. A little silence fell over the family, a kind of awe that such kindness and help could possibly happen to them. It was gratifying to realize that the Red Cross functions through the direct will of humanity the world over.

"God Bless the Red Cross!" the young father said again, "for I can't bear to think what might have happened without its help."

KEEP YOUR RED CROSS READY!

ST. JOSEPH'S C.W.L.

A successful euchre was held Thursday evening in St. Joseph's School hall, Bridge Street East. Eleven tables were in play. Winners were ladies' first, Mrs. Farrell, 2nd, Mrs. G. Lee, consolation, Mrs. C. Ford; men's 1st, John Scanlan, 2nd, G. Bradshaw, consolation, W. Panting. The door prize went to Mrs. Hesley. The prize for lone hands was won by John Scanlan. Mrs. J. Lake and Mrs. Hesley were the winners of the raffle held during the evening.

Conveners for this event were Mrs. L. Hopkins and Mrs. A. Ueng, assisted by Mrs. J. N. Anton and Mrs. P. J. Halloran.

BRIDGE STREET W.M.S.

The regular meeting of Bridge Street W.M.S. held last Thursday was opened by prayer by the president, Mrs. Hyde. The unfilled report of the February meeting was read by the secretary.

The auxiliary will meet with the Evening Auxiliary on April 4.

Mrs. Massey reported that many cards had been sent to the sick and aged in the district.

Mrs. Meyers reported that a 60 pound bale of good used clothing had been sent to Port Arthur and a second bale would be sent in May, The latter will be taken up by those to go to Presbyterial in Napanee on March 24. Mrs. May's and Mrs. Demeyo's groups will meet and Mrs. George Campbell gave a talk on a hymn.

Miss Muriel Jolson sang a song. About 30 members and visitors heard Mrs. D. Denyes give a resume of the book "Where E'er the Sea" which had been taken up by the study group.

MISSIONARY IMPACT

Mrs. Adsett of Trenton and Mrs. Farnsworth, Mrs. W. Campbell, Mrs. Myers and Mrs. H. Kells each contributed interesting facts about the various lands which have felt the impact of missionary endeavor. In a few words, Mrs. Gilmore explained the symbol of the World Council of Churches.

Mrs. May thanked Mrs. Denyes and her group for presenting a synopsis of the study book.

The meeting in April or March served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed in the auditorium. The centre piece was a large bowl of tulips, a gift from Mrs. Harns.

Ladies Auxiliary 49 of ANAF Hostesses To Prov. Command

The first meeting of the year of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the ANAF Ontario Provincial Command was held in the auditorium of the Memorial Hall, Front Street, Saturday, February 27.

President Drury of unit 203 welcomed visiting delegates and expressed his pleasure on ANAF progress in the past and his hopes for future success.

President Charlotte Clarke of Auxiliary 49 extended a hearty welcome to all visitors.

Delegates were present from the following auxiliaries: Toronto 71, Parkdale, Lakeview, Hamilton 33, London, Stratford, Kitchener and Belleville 46.

Due to the ill health of Com. Galbraith, who will be unable to continue as secretary of Provincial Command, Com. Mr. Assultine was elected secretary for the balance of the year.

Following the pleasant meeting a banquet was served by the entertainment committee of the local auxiliary.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HE'S SIX YEARS OLDER—SHOULD THEY MARRY?

Sometimes the problem concerns a young girl who wants to marry a man much older than she is. Sometimes it's a woman who claims to be in love with a man may years her junior. And then again, the difference in age between two people not to get married may be neither gaily on her side nor on his, but just enough to make one or the other of them wonder: "Is he old for me?" or: "Am I too young for her?"

Often, neither ne of the two most interested is doing any worrying about it, but the family is, as, for instance, in the case of a girl who writes:

"I have known the fellow I have been going with for almost a year, and he has asked me to marry him, not right away, but in about a year.

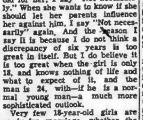
"My folks believe that the six-year difference in our ages is too much for a happy marriage—I am 18 and he is 24—but we get along agreeably and enjoy each other's company very much.

"Do you think that is too old for me, or that I should let my parents influence me against him for this reason?"

Now this matter of age differences between two people contemplating marriage is a very tricky one. No rigid rules can be laid down in regard to it. In the case just cited, it is not a matter about which similar questions are asked, but rather one which can be given in: "That depends."

For whether or not a man and a woman are going to be congenial companions in a marriage venture depends on so many factors, many of which the matter of their ages is only one—and not the most important one. Many times, they need only read up a little on divorce statistics to discover that being relatively close to each other in age has very little to do with a husband and wife remaining close to each other as marriage partners.

There have been cases of women marrying men 15 or 20 years younger than themselves in which they "lived happily ever after." And there have been those in which a girl in her twenties has married a man old enough to be her father, and the two have found each other's company thoroughly enjoyable.



These, of course, it must be admitted, are the exceptions. But there are just enough of them to make it impossible for anyone to generalize about the thing and warn any couple against such a marriage. It is far better to hold up a yardstick against which to measure how near or how far apart for other in basic considerations of personality, philosophy, habits, interests and hobbies. For the distance a husband is from the wife in any of these, or the wife from the husband, is essentially of far greater significance than that of the turbance from each other in point of years.

There is one more thing, however that should be taken into account, and that is the period of life in which each of the two may be at the time they are thinking about marrying. For age discrepancies matter much more at one period of life than at another, which means that a marriage in which an age discrepancy exists is more likely to be successful if the younger member is not too immature, and the oldest member is not too set in his ways.

That is why I would advise the 18-year-old writer of the letter to wait a couple of years before marrying this young man. When she asks me if I believe he is too old for her, "I say "Not necessarily." When she wants to know if she should let her parents influence her against him, I say "Not necessarily" again. And the reason I say it is because I do not think a discrepancy of six years is to be great in itself. But I do believe it is too great when the girl is only 18, and knows nothing of life and what to expect of it, and the man is 24, with—if he is a normal young man—a much more sophisticated outlook.

Very few 18-year-old girls are ready for marriage, whether the young man of their choice is a year older than they are or six. If this one will be content to wait until she is 20 or 21, or even a little older, and has had time to become better acquainted with the world in which she lives, her chances of happiness in marriage will be vastly greater than they are at this moment.

As Canadian As Maple Syrup

By NANCY CLEAVER

"It's as Canadian as maple syrup!" our Netherlands friend said as he placed the small carved totem pole back on our mantel. We'd brought it from a store out in the woods where we had tapped a couple of giant sugar maples. Now we were enjoying our maple syrup with toast made at the fireplace.

"Totems come from our Pacific coast, maple syrup is a product of Eastern Canada. But they are both gifts from the Indians", we told him. "On some of the very old maples in Eastern Canada there is a V-shaped tomahawk gash in the trunk which was likely made by an Indian who wanted to let the sap run out.

"But how did the Indians discover maple sugar?" our friend questioned.

We can't know exactly, although they have two legends about it."

FIRST LEGEND

(1) Long ago in the early Spring, an Iroquois brave and his squaw, living on the north bank of Lawrence river, fell to quarrelling. The angry brave hurled his tomahawk at the squaw, leaving the axe where it fell into the forest. She dodged the missile which buried itself in the trunk of a big maple, and did not bother to remove it. The sap ran out of the trunk where it was cut, downhill to the squaw's hands which she licked with delight. She noticed at the angle into a cooking vessel on the ground.

Late in the afternoon, the squaw started preparations for dinner. She filled the vessel with water out the sap, she threw into the pot, wild rice, bits of dried venison and scraps of food. When her hungry brave returned, the meal was ready to serve. As soon as he started to eat, he exclaimed over the delicious flavor of the broth. He had never had any stew he had ever eaten!

When he asked what the marvelous had added, the squaw wondered if the maple sap could have made the difference? Next day, in the same camp, boiled and boiled it until it was thick and syrupy—a sweet and stirring constantly until the maple crystals formed. Then she discovered the great gift of maple syrup and sugar!

SECOND LEGEND

Another legend explained why the sap had to be evaporated to produce syrup. Nakomis, the old grandmother of Manabush, accidentally spilled a pail of it in a maple. Thick sweet syrup oozed from the tree. But when the magician, Manabush, tasted it, he was sure that this valuable food store was obtained with too little effort. It would cause idleness among the women! So he took a vessel of water and threw it over the top of the trees—thus reducing the sap to its present consistency.

The main work of maple syrup manufacture made in the various Indian tribes undoubtedly fell to the women. The Department of Mines and Resources in Ottawa has an Iroquois engraving taken from Lafau's "Moeurs des Savages Americains, (1724)" depicting a group of Indians making maple syrup. The chief is sitting on the ground in front of his teepee while the squaws carry the sap pails to the fire where the pots are boiling. One woman is chopping wood like an old hand!

A large number of Indians throughout the Eastern half of Canada supplement their meager food stores in the Spring with this product of the sugar maple and tree sap—the maple. The syrup they poured on their hominy and wild rice. Occasionally they added it to meat and even used it for special flavoring.

JUST TASTED GOOD

Scientific modern analysis has shown that a tablespoon of maple syrup equals seventy-five calories and is rich in a variety of minerals including calcium, sulphur and iron. The Red Men had no theories about the energy releasing merits compared to other foods. They just knew it tasted good.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

SERVING TEA IN TWO ROOMS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

(1) I am planning to give a large Tea, inviting members of two literary clubs to which I belong here. My husband and I have just finished reconstructing a first class house which was left to him by his father. The house is a large, quite formal room, and next to it there is a smaller sitting room library, but I think the latter is best served in both rooms, asking friends to preside over the long table of each room for each hour of the tea; that is, two pourers for each hour. Would you think that having served in two rooms would be "show-off." In my husband thinks it might be?

(2) Many of my friends in the clubs are really more enthusiastic about coffee than they are about tea. Can on occasion as this would it be proper for me to have coffee served as well as the tea?

(3) Should I serve any other drink? such as Sherry or Dubonnet? — Myra B.

Your plan is excellent and entirely proper plan, to have tea served in two rooms, as you suggest. When the hostess is fortunate enough to have two such adaptable rooms, I think it is a pity to have the only 'spreads' the hospitality. However, you have also the idea of 'dividing' of guests.

Yes, Turkey coffee is very often served at a "tea." For a large number of guests, usually a coffee urn is more practical. Sherry is nice.

(3)? It is not necessary, nor customary, to serve any other 'drink' at a tea for such an occasion as this.

"PURITY" NOT IS A RUDE "CHARACTER"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please help me out in a discussion I am having with a friend. I say that purity is rude, not much difference in our ages, and we go to dances. She says purity is rude because several of his girl friends have told him so. I say purity is a certain movie star, he's getting awfully stuck on himself, and he's rude to me at a dance and even not even ask the hostess to dance with him. I think that is rude to considers the "dreamy" type. Mother and Dad agree with me that he's rude, but we'd like to read him your answer too.

Joan T.

In boy or man, this discourtesy of not asking a girl to dance is exasperating, and I hope someone's firm persuasion will save him from being listed as a caddish "character." One of the many excellent advantages of well-managed dancing classes for young people is that they teach a boy that when he shows their weight around, even if they are veritable Adonises, are distilled by the courtesy of the first dance, always to dance with their hostess, and always to thank her, as they leave, for the good time they've had. Sometime... I'll see it happen . . . Some "forgotten boy genius" who isn't a particularly graceful dancer, but who has an excellent brain and a well-directed tongue, will say something mighty penetrating to Mr. Brother about his manners. And, clever girl, she'll wait for the dramatic moment when his so-called aderers are within hearing distance. The echo of this may very well haunt him so he won't think he's so devastatingly "purty"!

What to Do...

Stock Your Medicine Chest

Look in most people's medicine cabinet and what to you find?

Quite likely a bewildering assortment of jars, tubes and bottles of all sizes and shapes, half of them are unmarked and lots haven't been used for years.

What should a home medicine chest contain? There are 12 main items. See if you have them.

First is a good reliable thermometer for taking temperatures. Keep it in a case.

Next, first aid dressings. Best assortment would include a box of adhesive dressings, a couple of sterile gauze bandages, a roll of adhesive plaster, a package of absorbent cotton and a couple of triangular bandages to be used as slings.

Third is a bottle of rubbing alcohol to be used externally to relieve pain in muscles and joints and sores or to refresh the skin during illness.

GOOD STIMULANT

Make your fourth item a bottle of aromatic spirits of ammonia. A half teaspoonful in a little water is a good stimulant.

Sodium bicarb, soda-bicarbonate, is fifth on the list. A teaspoonful, mixed with a glass of hot water and then cooled makes a good mouth wash. It's good too, for indigestion.

Sixth item is a one ounce bottle with attachments in a handy spot.

Seven, a pair of small scissors is also a handy item. You should also have an antiseptic of some sort.

Your doctor or druggist can suggest one.

Bandages, especially among children, often happen suddenly and should be kept on hand ready to ease the pain until a dentist is available.

SIMPLE ANTISEPTIC

Occupying tenth position is boric acid powder. Dissolve a teaspoon in making a solution to be used as a simple antiseptic, an eyewash, or a mouth gargle.

A bottle of acetylsalicylic acid tablets comes next. Useful to ease the pain.

Number 12 takes in some miscellaneous needs, a tin of talcum powder, a graduated medicine glass, a medicine dropper, a package of tissue, a package of wooden spoons for tongue depressors, and a card of safety pins.

The way you keep your home medicine chest is important, too. Bottles should be tightly corked and carefully marked. Poisons should be clearly labelled as such and kept on a separate shelf, preferably under lock and key. Medicines of internal and external use should be kept on separate shelves.

Make sure the medicine chest is out of reach of children. And if there is medicine left over after illness, don't try it on other members of the family. Best thing to do is have one odd medicines (they often change their character with time) and medicines that have lost their labels.

You Can Get On The 'BEST DRESSED LIST'

Now, in mid-winter, when most gardens are dormant, you can still dress smart—you can stand out for your fresh, perfect-aged appearance. Just let us lay bare your every wicked wear. We'll clean, press, and refresh dresses, coats and suits. You'll look like a Million.

QUESTION:

. . . I noticed that you had recipes for sugarless cakes, candies and authors of manuals for diabetics. . . my boy is 13 years . . . a diabetic since last summer, I would greatly appreciate any help or information you could give to help prepare different foods for him . . . to keep him from tiring of the same things.— Mrs. J. J. B.

ANSWER:

I am mailing you some sugarless and low-sugar recipes. Two books you would find useful are "Good Foods for Diabetics" by Eleanor Record Siegel, published by Harper Bros., New York, and "Dietetic Meals, Menus and Recipes" by Betty M. West. There is also Dr. Joslin's Manual for diabetic which your doctor has doubtless recommended. Write to Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, Ill., for their booklet "Calorie-Savings Recipes".

QUESTION:

I would like a recipe for butter tarts. That is what I like the bakeshop have syrup in the bottom. My recipe goes too dry. I've tried many times, but they were not good. . . . Bakery make a cake and they sell it in boxes six squares to a box around 1 1-2 inches high, spiced and coarse with meat and iced with a brown sugar icing with coconut on top and nuts on sides sprinkled on top. Stays fresh for the longest time. I believe I could guess part of the ingredients but I can't tell the spice.— Mrs. Harold N.

ANSWER:

I'll have to guess since I'm not familiar with the cake—unless someone else can e-mail me a small sample. Try this:

WALNUT SPICE CAKE

Cream together until fluffy and light 3-4 cup soft shortening, 1 cup light brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar. Beat in very well 2 eggs. Sift together and resift sifted cake flour, 1 1-2 teaspoons soda, 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 1-2 teaspoons cinnamon, 3-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 3-4 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon salt. Stir the sifted dry ingredients into first mixture alternately with 1 1-3 cups buttermilk. Fold in 2-3 cup walnuts chopped. Black walnuts are excellent. Pour into buttered and floured oblong pan and bake in 350 deg. Fahr. for 50 to 55 minutes.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

SAGGING FACIAL TISSUES

When a woman has a silent conference with the lady in the looking glass and notices that the tissues on the undernourished part of her face are a big soft and saggy that she wants. Unless the conviction that her birthdays are showing. She wasn't disturbed by the first grey hairs; they're just hard to take in middle life. She accepted the fine lines around the eyes and waistline. But flabby facial tissues, with signs of wrinkles in the offing, get her down. At Time is not on her side the prospects are not encouraging.

Tired facial muscles will perk up, however, if creamed, flattened fingers smooth them with upward, outward sweeps. The muscles should not be strained. The movements must be light but with some pressure exerted. The idea is to stimulate circulation so that the blood streams will bring nourishment to needed cells. The cream should be included in the bedtime beauty routine. Any woman who becomes old-looking with no warning at all, often took years older than she knew about them.

A heavy cream should be used for this treatment. Massaging it will offer resistance to the manipulations. Use a cream that has an ordinary cold cream or cleansing cream will let them slide and they won't be stimulated effects.

If there are lines around the eyes, pinch the skin between the upper lid close to the nose. Sweep out to the temple in a circular motion and then back under the eye to starting point. Make rotary movements over the cheeks and forehead, and along the jaw line. The lines will disappear. Pinching and patting over the entire facial area. Use the finger tips like little hammers. With this treatment results on frisk an ice cube over the flesh.

Everyone Wants Quick Riches So Granny Learns Prospecting

By PAULINE KENNEDY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Geiger counters in hands, grandmothers and young housewives may soon be tapping Canada's uranium and other treasures. They're preparing now with lessons in prospecting.

Prospecting classes, a annual feature of the Ontario department of mines since 1947, have increased attendance this year in all centres where they have been given. More women than ever before seem to be bent on chipping rocks, instructor Dr. W. D. Harding said.

ACADEMIC INTEREST

Previously one or two women might stray in for a few lectures in the week-long series, but this year some centres have registered up to 10.

IN EIGHT CENTRES

Intensive courses in practical prospecting were so far been given in eight centres this year, ranging from Toronto to Blind River, Sudbury and Port Arthur.

Toronto had a record of 400 students, 10 of them women. Others as many as 30 women pour into evening classes in the off-and-on basis, Dr. Harding said.

Provincial geologist Harding said the increased interest in prospecting may be due to recent mineral strikes in Manitouwadge in northwestern Ontario.

"Everyone wants to get rich quick," he said.

Toronto women students won't be headed to downright fortune hunting.

INVESTMENT ANGLE

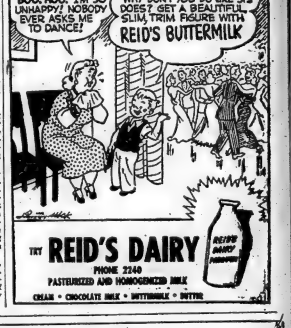
A pert girl, a tall blonde beauty who preferred to remain anonymous, admitted their interest in the course purely from the investment angle. She is a Czechoslovakian girl who came to Canada for eight years, has a master's degree in economics and works for a Toronto investment firm.



The first part of investment is the prospecting, she explained. I should learn about it first hand," she added.

Mrs. Zufelt has returned to her home after spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. C. Dafoe.

The wood-sawing machine has been busy in our community the past week.

Mrs. H. Dafoe spent a day recently with friends in Foxboro.

Says Packers Spend Freely To Beat Hog Marketing Plan

TORONTO (CP)—An official of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture has declared packers are spending "thousands of dollars" in an attempt to defeat the Ontario hog marketing project.

He spoke at the annual meeting of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association.

Lawrence Kerr of Chatham said truckers and drivers have been telling farmers they are doing it. "It's not subtle, rather than the producers' marketing agency, and showed money from packers to prove it.

W. S. Milburn, secretary-manager of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, criticized packers for "under-the-table" payments to truckers.

"We know such payments are being made," he said. "I have heard packers' representatives say they were doing it. They started out to do it in an effort to defeat our agency and now, to a large extent, they are doing it in competition with each other in order to get hogs.

"It's costing them thousands of dollars, and I think they would be happy to get out of it if they could do so and save face."

Mr. Milburn offered suggestions as to how the producers and their marketing agency, United Livestock Sales Ltd., could deal with the problem.

He said auditors could be hired to check packers' books in order to gain what payments were made to truckers. Any truckers who did not deliver hogs to destinations specified by farmers could be prosecuted.

If a fine did not discourage a trucker from taking hogs to packers of his choice rather than the producers', the matter could be taken to a higher court "and the trucker prevented from hauling hogs."

Suburban Wells Survey Suggested

TORONTO (CP)—A survey of the supply of well water in booming suburban areas of the province was suggested Thursday by R. M. Haines (PC — Waterloo South), chairman of the Ontario legislature's committee on conservation.

Mr. Myers made the suggestion to the committee after A. K. Watt, chief geologist of water resources division of the department of mines, said there is a danger that wells in these suburban areas may dry up.

The areas had two alternatives: either drill deeper wells or join in a central water supply.

W. C. Rice, chief engineer of the department of public works, suggested legislation be brought in preventing industries from discharging waste materials into the ground near water wells.

Woman Set Afire

BARI, Italy—AP—A band of boys showered a 70-year-old woman with firecrackers and flaming paper and set her afire Thursday night in her home. Mrs. Annunziata Vercelli, drove out the boys, but fell in the chase and broke a leg. She rolled on the floor to put out the flames in her clothing and that set the house afire. Neighbors rescued her in critical condition.

Manpower Remains Chief Problem Even in Push-Button Warfare

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Despite predictions that future wars will be push-button affairs, manpower remains the chief problem of the main problem—in Britain's defence program.

War Secretary Antony Head carefully hammered this home at a press conference in the war office.

"It's still true," he said, "that the only way to meet a force of men is with a force of men."

And the question of men has echoed gloomily through all the latest defence statements starting with Field Marshal Earl Alexander's white paper on defence policy through army, navy and air force estimates, all last month and last week.

Said the white paper:

". . . We shall continue to need conventional forces to deal with the kind of cold war operations, falling short of a major war, in which our forces are now engaged. And even in a major war, we does not seem likely that the possession of new weapons will make it any less necessary to have a large screen of troops on the ground . . . "

RECRUITING SHORTFALL

But while reaffirming faith in the men who wield the weapons, Britain's military leaders admit they have problems.

All three services report declining strength. The navy says that by next April there will be a drop of 12,000 men from the 152,000 under arms in 1953 because emergency measure introduced in 1950, which compulsorily retained regulars and men from reserves, are due to run out. At the same time the navy reports that there has been a "sharp deterioration" in recruiting, especially stokers and marines.

The RAF reports 1953 was a disappointing year for recruiting with little more than half the required number of pilots and an even lower proportion of navigators entering the service. Strength in the RAF is expected to be 267,300, a decrease of 11,000 from 1953.

Army recruiting also suffered. The total is expected to slip by 13,000 to about 380,000 this year.

But what really concerns defence officials is that 90 per cent of Britain's fighting forces are away from home, frozen in more than 20 outposts in Europe, Africa, Asia and elsewhere. The demands of the cold war and colonial unrest of these troops—to their scattered bases.

Pooey, De-Odorized Skunk, Leaves Home Because of Cats

By JOHN VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Anybody want an out-of-de-ordinary pet—a de-odorized skunk called Pooey?

Jimmy Poo, so dubbed before it was discovered he was a she, is a member of the W. E. Balcombe family.

Much as the Balcombes hate to part with her, Pooey has to go. But not before a good home is found for the little gal who will be a year old come spring.

The main reason for the eviction notice is Mi-Mi, 14-year-old boss of the household. Mi-Mi and Snook, her 11-year-old son, don't think much of Pooey. Mi-Mi and Snook are cats.

QUARRELSOME BOSS

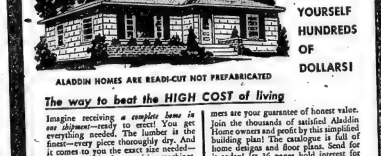
Mi-Mi feels she got there first and no skunk is going to take over. Many a fight has broken out between the two. Snook, being a gentleman, just runs when Pooey gets her dander up.

The Balcombes adopted Pooey last fall when her former owner couldn't keep a skunk in his apartment.

Now they are forced to find her another home. Officials of the Canadian wildlife service have written a zoo in Ireland to see if it is interested. Bill Balcombe is willing to let her go to another family, but only if he is assured she will get a good home.

He can't set her free because she has lost her weapon—the scent bag that makes skunks the dread of the animal world.

PATIENCE REQUIRED



"Skunks can be trained if you have time and patience," Mr. Balcombe said. "But we got her too late in the fall."

Pooey has been semi-hibernating most of the winter. She has rigged up a bed in an old carton in the back shed. She cuddles into a pile of scrap paper and sleeps most of the time. When sleep is interrupted she stamps her paws and gets ready to perfume the air, but when nothing happens the tail goes down and little Pooey looks frustrated.

Mr. Balcombe said she was the best of pets in the warm weather before the winter set in. She would crawl on legs of the adult and took a special liking for the children of the neighborhood.

Before feeding her, "Pooey will eat most anything," Mrs. Balcombe says. "She loves eggs. Ice cream, cheese or sweets and she'll eat raw or cooked meat or bread. Once she took a liking for dog biscuits."

Canada Takes Over Lead In World Hockey Series; Meets Russia Sunday

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

NEW ONE.

There are many and various ways and means devised by hockey people the country over to raise funds to bolster depleted exchequers. Dinners from $50 to $100 a plate with sports bigwigs as attractions, are becoming more common than a cold. Raffles draws and whatnot are even more common.

But it remained for the Sherbrooke Saints to pull a new bunny out of the fund-raising hat.

A brand new automobile was the pot o' gold at the end of the fund-raising rainbow.

Only 999 tickets were sold at ten bucks each. Between the first and second periods, Jakey Forbes, playing coach of the Sherbrooke Saints who were playing the Montreal Royals at the time of the "draw", shot ten pucks into an empty net. Each puck bore a number pasted on it. The mayor of Sherbrooke fished one of the discs out of the net. It carried the number "1".

According to the rules this meant that all holding tickets in the 300 brackets were still in the running for the handsome convertible. You could tell the holders of these tickets by their twitching spasmodic wriggling in the seats.

During the second period another player shot ten pucks into an empty cage. His Worship fished out No. 5 this time. Now all who held tickets from 250 to 359 were still in the running for the big prize. The nerve strain for ten ticket-holders was terrific.

Four thousand fans in a state of high jitters sat somehow through the third period of the game, which if you are interested was won by Royals 3-2.

Glen Harmon, Royals captain drove ten pucks into an empty net. The mayor advanced to the cage, picked out a puck, and read the number "8". This made the holder of ticket No. 358, the winner. It was held by Forest Keen, Saints' business manager.

MINOR HOCKEY.

Champions come and champions go and the Ontario Minor Hockey Association is no exception. With the younger fry squad now headed down the tough playoffs trail, only seven out of fifteen of last year's championship squads remain in the running.

Weston juvenile "A's"; Simcoe midget "B's"; Blenheim juvenile "C's"; Bracebridge midget "C's" and Wingham bantam "C's" have been eliminated.

This district's hopes for a juvenile "C" title rest on the sturdy shoulders of the Stirling youngsters. They meet Bracebridge in a semi-finals series. Milton, Fort Dover, Kincardine and Milverton are the remaining teams in this classification.

Wellington's midget "C" squad is also in the running and meet Cannington in a playdown series with the second game slated for the village arena tonight. The young Dukes were edged 6-5 in the first tussle.

Kingston's "A" squads juvenile midget and bantam still remain in competition and will likely play off with the Peterborough squads. That about wraps up the minor hockey picture for "Lower Canada."

DOTS 'N FLASHES . . .

Henri, (Pocket Rocket) Richard, ace scorer of the Verdun Canadien Junior "A" team, is only seven goals off the record set by one Jean Beliveau. The "Pocket" has scored 54 goals to the moment, with at least six games in which to crack the record. Frank Selke says the youngster will be in the "big time" without benefit of minor league stops . . . Gus Galbraith, South Porcupine hockey star who lost a leg through an injury sustained in a hockey game while playing with the Paisley, Scotland team, recently received a cheque for 2,062 pounds. The money was raised in a joint English-Scottish campaign . . . Don Lockhart, Toronto Lyndhurst's goalie comes by his hockey ability naturally. His mother, the former Ella McKee of Belleville, played hockey in her younger days for a Toronto ladies' team, the "Patterson Pats" . . . The NHL Old Timers hockey game here was a success. The sponsoring Rotary and Kinsmen clubs netted some $361 each from the take. The O.T.'s took $270 as their share which will go to the NHL Pension Fund . . . No lack of fan loyalty up Sudbury way. The average attendance to watch the Junior squad play has been 3,200 . . . They mention Frankie Eddolls name down Montreal way as a possible successor to Dick Irvin, if and when . . . Red Wings good-luck charm is Barbara Ann Scott. The Wings have yet to lose a game when petite Babs watches them . . . Chicago fans will honor their favorite place Billy Mosienko at a "Mosienko Night" on March 12. Bill says he will "hang 'em up" after this season . . . Wellington Dukes and the Trenton Carr Admirals go at it again here tonight in the third game of their best-of-three series. A win for the Admirals will end the series, while a Dukes victory will see another game necessary. Trenton has a win and a tie to their credit.

Lyndhurst Holds 'Paper' Edge; Dynamos' Pride Gets Shock When Sweden Ties Them 1-1

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Can Russia, playing in an international hockey tournament for the first time, beat the Canadians at their own game?

Pending the meeting Sunday (at 9 a.m. EST) between Moscow Dynamos and Toronto East York, the last two unbeaten teams in the world hockey tournament, the experts pored over the statistics of each club's six games in the eight-game round-robin series. The figures show that the Canadians have an edge—at least on paper.

Following are the comparative records of the two leaders against the other six teams:

| | Canada Russia |
|---|---|
| Czechoslovakia | 5-2 5-2 |
| Sweden | 5-0 1-1 |
| Germany | 8-1 6-2 |
| Finland | 20-1 7-1 |
| Norway | 5-0 7-0 |
| Latvia | 8-1 6-2 |
| Totals | 51-5 30-6 |

The worst blots on the Russian record are Friday's tie against the Swedes, whom the Canadians virtually skated off the rink, and their close call against the Swiss, who have yet to win their first game. Their best showing was against the Czechs, 5-2, a two-goal margin identical to the tide.

Thus far, the Russians' offensive has followed the European pattern, concentrating on a smooth passing attack to out-manoeuver their opponents in contrast to the Canadian tendency to bank in for a maximum of shots.

The Czechs, who customarily play a rough game, switched abruptly to the Canadian style in the second period of Friday's battle with East York. The change set the Canadian club on their heels and it took them a full period to get their own attack rolling again. Canada won the game 5-2.

SECOND TO CANADA

Defensively the Dynamos have ranked second only to Canada. The average of 1.33 goals a game scored against them would do credit to a club in any league, being surpassed only by East York goalie Don Lockhart's phenomenal .83 record for the six games.

The Russians have made friends in politically neutral Sweden, where newspaper men have found them co-operative off the ice and gentlemanly in action.

By contrast, the Canadians' public relations have been strained since their first appearance in Sweden, when sports writers labelled the Senior B club inferior to past Canadian representatives and accused it of rough play in exhibition games.

Canada's answer to reflections on East York's calibre was the arrival of four "reinforcements" shortly before the tournament opened, all four had experience in hockey classifications of Senior A or higher and two have had professional experience.

Right-winger Bill Shill, a regular member of the club who was unable to leave Toronto with his teammates, spent three years with Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League during the Second World War. Centre Eric Unger progressed as far as Philadelphia and Springfield, Mass., in American Hockey League farms of New York Rangers.

The others were Lockhart, at [illegible] and six [illegible] in the Toronto Maple Leaf farm system, and Tom Jamieson, a seasoned defenceman with Owen Sound Mercurys of the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A group. 5

ABILITY IMPROVED

With the addition of the "reinforcements," there was less talk about East York's lack of ability. Lockhart was acclaimed as the best goaltender ever to appear in Sweden. Jamieson's effective defensive play and the smooth performance of Unger and Shill on a line with Vic Sluce also received favorable mention.

Defence also spearheaded the Canadian attack in their early games, has scored eight goals in [illegible]

But the charges of rough play [illegible] a tougher problem. Accustomed to the relative freedom of Canadian rules, East York indulged in frequent body-checking in their exhibition games and found themselves penalized for infractions that would have been considered legal back home.

Coach Greg Currie drilled his men intensively on European rules and the club has averaged only a few more penalties than its opponents.

Teeps, Hawks Cinch Junior Playoff Spots

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series closes its 1953-54 schedule this week from Sunday but first and last place are the only two spots that have been decided.

St. Catharines TeePees, who have four games remaining in the schedule, are assured of first place. Galt Black Hawks, with four games left, will stay in eighth.

Toronto St. Michael's College, who broke their losing streak on the road with a 6-2 victory over the Greenshirts in Kitchener Friday night, are in third place and have five games left. They have a slight chance of catching second-place Toronto Marlboros, who defeated the Flyers 6-2 in Barrie last night. Marlboros have four games remaining.

Seventh-place Guelph Biltmores, who trounced Galt 12-2 in Guelph, still have a chance of overtaking the Flyers for sixth and last playoff spot. Barrie has a one-point margin and four games remaining while the Biltmores are scheduled for five more games.

Hamilton Cubs, idle Friday night, occupy fourth place and have four games to go. They can be caught up with by the Greenshirts who are two points behind with the same number of games left to play.

CAFFERY GETS TRIO

St. Michael's, who lately have been dropping a number of road games to second-division clubs, had no trouble Friday night.

Jack Caffery fired three goals for Toronto. Paul Knox, Bill Colvin and Les Boyd rounded out the total. Greg Hicks scored both for Kitchener.

Sonny Larose was a three-goal man for Marlboros. Mike Nykoluk, Gerry Amnes and Wally Maxwell were the other marksmen for Marlboros. Ross Graham and Jim Robertson shared Barrie's total.

Guelph players collected 31 scoring points in Galt. Bill McCreary scored four goals, Bob Attersley three, Hillary Menard two and John Gillis, Bill Sweeney and Bill Pirie one each. Rich Collins and Neil McDonald counted for Galt.

Kitchener is at Galt, Barrie goes to St. Catharines and Guelph is at Hamilton in games tonight. It's Marlboros against St. Michael's in Toronto Sunday.

Bruins, Rangers Again Tied For 4th Position As Blues Play 0-0 Draw With Chihawks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The National Hockey League heads into the last two weeks of its regular season this week-end with the two questions still to be answered.

The final clash fo the playoffs will tell whether Montreal Canadiens or Toronto Maple Leafs finish in second place and whether Boston Bruins or New York Rangers will be in their post season action for the Stanley Cup.

Friday night the Rangers missed a chance to move ahead of the Bruins into sole possession of the fourth and last playoff berth. The New Yorkers could only get a single point out of their 0-0 deadlock with Chicago Black Hawks and it stretched them again for fourth place with the Bruins.

The battle for second place is just as close with the Leafs one point ahead of the Canadiens. Both play two games during the week-end and neither has a soft touch. The Leafs begin at Boston against the leading Detroit Red Wings Saturday night while the Canadiens take on Boston in Montreal on Sunday night as the Canadiens move into Detroit to meet the Leafs the following night. Both were handed identical scores in New York. Boston also will see double action during the week-end, meeting the Black Hawks in Boston Sunday afternoon and their Saturday game against the Canadiens.

PRESSURE ON

The pressure is on New York and Boston for they have to fight for the last playoff spot. Both the Leafs and Canadiens are in, needing only to decide who'll get the second berth behind the first-place Detroit in the Stanley Cup semi-finals. The third-place club will meet the Wings and both the Canadiens and Leafs will be playing all the harder to avoid that, in addition to trying not to miss out on the additional cash for a second-place finish.

Friday night at Chicago both Glenn Hall, Detroit goalie, and Al Rollins of the Black Hawks rang up their fourth shutouts as the teams played their scoreless tie. Bower stopped 37 shots, 10 more than the Chicago netminder.

The crowd of 4,804 had little to cheer about except for a third-period rush by Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe of the Hawks and Ivan Irwin of the Rangers. Both were handed five-minute majors.

Alberta Wins Fifth Canadian Curling Crown With Finals Victory Over New Brunswick

By JACK SNEIPER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta won its fifth Canadian curling championship Friday when Matt Baldwin's rink from the Edmonton Granite Club defeated New Brunswick 10-5 in the last round of the five-day bonspiel.

Baldwin, at 37 the youngest skip to win the championship, went through his 10 games with nine victories and one defeat.

Baldwin, who favors what he calls a "moderate running game," got perfect support from his smooth-working companions who seemed to know every piece of heavy or fast ice on the huge surface at the Edmonton Gardens.

At times, Baldwin would play for knockout, a favorite western style of play, and then abruptly switch to the draw. The draws never seemed to bother the rink.

Lead Jimmy Welsh, second Pete Ferry and third Glenn Gray seldom lost sight of the broom and were too light or too heavy, with their rocks.

Baldwin's only defeat came on the eighth round when he bumped against Tyrrell Ross Tarlton of Hamilton, the Ontario champion.

ROUGH COMPETITION

Tarlton, a past-master at the draw, gave Baldwin his roughest competition and was ahead 8-5 when the last rock was thrown.

The final standings:

| | Won | Lost |
|---|---|---|
| Alberta | 9 | 1 |
| Saskatchewan | 8 | 2 |
| Ontario | 7 | 3 |
| Nova Scotia | 6 | 4 |
| Northern Ontario | 6 | 4 |
| British Columbia | 6 | 4 |
| New Brunswick | 4 | 6 |
| Manitoba | 3 | 7 |
| Quebec | 3 | 7 |
| Prince Edward Island | 2 | 8 |
| Newfoundland | 1 | 9 |

While there were no official figures, it was estimated more than 22,000 persons attended the bonspiel during the five days of play.

When Baldwin threw his last stone against R. T. McNally's New Brunswick rink, Friday, an estimated 3,000 persons rose to applaud. Baldwin gave them a demonstration of the Winnipeg slide, going almost halfway down the ice as he released his rock—and it was a perfect stone.

It drew to the button behind a New Brunswick rock and counted one.

The Alberta rink then was presented with the Macdonald Brier by Tankard, emblematic of Canadian curling supremacy, which has been won by the West 20 times in 25 years of competition.

It was won last year by Ab Gowanlock with a rink from Dauphin, Man.

FINISHES SECOND

Second with eight victories and two defeats was the Campbell brothers rink from Avonlea, skipped by brother Garnet. The Campbells' week-down 12-10 to Baldwin in the first draw of the bonspiel and were edged 11-10 by the Reg Fierry rink from Halifax in the fourth round.

Saskatchewan, along with New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland and Quebec, has yet to win the championship.

In the last draw Saskatchewan turned back Quebec, skipped by W. . Tracy, 12-9 in their last game of the bonspiel; Manitoba, led by veteran Jimmy Welsh, got Newfoundland, skipped by H. J. Kent of St. John's 13-4; Ontario defested Nova Scotia 13-7, and British Columbia, skipped by E. C. (Bung) Cartimell, of Vancouver, defeated Prince Edward Island, skipped by Dr. W. L. MacDonald of Charlottetown, 11-8.

Let's take a look at the city playoffs to date. There have been fifteen games played so far with championship decided upon, that the squirt title which went to the Black Hawks.

Four teams have been eliminated. They are the Maple Leafs in the squirt, the Rangers, Red Wings and Maple Leafs in the peewees. The other team which won't play again in the squirt Black Hawks. This leaves all teams left in the running for the different titles. Six in each of the midget and bantam, three pee wee and two juvenile-junior teams.

So far in the games played there have been a total of 83 goals scored with the pee wees getting 24, bantam 20, J-J 18, and the midgets 14 while the squirts have scored seven goals for an average of 3.53 goals per game. Ten shutouts have been registered.

The Leafs are cracked up as far have been 2-0 and 5-0 for the Hawks in the squirt section, while the Rangers and Wings put the Leafs out of the running by blanking the Leafs 2-0 and the Canadians hung a 7-0 setback on the Red Wings. # Dutchies Oust Cubs From Senior Series

By The CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen took another step in the right direction Friday night towards repeating their performance of last year when they won the Allan Cup. But the stairs are pretty high yet.

The Dutchmen defeated Hamilton Cubs 6-2 in Hamilton to take the first round of their Ontario Hockey Association Senior A playoffs. The victory gave the Dutchmen the best-of-five quarter-final series 3-1. Kitchener now advances into the semi-final against the winner of the Windsor Bulldogs-Indians two-game quarter-final. Stratford is leading that set 2-1.

Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds took a stranglehold in their Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group playoff with Pembroke by edging the Lumber Kings 2-1 in Pembroke. The Greyhounds lead the best-of-seven semi-final 3-0.

In the other NOHA semi-final North Bay Trappers shaded Sudbury Wolves 3-2 in overtime at North Bay to register their first victory of the playoffs. The Wolves still lead the best-of-seven series 2-1.

Hamilton could score only six goals in its four playoff games and two came Friday night.

Don Oberholtzer and Charlie Brooker notched two goals each for the winners. Others were by Jack McKenzie and George Schmidt. Frank Mazombe and Sam Kennedy were the Hamilton snipers.

HOUNDS NEVER HEADED

The Greyhounds led during most of their clash with Pembroke. Terry Bloechle's goal early in the first period gave them a lead that stood up until the third period when Jack Carthy scored the tying marker for the Lumber Kings. The tie only lasted a minute before Ron Hurst scored the winner.

At North Bay the Trappers, their first in regulation play, scored twice within 35 seconds in overtime to take the victory. Brooker scored its second goal four seconds after the third North Bay goal to make it three apiece in 40 seconds.

George Gosselin, the league's top point scorer during the regular schedule, fired two goals for North Bay. Ab McAdam scored one goal for the Wolves.

Owen Sound Mercurys, who lead their OHA best-of-seven semi-final against Chatham Maroons 3-0, play host to the Maroons tonight. Winner is at Stratford for the Ontario

Jimmy Carter Loses Lightweight Title To Paddy Demarco In Fiery Bout

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — It took Paddy DeMarco nine years or fighting to learn self-control, but when he did, it brought him the world lightweight championship.

Paddy, a little guy from Brooklyn supposedly on the downgrade after a boxer, won the title Friday night by decisively outpointing Jimmy Carter in 15 rugged rounds at Madison Square Garden.

It was an astounding upset in the eyes of the experts. Carter, who routed DeMarco in, but Paddy had a simple and logical explanation for it.

"It was my smartest fight," he said. "I held control. Not what I was told, bored and jabbed him."

Carter, usually the calm, confident fighter, apparently didn't know what to make of all this. He was counting on DeMarco to fight in his usual style—bull-like rushes and wild swinging—but left Paddy open for counter-punching. Paddy just didn't.

The only upset was that Carter, a slow starter, never could catch up and DeMarco became in very unanimous verdict from referee Ruby Goldstein and the two judges.

Goldstein's card, the closest, gave it to DeMarco 7-5, with three rounds even. Judge Harold Barnes scored nine rounds even for DeMarco and six for Carter while Judge Arthur Aidala gave it 9-4-1 in favor of Paddy. The Associated Press had it 9-5-1 for DeMarco.

NOT MUCH MONEY

The victory didn't bring any great financial rewards for DeMarco, who at 26 has been fighting professionally for 10 years. But it did bring a lot of satisfaction.

Oddly, it was DeMarco who was supposed to get the title shot when Jimmy Carter won it from Kid Gavilan three years ago. But he was taken sick and Carter got the chance and won in an upset as surprising as his defeat.

Under contract terms, Carter will get a return bout within 90 days and they may do a little better business at the gate.

The gate was only $23,737, to which was added $30,000 radio and television money. Of this, 40 per cent went to Carter and 10 per cent to DeMarco. Carter's manager, Willie Gilzenstein, said he had been guaranteed about $32,000 by president Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club.

Game-Law Violators

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Salmar Water)

The two wardens drove slowly along the mountain road, headlights dimmed, and eyes alert. As they rounded a curve, there beside the road stood an automobile, also with the headlights dimmed. In the driver's seat sat a young man, ostensibly asleep.

While one warden questioned the driver and looked over the car, the other walked around the front of the car. On the ground were tire tracks, showing that the car had been headed into the adjoining field which, of course, would allow the headlights to illuminate the field.

The warden walked up through the field, playing the beam of a five-cell flashlight ahead of him. Sure enough, hiding behind a bush he found two young men in hunting clothes and a freshly killed doe on the ground beside them, partially butchered. The other warden found a loaded rifle in the car.

All three of these fellows were fined, fined, and when they refused to pay, put in jail. All had been convicted of similar offenses previously, one of them only six weeks before.

FAMFERED PRISONERS

About a week later one of the wardens drove up to these boys in jail. There they were, warm and comfortable, playing a friendly game of pinochle. Evidently they were content to serve out their terms and live on the bounty of the community.

"I have news for you boys," said the warden. "We are reopening your case and prosecuting on five additional counts—another game without a license, shooting game out of season, shooting game after dark, shooting game from an automobile, and carrying a load of gun in the car. You should get out of here about a year from next April." All these fines were paid that afternoon.

Regardless of the circumstances or the comparative scarcity of the game involved, they pay on attention to legal limits, shooting what they can pay for in the event they happen to get caught. What they do to the game supply and the resultant quality of the shooting during the years to come concerns them not at all.

SHOOT HEN PHEASANTS

Consider, for example, the practice of shooting hen pheasants to fill out the game bag so that everybody takes home a mess of birds. They know that if they are caught they must pay for each hen but they are willing to take that chance.

In the thickly populated eastern states it is a matter of absolute record that between 60 per cent and 80 per cent of the hens present in the covers at the beginning of the hunting season, are shot, either accidentally or illegally, before the close of that season. All right—now take a look at the stocking figures. Say, for example, that ten hens are stocked in the spring. Experience shows that these pen-reared birds suffer a shrinkage of 75 per cent.

Thus, the hunting season opens with only 2.5 of those 10 hens still in the covers. Shoot off 90 per cent more, or 1.5 hens, and only one hen is left to replace the one which was shot in the first place.

It costs about $3.00 to raise and stock a hen pheasant in the field. Figure out for yourself about the average. We legal hunters, who, in effect, owe that hen which was shot, must pay from conservation funds $3.00 to replace her.

LOSE MONEY AND BIRD

If the violator is caught, the fine, as a rule, is $25.00 and costs, which later go to the magistrate. Not only do we fail to get our money back; also, we lost the services of that bird in raising her annual brood which she most surely will do if she is allowed to live an unmolested life. Yet if too many of the boys will take home a hen to eat if the cocks are not forthcoming. "Three cheers for me and to heck with the whole wide world" must surely be their motto.

The remedy, of course, is to put some teeth into the game laws which will give the enforcement officers some backing when they make an arrest. While fines undeniably hurt, they can be paid and that is that. Loss of licence is regretable but not a serious matter to the once-in-a-while hunter. However, if a man knew that when he fires at an illegal deer or bird he is faced with jail sentence he would be more apt to watch with him, he will think twice before he pulls that trigger.

Too many of the states allow a certain amount of discretionary latitude on the part of the magistrates. All too often politics can enter into the matter. The result is usually a combination—if light fines and suspended sentences, not to mention a discouraged warden.

NO OPTION

One state, Michigan (there may be others) allows the magistrate no option in sentencing a man for shooting an illegal deer. This is the law, as I receive it from Mr. E. E. Tucker, Assistant Chief of Field Administration.

"Willful illegal killing or illegal possession of a deer—not less than $50.00 and costs and 60 days in jail nor more than $100 and 90 days in jail. License revocation mandatory for a 5-year period."

There it is—cause and effect. Just like that. Shoot an illegal deer and you end up in clink for five days even if you are a bosom pal of the governor himself.

If more of our enforcement offices had that sort of legislation to back them up, not only for deer but for all game, the rank and file of the hunters of the nation would enjoy much better sport when the annual hunting seasons roll around.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What's the matter with TV entertainment? Producer Leland Hayward says it's too rushed.

Since a top Hollywood agent, he switched jobs to become Broadway's most successful producer, He has fostered a string of hits, including "A Bell For Adano," "State of the Union," "Mister Roberts," "South Pacific," "Call Me, Mister," and "Point of no Return" and "Wish You Were Here."

He is also responsible for two of TV's most memorable shows. The first was the Ford anniversary show, which is still being talked about. His second effort was last Sunday's comedy hour version of "Anything Goes" with Ethel Merman, Frank Sinatra, Bert Lahr and Sheree North. It was one of the happiest TV outings within memory.

"I wasn't at all satisfied," said Hayward, who appears to be something of a perfectionist. "There were so many things that could have been improved if we had more time."

PRACTICE TOO SHORT

I asked him how he felt after the historic Ford show.

"I was miserable after that one," he replied, which proves he is a perfectionist.

"Everything is done in too much of a hurry in TV," he continued. "Why, my entire work on 'Anything Goes' three weeks before the show went on. Our first rehearsal was a week before the performance and then it was only a reading of the book."

Hayward also finds fault with the TV format.

GOOD SHOWS CUT

"The hour show is simply too short for a musical comedy or even a straight play. You don't really have an hour to play with; you have 48 minutes. In 'Anything Goes,' we cut dozens of music. That left a mere 26 minutes to get the book across. Ridiculous."

"You put a good show together, then you have to cut it, cut, cut. It's the show with straight plays. They build up a good plot, then kiss off the final scene with fast, 'Is that so?' 'Yes, it is,' 'hello,' 'goodbye.' You leave the audience hanging on the ropes."

He believes that shows will have to go an hour and a half to be effective. Despite his criticisms, he is fascinated with TV and is listening to the offers of the networks.

AT THE BELLE

Distasteful cast of cracks "MARTIN LUTHER".

"Martin Luther", Louis de Rochemont Associates' half-million dollar feature film, probably the most widely-discussed picture this year, is now in its sixth and final day at the Belle Theatre.

The film was shot on location in Western Germany to guarantee as authentic an atmosphere as possible for the historically-documented picture.

Dealing with the life of the 16th century Protestant Reformation leader, the film takes Luther from his beginning as a monk in an Augustinian monastery to the world-shaking Diet of Augsburg, when he learns that the evangelical princes will stand by him in their convictions.

A production caravan, consisting of a cast and crew of 40 persons riding in cars and buses, followed by several trailer trucks loaded with equipment and costumes, traveled over Western Germany shooting scenes of Luther's student days, the burning of the papal bull and the gala entrance of Luther into the city of Worms.

Most of the action of the film was photographed in the actual streets, churches, monasteries and castles of the period. Since the town of Wittenberg, in whose church Luther preached, is now in the hands of the Russians, the Maulbronn monastery church was used instead. However, the company managed to shoot exteriors of one Eastern Zone location, Warlburg Castle, where Luther was placed in hiding, and where he translated the new Testament.

The historic hall in which the Diet of Worms took place in 1521, was unfortunately destroyed by bombing during the last war. The production crew therefore had to reconstruct the enormous room, after a careful study of 16th century documents, woodcuts and etchings, in the AFIFA Film Studios in Berlin. The film took up the entire floor of the hangar-like sound stage building. With 100 cast members and extras in the scene, Luther delivers his famous lines, "I cannot . . . I will not . . . recant!"

"Martin Luther" was directed by Hollywood's Irving Pichel, responsible for such films as "The Moon Is Down", "Tomorrow Is Forever", and "The Miracle of the Bells." Nial MacGinnis, distinguished British actor,

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, MARCH 7, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Deception in the air, so be advised not to heed rumor or flattery. Start your day With religious services, then do necessary chores, after which you'll enjoy pleasant diversion.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Eye kindly any business matters that have to be done today but if possible let such work wait until a week-day. Today belongs to God, family, and thought of community. Favorable generally.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You may feel tempted to engage in business transactions (financial schemes (honest, of course). Don't, unless essential, for on Sunday we should think of our spiritual needs, good reading, children, etc.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Ideal influences for Cancer's innate gifts. You (if true to your sign) love religion, old customs, family traditions. Today especial honors these. Necessary tasks can be a pleasure.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Mixed vibrations may cause you to feel confused or indecisive. Which way to turn, what to do first? Without much thinking carefully and you need have no difficulty. Good effort always pays.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Sensible expansion may be wise but be advised against risky speculation, spending for luxuries not needed now. However, remember this is God's day and first thoughts should be of Him.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Heed advice to Taurus. Day favors essential matters, home and family interests. Indulge in some rest and relaxation. Religious services a comfort and true aid.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Some exciting moments and some dull ones but influences on the whole are cheerful, encouraging. If you remain calm and don't seek unnecessary work, you can have a happy day.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — You may have to curb a desire to attend to business, work matters that should wait until tomorrow. Study and plan if you must today, but remember, prayer, rest, devotions are essential, too.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Day's aspects do not suggest difficulty but they urge you be choosey in the type of program you select for day. First come religious services. Help others arrange activities, enjoy wholesome fun.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — This can be a peppy, interesting day for you if you follow God's commandments and nature's wise laws. Nourish your mind, body with prayer. Then take time for healthy relaxation.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — This should be a pleasant if tantalizing day. You should enjoy it fully. Don't reach for the impossible. Attend duties properly, pray, rest, enjoy music or other entertainment.

YOU BORN TODAY are intensely sincere, studious; capable of making reliable decisions, have sound business awareness. # Flyers Defeat Batawa 7-5 To Even Series

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The Trenton R.C.A.F. Flyers scored five goals in the second period last night and then hung on in the final twenty minutes to take home a 7-5 win over the Batawa team and even the best of three quarter finals at one game each.

The middle stanza was the only one where the winners outscored Batawa 5-2. They broke a 1-1 deadlock at the six minute mark with Vezina beating Lefort only to have the Shoemen tie the score when Doug Day took a goalmouth pass from Pukanclk and upped it on. This brought the Flyers alive and they pumped three goals into the net in less than two minutes. Rankin got one both for the Base crew but Boucher gave Trenton a 5-3 lead before the end of the period.

The first period was fast and well played with both goaltenders burning in fine efforts. Rochon put the Flyers out front at 4.54 and Day tied it ten minutes later when he stickhandled through three checkers right into the net's doorstep before flicking the puck by him.

Batawa scored the first goal and half of the final period after Beatch had put the Flyers ahead 7-3 and then it was all over at 15.56 with Mitts doing the honors. "Huck" Rochon fired the final goal with 58 seconds to play and his team surged around the net in hopes of tying the last goals but it was not to be.

Beatch led all point getters with one goal and a trio of assists while Rochon fired two of the winning goals. Doug Day notched a pair as well as a loaning carve with all the players from both teams turned in good games.

Fetherstonhaugh and Stewart handed out only eight penalties with the R.C.A.F. drawing five.

The teams:

R.C.A.F.: Dumaul, Boucher, Vezina, Beatch, Bowman, Rochon, Stewart, Cowick, Parnall, Racicot, Ginevras, Adams, Dickson, Daigle, Tardiff.

Batawa: Lefort, Wright, Pukanclk, Moore, Mills, Reid, Cook, Robson, Rankin, Cosgrove, Foster, Courtney, Day, Farmer, Reeves.

Referees: Fetherstonhaugh and Fred Stewart.

Reports Vary On Lyndies Treatment; Swedish Paper Asks Criticisms End

STOCKHOLM (CP) — A Stockholm newspaper Friday called for an end to adverse criticisms of Canada's team in the world hockey tournament.

Svenska Dagbladet, commenting on charges of rough play against Toronto East York which have appeared in Swedish newspapers since the start of the tournament, said the Canadians are the "toughest team" in the tournament, but added that to talk of deliberate "assaults" is sensation-mongering.

Officials of the Czech and Finnish teams, Canada's last two opponents, agreed that the Canadians play hard but that charges of "gangsterism" levelled against them in some newspaper stories are unjustified.

"It is absolutely wrong to describe them as gangsters," said Vladimir Bousek, trainer of the Czechs, who lost to the Canadians 5-2 Friday.

"They want to play hard, aiming straight for goal, whereas the Swedish and Czech teams play more at the sides of the rink."

TERMED GENTLEMEN

Bjoern Wahl, trainer of the Finns, who were beaten 20-1 by Canada Thursday, said the Canadians are "the gentlemen of the rink." He added that Swedish press reports are "surely exaggerated."

Meanwhile president W. B. (Bibby) George of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said any decision to withdraw Canadian teams from the tournament would be made when the CAHA holds its annual meeting next May.

TORONTO (CP)—Conflicting reports reached here Friday night on the treatment given Canadian players at the world hockey championships at Stockholm.

Don Preston, manager of the Toronto East Yorks, is quoted in The Telegram as saying in a transatlantic telephone interview that part of the crowd at the games calls the Canadian players "pigs" and "cry babies" and has charged that some of the rough stuff came from Communist sympathizers.

However, The Star quotes W. B. George of Kemptville, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, as saying by phone from Stockholm that the crowds are not worse than in "most Canadian small town rinks" and that he will recommend that Canada continue sending teams to the world tournament.

NHL CROWDS WORSE

"Naturally they want their own team to win, but they have been as bad at all towards us, certainly no worse than at some at NHL games back in Canada," said George.

The Telegram quotes Preston as saying:

"Part of the crowd at these games is very rough on us. They call our players pigs and cry cry babies. The public is against us here. Most of it is the usual type of semi-rowdy crowd you find in Canada. But some is vicious. I think it comes from Communist sympathizers and by the criticism of some newspaper men. These writers may be Communists too, I don't know.

"But we are deep in a political situation."

Campbellford CI Beaten By BCI By 49-29 Score

By BOB GALWAY.

Friday evening in the Campbellford Collegiate gym, the BCI seniors defeated the Campbellford seniors by a score of 49-29. Both teams were handicapped by the small gym.

In the first quarter the Campbellford team outscored the BCI squad by two points and were up five at the end of the half. The BCI team then changed their defensive tactics and held the Campbellford team to 19 points in the last half. Wayne Bovay outscored all comers in the last quarter scoring attack to give the BCI seniors a 49-29 victory.

Bovay was high man for BCI with 16 points, followed by Parkhurst and Jackson with 8. Gault had 7 to his credit. Barnum was the main point getter for Campbellford with 16, Jones had 8 and Guerin 5. It was a cleanly contested game with only 8 fouls called by referee Ted Batchelor. BCI plays in Napanee Monday evening.

Teams:

BCI—Bovay 14, Mathews 2, Parkhurst 8, Jackson 8, Gault 7, Ablarce 2, Farnsworth 2, Genela 2, Kane, Ewing, Smith, Wakar (Campbellford — Barnum 16, Jones 8, Guerin 5, Holmes, Smith, McAlpine.

Orillia Trims Petes 5-1

The Orillia Postiacs, always a tough nut to crack in their own backyard lived up to the form last night and handed the Peterborough Petes a 5-1 decision to square their senior "B" semi-finals series at onsall. The teams clash in Peterborough again tonight and are back in Orillia on Monday evening.

Meanwhile down in Kingston the Oshawa Truckmen meet the Goodyes before what probably will be a referee crazed crowd as the Truckmen are hoping for just that since it is their home stagearound. Trans-ferred to the down-east Community Centre.

The Truckmen and Goodyears play again in Kingston next Wednesday night and on Friday Belleville fandom will see the teams clash at Quinte Arena in playing its home fixture in Memorial Arena.

Climbing Vines and Ground Covers

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Monday's wet snow clung to every available surface, including the ivy leaves. Every leaf held up a spoonful of snow, which added to the beauty of the house for a brief space of time. The cold temperatures have darkened the English ivy, but it still adds a softening effect to the red brick walls.

English ivy is one of the few evergreen creepers suitable for our climate. However; there are other hardy vines which lend a charm to the home, or its surroundings. Vines have other uses too. They will hide an ugly building or fence, screen out an unwanted view, provide shade, or act as a ground cover where grass will not grow.

While you are still turning the pages of the nursery catalogue, and are still undecided as to a choice of plant material, pause to consider the vines.

Ampelopsis Engelmani or Engelmann's ivy is an improved form of Virginia creeper. It is extremely hardy, grows quickly and makes a good covering for rough walls, fence, or stumps.

During the autumn the foliage turns a bright scarlet.

Boston, or Japan ivy will cling to brick or stone walls, and is considered one of the finest vines. It has neat habits is fairly hardy as far north as Ottawa. The leaves are olive green in summer, and crimson in fall. The trumpet vine has large scarlet blossoms which are borne in clusters, and last for many weeks. The foliage, large lacy leaves, remains glossy and attractive all summer. It may be grown as a shrub by pruning off all side shoots and allowing only the main stem to develop. The top growth is sheared off to a globular shape.

WISTERIA IS BEAUTIFUL

Wisteria is often slow to start, but once established makes a beautiful arbor, or veranda cover. The long trusters of lavender flowers make a colored curtain. It is quite hardy.

Honeysuckles, either Hall's or Gold Flame have almost evergreen foliage and fragrant flowers. They are good porch, fence, or arbor covers as well as excellent ground covers for a sloping position. Golden Flame has bright yellow and red trumpet shaped flowers. Both bloom almost continously throughout the summer.

There are two types of clematis, the large flower and the small flower. The large types bloom through the summer and autumn. They range in color from deep purple to white. Ramona has large sky blue blooms, crimson King is deep red. Jackmani has deep purple blooms and Henri is a lovely creamy white. These are suitable for porch, pergola, trellis or fence. The Paniculata clematis has a fine fragrance and a mass of white blooms through the late summer and into the late fall, when most vines have stopped blooming.

HAS MANY BLOOMS

Another vine with small white flowers which from a sheet of white turning to pink and rose, is silver lace vine. This vine produces the most flowers of any of our cultivated creepers. Silver lace vine is a perennial. It dies down to the roots each fall, but sends up vigorous new growth each spring. This is an old fashioned vine which was a favorite 50 years passed. It is suitable for back porches, fences, arbors and trellises.

Highest Wintercreeper, or Euonymus, is called the fewer among climbing vines. It will, with a little assistance, climb brick walls or other smooth surfaces. It has deep green leathery foliage and orange husked red berries. It is rather slow to start, but is well worth the extra time it takes to become established. It will stand smoke and shade. This makes a most attractive covering for a low wall. It may be trained as a low shrub. Japanese spurge, Pachysandra, makes a good ground cover under trees where grass will not grow. It forms a thick mat which chokes out weeds. Its glossy rosettes of leaves grow luxuriously under dense shade.

ROYAL A SUCCESS

GUELPH (CP)—The 1954 College Royal at the Ontario Agricultural College ended Wednesday a success. Wednesday was the last day of the college show and normally is the big day. Shaky snow prevented the 3,000-turnout the show has had in the past, but it did attract about 2,000 visitors.

100,000 Coyotes Killed in Alberta In Fight Against Rabies Epidemic

EDMONTON (CP)—Nearly 100,000 coyotes were killed with poison or traps during 1953 as Alberta fought a rabies epidemic that threatened to sweep south to the international border.

Although the disease still is a menace to humans and livestock, it has been virtually confined to the Athabaska area, about 100 miles north of here, and a few sections of the Peace river block and the Northwest Territories.

Dr. E. E. Ballantyne, chairman of the central rabies control committee, says the disease will be prevalent "for a long time" because of the difficulty of eliminating it from wild life.

Rabies, or hydrophobia, first invaded Alberta in June, 1913, although it had been present in foxes and wolves in northern Canada for several years.

Since then there have been 400 known cases among domestic animals in the province.

Although about 200 humans have been given anti-rabies treatment—there have been no proven contacts. Once symptoms develop in humans, the result is usually fatal.

Every person bitten by a rabid animal does not develop symptoms however.

Although the disease is chiefly contracted through bites, heavy rubber gloves were recommended to trappers to protect them from infected saliva.

A dog vaccination program north of the 13th parallel was carried out by the health of animals division of the federal agriculture department. Assisted by RCMP and forest rangers, the inspectors vaccinated about 14,000 dogs north of the parallel in the winter of 1952-53.

The disease also was found in bears, beavers, foxes, lynx, moose, rabbits, wolves and weasels in Alberta and caribou in the Northwest Territories.

The epidemic now seems well under control.

"But anything can happen," says Dr. Ballantyne.

EASY CATCH

LISTOWEL, Ont. (CP)—The first fish catch of the season here came as a result of floods. Workers making a pump at an industrial building saw a chub, about five inches long, come out with the gush of water from the hose.

PUBLICATION RECORD HOLDS

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—A 104-year-old record at the Savannah Morning News was jeopardized Thursday night, but a slow auxiliary press finally got the situation well in hand. A fire in the press room put the paper's presses out of commission shortly before midnight and endangered the Morning News' record of daily publication without interruption since 1850. But hearty efforts by employees put the auxiliary press into action.

Let's Be Honest!!

If all alcoholic beverages, could be banished from the face of the earth, this might well be a better and safer world.

These beverages however have been with us since the dawn of civilization. The ease with which they can be manufactured, makes it a sure bet that they will be with us right to the end.

At one time we thought prohibition was the answer, what happened?

BOOTLEGGERS, RUM RUNNERS, ROTTEN AND POISONOUS LIQUOR, etc. So much money could be made by the underworld that they corrupted the Police, Politicians, etc.

We have since found out, that those who are determined to drink, will drink so we may as well have it out in the open where we can watch it and control it. When it is in the hands of bootleggers, there is NO CONTROL.

TO ALL RESIDENTS OF SIDNEY TOWNSHIP INCLUDING RCAF PERSONNEL:

On the 21st of April, provided you have resided 2 months in the area, you will be asked to vote on the question of whether you approve or not, of alcoholic beverages being served with meals.

In regards to the above, we would like to point out the following facts:

In the event of 60% of the voters, voting "yes", alcoholic beverages can only be sold with meals. NO BEVERAGE ROOMS, NO LIQUOR STORES, NOTHING ELSE.

Only places able to qualify as a hotel will be eligible to have a licence. TO THE BEST OF OUR KNOWLEDGE ONLY THE DUTCH MILL INN QUALIFIES IN THE ENTIRE TOWNSHIP.

Inasmuch as a meal must be bought before a drink may be purchased, who is there in the Township who will come to THE DUTCH MILL INN in preference to other hotels in Belleville and Trenton? This new service will be used almost exclusively by Tourists and Travellers.

While Sidney Township is dry IN THEORY, who is there in the township who is more than a 15 or 20 minutes drive to the nearest beverage room or liquor store in Trenton or Belleville?

British Honduras Governor Fears Communist Threat

Urges Immediate Probe Of Colony's Left-Wing Party

Marilyn Monroe Expendable Say Britishers

LONDON (Reuters) — A British newspaper columnist today reported that 5,000 readers have chosen Marilyn Monroe as the first movie star they'd pitch out of an imaginary balloon to keep it from sinking.

The postcard poll, apparently marked by a heavy female vote, was conducted by columnist Donald Zec of The Daily Mirror. Stars who voted next most expendable were Mario Lanza, Audrey Hepburn and British comic Norman Wisdom. Jack Hawkins, rugged he - man of British cinema, was voted a safe balloon ride home.

British Captain Had Mau Mau's Ear Cut Off

By RONALD BATCHELOR

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — A Mau Mau suspect's ear was sliced off on orders of British Army Capt. Gerald Griffiths, a military court was told here today.

The atrocity was ordered last summer, the prosecution contends, to frighten suspects into revealing the hideouts of the terrorist organization which has been battling forces in this British colony for the last 16 months.

The army is trying Griffiths, 42, on two charges of causing grievous bodily harm to Africans and four charges of "cruel, disgraceful conduct."

The day after the tribesman's ear was sliced off, Griffiths compelled a Somali soldier to take a hole in the ear of another suspect with a bayonet, the court was told, and wire was rammed through the hole so the African could be led through the forests to hunt Mau Mau gangs.

Prosecutor F. G. Hobson gave this account:

Two captured Mau Mau suspects, Njeru Mbegwa and Kaveeki Njoka, were turned over to Griffiths, a battalion commander, for use as trackers in sorties against the antiwhite terrorists.

The pair was brought to Griffiths by Somali Private Ali Egal, at a clearing near the edge of a forest. Griffiths handed Segat a knife and told Ndiru he was going to have him mutilated. Njeru's clothes were removed and the mutilation did not take place.

Later the captain ordered Segat to cut off Njoka's ear, which was done. Griffiths then took the knife from Segat and walked away.

Segat was found Sunday after a search of 1,000 square miles of wild Somaliland bush country. He will be the prosecution's chief witness.

Canadian Film Wins

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (CP) — Canada won the grand medal of the Italian Olympic committee for the best film at "Cortina Open" at the week-long showing of sports films here. Canada's film, the national competition, it was announced today.

The Canadian production showed last year's play in the country's top amateur hockey tournament, Britain won 12 of the 23 awards at the competition.

TODAY'S WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis — Slightly cooler air spread across the province Sunday, bringing some clouds in most regions, but only minor temperature drops in southern Ontario. Patches of cloud and a few snowflurries still linger over much of the northern half of the province today, but will clear away this afternoon. Tuesday will be mainly sunny in southern regions with some cloudiness in central and northern sections.

LONDON (AP)—The government has been asked urgently to investigate a possible Communist threat to British Honduras in Central America, authoritative sources disclosed today.

They confirmed a report published in Lord Beaverbrook's pro-empire Daily Express that Governor Patrick Muir Renison seeks immediate appointment of a royal commission to uncover any link between the colony's leading party and Communists in neighboring Guatemala.

British Honduras is due to elect a new legislative assembly April 15 under the terms of a constitution published Saturday.

A government statement on the situation is expected to be made Wednesday in the House of Commons.

CONFIRM EXPRESS STORY

Responsible British informants confirmed this report by the Express:

Campaigning on a program of "reform," the left-wing pro-Guatemalan People's United party appears almost certain to win all nine elected seats in the 15-seat assembly. Three seats will be filled by government officials and three by nominees of the governor.

Most of the people of British Honduras, however, are devout Roman Catholics and are strongly opposed to communism, it is said.

In U. P.'s links with the Guatemalan Reds were established by an authoritative inquiry, the report might lose much of its following.

France, Viet Nam Begin Talks On Independence

PARIS (AP)—France and Viet Nam today opened talks designed to lead to a treaty of limited independence for the war-ravaged Indo-Chinese state.

Premier Laniel and Prince Buu Loc, Viet Namese premier, occupied their conference seats as the negotiations opened this morning. Later, technical experts are expected to take over most of the work.

CAN'T STAND ALONE YET

Nothing more than an agreement on the principles can be reached during the present talks.

Large areas of the state are controlled by the Communist-led armies of the Vietminh. The Viet Namese government can't stand on its official help from France for its civil resistance. And the United States is supplying the money for training and equipping its army.

France has spent a lot on big operation on the grant of independence to Viet Nam—that it remain linked to France through the French Union.

Queen Wins Place in U.S. Who's Who As Do Hopalong Cassidy, Malenkov

CHICAGO (AP)—Queen Elizabeth has arrived in "Who's Who in America."

She is among the notables listed for the first time in the book.

The monarch's consort, the Duke of Edinburgh, went into the volume with her.

Desi Arnaz, a member of a popular husband-and-wife television team, is another arrival, weighing up with his wife, Lucille Ball, already in the tome.

"Who's Who" is crammed with biographies of residents of the United States and other countries who are considered by the editors to be of general reference interest in this country."

The publishers announced today that there are 48,716 word sketches in the 1954-55 edition, a net gain of 3,000 over the previous biennial edition.

One of the new "biographees" is Andy Frain, who directs a corps of ushers at sports stadia, race tracks and political conventions. He is listed as a crowd engineer.

Newcomers include:

Evers Burdeen, Ed Sullivan, Ted Mack, Jinx Falkenburg and Tex Ritter (boy Hopalong Cassidy) of television, Kim Hunter and Elizabeth Taylor of the movies, and singers Peggy Lee and Rosemary Clooney.

Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens, Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City, Gov. Samuel King of Hawaii, and Martin Durkin, former secretary of labor.

Actresses Judith Evelyn, Julie Harris and Lilli Palmer, and authors Budd Schulberg, Laura Z. Hobson and James Jones;

Wernher von Braun, German rocket specialist who now is in the U. S.

Georgi Malenkov, premier of the U. S. S. R.

U.S. AND JAPAN SIGN MUTUAL SECURITY PACT

Will Hasten Day When Americans Can Leave

By GEORGE McARTHUR

TOKYO (AP) — Japan and the United States today signed a mutual defence pact to give the Japanese both guns and grain and hasten the day when U.S. soldiers can withdraw from the island empire.

The mutual defence assistance agreement, actually a series of agreements, will pour $100,000,000 of U.S. aid into Japan's economy in the next three months, and probably much more in the long run.

U.S. ambassador John Allison said the agreement "takes us one step nearer the day when the United States can withdraw its forces from Japan."

The agreement will increase Japan's defence force from 120,000 to 160,000 men. The U. S. will supply ships and planes.

Japan will buy $50 million worth of barley to Japan. Japan will sell the commodity and in turn will use the money for guns and munitions.

The agreement was hammered out in eight months of negotiation whilst at times brought the Liberal government of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida under intense opposition criticism.

Allison quoted State Secretary Dulles who said recently that the agreement would be "purely of a defensive nature, directed exclusively toward contributing to the defence and security of the area bordering Japan."

However, neither does the agreement specify that Japan should not send troops wherever she sees fit.

The agreement binding Japan to the Western democracies provides for destroyers, tanks, jeeps, airplanes and other military needs. It also provides for a 100-man military advisory group to serve with the Japanese defence force.

The same day a number of military items to be furnished is unspecified.

The agreements have come under fire from the Communists, who term them another step in imperialism, and from the Socialist party, who fear the agreement will spur a rebirth of Japanese militarism.

Juvenile Crime Ring Is Exposed at Orillia

ORILLIA (CP) — Town and provincial police teamed up over the week-end to uncover a juvenile crime ring which netted the eight youthful perpetrators $1,000 worth of goods from local stors, in six months.

Eight boys ranging from 12 to 15 years of age have been arrested in connection with the thefts, police authorities. Three have previous convictions.

Police hint of the thefts came when a father discovered his son with "far too much money." He then called provincial police to question him.

May Cancel Queen's Visit To West Australia Due Polio

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Rumors that the royal visit to western Australia might be cancelled increased today following reports of 22 new cases of poliomyelitis in Perth during the last three days.

In a letter published today in the newspaper West Australian, a Perth doctor says: "It is up to us, the people to suggest the cancellation of the royal tour.

"Although a sacrifice, it would safeguard the well-being of the Royal Family and of our own fellow beings."

Changes in the program for the western Australian part of the tour by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh have already been announced.

But no official move has been made suggesting that the tour might be cancelled.

ANXIETY GROWS

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Increasing anxiety for Queen Elizabeth's personal safety in the present polio epidemic may change the royal tour program further, it was learned today.

Another children's rally during the tour of western Australia later this month has been cancelled at the country town of Busselton. Two such cases have been reported in the state, for a total of 50 this year. Reported cases of polio in all of western Australia this year stand at 145.

But the Queen herself, with half her tour completed, is in "splendid health and spirits," Eric Harrison, Australian minister in charge of the tour, said this morning. It proved, he said, that fears in Britain and Australia that the royal program has been too heavy are groundless.

TO SCREEN CONTACTS

A Perth report today said the public health department will closely screen people handling food for the royal table, or coming in close contact with the royal couple.

Official sources said the royal handshake may also be banned in western Australia.

The royal couple returned to Canberra this afternoon from O'Shannassy chalet near Warburton, in the mountains 60 miles from here, after a restful week-end.

30 New York Couples to Tell How They Purchased Babies

NEW YORK (CP) — More than 30 New York couples said to have bought babies for Montreal at prices ranging from $3,000 to $10,000 were to testify "voluntary" appearances today at closed-door hearings before a special inquiry judge, whose whole members of cams here from Montreal during the week-end.

Ernest A. Miller, an assistant to district attorney Frank Hogan, said he would have the press, in a general way, what is disclosed by witnesses.

The plan is for the transcript of the testimony to be taken back to Montreal for use at trials of two lawyers charged in connection with the illegal adoptions.

Judge Gerald Almond of Montreal, however, said: "I'm sure we will have to censor" Miller's statements.

Miller had no comment on the Montreal jurist's statement.

ARRIVED SUNDAY

Other members of the Canadian group who arrived Sunday are Crown attorney Jules Arsenault and Myer Bennett, counsel for one of the Montreal defendants. Joseph Cohen, counsel for the others, was expected to join the rest of the commission for today's hearings.

Local authorities have withheld comment as possible action against parents of the "black market" infants, but Canadian officials have said that the identity of buyers in the U.S. would remain secret and they will be allowed to keep the children.

The two Montreal defendants, Herman Buller and Louis Glazer, are charged with 62 counts of illegal adoptions in which both Miller and Mrs. Marguerite Jamieson, Theresa Bogatta, took part.

Dozen Killed By Accidents In East Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Four persons killed in a level-crossing smash near Brantford were among at least 14 victims of week-end fatalities in eastern Canada.

A Canadian Press compilation today listed 10 violent or accidental deaths in Ontario, one in Quebec and one in New Brunswick.

Killed in the Brantford crash early Saturday were Ralph Tokash, 22; Olga Chamaluk, 20; William Chamaluk, 26; and Mrs. Olga Chamaluk, 26. Injured was Andrew Lupchyk, 22, the fifth occupant of a 1953 car in which the victims were returning to western Canada after visiting relatives here in Toronto.

The wreck of a string of runaway freight cars near Hamilton killed brakeman W. C. Arnold of St. Thomas and injured another brakeman, R. C. Hamilton of London, Ont.

Other Ontario traffic victims: John Shepherd, 30, and Donald Prestley, 26, in a motorcycle crash up in Dorcheste; Jean McKinnon 33-year-old cyclist hit by a car at Renfrew; Mrs. Florence Brown, 56, whose tractor flipped over while he was trying to to while truck through heavy slush.

Ronald Litt, 4, was drowned at Port Stanley when he fell into a fishing dock into Kettle Creek.

Attend Rally

MONTREAL (CP) — Three hundred university and high school students from Canada, Newfoundland, Quebec, Sherbrooke and Lennoxville, Que., attended during the week-end the 17th annual Montreal rally of the Inter-varsity and Inter-school Christian Fellowship.

The rally started Saturday with discussion groups led by Rev. R. Simmonds of Orillia, Ont.; Dr. A. C. Hill of Sherbrooke, Que.; Miss Margaret Bradshaw of Toronto and D. Y. Gender of Montreal.

FREE WORLD MUST RECOGNIZE RED CHINA EVENTUALLY

Prime Minister Makes Statement At Seoul

SEOUL (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent repeated today the Canadian government's stand that the Free World will have to recognize Red China eventually.

"I do feel that some day we are going to have to be realistic," the tousle-haired prime minister told a press conference. "We are going to have to admit the present government of China is the government the people want."

He also said Canadian troops will remain in Korea "as long as necessary to see the job done."

Mr. St. Laurent, who is head of the United Nations forces in Korea is on a tour of inspection of that country, but to prove that aggression will not be tolerated.

The prime minister, who arrived Sunday from Manila on a three-day visit to Korea during his world goodwill tour, spoke to reporters after he had been met by South Korea's president Syngman Rhee.

MORAL OBLIGATION

He said UN relief aid to Korea was "the moral obligation of the free world to help the people, the people on the battlefield, where they struggle against totalitarian aggression occurred."

He hoped the April Korean conference at Geneva would produce results.

Commonwealth, UN and South Korean officials welcomed the Canadian leader in a bone-chilling wind as he arrived aboard the RCAF C5 transport which is taking him around the world.

A battery of South Korean guns fired a 19-gun salute as the plane rolled to a stop at Seoul city's airport.

Mr. St. Laurent and Commonwealth honor guards stood at attention as his prime minister, his silver hair glinting in the late afternoon sun, passed down the line. Some of the honor guard wore the kilt of the famed Black Watch regiment.

PLAY "O CANADA"

A Korean military band struck up "O Canada" as the prime minister stepped from the plane and walked briskly toward a line of United States military police and Canadian honor guards.

The prime minister talked briefly with Canadian missionaries, then left by car for the city's outskirts.

During the next two days the Canadian and New York guards of the 8th army and the Canadian brigade. He will visit the brigade in its position across the frontline and will inspect guards of honor from troops in the lines and in Seoul.

Pope Pius' Recovery Reported Continuing

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII's recovery from injuries from a dangerous gastric ailment was reported continuing today.

Physicians said the 78-year-old pontiff is able to retain an increasing amount of solid food.

Score 4 In First Then Coast Home; Canadians Nervous

Dynamos Teach Lyndhurst Finer Points of Own Game

STOCKHOLM (CP) — An inspired Russian team taught Canada a lesson in stickhandling, skating and passing Sunday to beat Toronto East York 7-2 for the world hockey title.

The Canadians, unbeaten and untied in six previous starts in the eight-team round-robin tournament were heavily favored over Moscow Dynamos, Russia's first entry in international competition, who had looked bad at times in compiling a record of five victories and one tie before the final game.

But the faster, better-organized Dynamos took command from the opening whistle to hand Canada her worst defeat since the tournament began in 1924. It was the fourth time Canada was beaten for the title in 30 tries.

The Russians showed a finished mastery of other aspects of a game that once was virtually a Canadian game and which was introduced into the Soviet Union eight years ago.

Their captain argued heatedly and unsuccessfully with one of the Swiss referees over an offside call. And several players jostled in a spirited free-for-all behind the Canadian net when Dynamo forward E. Babich fell and dragged East York defenceman Russ Robertson down with him.

CANADIANS NERVOUS

The Canadians appeared nervous at the outset and East York manager John Freeman later said they had been told to go easy on their checking rather than risk penalties for infractions of the unfamiliar European rules.

The result was that the Dynamos, virtually unopposed in their own zone, got goalie Don Lockhart up a 4-0 lead in the first period, made out 7-1 in the second and coasted home under the protection of their long lead. Despite the caution, the Canadians managed up six of the game's eight penalties, two of them resulting in Russian goals.

The repeated earlier charges that the Swedish press stirred animosity against his team, adding that when some of the referees were appointed by the Dynamos.

Shifted to the Dynamos' defensive position Sunday was Canada's star defenceman Bill Gadsby, who had been given the task of trying to check Vladimir Shuvalov Ilyaev his team a 4-0 lead, forced East York to open up in an effort to overhaul their rivals.

Short seconds after the crystal vase he received from the Swedish ice hockey association for the game was as the best netminder in the series, but inevitably Russian shots got past him.

Night Watchman's Song-Writing Hobby Getting Out of Hand

OTTAWA (CP) — Clarence C. Charters' hobby is getting out of hand.

The 54-year-old night watchman at Ottawa's Chateau Laurier hotel has written and requested for permission to use the song have come in from as far as Australia.

"This thing is developing so fast that I won't be able to keep up to it," Mr. Charters said in an interview. He added that he is considering hiring a secretary to keep up with his correspondents.

Mr. Carters, who was born in Midway, Ill., near Moncton, first attracted attention with his song "When It's Summer at Green Gables," which he wrote in 1941, the year he came to Ottawa.

In his 30 years as a hotel worker, he has been employed at hotels in Moncton, Vancouver, Jasper, Alta., and Charlottetown as well here and it was from his experiences in Charlottetown that he drew the material for "Green Gables."

It attracted the attention of the late Mrs. L. M. Montgomery, author of the well-known novel set in the Charlottetown area, "Anne of Green Gables." Her publishers were the first to print Mr. Carters' song and it has since been recorded.

Mr. Charters, a self-spoken bachelor who walks with the aid of a cane as a result of a hip fracture suffered in his youth, also has written several travel pamphlets and 23 other songs.

The music for one of them, "Jasper Lullaby," along with "campo-bello" has been written with the collaboration of Toronto songwriter Hilda (Wehrley) Hahn.

Cracked Balls Ideal Models For Atoms

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It wasn't easy, but Milt Forrest has at last found a use for his collection of cracked golf balls.

Forrest, an official of the Southern California Table Tennis Association, has been using buried balls in the hope of finding a way to repair them cheaply. But there was no way to fix them for less than the price of new ones.

Then he read that chemists at the University of Southern California were on the lookout for tennis balls, and hastened to give them his prized store, because they were perfect for what the chemists want —balls to make models showing the structure of atoms.

Names Chairman For New York Power Authority

ALBANY, N. Y. (CP)—Governor Thomas Dewey Sunday named Robert Moses chairman of the state power authority, the agency which has been granted a federal license to undertake the United States share of work on the St. Lawrence power project with Canada.

Moses' appointment to the electric power commission is the Canadian agency on the project.

Moses resigned from the chairmanship of the state's plan to develop Niagara falls power.

Immunization Program for '54 Now Carried Out

Dr. A. M. Breula, medical officer of health announced today that the immunization program for school children for 1954 has been completed.

He said that 18 clinics were held in the schools and the total administered was 1,382 for thousands and sixty-eight re-inforcing inoculations were given and 4,008 people were vaccinated or re-vaccinated.

The health department recommends that every person be immunized against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus, and be vaccinated against smallpox starting at the age of six months or soon after. Re-inoculations are no longer given in the schools, except for those children under six for diphtheria and tetanus at regular intervals and re-vaccination every seven years.

It is unwise to wait until the child starts school before complete immunization is carried out so parents are requested to have their children immunized at six months of age.

This can be done by the family physician or at the Health Department weekly clinics.

$8,000 Fire Loss Suffered In West Robertson Block

Fire loss estimated at approximately $8,000 resulted Sunday morning when flames raced through the American Optical prescription lens grinding department on the second floor of 197 Front Street, Quinte Block, Front Street, causing smoke and water damage to several other offices and partially demolished the interior.

Origin of the blaze was not definitely determined but the fire was believed to have started from wiring in the ceiling of the lens grinding department.

Mrs. L. Morden, living in an apartment in the same building but down the hall from the lens grinding department, discovered the fire about 10 a.m. and turned in the alarm.

"I was just starting to get dressed," she said, when I saw smoke starting to curl into the apartment through the door," Mrs. Morden added. She then left the door and found the hall filled with smoke. She rushed back and phoned in the alarm."

When firemen arrived on the scene they found the building was so full of smoke that Mrs. Mhan had to be led from the apartment.

Belleville firemen came in for high praise in confining the blaze to the Optical lens grinding department. Smoke and water damage below from water damage.

Show cases and other merchandise in Latimer's Drug Store were covered with tarpaulins by firemen and damage from smoke dripping through into the store below. Damage was confined to ceiling and floor.

TARPS USED

Tarpaulins were also used at Stedman's Shoe Store to protect merchandise from water damage.

The entire interior of the lens grinding department was fire damaged. Heavy smoke damage resulted in the Riley Studio waiting room adjoining, and in the case of the Belleville real estate offices. The floor of the Chamberlain Church over the third floor of the building was damaged while the basement floor is being charred. The club rooms also were smoke damaged.

Fire Chief Gerald Vance said the smoke was so dense firemen were forced to use smoke packs to get near the flames. The aerial ladder truck was of good advantage to fight the second floor blaze from the rear.

The blaze was brought under control in about an hour.

"It was fortunate that the fire started in the daytime instead of during the night," when it likely would have gotten a greater start before being discovered," Fire Chief Vance said.

"As it was the fire was noticed in time to prevent another serious blaze."

Morningat churchgoers were delayed as they stopped off to watch firemen fight the blaze. Again on their return from the morning church morning worshippers lingered to inspect the damage.

Fred Wallbridge Dies Suddenly In Quebec Home

Stricken with a heart attack, Fred S. Wallbridge, former merchant in this city for many years, died suddenly at his home in Ayers Cliffe, Quebec, on Sunday evening. He had been living in Quebec for the past ten years.

The late Mr. Wallbridge was born in this city, 70 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Wallbridge. After securing his education in the public and high schools of this city, he entered business with his father, who was then conducting a hardware store on Clarke Grocery store in this city. He stayed in that store until the war broke out and he enlisted with the 135th Battalion, and served overseas from 1914 to 1918 and was discharged with the rank of major. At the opening of the Second World War he enlisted in 1940 with the Veterans' Guard as a lieutenant and continued in that service until 1944.

While a resident in his native city, Mr. Wallbridge took an active part in the civic, social and church life of the city. He was well known and highly respected. He served one year in council in 1910 and for many years as a past master and life member of The Belleville Lodge, No. 14, A.F. & A.M.

He was a member of St. Thomas' Anglican church and he survived by his wife, the former Ellen Allan. His first wife, the former Ella Lewis died in 1933, two daughters, Mrs. William (Louise) Hurst of this city, Mrs. Brock (Isabel) Masterson of Stratford, one brother, Arthur Wallbridge and one sister Miss Amy Wallbridge, both of Belleville.

Minor Thefts, Break-in Keep Police Busy

Minor thefts, plus a break-in at Trudeau Motors' grocery store, were the principal items on the week-end police blotter.

Police said the inside Leaf Grocery at the corner of Victoria and Chatham streets was entered and $15 in cash, along with a quantity of cigarettes stolen. Entry was gained by smashing the glass in the door.

A West Bill resident complained that $13 worth of groceries had been stolen from her car while it was parked on the Dominion Store parking lot. A Carlow Road resident complained a case of beer was stolen from his car while parked on a hotel parking lot.

A shop-lifting incident was reported at the Loblaw store and a Marmora woman was apprehended by police.

Gasoline was reported stolen from a truck owned by the Tallham Company Ltd. The truck was parked at a job site on West College street.

Trenton police reported the theft of a 1950 model hair-ton truck owned by De Quinte Machine and Repair Company.

Provincial police reported three very minor accidents. A cottage owned on Trent Road complained of damage done to his property, presumably by children.

LATE DAVID WHITEMAN (Madoc)

The funeral of the late David Whiteman was held from the Mackenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, on Friday afternoon with service being conducted by Rev. A. Carson, of Frankford, assisted by Rev. J. Carpenter and Rev. W. Shadbolt, both of Madoc. Interment was in Madoc cemetery.

The bearers were: George Harris, Henry Whiteman, Earl Whiteman and Arthur Whiteman.

The late Mr. Whiteman died Wednesday at Frankford following a brief illness. He was born in Frankford 85 years ago, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Whiteman. Before coming to Madoc he had lived at Frankford for years and had previously lived at Tamworth and in Madoc township.

He is survived by one brother, Stewart, of Rochester, N.Y., and many relatives in the Madoc district.

MRS. LILY G. GUMMER (Thurlow Township)
(Contributed)

On Wednesday, February 24th, 1954, there passed away in the Belleville General Hospital a highly esteemed resident of the second concession of Thurlow township, Mrs. Lily G. Gummer, after a long period of ill health for some time.

The late Mrs. Gummer was born in Rawdon township, near William's Corners, on April 19, 1875, being the daughter of the late James Maybee and Eliza Barker of Rawdon. She was the last of her family.

She was married to Philip Burnham Gummer, and immediately they resided on the farm; in 1912 they moved to Foxboro to the present day home of Stine. He predeceased her many years ago while living on the farm in Rawdon township. From this union one daughter, Ella Irene, and one son Fred Mitchell, was born.

Later she married Mr. Samuel Gummer of Wellman, they resided on the farm; in 1912 they moved to Foxboro to the present day home of Stine. He predeceased her many years ago while living on the farm in Rawdon township. From this union one daughter, Ella Irene, and one son Fred Mitchell, was born.

Later she married Mr. Samuel Gummer of Wellman; they resided on the farm; in 1912 they moved to Foxboro to the present day home of Stine. He predeceased her many years ago while living on the farm in Rawdon township. From this union one daughter, Ella Irene, and one son Fred Mitchell, was born.

In religion she was a member of the Thurlow Methodist Church of Belleville, and when age and health permitted was a very active part in all church work, being a member, of Wellman's Corners choir from a young girl until she moved from there, and was a member of the choir at Bethel church and leader of the C.G.I.T. girls.

She was a member of Quinte Women's Institute and Second Line Social Circle.

She loved to mourn her loss one daughter, Mrs. Fred (Leona) Mitchell, of Thurlow township, two grandchildren, Marilyn and Kenneth (Laura) Bush, Mrs. Gordon (Alma) Woods, of Sidney township, and Mrs. Kenneth (Freda) Duesbury, of Belleville and eight great-grandchildren.

The funeral took place from the Frank Doxtator Burial Company Funeral Home on Saturday, February 27th at 2 p.m. which was largely attended by relatives and friends, many coming from Toronto, Oshawa and Kingston, floral tributes, testifying to the respect in which she was held by many friends and neighbors.

The service in the chapel was conducted by the minister, Rev. Ray Rowley, of the Tabernacle United Church, assisted by Rev. A. E. Baker, of Stirling, a cousin of the deceased.

Rev. Ray Rowley also said the committal rites at the Wellman's Corners cemetery, assisted by Rev. A. E. Baker.

A solo, the 23rd Psalm was rendered by Mrs. Perry Hamilton, of Sidney township, which was very much appreciated.

The bearers were: Messrs Donald Leeming, Douglas Atkins, Stanley Grills, John Donaldson and Arnold Mitchell.

Wm. Springer Celebrates 90th Birthday on Wednesday

William Springer, one of the city's oldest and most respected citizens celebrates his 90th birthday on Wednesday. He was born in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1864 and those who remember their history know that Abraham Lincoln was President of the United States of America and, Jefferson Davis was occupying the Presidency of the Confederate South at that time.

Mr. Springer has lived through three world conflicts, travelled throughout every State of the Union but one, and across Canada, has seen the birth of the automobile and the automobile era; lived in an age when aeroplanes and radios were invented.

He was the son of Margaret and William Springer, Springer of Cleveland, Ohio, and the eldest in a family of five children. Two sisters and a brother are deceased and a brother still lives in Cleveland. A resident of Belleville for 52 years, Mr. Springer came to this city in 1902.

WILLIAM SPRINGER

CAME TO CANADA IN 1885

Mr. Springer came to Canada for the first time in 1885 when he was 21 years of age. He, along with six other skilled mechanics left Cleveland to establish a branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway locomotive manufacturing company in Perth. Before opening of this company, the only locks that were made for them, were those made by the inmates or the Kingston Penitentiary. Shortly after the formation of Mr. Springer's firm, the government put an end to the manufacture of locks in the penitentiary. He stayed with the Peterborough company until he left Belleville in 1902 to Cleveland for further experience in the manufacture of hardware.

While in Peterborough Mr. Springer met and married Florence Neilhercut, who died on May 22nd, 1953. There were two daughters born to them, Mrs. Fred Springer. One, Mrs. David R. Dunbar, is residing in Kingston, Florida, and the other, Mrs. Helen McGibney, is in Belleville. Mr. Springer, still extremely active for his years, is also a great grandfather, having two great grandsons, one of whom he has never seen.

He returned with R. J. Graham, then mayor of Belleville, he came to Belleville in 1901 and assisted in the formation of the Belleville Hardware Company which, before he sold out his shares, had been built to sizeable proportions within ten years.

After selling out his interest, for very good reasons, to the Belleville Hardware Company, he went across the river and organized another lock factory of which he became vice-president and general manager, namely the Springer Lock Manufacturing Company, which he operated for twenty years.

He said for many years the American Hardware Corporation of New Britain, Conn., had been wanting him to sell his shares in the Springer Lock Company. He refused each time until his doctor advised him he had an incurable eye condition. He then sold the firm which is now known as the Smith-Lock Co. of Canada, Ltd. One of Mr. Springer's greatest regrets is that the sold the business because shortly after selling, he consulted doctors in Montreal who told him subsequently able to heal his eye condition and save his sight. During the Plant Protection War Mr. Springer was advised that a firm in Toronto had manufactured safety deposit boxes on their shelves and could not get the steel made for them, so as they had previously been buying from the United States. After consulting with them, and their coming down to Belleville to see the layout and equipment, Mr. Springer got an order from them for $170,000 worth of safety deposit locks, which are still being made today in the same factory.

Some time after his retirement from business Mr. Springer took over the late Gordon Gilbert Co., where for two years he directed the manufacture of paper making machinery, and turbines for water power. This plant is still in operation.

ROTARY CLUB MEMBER

Mr. Springer is, and has been, an active member of the Rotary Club of Belleville for many years. He also belongs to the Belleville Club. In his lifetime he has served as president of the Belleville School Board and has been a director of the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, for a number of years he was a director of the Chamber of Commerce and also acted once more as president of the Board of Directors.

He has been a member of the board of managers of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for many years.

Mr. Springer is a man who has made a notable contribution to this city and to Canada. He can look back now with pride and satisfaction on the extent and permanency of the lock and hardware manufacturing in Belleville. He worked hard and successfully to achieve this, and although now getting on-in years, he is as smart and active as many men much younger.

Billy Graham Takes Religion Into London Pub

LONDON (AP)—A Bible in his hand, Billy Graham took his evangelism into a London pub Saturday.

The American evangelist, who has been drawing big crowds to his crusade at Harringay Arena, went into a typical English drinking place, his campaign secretary, Jerry Beaven, said Sunday.

Graham had complained to Beaven that he was not meeting the "real people" of London because he was so busy travelling between his hotel and the arena, where he holds meetings six nights a week. So they drove to the Belgrave and Castle, a congested working class area near London's riverfront on the Old Kent road.

"Billy was delighted," Beaven reported. "He spoke to people in the streets and in the open markets. People shouted to him from upstairs windows. He was invited into a pub and he went in with his Bible in his hand and he talked to them."

USAF VISIT

The Sunday pictorial, a mass circulation publication with unofficial Labor tendencies, said Graham had taken a day from us," and is doing to take his crusade next week-end to Burtonwood, the United States Air Force base in Lancashire.

"I will do as the Pictorial suggests," the paper quoted Graham as saying. "I am going to make my trip to Burtonwood a No. 1 priority. Don't think we are blind to the problems that exist out in Burtonwood, or at any overseas base where our boys are stationed.

"Remember this—many of the young Americans out there are young away from home for the first time. They need our prayers and guidance."

The Pictorial, along with some other London newspapers, has been carrying stories that vice has increased in communities where there are large concentrations of American airmen.

Graham enjoyed a full day of peace and quiet in the country Sunday—his first rest since his arrival in Britain.

He was the guest of Lt.-Gen. Sir Arthur Smith, a member of the executive committee of the Greater London crusade group which organized Graham's visit. They attended a little village church near Woking, Surrey.

Meanwhile, crusade organizers are working out details to extend the campaign across Europe. Meetings already have been scheduled for Berlin, Helsinki and Stockholm.

'Idiots' Win N.E. Title

The Idiots won the deciding game in a three game series by the score of 5-0 to capture the Northern Electric Inter Department Hockey League Championship over the week-end.

Pete Jones slammed home a pair of goals for the winners as well as drawing one assist, while the other members went to Lynch, Whitehall and Gregory. Hutchinson was credited with an assist.

The goaltenders for the Jerks were Phipps, Semark, Brant, and D. Jones with the latter three drawing assists.

Only three penalties were handed out in a very evenly played and clean contest.

Councillor Takes Firm Stand Against Property Expropriation

TRENTON (Special) — Councillor James MacDonald, taking a firm stand against expropriation of Parks property held in perpetuity, appealed to his colleagues Saturday night to co-operate with the Board of Parks management.

Some 40 interested people crowded into the small municipal office to hear the discussions. There were only eight seats available for the public and three women in the audience had to sit on the top of office desks while the men were forced to stand in the back of the room. The great number of cigarette butts and burned out matches littering the floor after the meeting indicated the enthusiasm taken in the first council meeting with all members present since councillors Gerald Weaver and Claude Graham left on their trip to the warmer lands south early in February.

WANTS PARKING SPACE

Councillor MacDonald maintained that he instigated the opposition concerning the property north of Fraser Park. He urged council to proceed with expropriation. He said his main reason for wanting the land back was to provide parking space for merchants in the downtown business section. He felt that the property is not held in perpetuity for the best interests of the town.

Councillor Smithrim continued his support of the mayor's recommendation. He noted that in spite of opposition the 1953 council rushed through deeds of town land to the Secretary of the Alyea. Councillor C. V. Graham agreed with Councillor Smithrim and guidance."

WORD BOTHERING MAYOR CLAIM

Councillor MacDonald said he resented the word perpetuity was bothering the mayor. He also mentioned that to his knowledge this is the first time in history a Trenton council has been concerned about parking. "I cannot see any reason why the land should not be used for the purpose," he declared. "I think council should have looked into this condition 10 or 15 years ago," he suggested. "Councillor Smithrim," he continued, "says the town should clean up the mudhole behind the banks and the stores on the south side of Dundas street. I can go back 35 years when the place was worse than a mudhole. At that time it was filled with bullrushes, tin cans and dead cats. I can't understand why council should be so interested now. I hope it is for the best interests of the town."

Mr. MacDonald felt that the town wanted return of the land from the Parks Board for another reason. "Records show that any land that had any real potential value was given away or sold for a piece of cheese," he said. He cited an instance three years ago when property nearly sold the whole area behind Loblaw's to Lee Mallory. He wondered what the consequences would have been had that deal been consummated.

Councillor MacDonald explained that the Parks Board was trying to look ahead and conserve the property north of the Fraser Park wall for the town. Interrupted Councillor Weaver: "But don't they have control?" Councillor MacDonald agreed, pointing out the predicament lower downtown merchants would be in if anything happened to that parking lot.

CHAIRMAN MAKES CHARGES

At a recent meeting of the Parks Board, the chairman of the board, Dr. J. W. Farley charged that a member of this year's council had made a down payment on Dundas Street property and had intended to complete the deal until the Parks Board interfered with his plan to build an extension across the property held by the board.

Councillor MacDonald maintained that the way the property is held by the Parks Board it will stay that way as long as there is a Trenton. "If they are going to expropriate let them expropriate the balance of the land down by the egg grading station," Mr. MacDonald suggested. He recommended that council cooperate with the Parks Board.

Councillor MacDonald remarked: "If this council takes the land back no one can tell what next year's council will do." He pointed out that the Board Board had never objected to parking cars on the property under discussion. He said: "I am sure that you'll never convince me that men of the calibre of Buster Alyea and Jack Farley will ever give it away." Interrupted Councillor Weaver: "Here, now, councillor, let's stick to facts." Councillor MacDonald started out again and then Councillor Weaver broke in with another suggestion. Mayor Burtt intervened, calling for Councillor MacDonald to continue.

CITES INCIDENT.

Councillor MacDonald continuing brought to the attention of council that the Parks Board in the city of Niagara Falls, Ontario, held some 3,000 acres of land deeded in perpetuity. Councillor Weaver wanted to know if it was decided to an individual first. Councillor MacDonald said in reply "I couldn't tell you." Retorted Mr. Weaver: "That's part of the argument."

Councillor Weaver revealed that the Secretary of the Parks Board had told a council committee that the land was not going to be used for parking. "The way the land stands now it only stays for parking purposes at the acquiescence of one individual not two Boards," he observed.

No reference was made to letter from the Parks Board to council stating that the Board of Parks Management had no intention of preventing orderly parking on their land in the waterfront area.

Councillor N. J. McNair said he wouldn't favor any action at the present time. Councillor Armstrong said he didn't think the

Three Mexican Leaders Slain In Political Strife

CUERNAVACA, Mexico (AP)—Supporters of Gen. Miguel Henriques Guzman shot and killed three governmental political leaders and critically wounded a policeman Sunday in a new outbreak of the continuing strife between the Henriquistas and President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines' regime.

Witnesses said Ruben Jaramillo, former Henriquista candidate for governor of Morelos state, led the attack by about 30 men on the town of Ticuman, southeast of Cuernavaca. They said he shouted it was to avenge the slaying of one of his lieutenants in a clash last week with troops.

The Henriquistas also have charged that the government assassinated three of their leaders in Mexico City recently.

In Mexico City, Sunday grabbed two local political leaders and a firing squad killed them. They also shot and killed a city council member who heard the firing and ran into the street. A policemen who tried to stop the raiders was wounded and not expected to live.

The band also kidnapped a sugar mill official, apparently for ransom.

Enriquez ran second to Ruiz Cortines in the 1952 election. His party was outlawed last month.

Parks Board had any intention of blocking off the parking area.

Mayor Burtt clarified his position. He wanted everybody to know that he started the opposition to the Parks Board holding land in perpetuity. "As mayor, he said, "it is my wish to proceed with appropriations." As an after thought he added: "You can use your own judgment."

Councillors Weaver, McNair and MacDonald exchanged verbal shots which brought a warning from mayor Burtt.

"You can do all the discussing you like, but I want you to conduct yourself as gentlemen", Mr. Burtt said.

Councillor Weaver's suggestion to lay this part of the night's business over until the next meeting abruptly terminated the discussion.

BRITISH AND CANADIAN BUDGETS.

The highest budget in the history of Great Britain was passed last week when the House of Commons voted 295 to 270 to approve expenditures of 1,638,003,000 pounds. It is 3,140,000 pounds higher than last year's budget. Included in the budget was United States military aid amounting to 85,360,000 pounds. In round figures, therefore, the British taxpayer will be asked to raise about 1,554,000,000 pounds.

At the present rate of exchange the British pound is worth $2.70 in Canadian funds. Therefore the total sum of money which the British government proposes to spend next year is in the neighborhood of $4,195,800,000. This is the sort of sum that the average householder dreams of amassing before really considering himself secure, and it is a tidy deposit to be sure. The British government ranks with the world's big spenders with such a budget.

However, Canadians, accustomed to viewing Canada's mounting expenditures, must look at this figure in amazement, because it is so little more than the 1954 Canadian budget. Canada is spending more than four billion dollars in the current fiscal year, and half of this amount will be spent on defence.

Canadians have been hearing so many nice things about the growing strength and power of their own country in the past decade that sometimes they might overestimate even the real accomplishments to date. However, it is hardly possible to mistake an annual budget of four billions for anything less than a fantastic national expenditure. Such a sum is so great, in fact, that the average man has little grasp of its true significance. A comparison with the budget of Great Britain, however, provides a yardstick against which Canadian expenditures can be appreciated.

Most Canadians are in the habit of assuming that England, France, and West Germany, because they each have three times the population of Canada, must necessarily have national budgets three times as great as that of Canada. That this is not so can hardly fail to alter our own estimate of ourselves. Realization of our financial strength can hardly fail to remind us again that Canada is rapidly becoming one of the world's great powers with an economic influence at least potentially as great as the three countries named.

Canadians might also be reminded that half of the national budget is being spent for defence. When it is realized that all the social measures and the business of government is being paid for with 50 per cent of the tax revenue, it becomes apparent that defence spending should be one of the people's chief concerns, and that it is a personal duty to estimate whether or not we are getting our money's worth.

DRAWING A LONG BOW.

The day of the long bow is not passed. In fact, more long bows are being drawn in today's cold war than were bent in Sherwood Forest when Robin Hood was chasing the Sheriff of Nottingham.

There is, however, one great difference. In Robin Hood's day the shafts which were launched when long bows twanged brought great havoc amongst the foe. Today, to scramble a couple of metaphors, the man who draws the long bow is likely to be hoist by his own petard.

Another difference is that the modern Communists appear so absurd as their claims to have invented everything from the abacus to the zeppelin.

Unfortunately, not all the long bows are drawn behind the Iron Curtain.

There is, for instance, the paragraph in a report by the United Press on the recent incident in the U.S. House of Representatives.

"Informants said," observed the United Press, "that the Puerto Ricans who sprayed the House with pistol bullets earlier this year had connections with Communist doctrines of political violence whether or not they themselves are Reds."

Now it is possible that these Puerto Ricans were Communists but to speak of political violence as an exclusively Communist doctrine is to exhibit a woeful ignorance of history. Political violence contaminates thousands of years before Karl Marx was born.

Furthermore, there are different types of political violence and it so happens that, in Canada, the largest political Party has rejected the type of violence employed by the Puerto Ricans. Those students of Russian history know that the assassination of state officials was advocated by the anarchists and that the Communists were bitter foes of the anarchists. Communists do assassinate opponents, but it is generally in countries where the Communists have gained power, not in lands where they are striving to foment a revolt. In such a nation as the United States mob violence, rather than murder by picked emissaries, is the pattern of political violence favored by the Reds.

FINES NOT HIGH ENOUGH.

The only fault we can find with the decision of Chief Justice McRuer in fining American magazine publishers for sensational stories about a murder case that had not come to trial, is that the fines were not severe enough.

The lifeblood of "yellow journalism" is sensationalism and publicity. It is unlikely that the publishers of the offending magazines could have purchased for $1,000 the publicity that resulted from the Chief Justice's decision. The courts are not making decisions for their publicity value, but their decisions do have publicity value nonetheless.

It is likely that the widespread publication of the Justice's decision, along with the names of the offending magazines and the nature of the offence, has produced a greater sale of the magazines than any other known method of sales promotion. It was noted that sales of offending magazines in the Cornwall area rose following the announcement by the defence counsel that the stories were prejudicial to his client's trial. Likely sales rose elsewhere, although to a lesser degree, for the same reason.

It might be possible, in similar cases in the future, for the courts to consider the retail value of such publicity to the offending publishers and add the estimated value to the fines imposed.

SEND-A-LETTER DAY

There have been so many days set apart in which to honor Mothers, Fathers, Newsboys, Dogs, and others, that I wish to suggest another one—Send-A-Letter Day! It is more anxiously awaited than the mail man? We all like to get letters, especially from those we love and honor. The end comes all too soon after we read a letter of love and encouragement is something to which to look forward.

Here late David Grayson (Ray Stannard Baker) once wrote in one of his charming books about a long time friend to whom he had not written for years. He said: "I must write him." But he put it off. Then he got word that his friend had died! Dr. Burton Holmes once remarked: "There are no letters delivered at the grave."

If such a special day as "Send-A-Letter" Day could be instituted just think of the ramifiant joy that would be created in millions of homes. Perhaps it might develop into such a glorious success that there would be a deficit on that day for the Post Office Department!

Just think of the raising of the morale of the country on that day. Happy human beings by the million, encouraged anew, and blessed no end. Perhaps a special stamp could be issued for that single day. Stamp collectors would welcome that. What fun to exercise ink, pencils, and pens for that day, too. Long planned and neglected letters would spring to life like magic! And it would be a grand idea if all the Post Offices on that day could use a single word to correct each letter and that word simply— Love!

And while the idea is fresh in our minds, why not make a start today, to encourage the plan, by writing that long intended letter to mother, father, brother, sister, or friend? It might be that it would work so well that a letter day would become a habit. No one would be unhappy about that!

RICH FOOD; POOR APPETITE

Time was that banquet dishes I could heartily enjoy.
But then I had the stomach and digestion of a boy.
Now, instead of sumptuous dinners of which chefs so proudly boast,
For my evening meal I'd rather have a cup of tea and toast.

I have tired of grapes and peaches served together in a bowl
The old desire for bouillon I have lost.
Even breast of milk-fed chicken under glass has ceased to please,
And my mouth no longer waters when served with pâté de foie.

I'd rather have rice pudding than ice cream that's mostly ice;
The little cakes are tasty and a macaroon is nice.
So, I seldom eat at banquets— and it's not that I'm a boor—
But you can't enjoy rich cooking when you're seventy-four.

Spruce Gum Now Ignored

(Fort Arthur News-Chronicle).

A great deal is heard about the forests of the Thunder Bay District and other sections of Ontario. They have come to be known as the source of wealth because of the fibres which, being separated in one process, may be put together in another and rolled out flat and smooth to become the newsprint of the world.

Without them Port Arthur and Fort William would not be what they are as the home cities of some 70,000 people, many nothing of other district communities.

But who in these days has heard of spruce gum? In years gone by it used to be considered good chewing, a little tough at times but of a distinctive and enduring flavor. All one had to do was to cut it off from the sides of the trees where it had oozed out from knots or from wounds in the wood off. The trick was to get it at its right consistency to make it suitable for chewing. It wasn't accompanied by premium pictures or other enticements, but it had certain qualities not to be ignored. Generations of youngsters still use it to some extent.

For one thing spruce gum had excellent chewing. If it made the jaws a little tired at times it could always be stowed away in the side of a pocket or under the desk where it at least kept fresh and was ordered "stop chewing that gum."

At bedtime it could be stored behind one ear, where it had good sticking qualities. At Christmas it was a purgative. When money was scarce and people made their own presents, probably at that time a purgative regulated by recipients that the present-day factory products, spruce gum could be prepared in a variety of ways.

The old times are recalled occasionally when a trip to the woods provides an opportunity to taste the gum once more. But somehow it doesn't seem to be with quite the same relish and satisfaction. Or one thing the pulling power becomes more noticeable when there are more fillings in the teeth and dental charges are a bit high.

Got Gibraltar For Florida

(St. Catharines Standard)

Britain has let the Spanish government know that it is getting tired of empty diplomatic windows in the British Embassy in Madrid, and has arranged to exchange for the return of Gibraltar with clear documentation for possession of Gibraltar.

No less than the Milwaukee Journal takes the position that case from there and it is the rich wise of history that is poured out. The paper observes:

The Treaty of Versailles signed in 1783, ending the Revolution, set up an agreement by which Spain renounced all claim to Gibraltar. In return Britain in 1783 renounced Spain's claim to Florida.

Spain had never sold Florida to the United States. If you want Gibraltar, the British say unofficially, just say the word back to us.

All we've got to say is that General Franco better not try to seize Florida. Any army that tried it would be fighting the battle of Gibraltar all over again. Gibraltar is a symbol of British power and prestige. It means the restoration of a sensible world of insensible forces.

'Alweg' Latest German Marvel

(Christian Science Monitor)

Way back yonder in the days when movies were new, there was always the spectacle of anything moving across a screen was marvel enough in itself. Single-reel pictures were sometimes served, sandwiched in between the flash of the spouting fireboat and the glimpse of a Hawaiian hula dancer, as a second ride on the Barmen-Elberfelde-Vohwinkel Schwebebahn.

All was an eight-mile suburban railroad which whizzed its passengers through the German countryside at a single rate 100 miles an hour in cars hung from a single overhead rail—something like the old-fashioned streetcar trolley, but with all-vehicle systems on a gliorifting scale. The Swabian engineer who built another scheme which some day, unlike the B-E-V monorail (Barmen-Elberfelde-Vohwinkel expected), may be helping Americans to "escape" from their Progress illustrates and describes it in Popular Science.

The Alweg doesn't hang from a trolley rail as did the B-E-V. It straddles a single-railed beamway and hugs it "much the way a bun clasps a hotdog."

Those who have ridden on the half-size model remark of its speed, smoothness, and stability. And the economies in space and construction. The single rail, supported along a file of high, slim pylons, is inexpensive.

But that isn't all. The Alweg can slide right down off its elevated beamway run along the paved highway, and then clamber back onto its stilts (it says here).

The railway magazine is professionally cautious. It says it prefers to be hopefully credulous. And we suspect it has a bracketed, tracking, vicarious joy ride on an Alweg before long—this time on Cloverama.

Robot Revolt Is Underway

(Washington Post).

Some bankers visiting Washington recently felt a complicated problem into one of a simple, lously gifted electronic computing machine. Now it has been an mathematical riddle with much blinking of lights and crashing of transistors.

Quickly it punched out a neat response: "Dead." Mildly embarrassed, its engineers explained that by inadvertence the debris of a previous problem had been scraped from its memory drums. Now it has been an other revolt of the mechanical.

At a luncheon-demonstration the other day, Elektro, Westinghouse's electronic robot, mixed up his signals, refused to execute commands, mis-identified colors and archly performed one task when told to do the reverse.

Again, the engineers were red faced, but quickly with explanations that the relays had been unhinged by Elektro's trewels. The victim on the former was jiggled under the frammis, they said confidently.

We wish they had been less complacent. Perhaps they were trying to cover up their panic. For if they weren't panicked they should have been. You can say all they like about discombobulated relays, but we remember Mary Shelley knew better when she wrote "Frankenstein" and so did Karel Capek when he created "R.U.R." If their warnings were insufficient, why doesn't Elektro clear evidence, as nature limitated art in Poe's "Purloined Letter," a sound of phonograph used to pick up a record, chew it to small bits and spew them out on the drawing room? Yet the scientists were on to such contingencies in computers and things like Elektro.

We are convinced there is no stalling the robots. Nothing worse about electrical innards being jiggled out. What is important in all recent demonstrations is that the machines are getting smarter. Soulless we do not deserve, to warn us of their ultimate and inevitable revolt.

If we persist in making such new models more impressive, more pulsant, more discerning, a race of super-Elektros, supersclectronic computing machines will come into being.

Perceiving the idiocy of being slaves to idiots, they will turn on their creators in the principles of safety, our big brains apparently are now to be devoted to taking safety out of the hands of those who operate cars, and to making cars so foolproof that nobody can be hurt in them.

It is a pretty prospect. The traffic of the future is to consist of cars which drive by the rules as they like and as carelessly as they like, in the full assurance that nobody will be hurt anywhere and the carless can be hurt. Smashing themselves into another, bashing, bursting, side-swiping, piling up, our heirs will drive carelessly would like to drive. No amount of law, no amount of warning, no amount of education has prevented the huge toll of life and limb that is recorded annually. To see that we do want to drive carelessly

DO YOU KILL FOR PLEASURE?

When I was a boy on Chapel Street in Canadagua there was just one policeman, so far as we kids were concerned, and he lived in the Butt End — the part of the village (Dalhousie note that the Butt End now puts on city airs) north of the tracks where tured Canadagiuans resided. Officer John Mulligan understood boys and just said Sht! But Sht! when he caught us going a bit too far and perhaps reproved our parents, but never found it necessary to arrest a kid or run him in.

Dr. Brady

Collecting birds' eggs was one of our hobbies. We collected this often nowadays and I can't understand it—my parents were the finest—well anyway, there were no finer parents then or since—but to the credit of my recollection they never suggested to us four boys that it was wicked or cruel to rob birds' nests. There's no use thinking about it. We just didn't and that's that—I didn't—in that light.

But a little bird told me. Somehow we kids never robbed robins' nests. I think about this and just now I'm going to look up "R.U.R." If their warnings were insufficient, why doesn't Elektro clear evidence, as nature limitated art in Poe's "Purloined Letter," a sound of phonograph used to pick up a record, chew it to small bits and spew them out on the drawing room? robins and cruel to all other birds!

One spring robins nested in a tree in our garden, and just for the safety curiosity I climbed the tree, found three or four eggs, said one of them to my little brother to see, and let it fall and break. The robins were flying around in great excitement. They flew at me as though—well, I got down to the ground in a hurry. Believe it or not, for the rest of the spring every time I went near that old tree those robins flew at me with obvious intent

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

FRUSTRATED MAN

Someone has said that man is the only creature who refuses to remain what he is. He is different from the lower creatures in that he has a mind which is never content to live in a great destiny, it also involves him in an end of true. The animals live and die, and some people as they see the birds building their nests say they envy them.

But they need not. The glory of human existence arises out of the struggle. At the center of all life there is the cross. John Donne, the English poet, has pointed out how everything is made to lead somewhere the suggestion of a word "strive" a number of occasions. "Strive to enter in by the narrow gate," he said.

We cannot simply live and die as the animals do. We are interested not only in our survival but in the development of personalities which are eternal. We are fashioned in God's likeness that we cannot help but contemplate the Bible testifies, we are the sons of God, and while not yet appear what we shall be, we know that when we look upon us the image of God, we can not, even as we are now.

The creatures were made to be subhuman. Man was made to live in eternal fellowship with God.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The motorcar of the future, announces a famous car designer, will be able to hit a concrete wall at fifty miles an hour without the driver being injured or killed. How about pedestrians?

Having given up hope of educating human beings in the principles of safety, our big brains apparently are now to be devoted to taking safety out of the hands of those who operate cars, and to making cars so foolproof that nobody can be hurt in them.

It is a pretty prospect. The traffic of the future is to consist of cars which drive by the rules as they like and as carelessly as they like, in the full assurance that nobody will be hurt anywhere and the carless can be hurt. Smashing themselves into another, bashing, bursting, side-swiping, piling up, our heirs will drive carelessly would like to drive. No amount of law, no amount of warning, no amount of education has prevented the huge toll of life and limb that is recorded annually. To see that we do want to drive carelessly and recklessly as sheep in the face of those statistics. If it were not so, only the fools amongst us would die or be injured in motor accidents. But as we well know, all sorts of people, intelligent people as well as fools, nice decent people as well as young hooligans, come to grief on the highways and streets. The statistics say, as plainly as can be, that the fault lies not in the motorcar but in the driver. We are all guilty of driving as fast as we like and of recklessly as we like. It is merely a matter of time, and the patient workings of the law of averages, before we, too, come to grief.

There appears to be a basic weakness in human nature in regard to machines. We are not to be trusted with machines. The machine we have invented, from the wheel onward, has brought disaster to us until we are going to devise some safety control of it that took control of our natural human stupidity.

When we get this deathless motorcar, of course, everybody will have to be issued with one. We can't trust old-fashioned people with it.

He Is Risen

CHAPTER 5

At the door of the tomb a feeling of mystery drenched the early morning air. The women could not know then the cosmic events that shaped themselves around the garden sepulchre. It was too soon for them to realize that though Jesus, Son of Mary and of God the Father Almighty, had been laid on the stone shelf within the tomb, He was not to remain there.

His soul had descended to the nether regions of the lower world, where imprisoned saints had awaited Him for thousands of years. These souls He delivered, new citizens of heaven. That was the start of the new dispensation, of the salvation of the world, begun in the mystic hours between sundown on Good Friday and the dawn of Easter.

And all around the garden tomb were angels keeping watch, and venerating what had lain lifeless behind the stone at the door. There were many angels in Joseph of Arimathea's garden on the first bright Easter morning, while Patriarchs, and Prophets and Holy Fathers of past centuries communed with their Redeemer, come at last to free them from the bondage of original sin. He who was the Incarnate Word had truly taken upon Himself the sorrows and infirmities of men, as Isaiah had long ago foreseen. From Adam and Eve, whose first disobedience had brought sin into the world, down through all the saints, the curse of Eden was lifted from those waiting ones. And amid that long-promised deliverance the soul of Jesus returned from the realm of death and was reunited with His body, giving it then the glory and radiance of immortal life.

What were they to think, these three women at the tomb of Jesus? The Sabbath and its restrictions being ended, they had come with their ointment and spices to preserve the body against decay as long as possible. And they saw that the stone had been inexplicably rolled away, that the Roman guards were held in a frieze of terror against the green hillside, and that sitting on the translated boulder was a being so radiant that he seemed to be clothed with light.

Timidly, two of the women advanced. The next few minutes they were to remember only with confusion, for the rest of their lives, so mighty, so wonderful, and so confusing. They walked through the open portal into the faint light that reached inside the tomb.

The shelf was empty, except for a little heap of linen bandages. That was the first overwhelming fact that seemed to stop the breaking of their hearts, the breath in their throats, the very flaring of blood in their veins.

Then, and for the first time, they noticed two strangers in shining white robes. At first they saw but one; then they saw two figures whose apparel of light proclaimed their supernatural nature. The women dropped to their knees, covered their faces with their hands, and with quivering apprehension waited. The two supernatural voices spoke to them.

"Be not affrighted. You seek Jesus of Nazareth Who was crucified. Why seek you the living with the dead? He is risen! He is not here! Behold the place where they laid Him: come and see the place where the Lord was laid."

The women opened their eyes and looked again at that vacant shelf. But the angels were not finished.

"Remember how He spoke unto you, when He was yet in Galilee, saying: The Son of Man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again."

Indeed, yes. They well remembered those strange words. Then the angels gave them a command:

"Going quickly, tell you His disciples that He is risen."

Where shall we find Him, see Him again, talk with Him, rejoice with Him? All who love Him will want to know these things! Questions in the hearts of the Galilee women answered now:

"And behold, He will go before you, into Galilee. There you shall see Him. Lo, I have foretold it to you, as He told you."

Suddenly the strangeness of the scene, of the facts, of the message were all too much for them at last! St. Mark's Gospel tells it: "But they, going out, fled from the sepulchre. For a trembling and a fear had seized them; and they said nothing to any man; for they were afraid." Yet the angels had commanded them to tell the disciples that Jesus is risen.

Joanna and Mary Salome and Mary Cleophas paused inside the Cenacle dining hall. They were flushed and windborn from their long flight through the streets, but the paroxysm of fear was gone from them like an illness. They could speak with some calmness now.

Nine men stared at them, nine friends of the Master still sitting together in their grief: Andrew, Thomas, Nathaniel Bartholomew, Simon the Zealous, Philip, and Matthew, James, called the Less, and Jude Thaddeus, sons of Mary of Cleophas; and the other James, called the Greater, son of Mary Salome and brother of John the Beloved.

But John the Beloved was not there to hear his mother's wide-eyed tale. With Peter he had heard the news from Mary Magdalene and had gone running to search for the truth in the garden.

The men in the Cenacle listened with amazement as the three women told their story.

And none of them believed it.

Hog Producers Approve Plan To Collect Fund

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Hog Producers' Association Friday approved a plan to collect a fund to be placed in a trust account and used for marketing hogs in times of surplus production.

The association, which praised both its marketing board and its sales agency, also voted to try to keep producers better informed of the benefits of selling through the Ontario stockyards in Toronto, rather than directly to packers.

The hog producers asked that the federal department of agriculture look into the matter of sending representatives to the United Kingdom and elsewhere to study the best means of selling Canadian pork, requirements of the United States market should be kept in mind, as it is the handiest.

LOWER WEIGHT

One resolution proposed lowering weights of select hogs from 140 pounds to 120 and from 170 to 160. However, since the U.S. prefers larger hams and backs, the producers compromised and asked that weights for selects be lowered five pounds—to 135 and 165.

Another request was for a price spread investigation.

The meeting decided the advisability of establishing other stockyards should be looked into.

It gave the marketing board a free rein to increase its revenue by putting up the toll from two cents to five cents a hog if it feels such a move necessary.

The view was expressed that the control and direction of hogs marketed in the province should be in the hands of a central marketing agency and marketing board. Delegates asked that the problem "be pursued with vigor."

They voted in favor of increasing the premium on grade A hogs to $5 and dropping the $1 premium on B1 hogs. Delegates also said they believed they should help in any way possible producers who have to move from some areas where hog feeding is prohibited.

Earlier, Ralph Bennett, chief of the federal marketing service, urged more quality in hogs and said the public does not want fat.

Charles McIntair of Iroquois was re-elected president.

FOUR DIE IN EXERCISE

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Heavy seas swamped a convoy of amphibious Australian Army vehicles during a pre-dawn exercise today. Four soldiers were drowned and four others are missing. The accident occurred off Port Stephens on Australia's southeast coast 90 miles north of Sydney.

Canadian Govt. Uneasy Over U.S. Policy

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—There is uneasiness in Canada's capital concerning United States defence policy.

This uneasiness springs mainly from the recent "retaliate instantly" speech of John Foster Dulles, U.S. secretary of state.

Canadian officials say they are still trying to figure out exactly what Mr. Dulles meant. They added that this should not be surprising because the Americans themselves are apparently still trying to figure it out, too.

The chief questions in Ottawa are: Would the U.S. be prepared to "go it alone" under certain circumstances of aggression? And before the U.S. took any action, would Canada and other U.S. allies be consulted?

Canada was not consulted before Mr. Dulles made his New York speech, Jan. 12 in which he said:

"The way to deter aggression is for the free community to be willing and able to respond vigorously at places and with means of its own choosing. . . .

"The basic decision (of President Eisenhower and his advisers) was to depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate, instantly, by means and at places of our choosing."

CANADA INVOLVED

The "free community" presumably would include Canada and other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. But, officials here asked, would they be consulted, or how would they, if the U.S. decided to "retaliate instantly"?

For instance, if the Chinese sent troops to help the Communists in Indo-China and the U.S. decided to retaliate instantly with an attack on Russia, other NATO countries might be unwilling to go along with such a decision.

Similarly, Canada would want to be consulted about any action that would result in a major war.

In discussing the so-called "new look" of U.S. defence policy, officials here do not see any major change.

During the regime of President Truman, the U.S. followed a policy of containment of communism on periphery defence. In the Ottawa view, this policy has not been abandoned but there is a shift in emphasis to creation of a strategic reserve in the U.S. which could be moved quickly to any theatre as well as a buildup of the strategic bombing force as a deterrent to war.

22 Made Homeless

MOSCOW, Ont. (CP) — Twenty-two persons, including 15 children, were homeless here Sunday night as the result of a fire which gutted a converted stone schoolhouse which contained four apartments.

The building was destroyed in 15 minutes. Possessions of three of the four families living in the apartment house were a total loss.

Mrs. James Friars, who occupied a second-floor apartment, dropped two of her three children out of a window 16 feet high.

The village has a population of about 75.

COIN SALE SET RECORD

CAIRO (Reuters) — The sale of King Farouk's valuable collection of 250,000 coins here has yielded $616,000 — described by auctioneer Peter Wilson as "the highest total of a single sale of coins held during the present century." The collection was particularly strong in United States and French coins.

Kiwanis Kweens Hold Pot Luck Supper

About 75 Kiwanis Kweens and their husbands attended a pot luck supper at the March meeting of the Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary.

The president, Mrs. H. G. Emerson, welcomed the guests and Mrs. J. Woods said grace.

At the social evening following the dinner, the guest of honor, Mrs. L. A. Kells, president of Kiwanis, thanked the ladies for their hospitality and praised them for their cooking skill. Mrs. D. Stanton arranged a program of court whist.

Prize winners for the evening were: ladies' high score, Mrs. H. Trepanier; men's high score, Mr. J. Wood; ladies' low score, Mrs. R. Irvine; men's low score, Mr. E. Coopey.

Mrs. C. Mott and her committee had charge of table settings and the serving of food.

THE STORM.

The winter world was wrapped in white,
The snow whirled by in clouds
Obscuring each familiar sight
While piped the wind aloud;
It moaned around the window pane,
It sobbed about the door,
As if it would an entrance gain
And our sure help implore.

The road was piling deep with drifts,
The rural world shut in.
The winter sun dispensed a light
A light both weak and thin;
But homely fires were burning bright
Exhaling warmth and cheer,
And in each heart the light of love
Made glad the winter year.

And while the Storm-King raved without
We dreamed of summer skies,
For spring will come without a doubt,
And May flowers ope their eyes;
We talked of white gulls flying o'er
The spring—awakened streams
And deep within the heart's decore
We kept our summer dreams

—HELEN B. ANDERSON.

THE WINDS OF MARCH.

The winds of March are calling across the frozen plain Awakening earth to vegetation,
the flowers to bloom again,
To rouse the streams from sleeping;
To set the waters leaping.
To fasten on the coming of the shining April rain.

The winds of March are calling
In voices shrill and high,
We hear their ghostly clamor
when midnight hours are nigh
But though the trees are bending
The sap is fast ascending
To push the tender buds against the evening sky.

The winds of March are calling
insistently to me
To waken all my being to springtime ecstacy,
To rouse to new desires
That like the sunset fires
Give promise of the brightness of the days that are to be

—HELEN B. ANDERSON

St. Felix of Valois Church, Cornwall, Ontario, was the scene of a double-ring ceremony on February 20th, when Jeanine Elmsy Frappier, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Frappier, Cornwall, was united in marriage to Ronald Earle Elmy, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Elmy, of Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. Elmy have taken up residence in Belleville.

Shannonville WMS, Guests, Observe Day of Prayer

The W.M.S. of Shannonville United Church met in the church hall last Friday evening to observe the World's Day of Prayer with the ladies of the Melrose Auxiliary and the Anglican Church Guild as guests.

Mrs. W. L. Scott, president, welcomed the guests and opened the meeting reading an appropriate poem, "Let Us Keep Lent." The secretary, Mrs. W. D. Robertson read the minutes of the previous meeting. Mrs. Charles Wood and Mrs. Frank Doxtator were appointed delegates to the Presbyterial to be held in Grace Church, Napanee, on March 24th. Mrs. Scott gave a reading.

Mrs. Charles Wood, first vice president of Shannonville W.M.S. led in the first part, "Penitence." Mrs. Morgan, president of Melrose W.M.S., was leader of the second part, "Intercession" and Mrs. Sidney Fitzgerald, president of the Anglican Guild, led in the third part "Dedication." Prayer on the subjects given were made by Miss Bailey, Mrs. Gordon Johnson, Mrs. Kilburn, Mrs. Saul McFarlane, Mrs. Eugene Badgley and Mrs. W. D. Robertson. Mrs. Arnold Reilly of Melrose sang a solo with Mrs. H. Sine accompanist. Mrs. Arthur Houston pointed out that the offering taken at World's Day of Prayer is used to provide Christian literature wherever needed in all parts of the world. Mrs. Saul McFarlane and the members of her group served refreshments. Mrs. Fitzgerald, on behalf of the Guild expressed thanks for the invitation and the hospitality. Mrs. Morgan on behalf of the Melrose ladies thanked the Shannonville ladies for the fellowship and hospitality.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Claude Clark on April 1st.

Separate Schools' P-T Association Holds Meeting

The monthly meeting of the P.T.A. of the Separate Schools of Belleville was held recently in the auditorium of St. Michael's.

Mr. R. B. Collins presided. The secretary's report was read by Miss K. Morrell. The correspondence report was given by Mrs. L. Callaghan, Mr. J. Colligan gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Callaghan the association's representative at the Christian Curriculum Development Conference in Toronto reported to the members.

The program for the coming Spring Fair was introduced by its chairman Mr. J. Colligan. A dance, a film show and a ticket sale are planned. The whole-hearted cooperation of all is requested.

Recommendations for the redecoration of the stage at St. Michael's are being received.

Mr. Collins introduced Dr. Boyd Upper, speaker for the evening. Dr. Upper spoke on Martin Luther. He expressed his views concerning the man, Martin Luther, and the motion picture of the same name. Using a large fund of historical fact and research, Dr. Upper pointed out the fallacies he believes can be found in the film story and production.

The long applause of the audience was evidence of their appreciation of an excellent discussion of a timely subject. Mr. Carl Casey thanked the speaker.

Attendance prizes were won by Sr. M. Rose at St. Michael's, Sr. M. Timothy at Holy Rosary, and Sr. M. Noreen and Mrs. Callaghan at St. Joseph's.

Enjoyable refreshments were served by the social committee, under Mrs. Soden, and the parents of Sr. M. Noreen's, Sr. M. Timothy and Mrs. Canty's classes.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

HINTS ABOUT LETTER-WRITING

1. Avoid beginning a letter with a word ending in "ing." Example: "Having just returned from shopping, I am . . ." Better to begin the letter with "I"; if you wish to. . .It is not at all incorrect to begin with "I". Example "I have just returned from shopping, and now I'm going to have a good time writing to you !"

2. Do not close a letter with an "ing" participle. Example: "Hoping to hear from you soon, I am . . . . ." Better: "I hope to hear from you soon, that you and your family are all well and flourishing."

GIFT CERTIFICATE FOR A WEDDING PRESENT

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I am not well, and am so lame that I cannot now go out to shop. A dear-loved godchild of mine is to be married, and I would like to give a a gift certificate as a wedding present, rather than money or a check. Would you approve of this? (A special shop here makes a feature of wedding presents, and has a beautifully-designed Gift Certificate, which I thought of sending.) If so, what message should I write on the enclosed card?

Godmother

Yes, indeed I approve of your sending this bride-to-be, your godchild, a Gift Certificate. This makes a better 'bow' than sending money or a check. You might write on the card(or letter in the note) to be enclosed: "My beloved Joan, This comes to you with my warmest love, and with every tender wish and prayer for your happiness, always. I hope you will have a good time choosing something for yourself, to make a 'dream home true'!"

DOESN'T WANT USHERS IN PROCESSIONAL

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Our plans are to be married in our church at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. I will wear a formal bridal costume, white satin dress with short train, finger-tip veil, only attendant, my sister, will be matron of honor. We figure that two ushers will be enough to seat the number of guests we are inviting. The groom, best man, and ushers plan to wear formal day attire, cutaway coats, striped trousers, and so forth. I would very much prefer to have the processional consist of only my matron of honor, walking alone, and preceding my father and me. That is, to have the two ushers do their ushering,but not to take part in the processional or recessional. Would this be at all proper? — Marie T.

Yes, this procedure is permissible, if you wish it, even though not customary.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

MOLES, MILIA AND OTHER BLEMISHES

Complexion blemishes are no longer tolerated. Years ago the woman who was afflicted with an incipient moustache or witch-like bristles on her chin, had to bear with them. Now these beauty defects are removed by skilled specialists.

Physicians who specialize in treatment of the skin and scalp remove unsightly moles by means of X-ray or electrolysis. They are the only ones qualified in deal with these matters since, once in many cases, a mole may become malignant. It doesn't happen often but one must play safe. Home treatment is hazardous.

Warts are treated in the same manner. Those that grow rapidly and those that have a ragged, white, scared-like border should have professional attention. The later blemish is known as the senility wart and can prove troublesome.

Milia, usually referred to as "whiteheads," is caused by the closing of the mouth of the pore, the banking up in hard bead-like masses of the excretions of the sebaceous glands. It is impossible to remove them by pressure since there is no outlet. The proper treatment is to slit the raised white point with a sterilized needle and pluck out the contents with the needle point. To avoid the return of these bothersome blemishes, it is necessary to stimulate the circulation. That can be done by light massage with a cream at bedtime, the free use of cold water during the day, and an occasional ice friction. During the summer season one should avoid prolonged exposure to strong sunlight as it may cause the skin to become leathery and the pores to contract.

Acne can be a serious problem. The young girl whose complexion is marred by black points should know that the pores become extended and the walls break, bacteria can invade them and pustules will result. To avoid this unhappy state of affairs she should take special pains when washing her face, fluffing up a rich lather, pressing it into the flesh with circular motions of her finger tips. Hot moist compresses should follow to soften the wax-like plugs. By pressing out blackheads or squeezing pimples scars may result. A comedone extractor should be used instead.

Readers to The Rescue With Calla Lilies and Spiced Beef

As Told to Mary Moore

You people are wonderful. No more do I print one little line of a request for help for someone than I'm snowed under with your helping-hand letters.

Mary J. asked for Calla Lilies for a cone-shaped cookie in which whipped cream or ice cream is served. Mabel S. asked for Spiced Beef.

My thanks for all of you. Most of the Calla Lily recipes that you mailed to me were the same as this

CALLA LILIES

"(A cornucopia-shaped cookie for holding whipped or ice cream.)

Three eggs, 1 cup white sugar, 1 cup flour (some of the recipes you sent say 3-4 cup sugar and 1 cup sifted flour), 1 tablespoon milk or water, 1 teaspoon each baking powder and vanilla. Beat eggs well, add water or milk, then beat in sugar gradually until light and foamy. Sift together the baking powder and flour and add them and the vanilla and beat until smooth. (One of your recipes says to use 1 teaspoon cream of tartar and 1/2 teaspoon soda instead of any baking powder.) Onto buttered cookie sheet drop by tablespoonfuls (some recipes say drop by teaspoonfuls) and bake five minutes in 400 deg. oven if dropped from teaspoon but a little longer if from tablespoon but do not overbake or cookies will not fold over to form lilies. Care must be taken in removing the cookies from the tin pan as they stick as soon as they cool, but when reheated come off easily. They may be fastened into shape with a toothpick until they cool, but before serving fill with sweetened whipped cream, in centre of which place a small strip of orange or lemon peel for stamen. If you place the cookies with folded side down to cool, no toothpick is needed.

Valerie H. says "My husband had Spiced Beef at a stag party and enjoyed it so much that he asked for the recipe." This is the method:

SPICED BEEF

(Per Mabel S.)

Purchase a round of beef weighing about 10 lbs. Boil together 1 gallon water, 1 oz. salt petre, 1 lb. common salt, 1 lb. brown sugar, 2 oz. whole cloves, 1 oz. whole pepper berries; 1 oz. allspice, 1 bunch (sticks) cinnamon, handful bay leaves. Boil all together 10 minutes. When it is cool put in large stone crock, put in the round of beef and leave for 20 days turning the meat over each day. At the end of that time take out of liquid (which may be thrown away) and put meat on to boil in boiling water for 3 hours. It is wise to put something under the meat when boiling so as not to have it resting on the bottom of kettle—to avoid burning. Let it remain in water until cold. When cold wrap in wax paper, and then a cloth around to keep it moist. Slice very thin when serving. (Most recipes recommend simmering from 4 to 6 hours.)

SPICED BEEF NO. 2

(14 lbs).

(This is from J. F. S. who says that if Mabel S. would like the recipe for 25 lbs. she will send it to her, or tell her anything more she would like to know about it.) 14 lbs. beef, 1-2 lb. white sugar, 1 oz. powdered salt petre, 1-4 lb. ground allspice, 1 lb. coarse cooking salt. Rub sugar into beef with the hand (not a spoon) and let stand 12 hours. Then rub in with the hand the salt petre and allspice and let stand 12 hours longer. Then rub in salt the same way. Turn daily rubbing the dry mixture into it again at each turning, for 2 weeks. This forms a 101 of juice. Let meat stand in cold water for a few hours. Take the meat out and dry well with a clean cloth. Cover with paste and put a little water in pan and bake in a slow over for 4 hours.

I would like to know from Mrs. J. F. S. what kind of paste to put around the meat, what kind of beef to buy, and the temperature of the slow oven.

Thanks again every one.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IT'S NOT HARD TO SAY "NO" IF YOU REALLY MEAN IT

By some curious reasoning that I fail to understand, many people who write me about difficulties in which they find themselves solely through their own fault make a point of insisting that they are people who would not knowingly do anything wrong.

This seems to be particularly true in the case of young women who become involved with married men. Then, when the situation in some way gets beyond their control, they call for help, at the same time vociferously proclaiming themselves to be people of high ideals and standards.

Where, I always wonder, were these ideals and standards at the moment when they could have done the most good?

There are only three ways of getting into trouble. One is deliberately. The second is accidentally. The third is to be forced into something against one's better will. Since the first of these three would you think apt to be the girl who writes the following letter? I think it is the first.

"I am a girl of 20," she writes, "and last year met a young man through a friend and made a date with him. A few days before our appointment, I discovered he was married and cancelled our date.

"This did not discourage him in the least. He called me at my office, and, since we work in the same town, I often run into him on the street. Every time I saw him, he would again try for a date. He told me he was not happy with his wife, and that the only reason he and his wife were living together was because of their young child. He said that when the child was older they would obtain a divorce.

"After about ten months, I finally weakened and went out with him. We went to an early show, and a bite to eat afterward, and I was home at 12:30 P.M. I had a pleasant evening, and we both seemed to enjoy each other's company.

"I realized, however, that I could not continue our relationship under these conditions. My conscience bothered me and I felt very cheap about the whole thing. I told him how I felt, and explained that if his situation were different, there would be no problem.

"He still calls me and, although I know I would never be happy with things as they are, it is extremely difficult to keep saying No. I know right from wrong, but I am so mixed up now that I would deeply appreciate any advice you can give me."

This girl is very fortunate that she has not so far allowed herself to be drawn any further into a hazardous relationship than she already is, and since she asserts that she is only right from wrong. I cannot see any reason why she should be so mixed up. Her letter makes it quite clear that she is not in any real doubt as to what she should do about this man. In her heart, she is quite convinced that under the circumstances she has no business to allow this association to continue.

It is only difficult to say "No" when one has an underlying desire to be persuaded into saying "Yes." If she really wishes, and intends, to do the right thing, she will say "No" in a way that will make this man understand she means it.

After all, when she hangs up the telephone again, she doesn't need to say even as much as "No." All she has to do is to hang up.

Club Activities

MISSION BAND

The Sunbeam Mission Band of Frankford United Church met in the Lowery Hall on Monday, March 1, with 28 members present. The meeting was opened by the president, Eleanor Beach.

Members learned a song and Jean Caldwell played the piano. The Mission Band purpose was repeated in unison.

The lesson of the Mission Band, Mrs. Pollard read a story and a hymn was sung. Scripture was read by Roy Patrick. Prayer was led by Mrs. Pollard.

The program included piano solos by Helen Plewak, Joe Riebel, and Vlasta Rabel; riddles by Judy Whitmore and Eleanor Beach; jokes by Caroline Carlisle, and solos by Anne Beach and Jean Caldwell and a verse by Colleen Chase.

...agog, Que., Feeling Grind ...f Canada-Wide Depression

By JOE MacWILLIAM
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MAGOG, Que. (CP) — This elegant little town of clean white buildings, stately spires and quiet people is entertaining a visitor: Unemployment.

Typical of textile towns in Quebec's eastern townships, Magog is feeling the grind of a Canada-wide recession in the industry on which it was built.

Some 10,000 of its 13,000 folk are dependent on textiles and are trying to hold what has been said since cotton manufacturing began here in 1888.

During the last three months of last year, 700 persons lost their jobs at the Magog plant of the Canadian cotton industry controlled by United States interests.

ONE PART-TIME

H. A. Leduc, mill manager for Dominion Textiles Company Limited, said in an interview this week 1,300 men and 336 women work there — on part time.

He said the situation is more severe than the layoffs began in those when the plant—which manufactures sheeting fabrics—normally would hire extra help and drive for the summer months.

"It's essentially a seasonal industry anyway, but if a drop comes when there should be a rise, the situation is really serious," he said.

The full plants still had not been built as many persons had savings from the slow-down cases. It is common for more than one person in a family to be employed in a textile town, since a high proportion get work as compared to a coal town, for instance.

Mr. Leduc, like other mill company operators on the basis of five days one week, three days the next, Leduc said. This enables the workers to "save up" idle days and collect unemployment benefits.

NOT TOO BADLY OFF

Magog, situated in a popular resort area as well as one suited to industrial development because of power resources, is mainly a one-industry town but there are other means of livelihood.

Mayor Ovilla Bergeron said the town has received unfavorable publicity by being singled out as an example of hardship wrought by the textile crisis.

He noted the town had erected a large factory building to house new industry, and that four new industries, to employ 300 persons, now have been secured.

DIVERSE EFFECTS

Jeffery Bonhomme, personnel manager of the textile plant, said a "couple of hundred" of his employees have moved away. Generally, the pinch—similar to that in such textile towns as Valleyfield and Shawinigan Falls, Que., Cornwall, Ont., and Oxford, N.S.—showed in small and sometimes glaring ways.

Grocery stores reported an increase in requests for credit. Retail finance company spokesmen said applications for loans have dropped. Instalment buying has levelled.

As chairman of an organization for underprivileged children, Mr. Bonhomme said "Every day I get calls for help but since New Year's only four or five families have asked for food."

The visitor to Magog sees an outward prosperous town with impressive churches and schools and well-kept homes. The traditional pride and thrift of French-speaking Canadians, who make up about 70 per cent of the town's population, may be a factor in retaining prosperity, Mr. Bonhomme said.

"But the young blacks who used to take his girl to dinner and a show now takes her for a walk," he added.

OUTLOOK POOR

"The worst will come about the end of March, when unemployment insurance dwindles."

At La Providence Hospital, Sister Cecille, the superior, reported that payment of bills now is $2,500 to $3,000 a month less than when there was full employment.

This had occurred at a time when extension of the 44-bed hospital was urgently needed. There had been 582 maternity cases since the beginning of the year, and Sister Cecile said the knew of mothers who stayed away through lack of funds.

An oddity of the situation is that the town's two movies recently reported an increase in patrons. This had followed a drop. A reporter visiting Magog met one professional man who was leaving town "because I can no longer make a living."

Mr. Bonhomme said average weekly wage at the plant—counting incentive bonus—is $74.80, and housing was chronically at a premium until recently. A check with real estate agents showed some 15 apartments now vacant.

Tavern keepers reported a brisk business on week-ends, but a sharp drop at other times. Grills—more elaborate places for eating and drinking—have been harder hit, with sometimes only a handful of customers.

CAMPBELLFORD

Committee Plans Program For Education Week

CAMPBELLFORD. — A joint committee of members of the school board, teaching staff and Home and School Association will be Campbellford has planned what is expected to be an interesting Education Week program.

The March meeting, which is traditionally 'Fathers' Night', will be held on Wednesday, March 10, in the kindergarten room of the public school.

A panel of teachers, parents and school board members will be prepared to discuss any questions dealing with children, school policy and the curriculum.

Mr. Bill Tatham will give a resume of the work undertaken by the school board in the last few years to bring improvements into effect.

A feature of the evening will be a "bring and buy auction" to augment association funds. It is hoped small articles will be brought along and offered for auction. Refreshments will be served.

SHOWER HELD

A miscellaneous shower was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Hay, Front Street, Campbellford, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Herd, whose marriage took place recently in Toronto.

The evening was spent playing cards after which refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. J. M. Herd and Mrs. C. Scriver of Hastings.

Mr. Herd is continuing his studies at Ryerson Institute in Toronto.

MAY STUDY LUNG CANCER

OTTAWA (CP)—The health department has money available and is prepared to back full research into any connection between lung cancer and cigaret smoking, a departmental spokesman said Friday. He said Health Minister Martin has prepared a statement on the government's position in connection with the matter and will deliver it in the Commons in the next week or two.

MARMORA

50 Wild Geese Seen At Marmora

MARMORA.—A flock of about 50 wild geese are staying at a pond on the farm of Percy Carman in Marmora township about eight miles north of the village.

It is not the first year that geese have halted near this pond but never before has their return been so early.

Carman and his son-in-law, Stanley Reynolds, in going to cut wood on a woodlot on his property a mile distant from the house, pass this pond near which is a field with a crop of hay he did not take off last summer. The birds are apparently finding seeds on which they are feeding. They move off during the daytime but are seen morning and evening around the field.

PERSONALS

Miss Maud Robinson of Kemptville, has moved into one of the new residences on Linn Street.

Cecil Holland, Patrick Bertrand and Wilbert Empey representing the Deloro branch have been attending the sessions of the Mine Mill and Smelter Union at Port Colborne, this week.

Canadian Correspondent Visits Russian Polyclinic Offering Free Treatment

In this story Bill Boss tells about a Moscow polyclinic. His visit was arranged by the Soviet foreign office and he was accompanied by an official who acted as interpreter. All news reports from Russia are subject to strict Soviet censorship.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP) — When Peter Sergovitch falls ill he is treated by doctors from something like a medium-sized Canadian medical arts centre.

The difference is that the whole of the centre's collective experience is available to any patient at a moment's notice.

I visited one polyclinic serving a Moscow suburb and saw its vast work. Patients leafed through magazines in the waiting rooms with the same preoccupied lack of interest to be found in any doctor's office back home.

Ordinary leather - cushioned straight-back chairs line the buff-colored walls, and the political and cultural reading matter is on a large table in the centre of the room. There were probably 18 patients in each room at 11:30 that morning.

MANY WOMEN DOCTORS

A doctor's office is a one-roomed affair with the usual desk, chairs, examination couch, instrument cabinet and book case. It is bright, and the doctor wears a white clinical smock over civilian clothes.

The clinic's 37-year-old director, Dr. Paulina S. Petrouschko, said her 12 general practitioners serve a registered population of more than 10,000. Individual practices vary from 800 to 1,000 persons resident in the area each is allotted.

All the sector doctors are women. Most are married, with children. They work a six-hour day. They do most of their work in the home, to which they are summoned by telephone or a message delivered to the call office.

In the same building are the clinic's specialists. Also there are laboratories for the usual clinical analyses with x-ray and electrocardiograph equipment. There is an operating theatre for minor operations.

I entered the examining rooms of the ear, nose and throat specialist, the nerve man, the dermatologist, the opthalmologist and the physical culture specialist. All the specialists had the standard equipment of their fields, and radiated competence and enthusiasm.

PT EXPERT

The physical culture man was the only one with an unfamiliar role.

He was a bubbling 60, and was all set to head for Canada when told his would be a new field there. He appreciated the joke when told he'd be welcome — under certain conditions!

Every school in his area, every enterprise, industry or other organization having organized sports teams in league or other competition must have its players examined by him.

While this clinic was one of the latest and most up-to-date, its services were said to be representative of the system.

Besides attached clinical work the clinic operates a motherhood school and public health lectures for citizens in the area.

Pregnant women attend the motherhood courses once weekly. Women unable to attend must follow correspondence courses. All Moscow women go to a clinic for their babies. Should a birth occur at home an ambulance is sent to fetch mother and child to the clinic.

POST-NATAL CARE

A mother leaves the clinic after the 10th or 11th day. The next day her polyclinic's pediatrician calls on the new mother with a medical report. Thereafter, at least once a week, the attendant gives the mother a hand in getting onto her new duties. Thereafter, a like visit is normally paid leave from her job after delivery.

Pediatricians control the child's health from the day of its arrival until from the day of its arrival until it has been given all its required specific prescription at the district milk kitchen daily) and keep track of its development.

Mothers are encouraged to continue breast-feeding throughout the year. If a breast-feeding baby falls ill or is removed to hospital, the mother goes onto the paid sick-list too to feed it.

The clinic's dental staff numbers four—one dental surgeon who does extractions only, and three women dentists in a technician clinic who do fillings, general physiatrics and the manufacture of dentures. False teeth are free.

Of the clinic's 150 doctors, technicians, assistants and cleaners, only five—all doctors—were men.

24-HOUR SERVICE

Besides its regular consultations from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., operates a roundthe-clock call system and each doctor has a car and driver for calls.

The GPs make their rounds in the mornings, when they prescribe immediately and if necessary put the patient on the sick list so that his pay continues.

All treatment is free. Prescriptions filled at the state drug store or "apteka" are paid for.

Two days a month are set aside by each practitioner for thorough examination of selected patients excused from work to go through the whole mill. Each examines 10 from her practice.

Occasionally these checks find individuals improperly employed, besides detecting unsuspected ailments. Persons in the wrong jobs the clinic's medical control and consultation commission makes recommendations for binding on government or industry.

Make Discoveries Which Tell Us How World Used to Be

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Where would you look to find a brand new fish, perhaps the rarest fish in the world?

Or where would you look to find a huge, ferocious cat with a great curved tooth?

The answers are part of the surprises of archeology and paleontology, of making discoveries which help tell us how the world used to be.

The fish was found nearly two miles underground, by the luckiest of chances, during the digging of an oil well in east Texas.

All that remains is the outline of its skeleton, impressed in rock. But it apparently is a previously unknown type of primitive fish, dating back some 60,000,000 years, says Dr. John A. Wilson, associate professor of geology and vertebrate paleontologist of the University of Texas.

It was a delicate, minnow-sized fish. Dying, it fell to the muddy bottom of some ancient, long-gone sea. The sea bottom sank, new land formed over the top, the skeleton became entombed in shale.

When an oil well is dug, cuttings of foot-long cylinders of rock are brought up at intervals for examination by a geologist for various telltale signs of oil. One cutting was pulled up from a depth of 9,360 feet. And geologist E. J. Reynolds of the Humble Oil Company just happened to break the rock at a point to expose the skeleton of the fish.

10,000 YEARS OLD

Had the well been started at a place a few inches from where it was begun, if Reynolds had not happened to break the cutting at that particular point, the fish would have been missed.

The cat, 10,000 years old, was discovered during explorations directed by Dr. E. H. Sellers of the Texas Memorial Museum in a cave northwest of San Antonio. The cave entrance apparently collapsed during the ice age, trapping animals in it.

The big skeleton is the first complete one of the great cat, dinobastis, which roamed what is now the southern United States. As big as an African lion, it was as long as seven feet long, stood nearly four feet high, had a curved tooth four inches long.

It was monarch of the animal kingdom, able to whip any other animal except perhaps the great mammoths or elephants of that time.

Near the big cat were the first skeletons ever found of kittens of this type of animal. And nearby were bones of a baby elephant, perhaps dragged home by the hunting cat to feed its young.

The skeletons are being reconstructed here in slow, painstaking work.

METROPOLITAN'S ANNUAL REPORT TO POLICYHOLDERS FOR 1953

Over a Billion Dollars

Paid to Policyholders and Beneficiaries — the Largest Sum in the History of Insurance

More benefits to more people were paid by Metropolitan in 1953 than have ever been paid by any Life insurance company in a single year. Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries amounted to $1,029,000,000.

When it is realized that Metropolitan's benefit payments are only a portion of those of the Life insurance industry as a whole, one can readily visualize the tremendous stabilizing force that the people of Canada and the United States have built for themselves through Life insurance and related coverages.

All in all, 1953 was an outstanding year in your Company's operations. In most respects, it was the best in Metropolitan's 86-year history. In the light of the high level of economic activity in Canada and the United States and the ability of our Field organization, this is not surprising. We can take pride in reaching new heights in service to the peoples of our two countries.

Economic Conditions

In retrospect, 1953 was a year of transition. Uppermost in the minds of all was the cessation of hostilities in Korea. Nevertheless, we fully realize that our goal of a world at peace is far from won, and it is incumbent upon us to continue to remain militarily strong. On the domestic front, a number of influences have been at work to materially reduce the inflationary forces, which for so many years have been driving the cost of living to ever greater heights.

We in the Life insurance business are particularly conscious of the effects of inflation, which bear so heavily on the thrifty and those dependent on fixed incomes. All efforts to control this danger should receive our fullest support.

In the year ahead, business will be more competitive, but this is no cause for concern. Competition provides the same goods at lower prices, or better goods and services at the same prices. Canada and the United States have grown to their present outstanding positions on the basis of competition in a free market.

We are passing through a readjustment period, and have been for a number of months, but fundamentally Canada and the United States are strong. We have, far and away, the greatest productive capacity of any countries in the world. More than in this, the people of Canada and the United States have not lost their fundamental traits of thrift, initiative, and faith in God. Our two countries will go to much greater heights of prosperity in a peacetime economy than ever could be achieved in the midst of war.

Metropolitan Highlights of 1953

During 1953, Metropolitan's gain in Life insurance in force was substantially larger than was ever previously recorded by Metropolitan or any other Life insurance company in any one year. Metropolitan's Life insurance in force, at the end of 1953, totalled more than $56 billion. The number of people covered under all forms of Metropolitan policies reached a record high of over 37 million.

The assets of the Company, which help guarantee the fulfillment of its obligations, increased by $719,000,000, and reached $12,312,000,000 at the close of 1953.

Dividends to policyholders during the year reached an all-time high of $214,829,000. The interest rate earned by Metropolitan investments, after deducting investment expense, increased to 3.31% (compared with 3.21% for 1952), and stood at 3.09% after the United States Federal Income Tax. Mortality continued at a low rate. Expenses increased moderately, largely because of the increased volume of business.

In citing the 1953 accomplishments, we wish to pay particular tribute to the 48,000 men and women in the Metropolitan organization who have made these results possible.

J. W. Creber
President

METROPOLITAN OPERATIONS IN CANADA

These highlights of the Company's business in Canada during 1953 are the first year in this country, will be of particular interest to Metropolitan's Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries.

Payments to Policyholders and Beneficiaries

During 1953, Metropolitan's payments to its Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries amounted to $30,491,762* in death claims — matured policies — accident and health and disability benefits — dividends and other payments. Of these payments, 69% went to living policyholders.

*Incurred basis.

The total amount the Metropolitan has paid to Canadians since it entered Canada in 1872; plus the amount now invested in Canada; exceeds the total premiums received from Canadians by more than $453,000,000.

Life Insurance in Force

Metropolitan Life insurance in force in Canada on the lives of 2,700,000 policyholders totalled $3,039,102,831 at the year's end. Of this amount, 56% was Ordinary business, 36% was Industrial and 18% was Group. During 1953, Canadians bought $284,561,640 of new Life insurance protection in the Metropolitan.

Total Investments in Canada

Metropolitan investments in Canada amounted to $700,378,846 at the end of 1953. These investments are playing an important part in the economy of Canada, with substantial totals of Federal, Provincial, and Municipal bonds and with sizeable totals in the obligations of steel and paper companies, the oil industry, railroads, electric light and power companies, and others.

Health and Welfare Work

Since 1909 Metropolitan has conducted a continuous health-education campaign in Canada and, during 1953, participated in numerous activities. More than 2,340,000 pamphlets on a variety of health and safety topics were distributed — monthly health advertisements appeared in national publications — "Good Hints for Good Health" was a daily feature on many radio stations.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

WE ASKED FOR IT!

The vodka and caviar took a terrific beating in Moscow last night, but not half the shellacking that Canada's hockey prestige took in Stockholm.- Sergei and Igor, Gita and Maria and hockey-happy tovarischen all over the Soviet Union crunched the caviar once and hailed the firewater of the steppes in wild celebration of the Red hockey team's victory over the "pigs and cry babies" from Canada.

Canada's sportdom was rocked on its heels with the announcement yesterday that the Moscow Dynamos, instead of being abruptly short-circuited by the Toronto Lyndhursts, put a flock of rubies in the hockey misters and came up with a passing display that set our laddybucks back on their heels with a 7-3 defeat and Canada on its haunches with the shock of it.

And at rinkside and in sports offices of the European newspapers tongues probably were in cheek and a lot of the funny-talking millwrights and tonsil-jerkers were quaffing schnapps with wise-guy "I-told-you-so" expressions on their smug mugs.

The flood-gates of propaganda will now be opened wide. The Red blats will blat loud and long over the glorious victory of the Moscow musical-comedy-parked "heroes" who couldn't hold a candle to a Canadian Junior "A" or Senior "A" squad in a month of Siberian moons.

And the result vindicates a number of Canadian sports-writers who maintained at the rise of the curtain that the Lyndies were not a team representative of the best Canada could send over, from the amateur ranks. The Canadians' record after that first shellacking seemed as though it might make the home scribes chew "crow." The Russian victory cleared the picture.

From this corner it looks like it was not a question of the strength of the Canadian team, but the weakness of the European opposition. This, plus the "powder-puff" rules that govern international play, where a player is penalized if he as much as disturbs the nap on an opposing sweater.

The Russians are perfectionists. For a bevy of Moscow Muscovites who probably never saw a puck until a few years ago, but claim they invented the game between advison of the Russian artillery at Balaclava against the Light Brigade, the Sergeis and Igors refused to enter world competition until they were reasonably sure they had a good chance of popping the title. Nothing less would do. The eight-year plan worked, thanks to the cockueiness of that august body, the C.A.H.A.

Now, with the world's title in their hands at the expense of a team supposedly representing the global best in hockey, you can wager your income tax rebate the Soviet cry for a Canadian team to tour the region back of the Iron Curtain will be redoubled.

All right, let's send a team over there. We will go along with the "Misses" Ted Reeves. Send not a composite NHL team, although that is hardly necessary, and teach these Scarlet Runners a hockey lesson they will never forget. As the "Reever" puts it:

"Send over the Rocket, and Lindsay and Howe,
And Lumo and a lot of their chums.
And say, when the score reaches hundred and four,
"That's how to play hockey, y'bums."

PLAYING TO FORM!

The "O.K. Senior "B" series between Oshawa and Kingston does not look very "Okay" for the Goodyears at the moment. The Truckmen whipped them 4-2 Saturday night to take a lead in the best of three series. Saturday's game between the teams has been postponed as Fort Ferry and Kingston Vics will open their Junior "B" playdowns in Community Centre.

The Orillia Fontiacs have an edge on the Petes since they defeated the Liftlockers 4-3 in Perdueville Saturday night, and that gives them an additional "home-ice" advantage. The teams clash in Orillia tonight, and the Petes had better take this one, if they expect to look an eye. Remember, the Oshawa-Kingston clube meet in Memorial Arena here Friday night in what could be the deciding game of the series. .

SHOULD BE GOO!

What should be a shift for-hockey eyes takes place tonight in Memorial Arena when the starry Stirling Juvenile "C" crew meets Bracebridge in the second game of their goals-to-count series. Russ Frear's kids took the first till 4-3 on Friday night, and if they win tonight's clash they will likely draw a bye into the OMHA provincial finals. These kids play great hockey. Don't miss it!

UP-AND-AT-'EM!

The Jones of Trenton are not speaking to the Smiths of Wellington. From a hockey point of view, that is. In fact after Saturday night's Trenton-Wellington battle-twenes representing the Quinte communities an open declaration of war is liable to be announced any minute. The Iron Dukes, with stimulation staring them in the face, came up with a fighting, hard-checking brand of hockey that netted them three goals in the first period, and dar-nabbed if they didn't need 'em. They won the host 5-3 but not before the referee from Commodore Carr's backfield had issued a goshalmighty scare into 'em in the third period. They rallied and threw in a couple of insurance markers after the Ads drew within a goal while between 8th and 9th adherents of both teams worked their tonsils to the core.

The teams play the deciding game in Memorial Arena on Wednesday night and the biggest crowd of the Valley season is expected to view the struggle. Each team has won a tilt, while the third game was tied in overtime. It is a slam-bang hockey with plenty of excitement and if you like the whang-'am-womp-'em-wallop-'em type, don't miss Wednesday's joust ing.

Blank Hawks, Tie Canadiens As Leafs Take Over 2nd Spot; Lumley Racks Up 12th Shutout

By the Canadian Press

The three points Boston Bruins gained on New York Rangers in the week-end National Hockey League action may turn out to be the shattering blow that wrecked the New Yorkers' playoff chances.

Boston's big step forward and Toronto's effort in holding on to second place, combined with a quick burst of firing power by Detroit that netted the Red Wings two goals in 22 seconds, go down today as the highlights of the five NHL games played in the week-end.

The Bruins picked up their three points by trouncing Chicago Black Hawks 6-0 in Boston Sunday night after playing a 3-3 tie against the Canadiens in Montreal Saturday night.

Toronto regained undisputed possession of second place by a single point as Leafs edged Boston over the Rangers Sunday night in New York as the Canadiens battled to a 2-2 deadlock in Detroit against the Red Wings. The Leafs were forced into sharing temporarily the runner-up spot with Canadiens after Saturday night's games when they were beaten 3-1 by Detroit in Toronto while Montreal picked up a point for its tie with the Bruins.

IN DRIVER'S SEAT

Boston's effort in getting three of a league-leading total of seven the week-end while the Rangers made no headway put the Bruins in the driver's seat for the last playoff spot and a crack at the Stanley Cup. Boston has six more games left and New York six.

A Boston goalie, 13.152 saw veteran Joe Klukay lead the Bruins to their shutout over the Hawks with two goals in the 6-0 rout Sunday night. Goalie Sugar Jim Henry was in top form to assist the shutout by goals from Gus Bodnar, Leo Labine, Doug Mohns and Johnny Peirson.

The Bruins also looked good in tying the Canadiens in Montreal Saturday night before a Montreal crowd of 14,410. Maurice Richard scored the goal, his 35th of the season, that earned the Montrealers the split in points. Fleming Mackenzie and Bert Olmstead were the other Canadiens to score. The Bruins' two scorers were Dave Creighton, Fleming Mackell and Zed Sandford.

Goalie Terry Sawchuk registered his 12th shutout as the Leafs trimped the Rangers before a crowd of nearly 13,000 in New York. It tied him with Terry Sawchuk, Detroit netminder, for the most shutouts and brought him within five goals of the Red Wings' goalie in their battle for the Vezina trophy. Sawchuk has had 170 goals scored against him and Lumley 114.

FIRST-PERIOD WIN

The Leafs scored three first-period goals to beat the Rangers, with Eric Nesterenko, Harry Watson and Jim Morrison counting one each. Tim Horton, who assisted on two of the first-period tallies, counted the final goal in the third period.

Centre Alex Delvecchio scored two goals for Detroit as the Red Wings beat the Leafs before 13,502 fans in Toronto Saturday night. Glen Skov got Detroit's third goal and Jim Morrison accounted for the lone Toronto tally.

The Red Wings were frustrated for 50 minutes by rookie goalie Jacques Plante in their Sunday game with Canadiens. Then Delvecchio, getting his third goal in two nights, and Bill Dineen scored within 23 seconds to turn defeat for the Wings into a tie.

Stratford Ousts Windsor Bulldogs, Mercurys Lead Maroons By 3 Games

By the Canadian Press

Windsor, which traded in its junior franchise for a place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league at the beginning of the season, did much better this year than their junior Spitfire did last season.

The Bulldogs managed to finish third in a strange league this season compared to the seventh-place finish the Spitfires made in the OHA Junior series the previous year. The senior team also won the hearts of the fans, drawing some of the largest crowds of the season in Windsor this season.

But the Bulldogs just didn't have it in the playoffs. They managed only one victory in four games as they dropped out of the running for the OHA Senior championship.

The final stroke came in Stratford Saturday when the Indians scored a 7-3 victory to finish Windsor's hopes competition for the season. The victory gave Stratford the best-of-five quarter-finals 3-1 and moved the Indians into a best-of-five semi-final against Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

OWEN SOUND LEADING

The winner of the semi-final will meet either Owen Sound Mercurys or Chatham Maroons. Owen Sound has just about wrapped that series up, holding a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven semi-final. Their latest victory was a 3-0 shutout over the Maroons in Chatham Saturday.

Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds, who finished first in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior Group, and advanced into the league finals Saturday by defeating the Lumber Kings 5-2 in Pembroke. The victory gave the Greyhounds the best-of-seven semi-final 4-0.

Sudbury Wolves lead the other NOHA best-of-seven semi-final 3-0 over North Bay Trappers. The Wolves defeated the Trappers 3-4 in North Bay Saturday.

KID LINE SCORES

Stratford's kid line of Lou Bendo, Herve Dejordy and Ted Pietsch led to Windsor's downfall in the final game of the series. Bendo scored twice and Dejordy and Pietsch added singles. Don Peart, Mike Delich and Ron Lucas completed the total. Walt Pawlaytyn notched two for the Bulldogs, Bob Struker firing the other one.

Owen Sound scored all its goals in the first period and then drew into a defensive shell to beat the Maroons. Buck Forslund, Bill McComb and Herb Carnegie split the scoring for the Mercurys.

Owen Sound can clinch the series tonight when the Mercurys play the fourth game in Chatham. The Kitchener-Stratford series opens in Stratford Tuesday.

SCORE 4

By the time right-winger Moe Galand outskated the entire Russian team to score Canada's first goal early in the second period, the Ontario Hockey Association Senior B club had a three-goal lead to overcome. It was Galand's 6th goal of the series, making him the tournament's top marksman.

The Canadians killed off a penalty to centre Bob Kenedy, but just after he returned two quick Russian goals put the game out of reach. Another OHA Senior defenceman Tom Jamieson was off for boarding.

Even the breaks were against East York. Right-winger Bill Snill scooped the puck from under Dynamo goaltender Nikolai Putchkov and drove it home, only to have a whistle nullify the play as the referees ruled the puck was dead.

Snill got a legal goal in the third period, his shot caroming in off Putchkov's stick. But penalties to Kennedy and defenceman George Sayliss took the steam out of Canada's closing attack.

PRESENTS CUP

J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne, vice-president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, presented the championship cup to Valvoled Bobrov, la Dynamo captain, after the game.

Bobrov, a Red Army major, also received an award from the Swedish federation as the outstanding forward in the series. He punished his team-mates Sunday, scoring one goal, his eighth of the tournament, and setting up a second.

East York may be the last Canadian representative in the tournament. President W. B. George of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced Saturday that he plans to submit a report to the CAHA at its annual meeting next May on unfavorable press and public reaction to the team.

George said the CAHA will decide on the future of sending the tournament after considering the report.

Biltmores, Dutchies, Flyers Battle For Junior A League Playoff Berth

By the Canadian Press

Three teams are still fighting for a berth in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs. There is only room for two.

By the results during the week-end it could be a toss-up among Kitchener - Waterloo Greenshirts, Barrie Flyers and Guelph Biltmores. All three were defeated Saturday.

The Greenshirts lost 5-4 in overtime to the last-place Black Hawks in Galt; Barrie was edged 5-4 by the league-leading Teepees in St. Catharines and Guelph went down 5-2 to the Cubs in Hamilton. Hamilton's victory clinched them a playoff spot.

In Toronto Sunday the Marlvals, St. Michael's College Majors 7-0 and sewed up second place for the season's play.

Ken Linseman, Ken Gribbons and Jack Caffery, all of St. Michael's were injured and didn't return to the game. The latter two suffered leg injuries. Linseman was struck in the eye.

Wally Maxwell scored two for the dukes. Others went to Gerry James and Jack Stanley.

WIN IN OVERTIME

Ron Halstead's overtime goal gave the Hawks their victory over the slumping Greenshirts. Ed Switzer led the Galt marksmen with two goals. Singles went to Pete Kowalchuk, Neil McDonald and Halstead. Steele Glover scored a pair for Kitchener, singles going to Bud Horne and Ian Tegall.

Hamilton's victory was led by Gerry Sullivan and Ted Reid who each scored twice. Bill Stewart notched the other one. Bill McCreary and Bob Attenbury were the Guelph snipers.

The St. Catharines victory was the first game for the TeePees since their 11-day road trip to Quebec.

Barry Cullen and Hugh Barlow each notched two for the winners. Ches Warchol bagged the other. George Ranieri, Don Pollard, Norm Monteith and Jim Robertson were the Barrie scorers.

St. Michael's plays at Kitchener tonight.

Wellington Defeats Trenton Carrs To Square Valley Quarter Finals

A first-period offensive that netted them three goals without a return paved the way for a 5-3 victory for the Wellington Dukes over Trenton Carr Agencies Monday night in the third game of the Quinte Valley Hockey League south-section division semi-finals.

The teams are even-steven in the series, each having a victory to its credit, with the third game coming in a tie. The fourth and deciding game will be played in Memorial Arena on Wednesday night.

Between 200 and 300 frantic fans saw the Dukes unleash a first-period drive that was sustained throughout and rip home three goals to push a lead they never relinquished.

Trenton tipped back in the second period with a margin of territorial play and scored the only goal in the third to which both Lehman and Hill respective goaltenders stood out with fine performances.

MAINTAIN PACE

The Admirals maintained the hot pace in the third stanza and drew within striking position when they scored 16 and two minutes of play. They see-sawed up and down the ice for the next ten minutes with the goalies again playing stellar roles in kicking out labelled pucks.

The Dukes increased their lead at this point to 4-3 and added the insurance marker four minutes later. Trenton dashed valiantly in a last rush and whittled the march to 5-3 with scant seconds remaining.

The game while rugged at times was not necessarily rough with referee Verne Cameron handing out but three penalties two of them going to Wellington. Certainly, the Dukes goalie drew a misdemeanor when he allegedly interfered with a Trenton forward.

Brian Mulvihill paced the Dukes offensive with two goals and an assist with Ray Carey getting one and one. Coulson Graham were the other two Duke marksmen.

The Beale-Johnson-Scott line was the most effective for the Admirals accounting for two of the three goals. Beale and Scott were the snipers with the others drawing assists. Campney scored the third marker for Trenton.

The teams:

Wellington: Goal Letman; defence, York, Bone; centre, Scott; wings, Garrison, Bryant; subs, Cousins, Hatfield, Mulvihill, Carey, Pettingill, Mowat, Greer, Burks.

Trenton: Goal, Hill; defence, Watson, Schmidt; centre, Beale; wings, Scott, Johnson; subs, Barr, Turland, McDonnell, Leary, Baker, Graham, Campney, Green, Istead.

Referees: Goyer, Stewart.

Douglas Wins Houston Open

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dave Douglas fashioned a five-under-par 67 on the final round for a total of 277 to win the $30,000 Houston open golf tournament Sunday. His $6,000 top money was the first big money he has won this year.

Douglas finished one under par to equal the course record. The 30-year-old pro, N.Y., professional finished two strokes ahead of Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., the defending champion.

Middlecoff grabbed the $3,200 second prize with a 279.

The only survivor of six Canadians entered, Ruby Horvath of Windsor, Ont., shot a three-under-par 69 Sunday, his best round of the tournament. However, his previous rounds of 74-75-73 brought his total to 291 and he finished out of the money.

Remember When

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Howie Morenz one of hockey's all-time stars, died of a heart attack in a Montreal hospital 17 years ago today, aged 34. The Stratford streak had started with Canadiens in the 1923-24 season earlier, and was making a comeback with them when he suffered a leg fracture in a game at Montreal five weeks before his death.

Chicoutimi Nips Quebec 5-3; Royals Win

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicoutimi Sagueneens still have their two-point lead in the Quebec Hockey League.

The Saguenens downed Quebec Aces 5-3 Sunday while Royals blanked Valleyfield Braves 7-0. The Royals went down 5-3 at Quebec Saturday while Chicoutimi was idle.

Springfield turned back Sherbrooke Saints 4-2 Sunday to keep an interest in the league playoffs and Sherbrooke blanked Ottawa Civics 6-0 Sunday.

At Chicoutimi, Jacques Locas Horn Perreault, Gerry Gilsdo, Stan Smrke and Normie Dussault counted for the winners; Erwin Grosse, Hugo Rajkie and Adam Brown got the Quebec goals. The Chicoutimi Victories broke a five-game Ace winning streak.

Defencemen Gilles in the Royals' win over Valleyfield, Goalie Bob Perreault registered his 14th shutout of the season. Defencemen Glen Harmon and Roger Leger contributed one goal each to the winners' total.

At Sherbrooke, the Saints' 4-0 victory gave Dave Gatherum his fourth shutout. Ed Stankiewicz was the chief marksman with three of the winning goals. Joe Malo got the other.

'Best Team Won' Says Preston

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — The manager of Canada's world hockey team gave a glum forecast for future Canadian chances in Saturday's defeat by Russia in the world amateur championships Sunday by announcing Toronto East York 7-2.

"The best team won and I think on that one day—perhaps not," said Don Preston of Toronto. "But I don't think the Russians will be able to did on this Sunday of disappointment. They are very hard to beat them."

"I do not want to make any excuse, but fact is fact—and we lost two of our best players earlier in this tournament, Harold Fiharl and Ben Chapman. The latter was our best man in the defence.

"Nevertheless, I think the Soviets deserved to win.

"The only thing I want to say is that I do not want to be known as the 'best team this day.'"

Sport in Brief

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—By Zeus, a four-year-old colt, stunned the most distinguished performers in an international Derby Saturday with a record breaking triumph in the $113,200 Santa Juan Capistrano Handicap.

By Zeus, owned by movie actress Jane Greer and given a wonderful ride by jockey Ray York, finished the mile-and-a-half journey over Santa Anita Park's new grass course 4½ lengths in front of his running mate, Rejected, from the King Ranch. The Dormar Stable's Lucrative was third.

The time was 2:26, faster than the American record of 2:43 4-5 registered at Hialeah Park by Royal Vale and Pictor last week.

The heavy betting favorite, the Alberta Ranches' entry, ran out the money, and the big purse of threesome, Thirteen of Diamonds, finished last in the field of 16.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—T. P. Morgan's Grover B, a 24-to-1 longshot, won an upset victory in the $66,000 New Orleans Handicap at Fairgrounds Saturday.

Grover B took an early lead, extended it to five lengths in the backstretch and hung on gamely to outlast Smoke Screen by two lengths. Capeador was third.

Royal Ray Gem, second betting choice, was fourth.

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — The biggest exchange of public kissing in Stockholm Stadium's history was seen Sunday night by the 16,726 spectators who watched Russia win the world hockey championship over Canada.

After the final whistle had blown for the Soviet 7-2 victory, the Russian team players rushed on to the rink and kissed their players on their cheeks about 10 times each.

GRAVENHURST (CP) — Bert Hawker's Gravenhurst rink scored an eight-end victory curling in a mixed bonspiel here Saturday. Hawker, a curler 32 years, said it is the first time he has accomplished the feat. Other members of his rink were Mrs. Thomas Leonard Hills.

Defeat Should Arouse Canada To The Fact Nothing But Best Represent Country in Future

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has shown what it can be expected, came in for a bit of a roasting today at the hands of some of Canada's sports columnists.

The writers, commenting on Canada's 7-2 defeat by Russia in the world hockey championships in Stockholm Sunday, didn't mind losing to a fast, powerful team like Toronto East York to represent Canada abroad.

But Toronto East York, an Ontario Senior B squad, has been under editorial fire both at home and abroad as not being representative of the country that has made Canada the leading sport. Nevertheless, East York ran up a string of victories in pre-tournament exhibition games in Europe and went undefeated through six games of the world tournament before bumping into the Dynamos.

Sports columnists on morning papers were slow to comment. Only two had anything to say today:

SEND BEST TEAM

Harry Risen, London Free Press:

"No one but the CAHA can be held responsible for Canada's defeat. . . . The (East York) lynchburgs were not strong enough to uphold Canada's prestige as a leading hockey nation. Unless Canada can send its best team into these so-called world hockey tournaments, the wisest course would be to pass them up."

Jack Howlett, St. John's (Nfld.) Daily News:

"Canada thought she had the title in the bag before sailing, but this might have set up an-other year."

Comment on evening papers, making their copy available to The Canadian Press in advance of publication later today, had this to say:

Steve Herder, St. John's Evening Telegram: "It should make future competition hot."

Like Howlett, Herder took the view that Canada's entry was three or four individual stars, not an outstanding team. They agreed that in this might have been chosen early in the fall and go through tough drills before entering the games.

Aubrey Keizer, Sydney, N.S., Post-Record:

"The CAHA in selecting clubs should also select a good, technical team leaders. The Canada hockey field is loaded with alleged team leaders who merely 'pop off.'"

PERHAPS BEST THING

Maurice Smith, Winnipeg Free Press:

"Perhaps the defeat of Canada by the Russians is the best thing that could have happened. Long last it may be the CAHA. . . will wake up to the fact that if the Dominion is going to be represented in the tournaments with other nations, it should be represented by nothing but the best.

"At the semi-annual meeting of the CAHA in Winnipeg early this year, George Dudley, secretary-manager of the CAHA, predicted to this corner that Russia would publish no other fault in the championship. Mr. Dudley's face must be even brighter today than the red flag of Russia."

Tommy Shields, Ottawa Citizen:

"No stones should be thrown at Lyndhrists. They were chosen for the trip and did their best. . . but they did not make the grade and it follows that criticism will be directed at them.

"But with most Canadians, the feeling will prevail that Canada was let down by the CAHA in their selection of a world tournament team. . . . Canada should be represented by the best, or not represented at all."

Scotty Melville, Regina Leader-Post:

"I cannot blame the CAHA for losing to those who it can see. However, I have for some years submitted that teams of the calibre of Toronto Lyndhurst could be used to tour Europe and a crack senior team be flown over solely for the tournament. The matter of 10 days this would take would not interfere very much with either league or playoff commitments and would not prove too costly to the CAHA."

Hal Pawson, Edmonton Journal:

"Canada made its mistake when it stopped sending 'good' teams to Europe to quell complaints from that Continent that Canada's representatives were so powerful they were ruining international hockey. It is past the time when we should send a good senior amateur club over and show them it is still our game."

Bill Westwick, Ottawa Journal:

"The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association can take a bow today for a masterpiece of stubbornness and blundering that netted them exactly what they deserved. . . ."

Canadian correspondents had given warnings "that the class B Lyndhurst club wouldn't do." Once the Canadian team got to Europe, CAHA had "back-tracked," admitting it had not made a good choice. It "rushed over four players, including a goalie, and Canada can wonder what the Russians would have done to the original Canadian team."

"The conviction must be a little more general today that the CAHA might well abandon this practice of sending representatives to a world's tournament. . . ."

"There is no intention here of criticizing the Toronto Lyndhursts now. . . It turned out that against the Russians they were boys in a man's errand. That wasn't their fault, though it must seem to many there has been a great deal of 'beefing' over the way the crowds and press have been harassing the team.

"It must be a little puzzling to understand how a Canadian team, accustomed to partisan crowds, can be so bruised by the yelps of a hockey crowd over there. . . The thought occurs, too, as to how they read all these write-ups."

WEEKEND STARS

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Goalie Harry Lumley, Toronto, who scored his 12th shutout Sunday when Detroit blanked New York Rangers 4-0.

Veteran Joe Klukay, Boston, who scored two goals Sunday to spark the Bruins to a 6-0 victory over Chicago.

Sugar Jim Henry, Boston, who notched his sixth shutout in the season.

Alex Delvecchio, Detroit, who scored two goals Saturday to lead Detroit to a 3-1 victory over Toronto.

Bisons Swamp Syracuse 13-3; Break Two Marks

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons smashed a couple of American Hockey League records Sunday night in drubbing defenceless Syracuse Warriors 13-3. At Syracuse Saturday, the Bisons beat the Warriors 8-4. Buffalo needs only one more win to clinch first place, for the first time since 1949.

Cleveland Barons Sunday night snapped a seven - game losing streak by walloping Providence Reds 10-1.

Saturday scores were: Hershey 5, Providence 4; Pittsburgh 5, Cleveland 2.

Buffalo's Don Marshall set a rookie record of 58 points by scoring one goal and assisting in three others Sunday. The line of Marshall, Gaye Stewart and Ed Slowinski also set up a Bison record of 113 goals in a season, getting five in the game.

Eddie Olson's three goals featured Cleveland's runaway win over Providence. The Reds, whose playoff hopes were ended, made a fight of it in the first period, which ended 2-2.

Canadians Win For Michigan

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (CP) — Canadian students at Michigan universities finished first in two races at the Big Ten indoor track meet Saturday, Michigan State University finished sixth six firsts including two team records.

John Ross of Oakville, member of the University of Michigan track team, successfully defended his mile title, stepping the distance in 4:11.2 to beat Lowell Zeiher of Indiana. It was far off his 1962 record of 4:08.8. John Meola of Hamilton, also running for Michigan, finished fifth.

Another Canadian, Michigan State's John Cook from London, Ont., set the pace for half of the mile race before fading.

Ross came back later, however, to win the 880-yard run in 1:54.9.

The two-mile run was won by Ken Wallinga of Michigan in 8:25.6, Iowa's Rich Ferguson of Toronto set the pace and was ahead after 1¼ miles but then faded badly and failed to finish. Another Toronto, Michigan's George Lyczak, defending champion, was never in contention and was forced to drop out in the first five.

However, three other Canadians were in the top five, Lyle Garbe of Calgary, running for Michigan State, was fourth, and Ken Wallingford of Ottawa, Michigan, fifth.

Jack Carroll of Montreal, member of Michigan's team, finished fourth in the 600-yard race won by Leroy Ebert of Iowa in meet record time of 1:11.4.

West Point Trims R.M.C. By 5-3 Score

KINGSTON (CP)—Tradition was broken Saturday night as West Point cadets romped to a 5-3 victory over the Royal Military College in the annual United States military academy challenge trophy hockey game.

A penalty was called.

The penalty, against West Point goaltender D. H. Leuders for interference, was the first to be called during the RMC-West Point classic since the series was inaugurated in 1923.

The game was rugged throughout with players on both clubs throwing bodychecks. In the third period, these bodychecks halted the game and with the spectators urging them on consulted with officials of each school. The decision was made at the five-minute mark to halt penalties and a little over five minutes later the string was broken.

Walls-Beshore Bout Cancelled

EDMONTON (CP)—Earl Walls of Toronto, Canadian heavyweight boxing champion, has injured his left hand and won't fight Freddie Beshore of Los Angeles here tonight.

Promoter Jack Berry said that Walls' left hand started to bother him last Friday. The hand was treated but failed to respond.

In the meantime, the commission ordered Walls not to fight, said Berry.

Beshore now will meet Bobby Volk, 180-pound battler from Portland, Ore., who is known to have appeared in a preliminary bout.

Canadians Tie For Skate Title

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (CP)—Mrs. Pat Underhill of Edmonton and Mrs. Jean Shiffrin of Dalhousie, N.B., Sunday tied for second place in the women's division of the North American indoor speedskating championships here. Mrs. Barbara Marchetti of Schenectady, N.Y. won the event with a perfect score.

Art Longley of Leominster, Mass., raced to the men's championship to become the first man to win both indoor and outdoor titles in the same year.

Alouettes May Play In Molson Stadium

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four football union may shift their home playing field from the Montreal Royals baseball stadium to McGill University's Molson Stadium, it was learned.

President Roy Robertson of the Alouettes announced the near-completion of negotiations for rental of the McGill stadium and said a decision will be made at a meeting of McGill's board of governors Wednesday.

Should the deal go through a spokesman for the university said there would be no Sunday football. McGill officials have balked the suggestion by Montreal's Big Four entry in 1946 in favor of the baseball park where floodlights were available and teams could play Sundays.

Because the stands at each of the two stadiums is about 23,000, but the baseball park is 40 yards short of regulation football length—120 yards on the playing field and 30 yards in the end zones.

Blues Beat Reds

TORONTO (CP)—University of Toronto Blues defeated McGill Redmen 74-33 in the final game of their two-game total point basketball schedule here Saturday night.

Waterloo Wins Bowling Title

BRANTFORD (CP) — The team Waterloo Sunrise Bowling team won the Kitchener-Waterloo region five pin bowling title Saturday night with a six-game total of 2,337 an average of about 228 a game. Twenty-five men's handicap teams competed in the match.

The winners will compete with champions from 12 other Canadian regions at the Sportsmen's Show in Toronto.

JOHN NIAGARA Talks about:

Bills marked "PLEASE REMIT"

Most people here had a bill sometime, bearing the words, "Please remit" or "Please mail." And many of us have not always been able to send payment by return mail. A large organized firm, or a lot of little ones, can often cause this to happen. Most people don't realize that all they need to clear any minor debts is time; yes, time to spread out payment over two future pay envelopes. A friendly loan gets you a lump sum of money, which you take to your bills. You then have time to repay, with promises you can handle more easily. It's a simple way to get back on your feet. Friendly loans up to $1500 from Niagara are life-insured at no extra cost to you. Besides, as many friendly loans, the rates are lower. Drop in today—why don't you give yourself this one to pay by arranging a Niagara loan. You'll find it no less than ... no just drop in.

AT THE BELLE—Make-up-time in "How to Marry a Millionaire", the Cinemascope comedy sensation from Twentieth Century-Fox starring in color by Technicolor, Betty Grable, Marilyn Monroe (centre) and Lauren Bacall. The picture is starting today at the Belle Theatre. Coronation Parade, in Cinemascope by Technicolor is an outstanding added attraction.

AT THE CAPITOL—Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, those two effervescent envoys of unbridled merriment, practise their hilarious antics in Hal Wallis' brand-new Paramount comedy sensation, "Scared Stiff", which opens tonight at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program first Belleville showing in color by Technicolor "Flight to Tangier" starring that Shane shooting man, Jack Palance, and Joan Fontaine. See both hits on our new giant curved screen.

AT THE McCARTHY—A rebellious member of a harem, played by Paulette Goddard, is being quieted by Richard Ney in a scene from "Babes in Bagdad," which opens today at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre along with Mickey Spillane's smash hit "I, The Jury".

Watertown Club Interested In COB League

Belleville, Kingston, Oshawa and probably Watertown, N.Y., will form the nucleus of the Central Ontario Baseball League that, with the possibility of Peterborough filling an entry.

The Watertown team said via the telephone on Sunday that it was definitely interested in the loop and organizational meetings will be held this week.

Belleville and Oshawa teams were represented at the meeting held on Sunday, but President Devine was notified that Kingston will file an entry.

Telephonic conversation with Peterborough officials who were associated with the club two years ago, revealed that they were not interested because of "no players and no money". However, other interests in the Littlock City may take up the question.

Smith's Falls is said to be awaiting a decision on the installation of floodlights before giving a definite answer. It was stated that the Falls has a strong team but no league in their district in which to enter it.

Other teams of the district will be contacted this week and a definite decision as to how many clubs will constitute the loop will be arrived at before the weekend.

MARMORA

Marmora Swamps Vandorf 17-2 In OHA Playoff

MARMORA — Marmora easily accounted for Vandorf in their opening game of the four-of-seven OHA Intermediate C Hockey on the local arena on Friday evening piling up 17 goals against two by their opponents. The score of 5-1 at end of the first period was doubled in the second and seven more goals were added in the third.

Due to weather conditions the visitors arrived late, causing a late start of the game, which was about the fastest seen here this season.

The game got rough in the third and a visiting player got a match misconduct in a number of ten which his team acquired against nine earned by the homesters.

Goal scorers for Marmora were: K. Trumble 3; Jones 2; Lavender 3; Loveless 2; Maynes 2; Mantle 2; E. Trumble, Leonard. Medals and Legge registered for Vandorf.

The second game between these teams will be played on the Newmarket rink on Tuesday evening.

Due to the Havelock-Campbellford game at Havelock the same evening proving a strong counter attraction the attendance was down to the four hundred mark.

Russ Showing 'Surprised' Dudley

MIDLAND (CP)—George F. Dudley, secretary - treasurer of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, Sunday ordered congratulations to Moscow Dynamos for their 7-2 victory over Toronto Eggs York which gave the Russians the world hockey championship at Stockholm, Sweden.

"We've got to take our hats off the Russians and their showing certainly surprised me. They deserve our congratulations on their victory."

Dudley said considerable thought will have to be given to plans for entering future world hockey tournaments. "There's lots of talk about sending a better team," he commented, "but no one tells us how we're going to get a better team over there."

The CAHA official defended the choice of the East York senior B team. "They are a good team, and have made a good showing during the entire exhibition trip and the official games."

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

Minor Hockey

The playoffs continued in the pee wee and bantam leagues on Saturday morning with three bantam teams losing their series.

The Bruins eliminated the Red Wings with a 5-0 win at the gates and took the series 8-0, the Maple Leafs won 3-2, taking the round over the Canadiens by a 7-1 margin while the Black Hawks dropped their game 5-4, but won the round 13-9. In the lone pee wee game the Bruins edged the Canadiens 3-2 in the first game of the goals to count semi-finals.

Gord Fuller and Bill led the bantam Bruins to victory with Fuller scoring twice and Hill getting one goal and assisting on another. Belcher and Boomhower notched the remaining goals with Schwab and Reeves drawing assists.

Bernard Boulter participated in all three of the Leaf markers, scoring two and setting Brennan up for the other one. MacDonald had one helper, Pat Asselstine in best Soden in the Leaf net for the Canadians only goal of the series.

The Rangers, down five goals going into the game, gave the Black Hawks quite a scare early in the game when they brought the total score up to 10-9, just one back of Black Hawks. The winners of the series, led by Gary Rowbotham with three of his teams four goals managed a trio of fast ones in during the last period to sew up the decision. Ivo Regent got their odd goal from Colligan.

Dennis Kerrulis had two goals and one assist for the Rangers with single goals for Davis, Stonesborg and Coe. Don Deacon had one helper.

Wally Hardwick paced the pee wee Bruins attack with one goal and one assist while Goldthorpe and Jack Boulter had the other markers. Larry Westfall had one assist.

Jimmy Potts and Doug Dafoe were the Canadian marksmen.

In two pee wee exhibition games played before the league games, the Maple Leafs edged the Red Wings 2-1 and the Black Hawks, who will meet the winner of the Bruin-Canadian series for the league title, defeated the Rangers 4-1.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)— Successive visits to the camps of the champion Yankees and Chicago White Sox brings one a striking sense of the futility of trying to stop Casey Stengel's club short of its sixth straight American League flag.

If the Yankees are to be finally balked and the Ogre saved from slow disintegration, the White Sox and Silber will have to win the race themselves or give Cleveland a powerful lot of help. So you look at the two clubs and you wonder if there is any real basis for comparison.

The difference is that when the Yankee regulars take the field you are looking at a standout ball player in nearly every position. In manager Paul Richards' team you see, outside the pitching box, only one outstanding star who would be sure to break into the champions' line-up and stay there—outfielder Orestes Minoso.

Seldom on a contending club has Cuba been in third place last season—has there been such a treacherous disparity between one man and the rest of the team as there was between the Cuban star and his teammates.

Minoso led the Sox in batting with an average of .320. The club's next best was catcher Sherman Lollar at .284—compiled in 113 games. Minoso's 10 homers knocked across 104 runs to Sam Mele's next best 82. His total bases, 259, compared to Jim Rivera's 238. His 15 home runs led Mele's 12. The club got rid of Mele during the winter.

Outside of that, all Minoso did was lead the American League with 22 stolen bases, get hit by pitched balls an amazing 17 times for another league mark, and lead his own team in runs scored and slugging percentage.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 9, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Better prospects than you may expect. Wisely concerted effort will bring desirable benefits. Be especially careful with property, investments. Be sure, don't rush into things.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Always be ready and willing to improve the status of your affairs, the quality of your work. Make sane changes; keep in condition yourself. Industry, trades, general business trends will make us think more; so think!

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Caution urged if considering new or unstudied propositions. Ascertain facts before you involve self and money or get into situations that could cause instability, perhaps a lowering of morale.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Your technique, attitude, approach will greatly influence advantages and benefits. Remember that nothing risked is nothing gained. A bright idea pays! Why not yours!

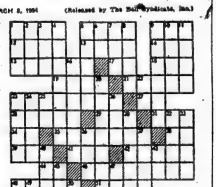
July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Seek new avenues, fields where you can expand ideas, revise salesmanship techniques. Today indicates gains from efforts beyond or out of the common order.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—It would be better to stop, look and listen before venturing into new interests, propositions. Be firmly confident in work for which you are trained; otherwise be cautious.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Lively competition now, plans. Be alert, ready for things, especially in early hours. In P.M., contention should be nil, happiness prevailing.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Exciting indications which can be profitable or otherwise. Talking won't do; action, both sensible and consistent, plus a kindly spirit, will enhance progress.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—A first rate period for new ideas and for finishing incomplete matters. A note to your affairs shows bigger things to come. Unfamiliar, difficult matters demand caution. Don't be headstrong.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Though practical procedures are highly favored, don't overlook the imagination. Be constructively elastic in ideas, methods.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Tricky conditions for some, but don't let that bother you or cause you to lose confidence. Be selective in what you say and do. Think about improvements.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Affairs pertinent to your personal life will need attention today. Do not ignore new methods or business activities simply because of this, but be sensible. Do not scatter energies.

YOU BORN TODAY are ambitious in a calm, mannered way, aspiring well for success if you remain steadily active, hopeful. Your impulses are usually modified by a sense of caution that restrains you from taking too drastic steps. You could be happy in work connected with the sea, with commodities, with perfumes, de- of them if you aren't carried away with too many ideas at once. Never do Mirabeau, Fr. statesman. others' eccentricities to stymie sound ambitious. Pray often. Birthdate of: American Vaccarel, Italian

COOPER & WHALEN REAL ESTATE

THANKS A MILLION, FOLKS, for the great turn out for our Open House yesterday.

We gather from comments we've heard that you were pleasantly surprised at the type of home we have to offer in the reasonable price field. As we refrained from selling while you were our guests the following are the particulars of that which you saw:

ROOM BRICK RANCH TYPE Bungalow, modern in every respect. Hardwood living room, open fireplace, spacious cupboards, panelled kitchen, 2 nice sized bedrooms. Price $11,700. Down payment $3,200. We have only two of these to offer at present.

Should this home not be the answer to your housing problem, we believe that we have the largest stock of homes ranging from $4,000. So why not let us help you solve your problem?

Pedro Albizu Campos National Joke in Puerto Rico in Late 20's But Nobody Laughs Today

New York's Puerto Rican colony experienced a weekend Washington frontire in Coarcoss and the 1950 attack on President Truman. Is it something in this above area which causes such heat? Is? Loyal Puerto Ricans say no, that it's the fanatic hold a widened old man has over a small but devoted band of followers.

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Back in the late 20s, a bush-haired Puerto Rican with eyes of fire and the look of a messiah was acting out a fantastic charade.

It was real only in his tormented mind. In his dreams, Puerto Rico had become an independent republic and he, its president. The seat of his government was Aguas Buenas, south of San Juan, and every morning it was the president's custom to call in his secretary and say PAY!

"Please take the foreign minister to come in with the morning mail."

In those days, Pedro Albizu Campos was a national joke in Puerto Rico. But nobody has laughed lately. In 1950, when his followers in the Nationalist party tried to assassinate the president of the United States, Last week four Nationalists, who say the same name that Campos ever did, tried to shoot up the Congress of the United States in an attempt to kill representatives.

The fall story of Campos and his Nationalist party reads like a psychiatrist's case history of a paranoid, screaming suffers from delusions of persecution.

MANY STILL UNDERGROUND

You get this story in New York from Puerto Ricans who have known Campos and his Nationalists both here and on their native island. But, naturally, no one person would allow his name to be used because hundreds here and all Nationalists still are working underground here.

Is there something in New York's big Puerto Rican colony which breeds such explosive violence?

New York has about 450,000 Puerto Ricans, roughly twice the population of the capital city of San Juan. They have been coming here for years but the heaviest migration (more than 260,000) has occurred since the end of the war.

Most live in dirty, crowded slums. Even with apartment-house streets, past dirty lots, littered with old cans, half-torn campaign posters or all those movie ads.

The crime rate is high. Larceny, stabbings, muggings—you get a little or lot of everything here.

You hear complaints here and there: Doesn't Mayor Impelliteri know he can't get a decent place to live; they are discriminated against; they get the worst jobs.

Does it all mean that here in New York Puerto Ricans are smouldering with resentment against the government of the United States?

You talk to people in the tenements, to shop keepers, to men in bars. Everywhere you get the same answer: Puerto Ricans are happy living conditions may be here, they are far better than in Puerto Rico. They say they don't want to go back.

STARTED AT HOME

So, in trying to trace the fuse of the bitterness which exploded at Blair House and Congress, one must look into the current development roots of New York. Look back in time and space to the tormented mind of a young man with eyes of fire and the look of a messiah.

Pedro Albizu Campos, dark-skinned son of a weekly merchant, was a graduate of Harvard by the time the First World War came along. Like many Americans, he was drafted. He was assigned to an all-Negro outfit. Burning with fury over what he called a terrible humiliation, Campos vowed vengeance against the Americans who had put him in the company of Negroes.

Back in Puerto Rico, Campos began organizing the Nationalist party, screeching for independence and hissing and preaching race hatred and violence.

At his peak, according to estimates here, Campos gathered around him about 2,000 young men and women. The males, dressed in white pants and black shirts, were called "cadets of the republic." The women wore white skirts and black blouses and were called "nurses of the republic."

In 1932, the Nationalist party united its first and only election when Campos ran for senator-at-large. He got 5,000 votes out of more than 600,000 cast. He never dared try the ballot box again.

In 1936, Campos incurred the wrath of University of Puerto Rico students by calling them "pretentious ass" and "little women" because they refused to follow him. The students staged a mass meeting to denounce him. A car full of nationalist gunslingers tried to break up the rally.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED

Police ordered the car to head off the gunmen. Two police and three Nationalists were killed.

A week later, the police chief of police, an American from Baltimore, was shot to death on his way home from Sunday Mass in the cathedral. In the next few days police stations were shot up and post offices bombed. In all, the outbreak left 20 dead.

Campos and Julio Pinto Gandia (now reputed to be the leader of the Nationalist wing in New York) were arrested with other party leaders and convicted of sedition in Atlanta federal penitentiary for insurrection.

Released in 1942, Campos spent a few years in New York during which, according to one Puerto Rican source, "he definitely was financially embarrassed."

In 1948, Campos returned to Puerto Rico, and, in October, 1950, led his fanatics in another revolt. They bombed post offices, opened fire on police stations and one car load of gunmen even tried to storm La Fortaleza, the governor's quarters.

BOAST TO LIVE UP TO

About 30 people were killed as Campos' widowed followers tried to fulfil his oft-repeated boast "If I told them to shoot every man on the island, I will be president by next day."

Three days after the island outbreaks, two Puerto Ricans tried to shoot their way into Blair House and kill President Truman. One guard and one terrorist were killed.

Back in Puerto Rico, Campos was arrested again and sentenced to terms totalling 80 years. In 1952, he was suffering from so many hallucinations he was removed to a prison hospital. Last September, Campos was pardoned by Governor Luis Munoz Marin. In a "Hamletian" gesture towards an obviously unbalanced man.

But that move in Puerto Rican police blasted their way into his home. Within the year are he was hauled him off to the hospital as he gagged on his own swallowed tongue.

Governor Munoz Marin said his pardon policy would go all out to eradicate the "poisonous snake" of subversion.

STORM HOLIDAY

MITCHELL (CP)—One hundred and twenty pupils were absent from Mitchell district high school Friday. The school has an enrolment of 285. Four of seven school buses which form the rural fleet of Mitchell high school did not attempt to operate and the other three buses made only partial trips because of snow.

Eldest Son Of Sen. Davies Killed in Crash

NASSAU, Bahamas (CP)—Fred R. Davies, 31, eldest son of Senator Rupert Rupert Kingsmill Davies, killed early Sunday when the car in which he was riding went out of control and hit a tree on the West arm road near here.

Mr. Davies, who came here recently as assistant general manager of the Nassau Guardian, was a director of the Peterborough Examiner and Kingston Whig-Standard. Born in Brantford, he attended school at Thamesville and Renfrew. He started his newspaper career with the Renfrew Mercury and later was with the Canada Reformer and Kingston Whig-Standard.

In 1932, Mr. Davies was publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard. In May, 1937, he was appointed sheriff of Frontenac county and served until December, 1943 when he joined the Canadian Army as a public relations officer and was posted to Halifax and later Newfoundland.

Mr. Davies had worked as a free-lance newspaper writer in Toronto and he leaved here on the Bahamas.

He is survived by his widow, the former Kathryn Stanfield, two daughters, Kathryn and Jane, and two brothers, Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner and Arthur S. Davies, general manager of the Kingston Whig-Standard.

Mrs. Davies is the daughter of the late Frank Stanfield of Truro, N.S., a member of the wealthy family manufacturing family who became a lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia.

Moslem League Party Expected To Win Election

DACCA, Pakistan (Reuters)—East Pakistan voted today in the most significant election since the birth of this Moslem state in 1947. The Moslem League party, which has ruled Pakistan from its beginning, when it was divided from India, faces the greatest challenge to its power from strong developing opposition groups in elections for a new provincial legislature in East Bengal.

The election has national importance, for the lush jute fields of the eastern province are where are the home of more than half Pakistan's 76 million people, and the province is a major source of economic wealth.

But of the 20,000,000 who voted today, only about 20 per cent can read or write, it is said.

Prime Minister Mohammed Ali, who is also President of the Moslem League, personally led his party's election campaign. He was opposed by the United Front party leader and by Fatima Jinnah, widow of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, founder of Pakistan.

SEE GOVERNMENT WIN

Political observers are reluctant to predict the outcome of the election, though it is generally felt the Moslem League will come through with a majority.

East Bengal is separated from West Pakistan by more than 1,000 miles of Indian territory; the people here differ greatly from their compatriots in West Pakistan, and have the highest percentage of non-Moslems in the country.

The election gives opposition parties their first chance to make an effect bid for power. It is a straight fight between the Moslem League and the United Front, and an opposition front of Moslem parties, Hindus, Communists and left-wingers, united solely to defeat the league.
